Air Compressor.

On January 4 to Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company as per following communication and bids:

BOSTON, December 20, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Attached please find list of bids on proposals for furnishing one air compressor to the Transit Department, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of December 12, 1921.

The bidders submitted descriptions of the article bid upon, and the bids were referred to the Transit Department for recommendation. Under date of the 19th inst. the Transit Department informed this office that their chief engineer recommended the purchase of the air compressor bid upon by the Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company costing $5,263 and that the Board voted to adopt this recommendation. Lowest bid is for a second hand machine; Transit Department's policy is to buy new compressors.

It is therefore requested that approval be given to make the award to the above named concern.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Hay, Grain and Straw.

On January 3 to lowest bidder as per following communication and bids:

BOSTON 9, December 31, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Attached please find list of bids on proposals for furnishing hay, grain and straw to the various city departments for the month of January, 1922, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of December 30, 1921.

I respectfully request that permission be granted me to award contracts to the lowest bidders in each district as indicated on the attached sheet, with the following explanations: In the city proper district on the item of straw upon which the John J. White Company and Hosmer, Robinson & Company submitted identical bids and on the item of shorts in the same district upon which the John J. White Company and the Whittemore Company submitted similar bids, I have awarded the item of straw to Hosmer, Robinson & Co. and the shorts to the Whittemore Company by lot.

Respectfully yours,
G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

On January 6 to C. S. Cunningham & Sons Construction Company as per following communication:

BOSTON, January 4, 1922.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—On December 22, 1921, you very graciously approved a request for a transfer of $3,000 to provide certain features at the Municipal Building, Hyde Park, which were not incorporated in the general contract. Among same was the furnishing and erecting of two wrought-iron lamps on the buttresses on said building. I have received a communication from the architects, Messrs. Desmond & Lord, in which they state they have a figure in the sum of $1,600 for providing these lamps.

Inasmuch as this amount exceeds $1,000, I respectfully request permission to award said contract to the C. S. Cunningham & Sons Construction Company for the furnishing and installing of two wrought-iron lamps at the Municipal Building, Hyde Park, in the sum of $1,600.

Respectfully yours,
FRED J. KNEELAND,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

West Roxbury, Mass.

Dear Sir,—You are hereby notified that your contract for laying and relaying water pipes in Huntington avenue, Hyde Park, and in Washington Heights avenue, West Roxbury, dated November 30, 1921, has been extended from December 24, 1921, to February 1, 1922.

Very truly yours,

T. F. Sullivan,
Commissioner of Public Works.

REJECTED CLAIMS.

On December 27 the Law Department disapproved ten claims against the city, in nine of which no amounts were specified, and the other one amounted to $26, and are classified as follows:

Against the Fire Department, one, in which no amount was specified; against the Park Department, one, amounting to $26; against the Police Department, one, in which no amount was specified; against the Public Works Department, seven, in which no amounts were specified.

All these claims have been disapproved for the reason that there appeared to be no legal liability on the part of the city.

On January 3 the Law Department disapproved nine claims against the city, in eight of which no amounts were specified, and the other one amounted to $1,000, and are classified as follows:

Against the Public Works Department, eight, in which no amounts were specified; against the Street Commissioners, one, amounting to $1,000.

All these claims have been disapproved for the reason that there appeared to be no legal liability on the part of the city.

STREET COMMISSIONERS.

December 29, 1921.

Ordered, That this Board deeming it necessary does hereby order that the sewerage works hereinafter described be constructed, and does hereby take for said city for its sewerage works, the lands, rights and easements hereinafter described. Said lands are shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Plan No. 426, Sewerage Works, Wren Street, West Roxbury, December 7, 1921, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," deposited in the office of the Public Works Department, Sewer Service, of said city, and said lands, rights and easements, and said works to be constructed are as follows:

The right and easement is taken to following described lands, exclusive of any interest in trees, buildings or other structures standing thereon, reserving to the owners thereof the right to use the lands for any purpose except such as may injure or obstruct said works, and except for placing or maintaining any structure on said lands not authorized in writing by the Mayor of said city; lay and maintain sewerage works in the trees, buildings or other structures standing upon or affixed to the land in which an easement is hereby taken are to be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said taking for the purpose of constructing said sewerage works. Said lands are in that part of Boston formerly West Roxbury and are bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Wren street, bounded:

Southeast by Robin street, twelve feet; southwest by another part of Wren street, by two measurements, five hundred forty and 1/100 feet and two hundred ten and 21/100 feet; northwest by easement taken for sewerage purposes in Wren street by the City of Boston August 4, 1920, twelve feet; and northeast by another part of Wren street, by two measurements, two hundred and ten feet and five hundred and forty feet: containing ninety hundred and one square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: 720 linear feet 8-inch pipe sanitary sewer and 750 linear feet 10-inch and 12-inch pipe surface drain, in the above-described premises, being part of the private way known as Wren street, leading northwesterly from Robin street for a distance of about seven hundred and fifty feet.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the improvement ordered herein.

Ordered, That this board estimates that the lots of land abutting on the northeasterly side of Wren street within a distance of about seven hundred and thirty feet northwesterly from Robin street, and the lots of land abutting on the southwesterly side of Wren street within a distance of about seven hundred and thirty feet northwesterly from Robin street, excluding the lot at the westerly corner of Wren and Robin streets, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community from the improvement herein ordered, each of the particular lots to the amount respectively set against them herein; said lots and supposed owners thereof being shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Plan No. 426, Sewerage Works, Wren Street, West Roxbury, December 7, 1921, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

NAVY YARD EMPLOYEES REINSTATED—LETTER TO MAYOR PETERS.

WASHINGTON, D. C.,
December 28, 1921.

MY DEAR MAYOR.—With reference to your interest in the cases of Joseph F. Scott and Anthony J. Carson, Medal of Honor men employed at the Boston Navy Yard in the capacity of shipfitter and machinist, respectively, now on furlough pending action by the Department, I take pleasure in informing you that the Department recently called the attention of the President to all the circumstances in those two cases and suggested that an executive order be issued under the terms of which they would be continued in employment at the yard as long as the need for employees in their rating exists and they were capable of rendering satisfactory services. The department has been advised that the executive order requested was signed by the President on the 24th instant. The department will issue the necessary instructions to the commandant of the Boston Navy Yard.

Sincerely yours,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT,
Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

COMMITTEE ON GARBAGE DISPOSAL.

BOSTON, December 30, 1921.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Your committee appointed to consider the matter of the disposal of refuse and garbage has kept in touch with such hearings as have been held by the City Council with respect to the matter, and has carefully examined all available reports and records concerning the situation which have come to its notice since the committee's recommendation for the execution by you of the contract now pending.

After a careful study of the entire situation your committee sees no reason whatsoever why the contract as heretofore recommended by you and approved by the City Council should not be finally executed by you, and is of opinion that the best interests of the city requires such execution. It recommends, therefore, that it be so executed.

COMMITTEE INVESTIGATING ELECTRIC LIGHTING PLANTS.

One of the principal suggestions that members of the committee from Boston investigating lighting plants will make to Mayor Peters is that he invite W. E. Davis, Commissioner of Light and Power in Cleveland, to visit Boston and tell how a big municipal electric lighting plant may be operated successfully. The committee were under the guidance of Mr. Davis practically all day. He told them a great deal about municipal operation and private operation, speaking from an experience of many years in both camps. The sum and substance was that while public operation does not give perfect service by any means it enjoys opportunities and advantages that should make for better service and lower costs to the consumer. Cleveland folks are paying the city 3 cents per kilowatt hour. That has been the maximum price since 1916 in spite of the fact that coal, the largest item of operating expense, has increased from 300 to 400 per cent in cost and freight per ton. Costs have jumped from 20 to 30 per cent in the same period. The Cleveland Edison Company divides the field in the distribution of electrical energy with the municipal plant. Boston people pay the Edison Company 10 cents per kilowatt plus a 5 per cent coal charge and an interest charge. Before the advent of municipal lighting here the Cleveland Edison Company charged 10 cents but never has had the nerve to insert the special extra charges in consumers' bills. Since the city entered the lighting field as a competitor this Edison Company has been charging only 5 cents. Street lighting is furnished by both plants, each taking districts it is best equipped to serve. Both charge the same price, $49.60 per arc light per year. Before competition the city paid the Cleveland Edison Company $72.75. The present price in Cleveland is much lower than the price Boston pays. This city pays $2.50 a ton for steam coal at the Virginia mines and freight charges on coal average $1.69 with rail and water rates from the mines to Boston. The increased coal costs would not justify anything like the difference in price which Boston consumers pay in the opinion of Manager Davis. He says that despite criticism of the uninformed it would not be practicable or profitable to devote the entire capacity of a municipal lighting plant to supplying domestic service. In Cleveland it would not have been possible to maintain the 3 cent maximum if the industrial power field had not been cultivated and it is a remarkable fact that it has been practically impossible to install apparatus and service lens adequate to the industrial demand in that respect. He points out Cleveland has been peculiarly favored in the maintenance of the municipal lighting plant. Echoes were heard here of Boston's famous garbage contract. The great expert on reduction plants employed by the winners of the Boston contract lives here. It was said by a large number of officials that the manager of the reduction plant in Cleveland is better qualified and could have told a different story, one that would have lent strength to the Boston Chamber of Commerce plan. Between visits to lighting plants the Boston committee visited the White Company, makers of motor trucks, and were the recipients of appreciated courtesies from officials of the company. Tonight they are the guests of John Royal, former Boston newspaperman and manager of Keith's Hippodrome.

LAND TAKING—THEODORE LYMAN DISTRICT.

Boston, December 23, 1921.

To the Honorable Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—At a meeting of the Board held this day, and in compliance with chapter 473 of the Acts of 1901, it was voted, subject to your approval, to request the Board of Street Commissioners to take, for extension of the lot of land already taken for the erection of elementary school in the Theodore Lyman District, a certain piece or parcel of land in the Theodore Lyman District, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point on Gove street at the northwesterly corner of land of the City of Boston, thence southwesterly by land of said city 141 feet to line of passageway; thence turning and running northwesterly by lines of passageway 50 feet to land of Nigro; thence turning and running northeasterly by land of Nigro, Paris court, and land of Andreotta 92 feet to the northerly line of passageway; thence turning and running northwesterly by said line of passageway 17 feet to land of Cappuccio; thence turning and running northeasterly by land of said Cappuccio 50 feet to line of Gove street; thence turning and running southeasterly by line of Gove street 77 feet to the point of beginning; and contains 8,360 square feet of land. Be all said measurements more or less.

We submit herewith the written opinion of the Superintendent of Schools thereon, and respectfully request your approval of an expenditure, not exceeding—eminent domain—for carrying out the same.

Respectfully,

J. P. Lomasney,
Chairman Schoolhouse Commissioners.

Approved December 30, 1921.
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

Boston, December 12, 1921.

Mr. Jeremiah E. Burke, Superintendent of Public Schools, Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners thinks it advisable to take, for extension of the lot of land already taken for the erection of elementary school in the Theodore Lyman District, a certain piece or parcel of land in the Theodore Lyman District, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point on Gove street at the northwesterly corner of land of the City of Boston, thence southwesterly by land of said city 141 feet to line of passageway; thence turning and running northwesterly by line of passageway 50 feet to land of Nigro; thence turning and running northeasterly by land of Nigro, Paris court, and land of Andreotta 92 feet to the northerly line of passageway; thence turning and running northwesterly by said line of passageway 17 feet to land of Cappuccio; thence turning and running northeasterly by land of said Cappuccio 50 feet to line of Gove street; thence turning and running southeasterly by line of Gove street 77 feet to the point of beginning; and contains 8,360 square feet of land. Be all said measurements more or less.

In accordance with chapter 473 of the Acts of 1901, and acts in amendment of, or in addition thereto, we most respectfully ask your written opinion of the above.

J. P. Lomasney,
Chairman Schoolhouse Commissioners.

J. E. Burke;
Superintendent of Public Schools.

RE "LEVIATHAN"—STATEMENT BY MAYOR PETERS.

I would like to call the attention of the people of Boston to certain facts, in view of the announcement that eight bids for reconditioning the "Leviathan" have been opened before Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board.

1. When I called upon the United States Shipping Board I was told that the Board was to present new specifications to private shipyards, with the purpose of obtaining a lower bid for reconditioning the "Leviathan" than had yet been offered.

2. Eight bids were made. Four of them are higher than the Boston Navy Yard estimate of May, 1920.

None of the others contemplating the entire work is as low as the Boston Navy yard presumably could estimate, if the Shipping Board were willing to give it the opportunity.

The bids opened Friday, as printed in the Saturday morning newspapers, were for $10,350,000, $10,192,675, $10,130,400, $9,374,000, $8,497,000, $7,357,900, $5,998,000, $5,595,000.

In May, 1920, the Todd Shipbuilding Company bid $10,740,000. At that time the Boston Navy Yard made an estimate of $8,939,000. Costs have been sharply reduced since then. Judging by the 1920 figures, and considering reduced costs since then, the Shipping Board has not obtained advantageous bids.

The American public, which pays the taxes, has a right to know how much the Boston Navy Yard could save the government on this work.

"TAKE-DOWN."

Boston, December 29, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I request your written approval to order the building at 2 and 3 Oxford place to be vacated forthwith, the same being in a dangerous condition. I am making this request under the provisions of section 4, paragraph 2, chapter 550, Acts of 1907, as amended.

Yours very truly,

Herbert A. Wilson,
Building Commissioner.

Approved December 30, 1921.
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

PICTURE OF WAR MEMORIAL.

Mayor Peters has been informed by Charles A. Coolidge, chairman of the Boston Committee on a Memorial for Soldiers, Sailors and Marines, that large drawings of the suggested form of memorial will be exhibited to the public at the Boston Public Library from the 8th of January to the close of the month.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

Boston, December 21, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I hereby designate, with your approval, under authority of chapter 3, section 22, of the Revised Ordinances of 1914, Benjamin S. Turner, to act as Acting City Treasurer at such times as I may be absent during the four weeks commencing December 21, 1921.

Yours very truly,

Frank S. Deland,
City Treasurer.

LAW DEPARTMENT.

Boston, December 29, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—With your approval I have appointed Mr. Joseph P. Lyons, Assistant Corporation Counsel, as Acting Corporation Counsel for a period of four weeks, beginning December 30, 1921.

Yours respectfully,

Arthur D. Hill,
Corporation Counsel.

TELEGRAM FROM COMMITTEE INVESTIGATING ELECTRIC LIGHTING PLANT.

Cleveland, Ohio, January 3, 1922.

The special committee from Boston investigating lighting plants, consisting of six councilmen and the Commissioner of Public Works, arrived in Buffalo this morning at two o'clock, more than two hours late. There is no municipal lighting plant in Buffalo, the Buffalo General Electric Company having a monopoly of the business, but there are no coal clauses and no interest charges on the consumers' bills. About one half of the current is bought by the Buffalo Company from the General Electric plant at Niagara Falls, and the rest is supplied by the company's 90,000 horse power steam plant in Buffalo. For the first 20 kilowatt hours the price is 8 cents, for the next 40 it is 4 cents, and all after that 1½ cents. Buffalo has natural gas and for lighting purposes illuminating oils are added, but the result is not especially popular. The Buffalo plan of assessing property was studied with interest by the Boston party after the lighting problems had been discussed. A new city administration was inducted into office yesterday. The Mayor says his particular goal is a million people for Buffalo. It is the twelfth city in population now. Boston is given seventh place, but Mayor Schwab declares Buffalo will rank ahead of Boston when the next Federal census is taken. The boast did not annoy the Boston officials, who found consolation in the following newspaper reference to an incident of the inauguration ceremonies. On behalf of the Twelfth Precinct Police Reserves former Senator Cottering Waide presented to the Mayor a gavel made of a Buffalo horn which he said was emblematic of Buffalo and also was emblematic of the city because it was a solid ivory head. Jimmy Collins, the old-time idol of the Boston Red Sox fans and the greatest third basemen in baseball history, spent the hour before train time for Cleveland with the Boston party. He delighted them with stories of famous games and events and with some significance said Boston should not be suffered to lose the reputation of being the squarest and the best baseball city in the country. He inquired for a host of friends. He is managing a prosperous Buffalo real estate business and is one of the State boxing judges. Wednesday and Thursday the Cleveland lighting plants will be inspected and the municipal and private systems compared. Word has been received by James A. Watson, president of the Boston City Council, that the Mayor of Columbus is arranging an official reception for the party. Mr. Watson also has received a letter from the Public Ownership League of Chicago inviting the party to be the guests of the League at an informal dinner on Saturday evening.

MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

Clerical Service, January 14 and January 28, 1922.

This is the regular examination for the clerical service of the state and of all cities and of such towns in the state as are classified under civil service. On January 14 the examination will be held in Boston, and all persons who reside within commuting distance will be notified for examination on this day. On January 28 the examination will be held in various centrally located cities. Certification may be made from the eligible lists established by this examination for office, institutional, or other positions of a similar nature at the discretion of the Commissioner of Civil Service. Special qualifications in bookkeeping, stenography, typewriting, cataloging, filing, etc., and in foreign languages may be recognized by the commissioner in certifying persons for positions demanding such qualifications. Persons qualifying in the examination may have their names placed on the state list as well as on the list for the city or town in which they reside.

The clerical service, including clerks, office assistants, executive assistants, senior clerks, assistant secretaries, chief clerks, secretaries, copyists, recorders, messengers, and office boys and girls, is graded as follows:

Grade I. Junior clerk, junior messenger, office boy. The subjects of examination with their respective weights are as follows: Spelling (15 words), 1; penmanship, 1; accuracy, 1; report or letter writing, 1; and five examples in arithmetic, 1; total, 5. A general average of 65 per cent is required. Persons who take the examination for this grade may also at the same time take the examination for Grades II., III. and IV., and will be placed upon the highest list for which they obtain the required passing mark.

It shall be prima facie evidence that a position is in Grade I. if the salary is not more than $750 a year.

Grade II. Assistant clerk, assistant messenger. Subjects of examination with their respective weights are as follows: Spelling (25 words), 2; letter writing, 2; penmanship, 2; accuracy in copying printed matter, 1; transcribing rough draft, 1; rapid computation (addition, subtraction, multiplication, decimals and simple percentage), 1; arithmetic (problems including simple interest), 1; total, 10. Applicants are required to obtain at least 65 per cent in penmanship, at least 50 per cent in each of the other subjects, and a general average of 70 per cent on the whole examination.

It shall be prima facie evidence that a position is in Grade II. if the salary is more than $720 and not more than $840 a year.

Grade III. Clerk, messenger. Subjects and weights of examination are the same as for Grade II. Applicants are required to obtain at least 65 per cent in penmanship, at least 50 per cent in each of the other subjects, and a general average of 80 per cent or more, but less than 85 per cent in the entire examination.

It shall be prima facie evidence that a position is in Grade III. if the salary is more than $840 and not more than $1,200 a year.

Grade IV. Senior clerk, assistant secretary. The subjects and weights of examination are the same as for Grade II. Applicants are required to obtain a mark of at least 50 per cent in each subject of examination and a general average of 85 per cent or more. If successful, they will have their experience rated with the written examination on the following basis: Written examination, 7; experience, 3; total, 10. Applicants will be required to obtain at least 65 per cent in experience.

It shall be prima facie evidence that a position is in Grade IV. if the salary is more than $1,200 and not more than $1,800 a year. Sample questions for clerks available.

General Information.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in chapter 150 of the General Acts of 1919.

Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply. Preference in certification will be given to applicants who, at the time of filing application, are residents of the city or town from which requisition is received.

As far as practicable, these examinations will be held in various centrally located cities throughout the state.

Application blanks may be obtained by applying in person or by letter at the office of the Department of Civil Service and Registration, Division of Civil Service, Rooms 148-152, State House, Boston.

BOSTON'S SHARE OF METROPOLITAN NET DEBT.

Boston's liability for the State's Contingent Debt, i. e., the debt incurred for Metropolitan parks, sewers, water, etc., was $31,092,194 on July 1, 1920, or $969,266 less than in 1919. It is divided thus: Water debt, $19,770,126; park debt, $4,794,598; sewer debt, $4,395,636; Charles River Basin debt, $2,131,834. The percentages paid by Boston are 74.8893 on water debt; 59.89079 on most of the park debt; 47.57 on most of the sewer debt, and on Charles River Basin debt the same as on park debt.

Metropolitan assessments paid by Boston in 1920 amounted to $3,423,927, of which two-thirds was for debt requirements and one-third for maintenance. Water assessment, $1,885,925 (paid from water revenue); park, $884,913; sewer, $421,303; Charles River Basin, etc., $231,786.

The registration of minors, 5 to 15 years, inclusive, also illiterates over 15, April 1, 1920, as directed by Chap. 102, General Acts of 1916, showed a total of 135,052 or 22,562 of 5 and 6 years of age; 89,343 of 7 to 13; 22,612 of 14 and 15, and 435 illiterates 16 years of age and over. Total belonging to public schools, 105,129; to parochial schools, 25,476; other private schools, 4,192; not in any school, 255.

Only 174 in each 1,000 of pupils in Boston are in private schools, while the average for the large cities is 284. The School Centers for educational and social improvement of other than school pupils started in 1912. There are now 13 with 150 leaders and assistants and 30 to 40 study and entertainment clubs in each; total attendance during the 7 months sessions in 1919–20, 463,894. Cost of this "extended use of public schools" in 1919–20, $29,800.

Per capita (of Boston population) cost in 1920 of schools, approximately $13.30 (including special appropriations from taxes, etc., for new schoolhouses), which is $3.09 higher than in 1919, $5.38 ahead of 1915 and $6.61 or nearly 100 per cent more than in 1910.

RECEIPTS OF MILK IN BOSTON, BY RAIL.

Total receipts in 1920, 166,380,325 quarts, or 131,157,890 by Boston & Maine R. R.; 26,254,365 by New York, New Haven & Hartford R.R.; 8,968,070 by Boston & Albany R.R. The said total exceeds that of 1919 by 9,672,042 quarts and that of 1918 by 20,065,708 quarts and is the largest on record.

CITY OF BOSTON.

BOARD OF STREET COMMISSIONERS.

AUCTION SALE OF CITY PROPERTY.

Pursuant to the following vote passed by the City Council of the City of Boston, and approved by the Mayor:

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners be authorized to sell at auction at a price not less than ten per cent above the assessed valuation at the time of sale, the property at the corner of Arch Street and Hawley Place, purchased for a site for a new station house, the proceeds of such sale to be used toward the erection and furnishing of a police station for Police Division No. 2.

We will offer at public auction the property No. 41-45 Arch street, corner of Hawley place, between Franklin and Milk streets, consisting of 3,862 square feet of land, a substantial five-story brick building and a two-story brick building. The sale will be held on January 12, 1922, at eleven o'clock at the Boston Real Estate Exchange, 8 Congress street. The property is assessed for $160,000, of which $139,000 is on the land and $21,000 on the buildings. This estate could easily be made into a splendid business home for a company that desires to be convenient to the banking community and the wholesale and retail districts. It is on the southerly end of a block, the northerly portion of which is to be occupied by the new Beacon Trust building. At the minimum price established by the City Council ($176,000) it figures about $46 a square foot for land and building; whereas property on Franklin and Milk streets within 200 feet is selling at two to three times this figure. Terms: $5,000 in cash or certified check to be paid at the time of sale and the balance in or within thirty days. No bid less than 10 per cent above the assessed value will be accepted. Rents will be adjusted as of date of transfer. The premises are sold subject to tenants at will.

COMMITTEE INVESTIGATING ELECTRIC LIGHTING PLANTS.

January 7, 1922.

When you ask a man out here about a coal charge or an interest charge in his lighting bill he does not understand what you mean. No one here ever heard of such a thing. City officials say it is astonishing that Boston consumers have submitted tamely to such an imposition and are sure Columbus people would not do it. Coal costs much less delivered in Columbus than in Boston, but every city can buy it for the same price at the mines. Both Mayor Thomas and Colonel Duffy, Director of Public Service, do not see how the additional freight costs to Boston can justify a coal clause in the latter city or the high rate to the Boston consumer. Here are the rates charged by the municipal plant for lighting in Columbus: Residence, 6 cents per kilowatt hour; commercial, 6 cents per kilowatt for the first 25 kilowatts; 4 cents for the next 475 and 3 cents for all over a monthly consumption of 500 kilowatt hours. The minimum service charge is 50 cents a month. These rates are 40 per cent lower than charged by privately owned plants in Columbus. Wages at the municipal plant have remained at wartime figures. The manager of the plant says the trend of fuel costs has been steadily downward. Here is how the city serves itself: For the year 1921 the average cost for 6,011 arc lights, 400 candle power units, was $32.50 each. The price paid by the City of Boston is about $79. The municipal lighting plant was installed in 1898. The city paid the Columbus Railway and Light Company $75 per year for each ordinary arc light. During the 23 years the plant has been operated the taxpayers have saved on the cost of street lighting such a great sum that the plant and its entire equipment in the streets could be junked now and the taxpayers still be very many thousands of dollars ahead on their lighting bills. That is the deliberate statement of Mayor Thomas. "Initial costs of a municipal plant in Boston should not scare or fool people there," says Col. Duffy. The private companies can bring forward great arrays of figures that bewilder the ordinary citizen and frighten the timid taxpayer, whenever municipal lighting is suggested, but they don't mean anything to the people who have tried public and private service, he says. He believes the saving in the cost of street lighting alone would pay off the expense requirements for the establishment of a municipal plant in Boston in a few years. The morning was spent at the municipal lighting plant and the purification plant and Ohio State College were visited this afternoon. A garbage reduction plant is being operated successfully by the City of Columbus. For a city of its size the hotels here are numerous, commodious and up to the minute. Construction of two more is to begin soon, one to cost three million and the other one million dollars. A few years ago Columbus suffered from a flood. A large section of the city was devastated. Three years ago the City Hall was destroyed by fire. The Scioto river has been dredged for an extra width of 500 feet through and beyond the city limits. The confluence of two streams at this point has been wiped out and the engineering change has turned two narrow treacherous creeks into one broad river confined within big concrete protecting walls. From the ruins of the flooded district is rising a beautiful civic center. There the new City Hall is going up and will cost $800,000. There a million dollar school group is to be built. There a million dollar Masonic Temple will soon be standing. The population of Columbus is about 240,000. Members of the Boston committee think it is well to mention these items of civic enterprise and courage on the part of a city not quite one third as large as their city. This noon the Boston officials were the guests of the Chamber of Commerce at luncheon. Addresses were made by prominent bankers. President Watson of the Boston City Council spoke the appreciation of the visitors for the gracious and helpful manner in which they were treated. During the progress of the luncheon each member of the Boston party was called upon to stand and be sized up while being briefly identified. There was a great hand for Capt. David J. Brickley when it was announced that he was a war pal of Eddie Rickenbacker. Inspection of lighting conditions at Milwaukee Saturday is the next thing on the program of the Boston delegation.

January 9, 1922.

Milwaukee's mayor, aldermen and a number of prominent business men and representatives of civic organizations received and entertained the special Boston Lighting Committee Saturday. The lighting plans of the city were explained to the visitors by the Chief of the Engineering Department. They indicated a most thorough study of municipal lighting problems by the Milwaukee officials and disclosed the fact that the Wisconsin city is a few steps in advance of Boston in practical consideration of the whole question. The Boston men found Milwaukee less radical than they had supposed it to be. It has not rushed headlong into municipal lighting. It has progressed toward it conservatively. City officials who addressed the Boston delegation appeared to be shrewd, hard-headed business men in politics. Some are socialists but without exception they emphasized the fact that municipal lighting is a strictly business proposition and in no sense or degree a political one. The Milwaukee municipal lighting manufacturing plant exists only in plans today. Construction work will not begin for at least a year. It was decided to embark upon the enterprise gradually. Handsome concrete poles for the street lights have been erected throughout the city. The arc lights vary in candle power from 250 to 1,000. The city has built an elaborate underground conduit system. Nothing was paid to the private company which had enjoyed a lighting monopoly for years for its conduits or other street equipment. The city did not take over any part of it. The officials figured no injustice was done the private concern as it had charged off enough for depreciation to more than offset the value of its street equipment. Juice for the city of Milwaukee street lighting is furnished by the Traction Light and Power Company for 1¼ cents per kilowatt hour. This price is fixed by the State Public Utilities Commission. This brings the entire cost of each 1,000 candle power arc street light to the city $34. Before the present arpays the Edison Company $79.60 for each 800 candle power street lamp. Milwaukee will not attempt to compete with the private company for commercial and domestic business until its plant is in operation. A garbage reduction plant is successfully operated by the city of Milwaukee. The manager of the plant believes the greases could be treated in a way to insure more profit and by-products more profitably utilized. He has heard stories of wonderful things being done at the reduction plant in Montevideo and at his suggestion an expert has been engaged by the city of Milwaukee to go to that South American city and study the reduction processes in vogue there. The Milwaukee hosts quite won the hearts of their Boston guests. They showed their plans and equipment and explained things in detail as if it was a great privilege and rare pleasure to have the opportunity. They provided an excellent luncheon and a genial atmosphere with it that was most enjoyable. Songs and music enlivened the occasion and every member of the Boston party was called upon for a speech. The Public Ownership League of America had the Boston officials as their guests at an informal dinner Saturday night in Chicago. President James A. Watson of the Boston City Council made an address that was well received. The manager of the municipal lighting plant at Springfield, Ill., reported that that city is making money selling electric light for 3 cents a kilowatt hour competing with a private company. The municipal plant in Fort Wayne, Ind., is selling electric light for 6 cents and has forced the private company to come down to that price. In his speech the municipal manager predicted that before long as the plant develops there will be a cheaper rate. Col. Thomas F. Sullivan, Boston's Commissioner of Public Works, has arranged with the deputy commissioner of Chicago to have the Boston committee put in touch with important sources of lighting information in Chicago Monday. This afternoon the Bostonians made a tour of the Chicago park system. They were particularly impressed with the Botanical Gardens in Jackson Park and the Zoo in Lincoln Park. Nineteen large ponds were counted in the parks thronged with thousands of skaters.

RE "LEVIATHAN"—STATEMENT OF MAYOR PETERS.

I am told that the President, in reply to a letter from Congressman Dallinger relating to the "Leviathan" and the effort to bring it to the Boston Navy Yard for reconditioning, gives as the reason for not sending the ship here, that a navy yard cannot give a guaranteed bid.

These are four answers to this objection:

1. This obstruction could, I believe, be removed if the Navy Department desired to do so.

2. The Boston Navy Yard Metal Trades Organization has voted to set aside a portion of the employee's wages to create a fund to guarantee any navy yard estimate.

3. The only two bids, or estimates, on record in the "Leviathan" case show a difference of $1,802,000 in favor of the Boston Navy Yard bid over that of the Todd Shipbuilding Company. It is not conceivable that the Navy Yard could exceed its estimate by any such sum.

4. So far as I can find from the records, there is no instance of the Boston's Navy Yard exceeding in final cost its estimate on any piece of repair work done at this yard. Such work has been done on the "George Washington," "Mt. Vernon" and other vessels, always to the government's profit.

The case for the "Leviathan" is clear. Every piece of evidence, every bit of fact of record, indicates that to send the "Leviathan" to the Boston Navy Yard would save the country more than a million dollars, and the work would be done by American citizen labor, on an American ship for an American shipping board who represent the American people.

COLLECTING DEPARTMENT.

The City Collector desires to call to the attention of taxpayers that 1921 taxes remaining unpaid after January 15 go on interest at 8 per cent dating back to October 16. Demands have now been issued on 1921 tax bills so that it is now possible to prepare for sale those properties on which the 1921 taxes have not been paid. The preparation of property for sale for unpaid taxes, of course, involves considerable additional expense. Taxpayers are therefore urged to pay their taxes as promptly as possible.

STREET COMMISSIONERS.

Voted: That the order of the Board of Street Commissioners dated December 14, 1921, approved by the Mayor December 19, 1921, designating certain public ways in the City of Boston as streets where coasting may be permitted, be and the same hereby is amended, as follows:

So as to strike out the reference to La Grange street in the West Roxbury paragraph of said order.

Attest:

Joseph F. Sullivan,
Secretary.

VETO—ACT CONCERNING OLIVE P. GATELY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 21, 1921.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I return herewith without my approval your order accepting chapter 414, Acts of 1921, entitled "An Act Authorizing the City of Boston to Pay a Sum of Money to Olive P. Gately."

The purpose of said act is substantially to reopen a settlement made in 1913 of a case then pending in the Supreme Court for the Commonwealth, in which Mrs. Gately and her three children, who were then minors, were the plaintiffs and the City of Boston the defendant.

The claim of the plaintiffs was based upon a written agreement made with the city in July, 1903, and an oral agreement made in 1906. The plaintiffs at the time both these agreements were made owned certain wharf property on Albany street and petitioned the Board of Harbor and Land Commissioners for permission to fill. The City of Boston was desirous of continuing to maintain a sewer through this property which it had maintained for some long period of time and having said sewer have an outlet into the harbor. The written agreement of 1903 provided that in consideration of the plaintiffs permitting the city to build and maintain this sewer the city would do certain filling and other work necessary to be done upon the said property. There was some delay on the part of the city in doing the work agreed on and an oral agreement was entered into by which the city agreed to pay the sum of $450 a month as rent, and $3,600 was so paid. Upon the advice of the then Corporation Counsel, the late Thomas M. Babson, Esquire, the payment of rent was discontinued.

As the result of further negotiations in 1906 a settlement was arrived at between the City of Boston and the plaintiffs. The city paid the sum of $9,800, for which a written receipt was given in full for all claims and demands which the Gatelys had against the city. This agreement was not validly effective because permission was not obtained from the Probate Court to make the same on behalf of the minors. The total amount paid for rent of this wharf by the city to these parties was $13,400.

The suit, the settlement of which is now sought to be reopened, was referred by the Superior Court to an auditor who found for the plaintiffs in the sum of $30,450:

First, for damages suffered by reason of the loss of the use of the wharf from February 1, 1906, to July 1, 1909, 41 months at $450 per month, $18,500.

Second, for damages suffered by reason of the defendant's failure to build a bulkhead and platform and do other work called for by the contract of July 24, 1903, and by the oral agreement of January 31, 1906, in the manner agreed, $12,000

When the case was tried in the Superior Court, Justice Fessenden, who was then sitting, ruled that the plaintiffs were only entitled to recover for rent, that amount being $18,500. The plaintiffs in this case were represented by the firm of attorneys, Elder, Waite & Barnum, and the city by the then Assistant Corporation Counsel, George A. Flynn, now a justice of the Superior Court.

Exceptions were taken by both parties to the Court's ruling. While these exceptions were pending the plaintiffs were in dire financial straits and the property of the plaintiffs was threatened with a foreclosure sale of a mortgage which was then upon it and unless a settlement was made with the city the property would be lost to the plaintiffs. To protect the interests of the minors in this litigation the Superior Court suggested the appointment of a guardian ad litem for the children, and acting upon that suggestion, William H. Irish, Esquire, Attorney-at-law, was appointed guardian ad litem for the minor children by the Probate Court for the County of Suffolk to represent their interests, and appeared in the case as a party of record. The negotiations for settlement of this case were carried on by George A. Flynn for the ctiy and by the said William H. Irish for the plaintiffs, and before the agreement for judgment was finally entered into Mr. Irish conferred with Mr. Whitman about the settlement, and as Mr. Whitman now recalls he said to Mr. Irish, "that, considering Mrs. Gately's financial condition and the prospect of delay in a decision of the case by the full court and that her creditors and mortgagee were pressing, I was in favor of any settlement she could make in order to avoid financial disaster." The agreement for judgment was for the sum of $23,000 signed by Elder, Waite & Barnum, George A. Flynn and William H. Irish. The execution was taken out and the money on the same collected by Elder, Waite & Barnum who retained the sum of $3,028.06 for the professional services rendered in this case.

With the exception of what has been above stated, the office of Elder, Waite & Barnum had no conference at all with the Law Department relative to a settlement and claimed that they had nothing whatsoever to do with taking it up.

In addition to the payments which were made as above referred to, there was an additional payment to the plaintiffs Gately of $6,900 on account of a suit brought in the Superior Court for the County of Suffolk in February, 1914, for a permanent and temporary taking for sewer purposes of a certain portion of this property. In this case Elder, Whitman & Barnum were counsel and the same was settled on the 12th of June, 1914. Mr. George A. Flynn, Assistant Corporation Counsel, represented the city in this matter and the case was settled by agreement without trial.

The total aggregate amount paid by the city at various times for damage to and rent of this property, was $43,300.

With these facts before me, I cannot approve your order. There has already been paid by the city at various times substantial amounts in settlement of Mrs. Gately's claims, aggregating in all $43,300, and she has, on two different occasions, purported to give the city a release in full of all claims. It does not appear that the city made any attempt to take undue advantage of her and of her children, and in the settlement made in 1913 not only were the children represented by the guardian ad litem, Mr. Irish, but the papers were signed by the firm of Elder, Whitman & Barnum, a firm of lawyers of recognized standing and the facts in the settlement were known to at least one member of that firm. It is true that they now state that they did not take any but a purely formal part and had nothing to do with arranging the terms, but Mrs. Gately was their client and had ample opportunity to consult with them if she had seen fit to do so.

At the time when the settlement was made, the City Law Department supposed and were justified in supposing, that she had the benefit of Elder, Whitman & Barnum's advice and Mr. Irish certainly consulted with them. Moreover the litigation in which the settlement was made involved legal points in which the result was very doubtful and it is far from certain that even if Mrs. Gately had carried through her case to a final decision, that she would have received as much as she did under the settlement. Whether, under all the circumstances, she could or could not have made a better settlement, I do not think it is now possible to say, but I am far from sure that she could, and I find, as I have said, no indication that any unfair advantage was taken of her or that anything was done to prevent her trying out her case if she saw fit to do so. If a compromise so made is to be set aside in pursuance of a special enactment, the force of all compromise settlements made by the city will be greatly weakened and an attempt to reopen numerous other cases may reasonably be anticipated. A dangerous precedent moreover will be created as regards action in future cases and the ability of the Law Department to make compromise settlements with claimants against the city with the confidence that once made they will not be disturbed, will be seriously impaired. In my judgment this will be not only a great disadvantage to the city, but perhaps an even greater disadvantage to persons having valid claims against the city.

For the foregoing reasons, I return your order without my approval.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

POSTPONEMENT OF GARBAGE CONTRACT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 20, 1921.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a copy of a communication received by me on December 19, too late for transmission to you.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

15 Beacon Street,
Boston, December 19, 1921.
Hon. Andrew J. Peters, Mayor of Boston, and the Members of the City Council, Boston:

Gentlemen,—I respectfully request, as Mayor-elect of this city, that further consideration of the proposed contract for the disposal of refuse for the term of ten years from July, 1922, be postponed until I have assumed the office to which I have been elected.

I make this request without intending in any way to reflect on the good faith of those concerned in making the negotiations, but feeling that I am entitled to an opportunity to pass upon any proposition of this magnitude which is to take effect under my administration.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor-Elect.

TRANSFER FOR REBUILDING ENGINE COMPANY 26-35.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 27, 1921.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am transmitting herewith a communication from the Acting Fire Commissioner requesting an additional appropriation for rebuilding the quarters of Engine Company 26-35, and I respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

Fire Department, December 13, 1921.
Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—It develops that the following additional work and materials are found to be necessary in carrying on the rebuilding of the quarters of Engine Company 26-35:

General Contractor.

Two new closets, one under staircase and one for district chiefs' supplies	$62 00
New emergency door in rear of dormitory	36 00
Drilling holes and setting bolts for balcony to same	15 00
Furnishing and setting two steel I beams under third floor (precaution against accident)	88 00
Drilling holes and setting bolts for flag pole base	32 00
Cutting and patching for continuing gasoline vent from second floor along inside of building and up through roof	34 00
Covering 11 window frames and supplying metal sash and wire glass to same, as per demands of the Building Commissioner	565 00
	$832 00
10 per cent commission,	83 20
		$915 20

Plumbing.

Substituting five 24-inch by 20-inch vitreous china lavatories in place of two large soapstone sinks	$278 00
(Note. The Architect-Engineer found, on his recent trip of inspection, including five important cities, that not a single old-fashioned soapstone sink was installed.)
One enamel iron slop sink, necessary when lavatories are installed, instead of sinks	97 00

4-inch gasolene separator vent carried along floor to a point in rear and extended above roof	84 00
	$459 00
10 per cent commission,	45 90	504 90
Items taken from the original plans to keep the lowest submitted figure of $27,935 within the appropriation of $24,972.10, and now necessary to proceed with the building:
Composition flooring	$2,500 00
Flag pole and bronze setting,	118 00
Finish hardware	400 00	3,018 00
Total		$4,438 10

At the time of letting the contract for this work, September 29, 1921, there were a number of items totaling $3,542 taken from the lowest submitted price for doing the work in order to reduce the price to an amount within the appropriation. At this time the amount in our budget, item B-39, was substantial enough to take care of the eliminated items. Since then, however, Fireboat Engine 44 has been on the ways for general repairs and her condition has been found to be far worse than expected. The extra work needed for reconditioning her will utterly exhaust the amount of money under B-39.

I am therefore asking for an additional appropriation of $4,500 to take care of the above mentioned eliminated list, the fireproofing of certain windows made necessary by the Building Commissioner's request, and for desired changes in plumbing.

Yours very truly,
Joseph P. Manning,
Acting Fire Commissioner.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of $4,500 from the appropriation for Power and Heating Plant, Deer Island, to the appropriation for Remodeling House, Engine 26 and 35, Fire Department.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

RECONSTRUCTION OF ELMWOOD STREET GYMNASIUM.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 22, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—In accordance with the order recently passed by the City Council relative to the appropriation of a sum of money for the refinishing of the Elmwood Street Gymnasium, I have today authorized the Superintendent of Public Buildings to expend the sum of $2,000 in making these repairs.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Buildings Department,
December 17, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Replying to your communication relative to the reconstruction of the Elmwood Street Gymnasium recently leased to the Roxbury Post 685, V. F. W., I beg leave to submit the following estimate:

Carpentry	$473
Heating	300
Plumbing	200
Painting building, inside and out	425
Resurfacing main floor	120
Roofing	140
Electric work	90
Six ash barrels	27
Incidentals	225
Total	$2,000

Respectfully yours,
Fred J. Kneeland,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

CHANGE IN NAME OF CONSUMPTIVES' HOSPITAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 19, 1921.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a communication just received from the trustees of the Boston Consumptives' Hospital relative to a change in the name of that institution. With the trustees, I believe that it is very advisable to make the change suggested in the name of the hospital, and I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

Boston Consumptives' Hospital,
December 15, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—You asked the trustees of this hospital to meet you November 17. At that meeting you suggested that the name of the hospital be changed. It was agreed by everyone that it would be a great advantage from all points of view to get rid of the word "Consumptive" or the word "Tuberculosis."

You asked the trustees to consider and report to you after their next meeting what name they would recommend.

At the meeting of the trustees held on December 14 it was voted to recommend that the name be changed to "The Boston Sanitorium."

This was the unanimous opinion of the trustees and of the heads of the medical staffs.

Yours very truly,
James J. Minot, Secretary.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

RALPH COOKE SQUARE.

President WATSON offered an order—That the open space at the junction of Mt. Vernon and Charles streets be named Ralph Cooke square, in memory of said Cooke, who was killed in action in France during the World War, and that said space be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 2.36 p. m., on motion of Coun. HAGAN, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the chamber and were called to order by the President at 5.20 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. MORIARTY, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Reports on petitions (referred today) for permits for children under fifteen years of age to appear at various places of amusement —that permits be granted, viz.:

Mrs. W. I. Allen, Jr., Boylston Hall, December 29.

Dorothy E. Richardson, Longfellow Hall, January 3.

Reports severally accepted; permits granted on the usual conditions.

2. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred December 5) accepting chapter 305, Acts of 1920, relative to civil service in the Election Department—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

3. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred today) transferring $4,500 to appropriation for Remodeling House, Engine 26 and 35, Fire Department—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

4. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred December 19) for exchange of land on Liberty square—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

The order will take its final reading not less than fourteen days from date.

5. Report on communication (referred December 19) from S. J. McBride of the Typographical Union protesting against outside work being done by the Printing Plant for printing shops which are struggling with the Union—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; communication placed on file.

6. Report on message of Mayor, communications and order (referred October 31) approving contract with Coleman Brothers for disposal of refuse and garbage—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I wish to present an order at this time. I spoke about it in executive session and was told that I might do so.

President WATSON—If there is no objection, the Chair will permit Coun. Hagan to present his order at the present time.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be informed that the City Council cannot approve of the granting of a ten-year lease for the garbage disposal to the firm of Coleman Brothers because of the fact that the City Council believes that a more advantageous and profitable arrangement can be made for the benefit of the city. We therefore suggest to his Honor the Mayor that he give his most serious thought to the advisability of the City owning the plant and equipment as recommended by the Chamber of Commerce, and we likewise respectfully suggest to his Honor the Mayor to give his most serious consideration to the advisability of the plan of municipal operations as favored and recommended by the majority of the members of the City Council.

President WATSON—The Chair will say at this time that in Executive Committee Coun. Hagan suggested that he would introduce such an order, and the chairman said he would permit it to be introduced and acted upon without reference to a committee if there was no objection from members of the Council. There being no objection the Chair will permit Coun. Hagan to offer the order.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, the object of the order, as I think it states in clear language, is to show to members of the Council, first, that in my judgment we should not approve of this contract bceause it is not to the advantage of the city; second, to show to members of the Council the advisability of giving their most serious thought and consideration to the possibility of establishing the entire garbage collection and disposal under municipal control. At all of the hearings, Mr. President,—and this must in a measure be a rehash of what I said in the Executive Committee room,—there was most pronounced opposition to the granting of this contract from individuals and from various organizations who took up days or afternoons of our time. Men appeared here who were delegated by their respective organizations to do so, in opposition to the approval of this contract. We heard opposition of that nature from the various improvement societies in different parts of the city, from the United Improvement Association, the parent body of all the improvement associations, and from the Chamber of Commerce, who devoted some months to the study of the problem, with expert advice which enabled them to arrive at the wise and intelligent conclusion to which, I think, they did arrive. We had opposition in plenty from individuals, in addition to that which developed from organizations, and that opposition was because of the fact that the present contract had not been carried out in its provisions and that different residential sections of the city had been oppressed during recent years because of unsavory odors emanating from Spectacle Island and from the dump in East Boston. It has been only a rehash of what took place ten years ago, when the present contract was up for consideration; it is only a rehash of what will take place ten years from today when a new contract comes up for action; and, gentlemen, the same thing that has been going on for the past twenty years will continue to go on, so long as the present conditions exist, conditions under which citizens of this city suffer from a thing which can be prevented. The thing that we seem to want to do in this city is the one thing that we ought to do most, and quickly. That it is unwise for a large municipal center like the City of Boston at this time to enter upon another ten-year contract for garbage disposal is, it seems to me, a statement that admits of no denial. In no business would any man undertake to contract today for supplies, material and labor for the next ten years. It would be crazy, suicidal, for anybody in business to seriously consider it; and yet that is exactly what we are doing here today if we ratify this proposed contract for a future ten-year period. When the contract was up for consideration ten years ago a similar situation existed in the matter of getting bids. It seemed to be very difficult to get bids. That may seem strange, until we stop to think that there are but few companies in this country doing a contracting business in the disposal of garbage, and when there are only a few such companies in the country it is the easiest thing in the world, as we men of experience and vision know, for those people to perhaps have an understanding. But when bids were again asked for and the thing was properly advertised ten years ago, instead of the two bids that had come in previously, under the administration of that year seven bids were opened; and were we to reject this contract today and it were to be readvertised tomorrow by the present administration before going out of office, all the plans being ready and everything being prepared for advertisement for bids, there is no doubt in my mind that the City of Boston would get new bids that would mean a reduction of approximately $100,000 a year at least less than the present price. In that event $1,000,000 would be saved to the city over the ten-year period, $1,000,000 that will be given to the present contractor for the discharge of his obligations during the ten-year period under the present proposed contract. That million dollars could be well devoted to crying needs of our citizens in other directions, to the improvement of our playgrounds for the youth. If during the next ten-year period there will be $1,000,000 more available to the citizens of Boston for needed things, $100,000 a year for ten years, that it is now proposed to devote to this specific purpose, much can be done with it in many directions. But unless steps are taken so that that money will be so available, it cannot be so applied. I am not pleading to save money. I am pleading to hold on to what money we have, that we may have money to spend in other directions for the benefit of the people. There is no doubt that other bidders will appear when this is properly advertised. It is known to some of us, as a matter of record, that there are other bidders waiting for an opportunity right now, men of reliability, men of contracting experience who would be willing to make a bid on this contract at a price considerably less than the amount now asked. Then, what is going to happen if this contract does go through? Are we going to see a repetition of what has been going on in the past two years? Certainly the price we are called upon to pay would hardly seem to warrant the contractor in disposing of the garbage for the feeding of hogs, as 75 per cent of the garbage of the City of Boston has been disposed of in the past two-year period. What has impressed me particularly in this matter, Mr. President, is the great volume of accumulated opposition from different sections of the city and from all the organizations that have been represented here, as well as from individuals. If the proposed contract were good and desirable, is it not strange indeed that so few have appeared in favor of it? There were only two who really appeared before us in favor of the proposed contract, if we exclude representatives, attorneys and other representatives connected with Coleman Brothers Company, who very naturally and quite rightfully had a good word to say for their clients and their interests. The Commissioner of Public Works was one of the two men and the engineer of the Finance Commission the other, both city employees, both men who sat on the Mayor's committee and were interested ——.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman whether he refers to Mr. Emerson as in the employ of the city?

Coun. HAGAN—Perhaps I should not have said that, as the body he represents is a state institution, but we are apt to refer to those as city employees who draw their wages from the city through force of habit.

Coun. WATSON—The Chair thinks the gentleman is again in error, that the Finance Commission is a board vested with metropolitan powers as far as the City of Boston is concerned, and therefore not a state institution.

Coun. HAGAN—Both men, however, were members of the Mayor's committee, who passed favorably upon this contract, and it is quite natural that they would be glad to see a contract that they had passed upon favorably considered favorably by this body. I have every confidence in the gentlemen as individuals and feel that they are men of good parts and of integrity, but I cannot help feeling that they would naturally be prejudiced to a greater or less degree in favor of this contract, under the circumstances; and yet they were the only ones who appeared in favor of the contract, and the opposition to it was indeed pronounced. I now come to the second part of the subject, the possible development of the garbage disposal system of this city under municipal control. If there is any particular function of the city that ought to be a subject of municipal control, it would seem to be this function. The very fact that the city is functioning as it is along this line today, doing a considerable part of the work of collecting the refuse of the city, shows that it is possible of accomplishment. Therefore, I have asked you in the order I have presented to consider one of the strong recommendations of the Chamber of Commerce, in my judgment, that we own the plant, buildings and equipment, for which in any event we are going to pay in the next ten years, as we have paid for it in the last ten years and in the time previous, and as we will continue to pay for it as long as such an arrangement as is now in existence and is contemplated continues. We are going to continue to pay for the plant and the equipment in every ten years, just so long as such a contract exists, and at the end of each ten-year period we are not going to own it. Under the recommendation of the Chamber, we would own the plant, would own the buildings and equipment, would have them all under our absolute control, paying for them once only, whereas we have paid for them at least twice in the past twenty years and are now going to pay for them a third time in the next ten years, and still are not going to own them. By owning the plant and equipment we will also be opening the door wide to the possibility of municipal control in operation. On that matter I would have an open mind. I believe it is possible of accomplishment, and here is an opportunity for this body, the members of which have voiced that sentiment so often in my presence, to exercise the right and authority given them by law to put in practice some of the things they have preached. If we do not take advantage of this opportunity to practice that which we have preached, then let us cease preaching something which we do not intend to practice. The opportunity is here, within the control of this body, to obtain municipal control in the collection and disposal of all our garbage in this city, having the control entirely in the hands of the Mayor and city officials, thereby getting through this system that which any well qualified mayor can get and which a badly qualified mayor will not get. To undertake to enter into this contract at this time, with the high cost of supplies, materials and labor, and with the low cost of the products of the company at the present time, is unwise and to the distinct disadvantage of the taxpayers and citizens of Boston, and to that extent I oppose it. The order which I have introduced here today is one that I think is a move in the right direction, modern and constructive, and one that I believe will meet with the approval of the vast majority of the citizens of Boston. It is strange, I may say in passing,—it is even more than strange,—with a contract such as this, which to my mind is to the distinct disadvantage of the citizens of this city, which is going to be costly and which is not going to relieve the evils that have been complained of, that the press of Boston have been so infernally quiet all this time, with the exception of one paper. If this contract, presenting the phases it does, word for word as it is, were up for consideration during the past administration, during the administration of the same executive that we are to have in the next administration, there would not be type large enough for some of the headlines that would appear in the papers in opposition to it. Yet there has been nothing I have seen except in one newspaper in opposition to the proposed contract; which shows that the press of Boston are not always alert in the matter of safeguarding the interests of the taxpapers of Boston. I refer to this because I have vivid recollections of the past administration, when measures were up for consideration, measures which to my mind would not have been as costly to the citizens as this, and concerning which I remember the great hurrah that was made, as compared with the hush and the stillness of the present hour. I hope, Mr. President, that the order I have presented will appear to the members of this body as a way out and as a move in the right direction, as something constructive in character in dealing with this matter, that it will result in delaying action upon this contract, in at least obtaining additional bids, and as something which may lead to suggestions to the present or the incoming Mayor as to the advisability of owning and controlling the plant at Spectacle Island, and of also possibly controlling the operation of the same. I believe it may well result in a happy solution of the serious problem that confronts us, and that it would save the city at least a million dollars during the next ten-year period, money which could be well used to the advantage and benefit of the citizens in various directions.

Coun. MORIARTY in the chair.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. Chairman, I would be untrue to myself if I permitted the question before this body this afternoon to be discussed without having my say, setting forth my position in the matter. The order introduced by the gentleman opposite was read by him in the executive session and, through the courtesy of the Council, was allowed to be introduced by him here now without reference to the Executive Committee. As a matter of fact, the same object that he desires might be obtained if he never introduced the order, because the question of approving or not approving the contract will be considered a little later in the evening and then, if the contract is defeated, his Honor the Mayor may be obliged to consider the thing the gentleman suggests in his order. Nevertheless, the order is now here, and it has been a vehicle which has enabled the gentleman to have his say. He has said much in words, but little in logic. He berates the newspapers, which is rather unusual for him, and makes a misstatement concerning them at the very outset. He says that but one paper in Boston has made any reference to this garbage contract, referring to the Boston Telegram. It is true that the Boston Telegram did make reference in an editorial and in a few news articles to the contract, but the councillor opposite did not suggest that the Boston American also had an editorial against the garbage contract. But I would also call the gentleman's attention to this fact, that he has also, becoming very friendly with the Telegram, been fighting the members of this body unfairly. He hit us below the belt today in an article that he sent to the paper, to which later in the evening I am going to refer more in detail. He speaks about the preponderance of the opposition to this contract. There was very little that came out in the hearings against the contract except that which was stirred up by the Disposal Company, which now desires another crack at this proposition for ten years; and if I am obliged to choose between a contract with Coleman Brothers and a contract that would be controlled by the Boston Development Company which has abused the taxpayers of this city for ten years by intolerable treatment of them under its contract, I want to go on record as being with the Coleman contract, line, bob and sinker. The gentleman talks about the preponderance of evidence against the contract. Why, there was but very little substantial evidence against it. We had a man here named Merrick, who was the instigator and ringleader of the opposition, and perhaps the agent of the Disposal Company. He led the contest here and formed all the opposition. He formed and framed the opposition, and the others were mere puppets in his hands, and even the councillor opposite had criticised Merrick as being a nuisance. I say here publicly that he is forty-five nuisances and is absolutely valueless as a public-spirited citizen. He speaks about no one appearing in favor of this contract. The Mayor of Boston favors the contract, and I have some faith in his judgment. There has never been a finger pointed at him in criticism of his absolute honesty, and no one has criticised his thoroughness in looking into matters of this sort. In fact, he has been criticised for being too thorough, too particular, as doing too much in the line of figuring. The Mayor sent to us this contract, after a long study by his experts and by himself, for our consideration, and the contract as presented to us carries with it his approval. It is a ten-year contract. It is going to be of no value to the public, it does not matter if the great Divine Man above should write a contract to handle the garbage situation in Boston, if there is no enforcement of its provisions. Without proper enforcement the contract is absolutely valueless. There is the nub of this whole proposition—enforcement. The contract has not been enforced. I would not gamble that it will be enforced in the future, but if it is within my power to compel enforcement of the contract to the letter I propose to do it. The gentleman talks about public ownership. I stand for that on all fours, and he stands for it on one finger. He is in favor of the City of Boston buying or erecting a plant and owning it, and having it run by a contracting operator. That is what they call an abortion in public ownership, Mr. President. As far as his order is concerned it is valueless, and I propose to vote against it. It has not been introduced here with any intelligent thought back of it. It has been introduced for the purpose of attempting to becloud the issue with the public and to afford to him an opportunity perhaps to get some favorable publicity in the papers which he now criticises. Lord! when he spoke about the papers I thought it was my past self reincarnated! That has been my position, protesting about the papers, in the past, and the Lord knows I have suffered for it. Now he takes my place, but not quite so sincerely, because he has a soft spot for them when he wants to write letters to the papers, or to himself, apologizing for his action! He talks about saving money and the danger of buying things in a high market, with the possibility of low prices later. He says that a million dollars can be saved. I am afraid of his judgment on falling prices, because he and I talked over the shoe situation within ten months and he told me that instead of shoes going lower they were going higher, and recently he told me that he was selling out his whole stock at less than he paid for it. Therefore, his judgment as to what will happen in the future in the matter of the prices of wages and materials is valueless as far as I am concerned. Now, who appeared in opposition? The United Improvement Association and some ladies, well-meaning ladies, and their contention was not in regard to the contract but as to the method of collecting garbage by the city teams and contractors, which has nothing to do with this contract whatsoever. That has been the trouble. Those opposing this contract have misled people's minds with the idea that the poor collections are because of the contract. I want to have it spread on the records that the collection of garbage in Roxbury, Dorchester and other places has nothing to do with the question of the disposal of garbage whatsoever. The disposal does not begin until it is collected. After it is collected it can then be disposed of by being dumped at sea, treated in the plant at Spectacle Island, or placed on the city dumps. But that has nothing whatever to do with the collection. It we could do away with the dumps and substitute something else for them, that would be one thing, but dumps are a necessary evil. The whole Back Bay was formerly a mud hole. If it were not for dumping there, the Back Bay would be a mud hole today. Filling in means progress. There was opposition to the filling there at the time, but we now see the blessings, twenty-five, thirty or forty years afterwards. The situation in East Boston is bad. There is no doubt of it. But it is going to be remedied, because this contractor has a little human kindness in his make-up. He is a resident of this city, and not a foreigner, as are the ones who now have the contract. I think the gentleman opposite will himself admit that this bidding concern is a reputable concern. They stand high in this community. They are jealous of their reputation. They built the Camp Devens camp and the Chatham training grounds. They built the subway in Court street, underneath the Ames Building without changing a hair in the structure of that building. They built the Washington Street Subway, and they got through 104 days earlier than their contract required and received a bonus. They built a station underneath the Park Street Station, without delaying one single car during the entire time that their contract was on. They have a reputation. As against them I want to bring to your attention Mr. Cranford of Brooklyn, a kid-gloved contractor, whose interest in the collection or the disposal of garbage and doing away with offensive odors and offensive dumps was confined to walking down Commonwealth avenue with a new suit of clothes every day, and a cane. He has no interest in Boston. He is a foreigner; he does not care for our comfort and does not care how the garbage is disposed of. He has merely wanted a return, a dividend, for a little group of men banded together to exploit Boston. They bid on this contract, too, but their bid was half a million dollars above that of Coleman Brothers. They were in a better position to make a low bid than were Coleman Brothers. They were in, and in pretty nearly right. They knew the situation from pretty nearly every angle, and they bid half a million dollars above Coleman Brothers on the same identical contract. Then there was a revision. The Commissioner of Public Works sent to the Disposal Company and said, "We will order another bid. What will you do?" Coleman Brothers bid again, the same price, and the present company came down to within $180,000 of the present bid. Still, they knew the situation better than any group of men who could handle the matter in Boston and were better able to give a low price than any man or group of men organized for that purpose. Nevertheless, they bid $180,000 above home talent. Now, it is not generally known to the public that in this contract Coleman Brothers have furnished this body with a statement in detail, signed by John F. Coleman, the president of the company, that whatever was asked for by the people who appeared here would be granted. And they even went further. The engineers for the United States Government came here, representing the government, and said that if certain things were put in in the way of machinery it would be all right, that they would withdraw their opposition, and the very things they wanted put in are going to be put in by Coleman Brothers under the contract, and will be carried out provided the terms of the contract are enforced, and I have confidence enough in the incoming Mayor to believe that his Commissioner of Public Works, whether the present commissioner or a new commissioner, will enforce the contract to the letter. If that is not to be done, then no contract is necessary in the matter of the disposal of garbage. All that is necessary is to pay a certain stipulated amount of money to certain contractors and let them ride roughshod over the public. Now, I have used a lot of time, but in conclusion let me call to your attention those who appeared in favor of this proposed contract. There was Guy C. Emerson, for whom I hold no brief; but he is a competent engineer, and a competent engineer plus actual experience in the handling of this proposition. He is a man with whom I have never had anything in common, but I have never heard one word of criticism of his actions, his honesty of purpose, or his desire to carry out what he considered was the best thing to do. There is Professor Turner, appointed by the head of Technology, considered the best sanitation engineer in this part of the country, a product of the greatest technical school in the world, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Then there is Francis R. Bangs, a man for whom I hold no brief, and we are not on speaking terms, but I believe he is a man of good judgment and ought to know something after twelve years of study of conditions in the City of Boston. If he does not he is a bigger dunce than I ever accused him of being. Then we have Thomas F. Sullivan. Here is where I warm up, because I never met a better man, a squarer man or a more competent man in charge of our highways than Thomas F. Sullivan. He has made errors, has rather a brusque way about him, but he is competent, honest, painstaking and thorough, and he is no man's man. He has been absolutely free as Commissioner of Public Works, and if he leaves the service the city will be the loser. I will regret it very much if he leaves. But there is another day coming. Mr. President, the other member was a labor man, and I ought to leave it to a labor man to talk about him. But I know him better even than the labor men do. He is Richard Garrity. He was a pioneer in the Federation in 1873, and prominent in the Motormen's and Conductor's Union in 1890, and I was with him when he was president of the organization. I know that he was a competent, thoroughly honest man. He represents the labor angle here, and he recommended this contract to the Mayor without qualification. Then there is Dr. Woodward. Dr. Woodward, I believe, is a competent man. I cannot gainsay it. I do not like his methods. Some things about his department do not appeal to me. I think he has it systematized to death. But he is thorough and he has had great experience in the matter of health precautions and health reforms, having obtained a great deal of that experience as Commissioner of Health in the District of Columbia, being commissioner in Washington in charge of garbage disposal there. Therefore, I believe, he is competent and can be thoroughly relied upon in this matter. The other man was a man who investigated in the interests of the city, Mr. Shea, an engineer of high reputation, a thorough man who knows his business. Representing the committee he visited all the important large cities where disposal of garbage was handled in a big way. He brought back a thorough report, which I read in part. I have sufficient confidence in him to say that if he told me conditions were so and so in Minneapolis, Columbus or New York, that would be enough for me, because I have faith in him. On the other hand, we have one Major Osborne, who is, I am told, the leading sanitary engineer of the United States, without exception. It is true that he was a paid representative for Coleman Brothers but, nevertheless, I believe he was just as honest on the side of the contractor as was Mr. Merrick on the other side. Then, what do we have against them? We have a committee of three. The gentleman opposite (Coun. Hagan) speaks about the Chamber of Commerce. In heaven's name, can we speak of the Chamber of Commerce when we have three members out of 7,500 members of the Chamber, the Committee on Municipal and Metropolitan Affairs of nine, headed by Alexander Whiteside, appointing a subcommittee of three, made up of Thomas J. Kenny, Mr. Merrick and a Mr. Hope? Mr. Hope, I will admit for the sake of the argument, is an engineer, I don't know whether locomotive or stationary. I know that he is not a sanitary engineer, that he does not know as much about the garbage question as Guy C. Emerson, Thomas F. Sullivan, Major Osborne, and "Reggie" Bangs. He appears in the position of a public-spirited citizen, my friends, but he had as much to do with drawing up that report and with investigating the matter as did my daughter out home. Merrick was the fly in the ointment all the time, always busy, with his chest thrown out. There aren't any city affairs that Merrick isn't in, not only on one side but on both sides. He is always there, Mr. Merrick. When we come to my friend Kenny, the lawyer, of course, he gave very little thought to the matter. As for Mr. Hope—the name "Hope" sounds good—I think nobody will claim that he will offset Major Osborne, Guy C. Emerson and Thomas F. Sullivan in knowledge of sanitary engineering. Merrick, the third man, is really the man behind all the opposition, I guess. As for the Boston Disposal Company, Cranford represents the New York ring, the sanitary trust. And when I speak of the operations of that trust I am not accusing the councilor opposite with being responsible for or having anything to do with it, and he knows that I am not. In conclusion, I wish to say just a final word, for the present. I have some consideration for the members here tonight who want to get home, and I am not going to prolong the debate unnecessarily. Not only has this matter been talked of thoroughly and fully on the floor of the body, but there have been prolonged hearings, and the Lord knows they were fair hearings. Everybody was given a chance, and some were given ten chances, to be heard. The greatest opportunity was afforded to furnish information in favor of or against the proposed contract that was ever given by a committee. There was nobody shut off; all were permitted to go the limit. As for the papers, the Telegram in an article made some suggestions that were not at all kindly to me, but I think the Telegram's informant was wrong. I don't think he knew the situation. I think if he had come here and had heard or had read the testimony and had inquired into the matter as we have, that article never would have been written. I know it would not have been written if it had not got abroad wrongly that Parke and Deland were going to go, because the editorial, I understand, was merely for the purpose of saying a good word for Parke and Deland. But now, in this connection, just a word about the position of the Finance Commission in the matter. With all this publicity in the papers, and all these hearings, the Finance Commission have not opened their mouths. Not a word has been said by them. They have had their opportunity. The gentleman opposite (Coun. Hagan) may say that they were not asked for their opinion. Well, we have not had to ask them for their opinion in the past; they have always volunteered it, and at times very readily since we five red-blooded non-Good Government citizens have controlled the situation here—or (turning to Coun. Ford) six. I forgot; I will add you, too. They have not had a word to say here, have not made a suggestion, even through Mr. Emerson. The chairman of the Finance Commission had been told that there was something crooked about the contract. That came possibly from Mr. Merrick. But there has not been a word from the Finance Commission, and that is a wonderful indorsement of my approval of this contract, a wonderful indorsement of my position on your order, sir, and on the order that Coun. Collins introduced. My position is more than fortified, when a committee appointed by his Honor Mayor Peters, composed of the men whom I have named approve of this proposed contract. Certainly with the Commissioner of Public Works under the Mayor and the other gentlemen whom I have named we have an outfit that furnishes the preponderance of evidence on the side of the low bidders. On the side of the Disposal Company we have men going through chambers, halls, on the street, spreading their propaganda; and on top of that we have the silence of the Finance Commission and of the press, as the councilor has said. Under the circumstances, I am satisfied that my position on this contract is absolutely correct and, therefore, I hope the order introduced by Coun. Hagan will be defeated.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I want to accept the correction made by the honorable gentleman, our President, opposite, and to give credit to the fact that there were two papers who commented on the contract. I said there was one, because there was only one paper that happened to come under my personal observation. But I accept his correction. Much of what we have heard in the past half hour was a defence of the character of men, Mr. Coleman, Mr. Emerson, Mr. Sullivan and others. I hope nothing I said called for any such defence, for in my judgment the character of these men is not on the defensive. I hold them in the highest respect personally, and I think that the organization headed by Mr. Coleman is of the same high type as the man himself. I feel, therefore, that there was no need of rushing in to defend their character when I certainly made no attack or uttered no word that would lead to any such thought. It may have been, as my honored friend has suggested was the situation in my case, that the issue might have been befogged in his mind; but I wish now to take the opportunity to say that I meant no reflection on those men, that I made no attack on the character of any man. Neither should this problem be considered in terms of personalities. But whether you men may like me or I may like you is not the question. The question is, Is this contract a good one for the citizens of Boston? We have that problem, and that problem only, before us, and let us keep that problem before our eyes and minds and leave personalities out. I do not expect that everybody is going to like me. I would hardly be a good fellow if everybody did like me. That is not the question. I simply feel the need of making this correction so that my position may not be misunderstood, and so that these men, Mr. Sullivan, Mr. Emerson and Mr. Coleman, may not be led to believe that I have made any attack whatever on their personal character or reputation. I hold them in too high esteem.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. Chairman, I want to say for the benefit of the gentleman opposite, if he thought that by my remarks I wanted to convey the impression that he attacked those gentlemen, that I had no such thought in mind. I merely stated what I did so that it might appear upon the record that there were some people of reputation and standing in the community who favored the contract.

The order offered by Coun. Hagan was declared rejected. Coun. Hagan doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The order was rejected, yeas 2, nays 7.

Yeas—Coun. Collins, Hagan—2.

Nays—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Ford, Lane, McLaughlin, Moriarty, Watson—7.

Coun. COLLINS—With the permission of the President I will offer this order and ask for its immediate consideration.

Coun. COLLINS offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be hereby authorized and requested to give written notice to the Boston Development Company before January 1, 1922, of the city's intention to purchase, under the terms set forth in the contract with said company, the complete disposal plant and all licenses and rights which may be required to operate the same, after the expiration of the contract.

Coun. COLLINS moved a suspension of the rule, that the order might be put upon its passage.

Coun. COLLINS.—Mr. President, I will try at this time to keep my remarks as near to the question at present before the body—namely, this order I have offered—as may be. In the contract for the disposal of garbage and refuse for ten years from July 1, 1912, to July 1, 1922, there is this provision towards the end:

"The city shall have the right to purchase the complete disposal plant and all licenses and rights which may be required to operate the same after the expiration of the contract. The city shall give the contractor at least six months' prior written notice of its intention so to purchase, and if the purchase price cannot be agreed upon such price shall be determined by arbitration, and thereupon the purchase price shall be paid and such licenses and rights transferred to said city."

Toward the end of an administration it has usually been considered the part of propriety not to take up matters of public concern which will necessarily bind future administrations unless it was absolutely necessary so to do. That provision in the contract, in so far as it goes, made it necessary for the Council and the Mayor to take action one way or another under this clause, it not being a question of giving a contract for ten years to any man or corporation, but the duty devolving upon the city of determining on or before January 1, 1922, as to whether or not it wished to exercise this option. I have gone over the evidence which has been submitted here in these many hearings before the body, having read in the stenographic report anything that I might have missed, and I am sitting on this case not with any prejudice but as a juryman, asking myself, "What, in the interest of the City of Boston, is the best for us to do under the circumstances?" The contract which now comes before us for consideration contemplates the giving over of a great part of the city, from the standpoint of disposal of garbage and refuse, to a contractor for ten years, at a price of $3,795,000 as compared with a price in 1912 of $1,432,000. In other words, we members of the Council are asked to approve this contract, which contemplates an expenditure over ten years of 2.65 times as much as has been spent under the existing contract for the past ten years. That being so, it becomes necessary for us to consider why we should be asked to approve a contract involving such a large expenditure of money over the next ten years. That question necessarily brings us to this point of view, that the bids made under this proposal were made at a time when prices of materials, equipment, supplies, labor, everything which goes into a project of this kind, while not at the highest peak are very near it. Certainly men acting in good faith, bidding on a contract of this nature, necessarily have to be careful and to protect themselves. Consequently, they put in conservative prices. Now, what has been the experience historically in economic matters following great wars? We always have an era of high prices. That siutation obtained, as I said in the Executive Committee, after the War of 1812, after the Napoleonic Wars, after the War of the Rebellion, and after the recent great war, the greatest catastrophe from the standpoint of affecting economic affairs all over the world, that has ever been known. Always after such a rise a reaction sets in. What do we find, for example, on this very day? Reading the papers we see that there is a drop in the price of one kind of coal of $2.50 a ton. It seems to me, Mr. President, as clear as a, b, c that prices are bound to be considerably less as time goes on. Therefore, as a juryman and as a director in a small way of this large municipal corporation, I deem it to be my duty to proceed very slowly before obligating the city in these abnormal times by a contract to exist over a period of ten years, particularly when the price asked for under it is 2.65 times as much as has been obtained during the present ten years. Another phase of this question, and I believe something I ought to consider, is this, that the gentleman who is now Mayor-elect of this city asked for an injunction, a restraining order, in court, requesting that this Council and the Mayor be restrained from proceeding with the passing and execution of this contract. Aside from the legality of the proposition, there is something to be said in favor of the fairness of his request. At the last meeting of this Council he sent a letter here in which he said:

"I respectfully request, as Mayor-elect of this city, that further consideration of the proposed contract for the disposal of refuse for the term of ten years from July, 1922, be postponed until I have assumed the office to which I have been elected. I make this request without intending in any way to reflect on the good faith of those concerned in making the negotiations, but feeling that I am entitled to an opportunity to pass upon any proposition of this magnitude which is to take effect under my administration."

If I were in doubt, that request from the man who is about to be Mayor of this city, whether I agree or disagree with him, would be enough to make me falter and hesitate, notwithstanding the fact that I may have technically the legal right to act. But, in addition to that request, we have this self-evident fact, that this proposed contract does not begin to function until July of 1922. I am, however, called upon at this time to act affirmatively or negatively on this contract. I have considered it from every angle, not only from the financial standpoint but from the health standpoint, and I am convinced that the best interests of the community require and demand that the city control the reduction plant. As to how it shall be operated, that is a question for each administration to decide, if this order becomes effective. But I cannot, looking at the matter from every angle and trying to be just and fair to all parties, make myself believe that this contract is a wise one. I believe it is very unwise. I believe that the price is altogether too high, the tenure under the circumstances altogether too long, and that the best interests of the community, from the financial and from the health standpoint, require that I should vote against it. I am, therefore, unqualifiedly opposed to it and shall vote against it; and I believe also that the interests of the city require that we should exercise the option that we have under the existing contract. Therefore, I have introduced the order.

Coun. WATSON.—Mr. Chairman, I wish to take just a moment or two of the Council's time to reply to Coun. Collins. I am against the order he has introduced and trust that it will be defeated, because whatever action we may take upon this option in the contract the Mayor has the right to take before the 1st of January. His Honor the Mayor has a right to do the very thing that Coun. Collins requests in his order. Now the gentleman is very solicitous about tieing up an in-coming mayor under a contract which is made by an out-going mayor and Council. I don't think he is quite consistent in that position, because he was a member of this Council when the present contract originally passed, and he voted for it. At that time I believe Mayor Fitzgerald was mayor, and he voted to tie up the in-coming mayor at that time. As long as he is so solicitous about not tieing up an incoming administration, let me ask this question: Mayor Curley, under the law, can be mayor for only four years, and after February, 1926, we will have a new mayor, who will have to take up the contract. He, in turn will be mayor for only four years, and then a new administration will come in for the balance of the contract. So, if we are to follow the thing up logically, if we do not act at this time because we do not want to tie up the next administration, the next administration should not act because its action will result in tieing up the following two administrations. Therefore, it is an endless chain. The question for us to consider is simply whether we are doing the proper thing by the taxpayers and I am as willing to stand or fall by the position I take, in case a mistake is made, as he is. He speaks of the probability of decreased cost over the next ten years. He is looking forward to a reduction of labor and other costs. Well, 1911 was a normal time, and wages were much lower then than they are now. You could hire an Italian at $1.50 a day. Does the gentleman want to go back to the time when we paid a human being $1.50 a day for eleven or twelve hours' work? I don't think he does, when he thinks it over, and I certainly do not. Furthermore, in the next ten years there will be more garbage to collect. We have a greater population, and that will mean increased costs. Everything has gone up, and we certainly have no assurance of any reduction in the immediate future. In regard to Mayor Curley's position, I will simply say that I think we, as members of the City Council, are perfectly correct in voting for or against the approval of this contract. I considered his request, and considered it seriously, but I think, in the interest of all parties, the taxpayers and everybody else, this contract is as good a one as we can get. If we do not ratify it, we are in danger of being tied up for another period with a crowd of foreign contractors who will exploit the people of Boston. I think now I have answered the councilor who just spoke, and we are all a happy family here. We have said hard things about one another, and have joked more or less back and forth, but on the whole, we are a happy family. There is an honest difference of opinion, but the preponderance of honest judgment, I think, favors the seven as against the two. To be sure, one of the two is a leading business man and the other an eminent jurist, or possible jurist. He is an eminent lawyer, and my friend. I have the greatest respect for the opinions of both those gentlemen. But, as I say, I think the preponderance of honest judgment is against them. Therefore, I hope the order will not pass.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, I will be as brief as possible. The gentleman speaks of my favoring no action being taken until the Mayor-elect becomes mayor. He, unintentionally, no doubt, has misquoted me. I said that I should be influenced by that consideration if I were in any doubt at all otherwise.

Coun. WATSON—It would make you falter.

Coun. COLLINS—It would make me hesitate. But I am in no doubt as to what I ought to do. He spoke about the contract being made in 1912 and tieing up another administration. I would simply remind him that the two cases are not analogous at all ——.

Coun. WATSON—Then, I withdraw it.

Coun. COLLINS—The present contract was made in 1911, at the time when Mayor Fitzgerald was mayor, and he had two terms. Consequently there was no new incoming mayor and no such request from an incoming mayor as we have here today. The difference, therefore, is very palpable. It seems to me that the evidence as to public opinion being against this contract is overwhelming, as presented on behalf of public bodies and newspapers. There has been no division of opinion. The public, so far as it is possible to do so, has gone on record as opposing the contract. Finally, there is nothing in the law to preclude the contractor in this case taking advantage of falling prices, whatever they may be, in materials, supplies or labor. I like to see people get a decent wage. I have not offered resolutions here meeting after meeting on the floor of the Council reiterating that view, but my public and private acts are illustrative of my position in the matter. But if there is any saving under this contract, the saving will inure to the benefit not of the city, but of the contractor.

The rule was suspended, and the question came on the passage of the order. The order was declared rejected. Coun. Collins doubted the vote and asked for a verification by yeas and nays.

The order was rejected, yeas 2, nays 7.

Yeas—Coun. Collins, Hagan—2.

Nays—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Ford, Lane, McLaughlin, Moriarty, Watson—7.

Chairman MORIARTY—The question is on the passage of the order approving the contract.

The order was declared passed. Coun. Watson asked for a roll call, and the Council voted to pass the order approving the contract, yeas 7, nays 2.

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Ford, Lane, McLaughlin, Moriarty, Watson—7.

Nays—Coun. Collins, Hagan—2.

Chairman MORIARTY—The order is passed, and by your vote you have confirmed the contract.

COUN. WATSON'S POSITION ON MUNICIPAL LIGHTING.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

Chairman MORIARTY—Is there any objection? (No response.) Hearing none, I will grant the consent if you do not take over——

Coun. WATSON——three minutes.

Chairman MORIARTY—All right. Granted.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, as president of this honorable body, and as the member who introduced into its deliberations the order which was made the subject of adverse criticism in an evening paper on Thursday last, I feel compelled to make this statement in order to clear up any misunderstanding which may arise as the result of this publicity. In the first place, I introduced into this body an order calling upon the City Council to consider the advisability of the city taking the first one of three steps that might eventually lead to the manufacture and sale of electricity or gas, or both, to the people of Boston. For ten weeks, at each successive meeting of the Council, I spoke upon the lighting situation, mainly for the purpose of focusing upon the Legislature public interest in the question of the attempt of the criminal, or, to be mild, the near-criminal, attempt on the part of the bankers and lighting interests to pass what is now known as the "lighting graft," but better known at that time as an emergency bill to permit the gas and electric interests of the Commonwealth to capitalize their premiums, or to wring from the people millions of dollars by means of an increase in the price of gas and electricity. With this body co-operating with me by standing solidly at my back, and with the support of the city Law Department, his Honor the Mayor succeeded in defeating the deliberate attempt to rob the consumers of these two products of their hard-earned money. If the City Council never did another thing of merit, in this act alone it earned a debt of gratitude from the people and justified the election of each and every member of the body. This same body is now about to take another step in the direction of removing the shackles placed upon the public by the Legislature and the lighting interests, by passing the first vote in favor of the establishment of lighting plants. It is in order to provide for the proper consideration of this step that I introduced the two orders permitting the City Council to visit cities where municipally owned lighting plants are already established. I am prepared to vote tomorrow, or at this time, on the question of the city taking the first step of three that may mean the issuing of bonds by the City Treasurer amounting to upwards of thirty million of dollars, but I am not sure that my associates are as well informed on the question as I am. I have given more than twenty-five years to a study of this question, and without any desire to reflect upon any of the other members of this body, I doubt if they have had the same opportunity upon which to base their official action. In order that they may vote intelligently upon this question, therefore, it is absolutely necessary that they should secure the most authentic and direct information to be had upon the subject. This can best be secured in those cities where municipally owned and operated plants are located, and I am confident that the knowledge thus acquired will have more potential value to the City of Boston than could be expected from the expenditure of a like sum of money in almost any other municipal investment. Would any taxpayer indorse the action of a member of this honorable body in taking the initial step that might eventually lead to the expenditure of millions of dollars of the people's money without the fullest possible information? I am sure he would not. I am equally sure that the paper that published the adverse criticism to which I refer, once it has the full facts in its possession, will no longer adhere to its original position. Of course the lighting trust has been in agreement with them, or with others who reap the benefits of special privilege. The people want action against the lighting interests, and I am with them to the very limit, regardless of coercion, intimidation or bribes. I am here to represent the people, and when I fail to do so I want to retire from public life. I desire to go on record as being ready at all times to co-operate with anyone who is fighting the criminal interests. I want no more New York, New Haven & Hartford, Boston & Maine, Boston Elevated or Eastern Massachusetts Railroad situations if I can be of assistance in stopping them. The banking interests and the greedy rich have just about killed the goose that laid the golden egg, and if we cannot save the goose we must do what we can to save the egg; and about the only egg that is left is the egg that has the power to compel public officials, elected and appointed, to stand by the interests of the many rather than do the bidding of those who have fattened upon the special privileges meted out to them by crooked, inattentive and subservient public officials.

Now, Mr. President, in conclusion, Mr. Hagan is absent, but I think he ought to hear this. He can read it in the record. I wish to say here publicly that Coun. Hagan agreed to go with the committee on their tour of investigation. We never intended to go to Montreal and Toronto, and we intended to perform our duty in a proper and gentlemanly manner, despite propaganda and possible newspaper criticism. Mr. Hagan told me he could go with us on the trip because he hoped to be in Chicago on a certain day, and that he would go to work and see if he could change his plans; that if he could go to Chicago when we went he would be glad to go with us. That is a deliberate contradiction of his statement in the Boston Telegram, printed on the first page. I want to say that the members of this body, all or few, are gentlemen just as well as he is, and that wherever we go we will cast credit on the city we represent as best we know how. I thank the members.

Later in the session Coun. MORIARTY said:

Mr. President, I would like to make a statement, if I may be given unanimous consent to do so. I would say that I voted for the appropriation for the proposed trip to obtain information. I believe that there was no objection by any member of the Council. At the outset I did not think that I could go; at the present time I have decided that, on account of other business, I am unable to go. I am sorry at this time that I am not able to go, and I am not hiding behind anybody in not going. I am only sorry that I cannot have the information that the other members of the Council who are going to take the trip will be afforded, to bring back here for the benefit of the citizens of Boston.

OUTSIDE WORK AT PRINTING PLANT.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to instruct the Superintendent of Printing to refuse to accept any work in the city printing plant which comes from printing shops in which there is any labor trouble or difficulty.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

REMOVAL OF SUBWAY ENTRANCES ON COMMON.

Coun. LANE offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to take such action as may be necessary so that the present unsightly structures on Boston Common used for subway entrances and exits be removed and less objectionable ones, such as are used in New York and on the more recent tunnels, substituted therefor.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

President WATSON called up unfinished business, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, viz.:

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor December 19, 1921, viz.:

1. Alfred A. Edwards, to be a Constable.
2. Lionel DeJersey Greene, to be a Constable.
3. James J. Bird, J. Collins, Frank Hayes, William McDermott and Benjamin A. Stone, to be Weighers of Coal.

Herbert R. Plimpton, to be a Weigher of Coal and a Measurer of Wood and Bark.

5. Norman R. Hatch, D. Fulton Dean and Charles W. Chapin, to be Weighers of Goods.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Ford and Donoghue. Whole number of ballots cast 7, yeas 7, and the several appointments were confirmed.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. MORIARTY moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned at 6.42 p. m., on motion of Coun. McLAUGHLIN to meet on Monday, January 16, at two o'clock p. m.

MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

TELEPHONE OPERATORS, FEBRUARY 8, 1922.

A competitive examination for the position of telephone operator (open to men and women) in the service of the state, of Boston, and of the various cities of the Commonwealth and of such towns as are classified under civil service, will be held on February 8, 1922.

Persons who pass the examination are entitled to have their names placed upon the eligible lists for the service of the state and of the city in which they reside and any two others for which they may indicate a preference.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Experience 50; memory 15; telephone operation 35; total 100.

POLICEWOMEN, FEBRUARY 15, 1922, IN THE SERVICE OF BOSTON, ALL OTHER CITIES IN THE STATE, AND SUCH TOWNS AS ARE CLASSIFIED UNDER CIVIL SERVICE.

Vacancies occur from time to time in the Boston Police Department, at an entrance salary of $1,400 a year, increasing $100 a year to a maximum of $1,800. At present there is a vacancy in the Lowell Police Department at a salary of $20 per week, and a vacancy in the Medford Police Department at a salary of $1,000 a year. Other vacancies may occur at any time in other cities and towns than those named above.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Experience 5; report 1; practical questions 4; total 10.

Persons who pass the written examination may be required to qualify in personality (as determined by an oral interview) before certification.

The practical questions will concern such matters as warrants, arrests, etc., the laws relating to night walking, stubborn children, shoplifters, etc., and practical cases to test applicants' judgment and resourcefulness in handling typical problems along protective and preventive as well as correctional lines. Some of the practical questions will be based upon information contained in a manual supplied by the Department of Civil Service and Registration, Division of Civil Service, and known as the "Blue Book," a copy of which will be sent to every person who files an application. Applicants are advised to inquire either personally or by letter should they fail to receive this manual.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in experience. Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

Applicants for Boston must be not less than 25 nor over 35 years of age at the time of filing applications, which must be accompanied by birth certificates. In no other city or town is an age limit required.

There are no requirements as to weight or height in any city or town.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in chapter 150 of the General Acts of 1919.

Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply. Preference in certification will be given to applicants who, at the time of filing application, are residents of the city or town from which requisition is received.

As far as practicable, these examinations will be held in various centrally located cities throughout the state.

Application blanks may be obtained by applying in person or by letter at the office of the Department of Civil Service and Registration, Division of Civil Service, Rooms 148-152, State House, Boston.

FOREIGN TRADE OF UNITED STATES, WITH RANK OF TEN LEADING PORTS.

Exports in 1920, $8,228,759,748 or $308,333,758 more than in 1919 and the highest total on record; to European countries, 54.28 per cent; to North American, 23.44 per cent; Asian, etc., 12.68 per cent; South American, 7.58 per cent; African, 2.02 per cent.

Imports in 1920, $5,279,398,211 or $1,375,033,279 more than in 1919 and the highest record for imports; from European countries, 23.26 per cent; from North American, 31.51 per cent; South American, 14.42 per cent; Asian, etc., 27.97 per cent; African, 2.84 per cent. Total foreign commerce in 1920, $13,508,157,959 or $1,683,367,037 (i. e., 14.24 per cent) more than in 1919. Excess of exports over imports, $2,949,361,537.

New York, ranking first among United States ports, handled 45.74 per cent of total commerce, or 0.95 per cent less than in 1919; New Orleans (2nd) 7.30 per cent; Philadelphia (3rd) 5.36 per cent; Galveston (4th) 5.03 per cent; Boston (5th) 4.33 per cent; Detroit (6th) 3.43 per cent; Baltimore (7th) 3.34 per cent; San Francisco (8th) 3.24 per cent; Buffalo (9th) 2.66 per cent; Norfolk, Va. (10th) 2.46 per cent. Of value of all imports 59.06 per cent free of duty. Total duties collected, $331,231,443 or $81,456,685 more than in 1919. Of total export value, 65.49 per cent applied to manufactured and partly manufactured materials, 23.15 per cent to crude materials for use in manufacturing and 11.36 per cent to foodstuffs (crude) and food animals.

Exports in American ships, 43.65 per cent of total in 1920; 36.61 per cent in 1919; 18.86 per cent in 1918. Imports in American ships, 42.02 per cent of total in 1920; 35.97 per cent in 1919; 27.82 per cent in 1918.

Net tonnage entered in 1920, total of 64,124,731, of which 50.10 per cent was American; cleared in 1920, 67,821,572, and 50.18 per cent American.

Boston's rank for many years as the second importing port changed to fourth place in 1917, Seattle taking second place and San Francisco third, probably due to war conditions. In 1918 Boston advanced to third place and was slightly behind Seattle. In 1919 it regained its former rank of second and held it in 1920.

LOANS DECREASING.

In the ten years, 1911–1920, inclusive, the yearly average of debt contracted for other than Rapid Transit construction was $3,040,286, while in the ten years, 1900–1909, inclusive, the yearly average was $4,755,600, showing a decrease in the last decade of $1,715,314 average yearly, or 36.1 per cent.

Net debt per capita $99.10 (approx.); net debt exclusive of Rapid Transit debt, $48,203,936 or $60.18 per capita, which is $14.30 less per capita than in 1915. Loans authorized but not issued (within debt limit) $1,352,300; same outside of debt limit, $3,121,000.

In the fiscal year 1920-21, the net City debt was reduced by $1,780,682; the net County debt by $144,364 and the net Water debt by $22,000. The net Rapid Transit debt was increased by $418,574.

Total debt contracted, $2,845,000; total debt paid, $3,142,750; total decrease of gross debt, $297,750; of net debt, $1,528,472.

Total debt incurred in the ten years 1911 to 1920 inclusive, $50,002,867, of which $19,600,000 or 39.2 per cent was Rapid Transit debt.

Total amount of debt incurred by the City in the 98 years since its incorporation (in 1822), $262,169,437, of which 87.82 per cent belongs to the last 50 years, 55.84 per cent to the last 25 years, 19.07 per cent to the last 10 years. From 1822 to 1870 the amount borrowed was $31,916,010 or a yearly average of $664,917. From 1870 to 1920 the total borrowed was $230,253,427 or a yearly average of $4,605,068. The maximum for a 10-year period was from 1896 to 1905, when the yearly average was $7,188,493.

SEGREGATED BUDGET FOR PRESENT FINANCIAL YEAR.

Sixth year of new method with annual appropriations. Budget for City and County for year 1921-22 passed by City Council April 11 (without any reductions) and approved by Mayor, April 12, 1921. Total appropriated from taxes, miscellaneous income, Water Service revenue, etc., $33,021,570 (i. e., $612,189 more than in 1920) of which $23,523,277 was for City purposes within tax limit, $5,669,001 for City debt requirements; $2,431,694 for County purposes (including $145,742 for County debt requirements), and $1,378,905 for Water Service, etc. Special appropriations included in budget were; Reconstructing and Repairing Streets by Contract, $750,000; Street Improvements, $250,000; Granolithic Sidewalks, $50,000; Bridges, repairs, etc., $90,000. Special appropriation passed prior to budget, $8,082 for East Boston Tunnel debt requirements. The Legislature having again raised the tax limit, to $11 for 1921 on each $1,000 of the 3-year average valuation (i. e., $1,526,365,955), the amount available for appropriations inside tax limits was $16,790,025, plus estimated miscellaneous revenue of $5,184,000 and cash surplus from 1920 of $3,817,251 or a total of $25,791,276.

Maintenance appropriations of School Committee, $11,299,490 (incl. $976,874 for Schoolhouse Dept.); special appropriations from Tax Levy, etc., for schoolhouses and sites, $2,793,250; total for schools, $14,092,740. Grand total of appropriations, $47,122,392.

HOW THE CITY DOLLAR WAS SPENT DURING THE LAST FINANCIAL YEAR.

For Public Schools, $0.23 cents (if the total amount appropriated had been expended, the correct figure would be 0.262); Public Works, 0.176; State Tax and Assessments, 0.133; Debt Requirements, 0.12; Police Dept., 0.08; Fire Dept., 0.07; Institutions and Poor Relief, 0.039; Hospitals and Health, 0.038; General Government, 0.037; County Courts, etc., 0.037; Public Recreation, 0.027; Public Library, 0.013, making a total of 100 cents. This excludes all expenditures from loans, etc., but includes Special Appropriations from Tax Levy and other General Income.

The revenue of the departments amounted to 16 per cent of their gross expenditures. The revenue of Public Service Enterprises alone (including Water Service, Markets, etc.) amounted to $3,997,166 or $234,117 more than their total expenditures. The fractions of the dollar above stated represent net expenditure, computed after deducting department revenue.

Revenue from another class of public service enterprise, i. e., Rapid Transit subways and tunnels, $1,446,516.75 or $19,979.55 more than the interest and sinking-fund requirements of the Rapid Transit debt in 1920.

PUBLIC RECREATION IN BOSTON.

Number of large parks, 24; separate playgrounds, 43, with total of 324 acres, also 13 playgrounds in parks, with area of 155 acres; small parks and squares, 75; total area, 2,685.68 acres. Cost of Main Park System, i. e., 1,386 acres (incl. Common and Public Garden, 72.65 acres) land and construction (since 1877 when begun), $12,180,832; of Marine Park System, i. e., 457.9 acres (since 1883), $4,474,150; of all other parks and public grounds, $2,274,437; of separate playgrounds, $4,385,346. Total cost, $23,314,765.

The leading attraction of the Main Park System is Franklin Park (named for Benamin Franklin), acquired in 1883-84, and containing 527 acres, about 80 of which are occupied by the Zoological Garden, 15 miles of walks, 8 miles of driveways, etc., the entire cost up to 1921 being $4,496,801. There are also within the City limits 958 acres of Metropolitan parks and parkways under State control, chief of which is Stony Brook Reservation in West Roxbury, containing 464 acres of wild forested hill and dale with many rocky knolls and an extensive view of the Charles River valley and beyond.

Number of public indoor baths open all the year, 14; 9 beach baths and 7 floating baths open during summer; indoor gymnasia, 11; total number of indoor baths taken in year 1920, 1,389,994, of which 74.2 per cent were by men and boys.

Park Department maintenance for 1920-21, $1,286,046 or $210,759 more than in 1919. Outlay for playground improvements, $188,984; for park improvements, $229,177, of which $176,505 was from Parkman Fund income. Gross debt for parks, public grounds, etc., outstanding February 1, 1921, $10,369,550; for playgrounds, $2,330,050; total, $12,699,600 or $594,250 less than in 1920. By Chap. 13, Ord. 1920, the Cemetery Department was merged with the Park Department, the latter title being substituted for Park and Recreation Department.

Including the State assessments of $884,913 for Metropolitan parks, boulevards, etc., and $231,786 for Charles River Basin improvements, the total expended for public recreation purposes in 1920 was $2,820,907 or $264,018 more than in 1919.

Total valuation of City properties devoted to recreation $69,306,900 (including $55,112,400 for Boston Common and Public Garden), which far exceeds that of any other American city except New York.

BUDGET INCREASES FOR THE PAST SIX YEARS.

Total maintenance appropriations for all departments, excluding School departments, increased from $15,936,483 in 1915 to $24,050,034 in 1920 or 50.91 per cent, while the same for School departments alone increased from $6,100,215 in 1915 to $9,858,869 in 1920 or 61.61 per cent. If the special appropriations from Tax Levy and other General Income are included, the total increase for Schools is $6,124,217 or 95.65 per cent, the excess above 61.61 per cent being due to new school buildings and sites, formerly (i. e., prior to 1910) paid for by loans.

MUNICIPAL SERVICE.

Complaints, inquiries or suggestions regarding the work of municipal departments should be made in writing to the officials directly in charge. The failure of such officials to make reply within a reasonable length of time should be brought to the attention of the Mayor. Communications should be directed as follows:

TO THE BOARD OF STREET COMMISSIONERS, Room 401, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the laying out, relocation, widening and the discontinuance of highways; the taking of real property for municipal purposes; the assessments of betterments for streets and sewers; the plotting of undeveloped areas for streets and the opening of private ways; the granting of licenses for the storage or sale of merchandise in public streets; the regulation of street traffic; the making of specific repairs in public streets, the naming of public streets, the planting and removal of trees in public ways, the issuing of licenses for the storage of gasolene, oil and other inflammable substances or explosive compounds, the use of the public ways for any permanent or temporary obstruction or projection in, under or over the same, including the location of conduits, poles and posts for telephone, telegraph, street railway or illuminating purposes, signs, marquises, bay windows, coal holes and vaults.

TO THE COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WORKS, Room 511, City Hall Annex, for information as to the watering, cleaning, lighting and repairing of streets, the construction and care of sewers and catch-basins, the operation of the ferries, the maintenance of bridges and drawbridges and the removal of ashes and offal.

To Room 604, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the supplying or metering of water and the water charges of the city.

TO THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT, Room 1107, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the inspection of milk, vinegar, meat, fish and vegetables, the issuance of permits for stables, slaughter houses, etc., smoke nuisances, the existence of contagious diseases or public health nuisances.

TO THE BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS, 33 Beacon street, for information as to the care of the Common, Public Garden, Franklin Park, Franklin Field, Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay Fens, Marine Park and the small parks and playgrounds in general throughout the city, and as to the extermination of gypsy moths and the charges made for such service. Application may be made to this department for information regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mount Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 26 Mason street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

TO THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS, Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

TO THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, Room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

TO THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, Room 905, City Hall Annex, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of wires and electrical apparatus. Also to the same office for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must invariably be paid in advance.

Part for Fire Engine.

On January 13 to American & British Manufacturing Corporation as per following communication:

Boston, January 9, 1922.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of a letter dated the 7th instant from the Acting Fire Commissioner requesting that I seek permission from your Honor to enter into a contract and purchase, without advertising, spare parts for Horseless Engine No. 38 as called for on the attached list, this purchase to be made from the American & British Manufacturing Corporation, at a cost of $1,978.51. This concern rebuilt this engine years ago and controls the patterns of all the necessary parts.

The attached letter from the Fire Commissioner explains the reason for making this request.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. Cronin,
Superintendent of Supplies.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved:

Fire Department.

Boston, January 9, 1921.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—There was a contract for repairs on fireboat Engine 44, approved by the Acting Mayor August 17, 1921, for $5,478. Upon inspection by the United States steamboat inspectors it was necessary to formulate an additional contract for $2,829, which you approved on October 31, 1921. In the progress of the work minor defects were discovered which, of necessity, had to be remedied, and which the contractor, Bertelsen and Petersen Engineering Company, agreed to do, charging $169.94 for the same. This, in my opinion, is very reasonable. I would ask your approval of this extra charge as the additions are not contained in the specifications of either contract, and are correct.

Yours very truly,

Joseph P. Manning,
Acting Fire Commissioner.

Hospital Department.

An addition, amounting to $926.73, on contract with John Bowen Company, dated October 8, 1921, "Change in Ward I," viz.: For substituting polished wire plate glass for common plate glass, add the sum of $741.73; for cutting extra doors in sun parlor, add the sum of $230; on account of omitting the gown case, deduct the sum of $45; total, $926.73. The above statement makes the contract stand as follows: amount of original contract, $15,550; addition No. 1, $926.73; total amount, $16,476.73.

Public Buildings Department.

An addition, amounting to $394.50, on contract with Michael Seretto, dated September 19, 1921, Wayfarers Lodge, viz.: One (1) new Pierce-Butler-Pierce No. 15 Little Giant heater with 6-inch galvanized-iron pipe flue, with all necessary connections completely installed to hot water system, $125. The following toilet fixtures complete with screws and fittings completely erected: 5 government paper holders; 5 enameled soap dishes with glass holders; 1 medicine closet 18 inches by 2 inches by 4½ inches deep as approved, $115; 1 towel rack, 4-foot white rod; 1 glass holder. Finish two safes with two coats black and one coat black varnish, also refinish one D.K. old, $24. Provide and erect benches as detailed in dressing room of 2 by 6 dressed, properly supported, $36. Provide and erect one oak balustrade with gate step and hardware complete as per design in office properly painted, $55. Provide and erect 1-inch green window shade with fixtures, cords, etc., complete in public space, office entrance, hall, both small rooms aside of office, $27. Provide and erect flush bolts and lock both vestibule doors, $12.50. Total, $394.50. Original contract, $31,845; total additions, $12,234.80; present contract, $44,079.80.

CONTRACTS APPROVED.

The following contracts have been signed by the Mayor. Lists of bidders and amount of bids have appeared in a previous issue.

Ordered, That this Board determines that the undermentioned estate sustains damages by the taking made for municipal building purposes at the southwesterly corner of River and Winthrop streets, Hyde Park district, under the order of the Board of even date herewith, in the amount hereinafter set against it, and awards said amount therefor.

	Amount.
William A. Gray, 10,293 square feet	$8,500 00

December 15, 1921.

Ordered, That due notice be given that this Board is of the opinion that public necessity requires the taking of land (additional) at the southwesterly corner of River and Winthrop streets, Hyde Park district, for municipal building purposes, substantially as shown on a plan on file in the office of this Board; that it intends to pass an order to make said taking, and that it appoints 12 o'clock m. of January 4, 1922, and the office of this Board as the time and place for a public hearing in the matter.

A true copy of an order passed by said Board on said day.

Attest:

JOSEPH F. SULLIVAN,
Secretary.

January 11, 1922.

Whereas, The Board of Street Commissioners has passed the aforesaid order of notice and has caused a copy of said order to be published December 17 and 24, 1921, in the City Record, and has given the public hearing, notice of which was given in said order, and

Whereas, The Public Buildings Department of said City of Boston, with the approval of the Mayor, has selected, designated and requested the Board of Street Commissioners of said city to take for said city for municipal building purposes the land hereinafter described, in that part of Boston formerly Hyde Park, it is

Voted, That the Board of Street Commissioners of said City of Boston, acting under the provisions of chapter 486 of the Acts of the Legislature of 1909 and chapter 79 of the General Laws and all other authority thereto enabling, hereby takes in fee for said city for municipal building purposes, the following described parcel of land, including the trees, buildings and other structures standing upon or affixed thereto;

A parcel of land, in said Boston, supposed to belong to William A. Gray, bounded:

Southeast by River street, one hundred six and 68/100 feet; southwest by land of the City of Boston, one hundred eleven and 92/100 feet; west by the same, forty-seven and 82/100 feet; north by Winthrop street, one hundred four and 7/100 feet; and northeast by the same, forty-four and 91/100 feet: containing ten thousand two hundred and ninety-three square feet more or less.

Said parcel of land is shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, River Street, Winthrop Street and Central Avenue, Hyde Park, February 3, 1920, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

January 10, 1922.

In the matter of the applications for revision of assessments levied on account of the construction of sewerage works the Board of Street Commissioners, acting under the provisions of chapter 359 of the acts of the year 1896, and deeming it just and proper that such action should be taken upon said applications,

Orders, That the amounts hereinafter specified, being the annual apportionments of said assessments for the year specified below be and the same are hereby abated.

Mary L. Mann, 1921 apportionment, Richmond road, November 7, 1916	$9 92
Mary Timmons, 1921 apportionment, Elgin street, January 2, 1914	11 60
Lucy E. Davis, 1921 apportionment, Puritan avenue, April 18, 1916	15 55
Lucy E. Davis, 1921 apportionment, Puritan avenue, April 16, 1916	7 44
Ellen Egan, 1921 apportionment, Pontiac street, July 6, 1920	17 20

January 13, 1922.

Ordered, That this Board deeming it necessary does hereby order that the sewerage works hereinafter described be constructed, and does hereby take for said city for its sewerage works, the lands, rights and easements hereinafter described. Said lands are shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Plan No. 437, Sewerage Works, Burton street, Brighton, December 31, 1921, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer Street Laying-Out Department," deposited in the office of the Public Works Department, Sewer Service, of said city, and said lands, rights and easements, and said works to be constructed are as follows:

The right and easement is taken to lay and maintain sewerage works in the following described lands, exclusive of any interest in trees, buildings or other structures standing thereon, reserving to the owners thereof the right to use the lands for any purpose except such as may injure or obstruct said works, and except for placing or maintaining any structure on said lands not authorized in writing by the Mayor of said city; trees, buildings or other structures standing upon or affixed to the land in which an easement is hereby taken are to be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said taking for the purpose of constructing said sewerage works. Said lands are in that part of Boston formerly Brighton and are bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Burton street, bounded:

Southwest by another part of Burton street, six feet; northwest by the same, seventy feet; northeast by the same, six feet; and southeast by the same, seventy feet: containing four hundred and twenty square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: About 70 linear feet of 8-inch pipe sanitary sewer, in the above described premises, being part of the private way known as Burton street, for a distance of about seventy feet northeasterly from Bellamy street.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the improvement ordered herein.

This Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of said easement and construction of said sewerage works, and awards no damages therefor.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of land abutting on the northwesterly side of Burton street now or formerly owned by James H. Green and the lot of land abutting on the southeasterly side of Burton street now or formerly owned by Philip Callan, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community from the improvement herein ordered, each of the particular lots to the amounts respectively set against them herein; said lots and the supposed owners thereof being shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Plan No. 427, Sewerage Works, Burton street, Brighton, December 31, 1921, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

	Amount.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Under authority of chapter 3, section 22, of the Revised Ordinances, I have designated, subject to your approval, Dr. M. Victor Safford, Deputy Commissioner in charge of the Medical Division, to perform the duties of the Health Commissioner during such time as I may be absent, January 13, 1922, to February 6, 1922.

I respectfully request that this be approved.

Yours very truly,
W. C. Woodward,
Health Commissioner.

AUDITING DEPARTMENT.

Boston, January 3, 1922.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I hereby designate, with your approval, under authority of chapter 3, section 22, of the Revised Ordinances of 1914, William H. Hayward to act as auditor at such times as I may be absent during the four weeks beginning Tuesday, January 3, 1922.

Respectfully,
Edward T. Kelly,
Acting City Auditor.

Approved January 3, 1922.
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

COMMITTEE INVESTEGATING ELECTRIC LEIGHTING PLANTS.

January 10, 1922.

The special Boston committee studying electric lighting put in a long and busy day in Chicago to-day. The Deputy Commissioner of Public Works took the party in charge at nine o'clock and escorted them to the municipal building. There they met the commissioners and engineer of several departments having to do with street sanitary lighting and legal affairs. With the exception of an hour for lunch most of day was spent in the departmental offices studying plans asking questions and listening to explanations of various phases of municipal lighting problems. In the early evening the Boston officials were taken on a tour of important business and residential sections and shown the different types of street lights in use. There are 2,300 miles of streets in Chicago. The city has charge of the lighting on the greater part of the streets, boulevards and parks. Deputy Cammissioner Henry Nixon of the Bureau of Gas and Electricity explained the various types of lamps that are used. The popular standard lamp is 600 candle power. It is the equivalent of the old flaming are lamp, the popular style for street lighting for many years. These 600 candle power lamps cost the city $27.40 each per year. Mr. Nixon estimates that under the old arrangement with the private company they would cost about $61.19. The electrical energy for Chicago street lighting is produced in the hydro electric plant at the terminus of the Chicago drainage canal at Lockport. There is located the city's sewerage pumping station. Three 44,000-volt three-phase transmission lines on steel towers bring the energy to the sanitary district distributing station in the heart of the city where it is reduced to 12,000 volts for distribution to the various city substations through underground cables owned by the city. These substations from which series of street lighting circuits originate are owned and operated by the city. The standards of the municipal lighting department call for the operaton of a 600-candle power lamp at every street intersection, at every intersection of a street with an alley, and sufficient additional lamps so that no length of a street more than 350 feet shall be without a lamp in business districts. This distance is reduced to 250 feet. The city contract for the operation of several thousand gas and gasolene lamps in those parts of the city where electric lighting facilities are not available. The Boston committee leave Chicago tomorrow morning for Detroit loaded down with Chicago data on municipal electric lighting, particularly street lighting. Councillor Henry E. Hagan of Boston who is here attending the Convention of the National Retail Shoe Dealers' Association sat in with his colleagues at the hotel sessions Sunday night and last night. The Chicago city officials took great pains to be helpful and courteous to the Boston officials and expressed regret that they had not received earlier notice of their visit so that they might have arranged some sort of formal entertainment.

January 11, 1922.

Tomorrow, Thursday morning, the Boston committee of members of the City Council studying electric lighting problems will arrive in New York City after an all-night trip from Detroit. One of the most interesting and instructive days of the trip was spent in Detroit today. Municipal ownership of public utilities is very popular in this city. Detroit possesses the largest municipal street railway system in the world with 250 cars and trailers in regular service, 200 more in reserve and more than a hundred miles of track. It operates its own municipal lighting plant, lighting the streets and municipal buildings. It was one of the first cities in the country to adopt the electric arc lamp for street illumination, and with the exception of some incandescent lamps at railroad viaducts, in alleys and in some small sections recently annexed to the city, all of the street lighting is by means of electric arc lamps. The history of street lighting in Detroit is interesting. The first installation of arc lamps was in 1883, when 24 were placed in the central portion of the city, replacing 116 gas lamps. The next year the number of arc lamps increased to 300 and were operated at a cost of about $240 per lamp for the year. The last contract with a private corporation for furnishing all the street lighting was in 1894, when the 1,279 arc lamps were operated at a cost of about $132 per lamp per year. When H. S. Pingree was Mayor in 1892 he called the attention of the City Council to the fact that 88 cities about the same size as Detroit were paying much less for street lighting. In 1893 the Common Council passed a resolution determining it advisable to establish a plant for public lighting to be owned by the city. In April, 1895, the first street lamps, 189 in number, were operated from the public lighting plant. In July, 1896, there were 1,481 street arc lamps in operation at a cost averaging $68.52 per lamp per year, not including fixed charges. Since then lamps have been added annually, so that today there are in operation 13,389. To this there will be added by July 1, 1,357, when underground extensions and overhead circuits now under construction will be completed. As soon as the public lighting plant originally intended to furnish lighting for streets only began operating it was recognized that if service could be secured for 24 hours per day the cost of the street lighting would be reduced and that it would be possible to furnish service for lighting and power in public buildings at less cost than the rates paid to the private corporations. Upon this policy service was given to public buildings which has annually increased until at present 328 buildings are served with a connected load of 7,417 kilowatts, and within a year it is expected to add a connected load of more than 3,000 kilowatts. The 1921 financial statement shows a total investment for the public lighting plant of $5,667,210, covering the power station, underground conduits valued at $1,235,686, 1,984 miles of overhead lines and 462 miles of underground cable last year. The cost for street lighting with an average price of $4.35 per ton of slack coal delivered at the plant was as follows: Type of 6.6 ampere boulevard lamps $68.75 for operation; $46.16 for fixed charges. Pendant type of 4 ampere, $35.61 for operation, $30.04 fixed charges. This latter type compares with the street lamps in common use in Boston for which that city pays the Edison Company $79.60 per lamp per year. These Detroit prices relate to the period ending June 30. The lower cost of fuel for the five subsequent months reduced the operating cost approximately 26 per cent as compared with the corresponding months a year ago. The municipal plant in Detroit has not entered the field of commercial and domestic lighting. Its activities, however, have had the effect of bringing about comparatively low prices for the lighting of homes and offices from the private company whose charges are 14 cents for the first 6 kilowatt hours, 4 cents for all beyond that period, with a 5 per cent discount for the prompt payment of bills, making an average of about 5 cents per kilowatt hour as against 10 cents kilowatt for the same service in Boston plus the 5 per cent coal clause and the interest charge. Under the guidance of the manager of the municipal lighting plant the visitors from Boston made a thorough inspection of the system of public lighting in this city from manufacturing to general distribution. The Bostonians attended the business session of the city commissioners in the morning and were the guests of Mayor Couzens at a luncheon at the Detroit Athletic Club which was attended by members of the City Council and the heads of municipal departments.

STATEMENT BY MAYOR PETERS ON THE NEW ACCOUNTING SYSTEM OF THE CITY OF BOSTON.

Mayor Peters, speaking of the adoption of the new accounting system for the city, said:

"Controversy having arisen over the accounting system of the city, and the Corporation Counsel having rendered an opinion that no expenditures incurred to January 31, 1922, inclusive, can be paid out of the appropriations for the new year, it became necessary to devise means for the payment of such expenditures as will not be paid during the present financial year.

"It should be kept in mind that the customary method of keeping the accounts of the city which is on a cash receipts and payments basis, has been followed this year as it has always been followed.

"Notwithstanding any erroneous impression that may exist concerning the financial condition of the city, the fact remains that the city has ample assets far in excess of any outstanding liabilities, with which to take care of any obligations outstanding.

"A plan has been devised, whereby these obligations will be not from whatever surplus exists at the end of the year, as well as from the income receivable at January 31, 1922, largely represented by current taxes, not yet received. The effect of this plan will be to clear up all the expenditures of the city to January 31, 1922, inclusive, so that the new appropriations will be charged with the obligations incurred from February 1, 1922, only.

"This plan has been approved by the Corporation Counsel. At a conference held at the Mayor's office on Monday, January 16, between Mayor Peters and Mayor-elect Curley, Mr. Curley assented to this plan."

INCOME AND EXPENIDTURE BASES.

Boston, January 13, 1922.

To the City and County Heads of Departments:

Gentlemen,—With a view to placing the accounts of the city and county upon an income and expenditure basis, you are respectfully directed to comply with the following procedure:

All bills and pay rolls incurred up to January 31, 1922, inclusive, which have been customarily charged to the appropriations for the new year, are to be charged to and distinctly marked "Special Account 1921-22." This does not apply to loan account, special appropriations and trust fund accounts, which are to be treated the same as heretofore. Pay rolls paid on a weekly basis, for the week ending February 2, 1922, are to be forwarded to this office with two requisitions, one of which will provide for the five days to January 31, inclusive, and the other will provide for the two days of the new year; the former will be charged to "Special Account 1921-22," the latter will be charged to the appropriations for the year 1922-23.

The effect of this procedure will be to include as expenditures against the new appropriation only those items which have been incurred from February 1, 1922.

This important matter requires your earnest co-operation. Should you be in doubt as to the procedure to be followed, early inquiry should be made at this office.

Very truly yours,

Edward T. Kelly,
Acting City Auditor.

Approved.
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

SALE OF AUTO.

Boston, December 28, 1921.

To the Mayor of Boston:

I respectfully request authority to sell to the Universal Motor Company, Inc., one old Ford truck with platform, for the sum of $115, in part payment for a new Ford truck to be purchased from this concern.

Yours respectfully,

T. A. Sullivan,
Commissioner of Public Works.

LAND TAKING—DORCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL.

Boston, January 17, 1922.

To the Honorable Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—At a meeting of the Board held this day, and in compliance with chapter 473 of the Acts of 1901, it was voted, subject to your approval, to request the Board of Street Commissioners to take, for extension of the yard of the Dorchester High School, a certain piece or parcel of land in the Henry L. Pierce district, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point on Centre street at the northeasterly corner of land of the City of Boston and occupied by the Dorchester High School, thence easterly by line of Centre street 122 feet to land of Kenney; thence turning and running southerly by land of Kenney 105 feet to land of the City of Boston; thence turning and running westerly by line of said city 122 feet to land of said city; thence turning and running northerly by land of said city 105 feet to the point of beginning; and contains 14,294 square feet of land. Be all said measurements more or less.

We submit herewith the written opinion of the Superintendent of Schools thereon, and respectfully request your approval of an expenditure, not exceeding—eminent domain—for carrying out the same.

Respectfully,

J. P. LOMASNEY,
Chairman Schoolhouse Commissioners.

BOSTON, January 10, 1922.

MR. J. E. BURKE,
Superintendent of Public Schools,
Boston, Mass.:

DEAR SIR,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners thinks it advisable to take, for extension of the yard of the Dorchester High School, a certain piece or parcel of land in the Henry L. Pierce district, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point on Centre street at the northeasterly corner of land of the City of Boston and occupied by the Dorchester High School, thence easterly by line of Centre street 122 feet to land of Kenney; then turning and running southerly by land of Kenney 105 feet to land of the City of Boston; thence turning and running westerly by line of said city 122 feet to land of said city; thence turning and running northerly by land of said city 105 feet to the point of beginning; and contains 14,294 square feet of land. Be all said measurements more or less.

In accordance with chapter 473 of the Acts of 1901, and Acts in amendment of or in addition thereto, we respectfully ask your written opinion of the above.

J. P. LOMASNEY,
Chairman, Schoolhouse Commissioners.

SALE OF AUTO.

BOSTON, January 4, 1922.

To the Mayor of Boston:

I respectfully request authority to sell to the Universal Motor Company, Inc., one old Ford runabout, which belongs to the Water Division, for the sum of $155.

This car is to be taken in part payment for a new Ford runabout, which has been purchased through the Supply Department from this concern.

Yours respectfully,

T. F. SULLIVAN,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Approved January 18, 1922.
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

REJECTED CLAIMS.

On January 14 the Law Department disapproved thirteen claims against the city, in nine of which no amounts were specified, and the other four amounted to $673.68, and are classified, as follows:

Against the Fire Department, two amounting to $608.68; against the Public Works Department, ten, in eight of which no amounts were specified, and the other two amounted to $65; against the Schoolhouse Department, one, in which no amount was specified.

All these claims have been disapproved for the reason that there appeared to be no legal liability on the part of the city.

SEWERAGE WORKS.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston states that it is his intention:

To construct a sanitary sewer of 8-inch earthen pipe in Burton street, between Bellamy street and a point 68 feet northeasterly in the Brighton district, at an estimated cost of $243.

To construct a sanitary sewer of 1-foot by 1-foot 3-inch and 1-foot 3-inch by 2-foot 6-inch concrete, and a surface drain (Dorchester brook) 9-foot 10-inch by 8-foot 10-inch concrete in Norfolk avenue, between 516 feet northwest of East Cottage street and East Cottage street, in the Dorchester district, at an estimated cost of $45,000. Sanitary sewer to be built on both sides of surface drain the entire length.

To construct a sanitary sewer of 1-foot 6-inch by 2-foot concrete in land of the City of Boston and Columbia road (southeast side), between 37 feet southwest of Hamlet street extended and 133 feet southwesterly and southeasterly in the Dorchester district, at an estimated cost of $1,500.

CONTRACTS EXTENDED.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, January 16, 1922.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—In conformity with the reasons outlined by F. A. McInnes, Division Engineer, I respectfully recommend that the time of completion of these contracts be extended in the case of the Davis & Farnum Manufacturing Company on Class No. 1 castings to December 1, 1921, and in the case of the Gibby Foundry Company for composition castings to March 1, 1922.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

TELEPHONE OPERATORS, FEBRUARY 8, 1922.

A competitive examination for the position of telephone operator (open to men and women) in the service of the state, of Boston, and of the various cities of the Commonwealth and of such towns as are classified under civil service, will be held on February 8, 1922.

Persons who pass the examination are entitled to have their names placed upon the eligible lists for the service of the state and of the city in which they reside and any two others for which they may indicate a preference.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Experience 50; memory 15; telephone operation 35; total 100.

POLICEWOMEN, FEBRUARY 15, 1922, IN THE SERVICE OF BOSTON, ALL OTHER CITIES IN THE STATE, AND SUCH TOWNS AS ARE CLASSIFIED UNDER CIVIL SERVICE.

Vacancies occur from time to time in the Boston Police Department, at an entrance salary of $1,400 a year, increasing $100 a year to a maximum of $1,800. At present there is a vacancy in the Lowell Police Department at a salary of $20 per week, and a vacancy in the Medford Police Department at a salary of $1,000 a year. Other vacancies may occur at any time in other cities and towns than those named above.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Experience 5; report 1; practical questions 4; total 10.

Persons who pass the written examination may be required to qualify in personality (as determined by an oral interview) before certification.

The practical questions will concern such matters as warrants, arrests, etc., the laws relating to night walking, stubborn children, shoplifters, etc., and practical cases to test applicants' judgment and resourcefulness in handling typical problems along protective and preventive as well as correctional lines. Some of the practical questions will be based upon information contained in a manual supplied by the Department of Civil Service and Registration, Division of Civil Service, and known as the "Blue Book," a copy of which will be sent to every person who files an application. Applicants are advised to inquire either personally or by letter should they fail to receive this manual.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in experience. Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

Applicants for Boston must be not less than 25 nor over 35 years of age at the time of filing applications, which must be accompanied by birth certificates. In no other city or town is an age limit required.

There are no requirements as to weight or height in any city or town.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in chapter 150 of the General Acts of 1919.

Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply. Preference in certification will be given to applicants who, at the time of filing application, are residents of the city or town from which requisition is received.

As far as practicable, these examinations will be held in various centrally located cities throughout the state.

Application blanks may be obtained by applying in person or by letter at the office of the Department of Civil Service and Registration, Division of Civil Service, Rooms 148-152, State House, Boston.

RECEIPTS OF THE CITY OF BOSTON FOR THE LAST FISCAL YEAR.

Total ordinary and extraordinary, $59,446,307 (including $370,808 returned to Treasury from regular appropriations unexpended). Balance on hand from previous year, $10,771,914 (including all unexpended appropriations). Gross general income (including school revenue, $290,076), $50,865,602, of which $39,180,004 was from property and poll taxes (including City Bank tax, $547,663); $5,124,459 from income tax (from State) including $725,519 for years prior to 1920; and $3,622,986 corporation and other taxes (from State) or $47,927,449 total tax receipts, which exceeds 1919 total by $3,371,379. Said gross income also includes receipts from liquor licenses in 1920-21, reduced to $10,397, less $2,589 paid to State. Total income of Water Service, $3,413,536; other income credited to appropriations (including $381,604 to Printing Department), $460,144. Income credited to special appropriations, $25,159.

Total ordinary income, $55,276,762 (net) or $3,591,070 more than in 1919-20 and $3,522,706 in excess of total ordinary expenditures for 1920-21.

Profits of Water Service applied to payment of City Debt, $193,958.

Excess of actual ordinary income over estimated income remaining in Treasury at close of financial year ending January 31, 1921, $3,817,250.61, the largest surplus on record.

In addition to this surplus at close of year, there were accounts receivable, i. e., 1920 taxes amounting to over $6,000,000, of which $1,529,077 was paid by May 1, 1921.

Extraordinary receipts: From loans, $2,845,000; Rapid Transit revenue, $1,452,876; miscellaneous, $13,181.95. Total, $4,311,058. Balance from preceding year, $4,376,304. Total available for extraordinary purposes, $8,687,362.

BOSTON'S PUBLIC DEBT.

Gross funded debt, February 1, 1921, $124,112,351 (including $360,000 issued by State for enlargement of Court House); sinking funds, $43,429,503; other redemption means, $1,302,923; net debt, $79,379,925 (i. e., $1,528,472 less than in 1920 and $5,190,252 less than in 1918), of which total $46,548,964 or 58.64 per cent was City Debt; $31,175,989 or 39.28 per cent Rapid Transit debt (representing 4½ per cent investment); $1,340,971 or 1.69 per cent County debt and $314,000 or 0.39 per cent Water debt. Net debt per capita $99.10 (approx.); net debt exclusive of Rapid Transit debt, $48,203,936 or $60.18 per capita, which is $14.30 less per capita than in 1915. Loans authorized but not issued (within debt limit) $1,352,300; same outside of debt limit, $3,121,000.

In the fiscal year 1920-21, the net City debt was reduced by $1,780,682; the net County debt by $144,364 and the net Water debt by $22,000. The net Rapid Transit debt was increased by $418,574.

Total debt contracted, $2,845,000; total debt paid, $3,142,750; total decrease of gross debt, $297,750; of net debt, $1.528,472.

Total debt incurred in the ten years 1911 to 1920 inclusive, $50,002,867, of which $19,600,000 or 39.2 per cent was Rapid Transit debt.

Total amount of debt incurred by the City in the 98 years since its incorporation (in 1822), $262,169,437, of which 87.82 per cent belongs to the last 50 years, 55.84 per cent to the last 25 years, 19.07 per cent to the last 10 years. From 1822 to 1870 the amount borrowed was $31,916,010 or a yearly average of $664,917. From 1870 to 1920 the total borrowed was $230,253,427 or a yearly average of $4,605,068. The maximum for a 10-year period was from 1896 to 1905, when the yearly average was $7,188,493.

SEGREGATED BUDGET FOR PRESENT FINANCIAL YEAR.

Sixth year of new method with annual appropriations. Budget for City and County for year 1921-22 passed by City Council April 11 (without any reductions) and approved by Mayor, April 12, 1921. Total appropriated from taxes, miscellaneous income, Water Service revenue, etc., $33,021,570 (i. e., $612,189 more than in 1920) of which $23,523,277 was for City purposes within tax limit, $5,669,001 for City debt requirements; $2,431,694 for County purposes (including $145,742 for County debt requirements), and $1,378,905 for Water Service, etc. Special appropriations included in budget were; Reconstructing and Repairing Streets by Contract, $750,000; Street Improvements, $250,000; Granolithic Sidewalks, $50,000; Bridges, repairs, etc., $90,000. Special appropriation passed prior to budget, $8,082 for East Boston Tunnel debt requirements. The Legislature having again raised the tax limit, to $11 for 1921 on each $1,000 of the 3-year average valuation (i. e., $1,526,365,955), the amount available for appropriations inside tax limits was $16,790,025, plus estimated miscellaneous revenue of $5,184,000 and cash surplus from 1920 of $3,817,251 or a total of $25,791,276.

Maintenance appropriations of School Committee, $11,299,490 (incl. $976,874 for Schoolhouse Dept.); special appropriations from Tax Levy, etc., for schoolhouses and sites, $2,793,250; total for schools, $14,092,740. Grand total of appropriations, $47,122,392.

HOW THE CITY DOLLAR WAS SPENT DURING THE LAST FINANCIAL YEAR.

For Public Schools, $0.23 cents (if the total amount appropriated had been expended, the correct figure would be 0.262); Public Works, 0.176; State Tax and Assessments, 0.133; Debt Requirements, 0.12; Police Dept., 0.08; Fire Dept., 0.07; Institutions and Poor Relief, 0.039; Hospitals and Health, 0.038; General Government, 0.037; County Courts, etc., 0.037; Public Recreation, 0.027; Public Library, 0.013, making a total of 100 cents. This excludes all expenditures from loans, etc., but includes Special Appropriations from Tax Levy and other General Income.

The revenue of the departments amounted to 16 per cent of their gross expenditures. The revenue of Public Service Enterprises alone (including Water Service, Markets, etc.) amounted to $3,997,166 or $234,117 more than their total expenditures. The fractions of the dollar above stated represent net expenditure, computed after deducting department revenue.

Revenue from another class of public $19,979.55 more than the interest and sinking-fund requirements of the Rapid service enterprise, i. e., Rapid Transit subways and tunnels, $1,446,516.75 or Transit debt in 1920.

PUBLIC RECREATION IN BOSTON.

Number of large parks, 24; separate playgrounds, 43, with total of 324 acres, also 13 playgrounds in parks, with area of 155 acres; small parks and squares, 75; total area, 2,685.68 acres. Cost of Main Park System, i. e., 1,386 acres (incl. Common and Public Garden, 72.65 acres) land and construction (since 1877 when begun), $12,180,832; of Marine Park System, i. e., 457.9 acres (since 1883), $4,474,150; of all other parks and public grounds, $2,274,437; of separate playgrounds, $4,385,346. Total cost, $23,314,765.

The leading attraction of the Main Park System is Franklin Park (named for Benamin Franklin), acquired in 1883-84, and containing 527 acres, about 80 of which are occupied by the Zoological Garden, 15 miles of walks, 8 miles of driveways, etc., the entire cost up to 1921 being $4,496,801. There are also within the City limits 958 acres of Metropolitan parks and parkways under State control, chief of which is Stony Brook Reservation in West Roxbury, containing 464 acres of wild forested hill and dale with many rocky knolls and an extensive view of the Charles River valley and beyond.

Number of public indoor baths open all the year, 14; 9 beach baths and 7 floating baths open during summer; indoor gymnasia, 11; total number of indoor baths taken in year 1920, 1,389,994, of which 74.2 per cent were by men and boys.

Park Department maintenance for 1920-21, $1,286,046 or $210,759 more than in 1919. Outlay for playground improvements, $188,984; for park improvements, $229,177, of which $176,505 was from Parkman Fund income. Gross debt for parks, public grounds, etc., outstanding February 1, 1921, $10,369,550; for playgrounds, $2,330,050; total, $12,699,600 or $594,250 less than in 1920. By Chap. 13, Ord. 1920, the Cemetery Department was merged with the Park Department, the latter title being substituted for Park and Recreation Department.

Including the State assessments of $884,913 for Metropolitan parks, boulevards, etc., and $231,786 for Charles River Basin improvements, the total expended for public recreation purposes in 1920 was $2,820,907 or $264,018 more than in 1919.

Total valuation of City properties devoted to recreation $69,306,900 (including $55,112,400 for Boston Common and Public Garden), which far exceeds that of any other American city except New York.

BUDGET INCREASES FOR THE PAST SIX YEARS.

Total maintenance appropriations for all departments, excluding School departments, increased from $15,936,483 in 1915 to $24,050,034 in 1920 or 50.91 per cent, while the same for School departments alone increased from $6,100,215 in 1915 to $9,858,869 in 1920 or 61.61 per cent. If the special appropriations from Tax Levy and other General Income are included, the total increase for Schools is $6,124,217 or 95.65 per cent, the excess above 61.61 per cent being due to new school buildings and sites, formerly (i. e., prior to 1910) paid for by loans.

REPORT ON SCHOOL SAVINGS SYSTEMS.

A communication was received from the Secretary, under date of Dec. 16, 1921, submitting, in accordance with the provisions of section 49 of the rules, the accompanying report on the school savings systems, which is as full and complete as he has been able to make it. Similar reports in previous years have been made on a comparative basis and have shown each year the gains or losses in the various items as compared with the preceding year. It has not been possible this year to make such a comparative report, largely because of the installation in at least thirteen schools of the Automatic Receiving Teller, a device which relieves the teachers from keeping savings accounts in accordance with the methods adopted in previous years before the installation of these machines.

The figures contained in the accompanying report have been obtained either from the schools that have continued the former accounting system, or from the savings bank which operates the Automatic Receiving Teller in certain schools. It does not appear, however, to be practicable, as above stated, to make this year, or perhaps in future years comparative statements corresponding with those heretofore submitted.

These reports, like the one herewith submitted, have heretofore been made for an annual period ending on October 31. There seems to be no particular reason for continuing this period which seems to be purely arbitrary and does not correspond either to the financial year or the school year; and inasmuch as this year for the first time it is not possible to make a comparative report with the preceding year, he recommends that hereafter these reports be made for the school year ending June 30. This appears to be the somewhat uniform practice in other school systems and is the period covered by the annual report on school savings systems made by the Savings Bank Division, American Bankers' Association.

He also recommends that the form of these reports hereafter correspond with those compiled by the State Department of Banking and Insurance.

Signal service men, 18, and clerks, janitors, etc., 98. Cost of maintenance for 1920-21, $3,702,037 or $495,770 more than in 1919. Total number of arrests in calendar year 1920, 61,014 or 3,356 less than in 1919 and 29,366 less than in 1918, this remarkable decrease being due mostly to the widespread prevention of drunkenness because of the scarcity of intoxicants; of those arrested, 3,755 were discharged and all others held for trial; foreign-born persons arrested, 21,633; boys under 15 years of age, 1,722 or 478 less than in 1919; women and girls all ages, 4,406 or 828 less than in 1919; non-residents, 31.8 per cent of all arrested; drunkenness the cause of 36.3 per cent of all arrests, the total for this offence being 22,174 or 10,582 less than in 1919. The arrests for homicide numbered 86 or 22 less than in 1919. Sick and injured persons assisted, 5,102; insane persons taken in charge, 424; lost children restored to homes, 1,939. In the year ending November 30, 1920, persons imprisoned, 1,952 or 1,762 less than in 1919; persons fined, 15,791, the fines amounting to $154,767; stolen property recovered, $1,402,881 or $164,675 more than in 1919; licenses granted, 21,481 (including 8,501 for dogs and 8,688 for vehicles and drivers), for which $64,385 was received. Accidents from all causes in the streets, parks and squares caused death of 141 persons and injury to 3,642 or 483 more than in 1919. Automobile accidents caused 47.18 per cent of total fatalities.

Annual salaries: Commissioner, $8,000; Superintendent, $7,000; Deputy Superintendent, $4,000; Chief Inspector, $3,800; captains, $3,500; inspectors and lieutenants, $2,500; sergeants, $2,300; patrolmen, $1,400 the first year, with $100 yearly increase until maximum of $1,800 is reached.

In February, 1919, the reserve police force was abolished by Chapter 23, Special Acts, the 95 members becoming a part of the regular force.

The police strike in September, 1919, made it necessary to organize a new force of patrolmen. From that time to November 30, 1920, there were appointed 1,570 such, about 75 per cent of them being war veterans.

BOSTON AS A TOWN.

From its foundation until 1755, or a period of 125 years, Boston was not only the most outstanding but the most populous town in the American colonies. In 1760, Philadelphia's population was ahead, viz. 18,756, Boston's then being 15,631 and New York's about 14,000. In the last year of town government, viz., 1821, Boston's population was about 45,000 and its public debt $100,000, all incurred for new county buildings.

The history of Boston as a town during a period of nearly two centuries surpasses in civic interest that of Boston as a city because of the untiring zeal and successful efforts of its townsmen to realize more of true democracy than had ever been attained before. Their obligations were held as sacred as their liberties.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

PROPOSALS FOR SEWERAGE WORKS IN ADAMS STREET, FROM ROSEMONT ROAD, S. E., TO LONSDALE STREET, DORCHESTER.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508, City Hall Annex, invites proposals for sewerage works in Adams street, from Rosemont road, S. E., to Lonsdale street, Dorchester. A bond will be required for doing the work of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of seven hundred (700) dollars, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Plans and proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Sewerage Works in Adams Street," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. on Monday, January 30, 1922, with a certified check for three hundred (300) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the proposals. If the price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, or the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing such price. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best.

PROPOSALS FOR HAY, GRAIN AND STRAW.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Superintendent of Supplies, Room 801, City Hall Annex, until 12 o'clock m., Monday, January 30, 1922, when they will be publicly opened and read for hay, grain and straw, ordered by the different departments during the month of February, 1922. The bidders must include the cost of delivery. The bidders are requested to quote on No. 1 New York or Michigan timothy hay, clean and sweet; the straw to be No. 1 straight rye straw. The grade of hay and straw must comply with the rules of the National Hay Association, and shall be weighed and inspected by a weigher appointed under the ordinances of the City of Boston. The bidders are requested to bid on No. 2 oats, to test 38 to 40 pounds; it must conform to the grade adopted by the Chamber of Commerce, and bidders must state on proposals whether the oats bid upon are bleached or unbleached. The bidder must use the form of proposal to be obtained at Room 801, City Hall Annex. Proposals must be accompanied by a certified check for $200. A duplicate bid, without check, must be left at the office of the City Auditor prior to the time named for opening bids. The successful bidder must furnish a bond or certified check for one quarter the amount of the contract as surety for the faithful performance of the contract. The Superintendent reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals, or any part of a proposal, and to award the contract as he deems for the best interests of the city. All contracts made subject to appropriations to meet payments thereunder. No reservations or stipulations submitted by the various bidders in regard to the awarding of the contracts will be considered by the Superintendent of Supplies.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

PROPOSALS FOR MILITARY EQUIPMENT FOR THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The School Committee invites bids for furnishing and delivering military equipment at school buildings in accordance with specifications. Only proposals obtained at the office of the Business Agent of the School Committee, 15 Beacon street, fifth floor, signed by the bidder and left before 12 o'clock m. on Thursday, February 2, 1922, at said office, with a certified check for $100, payable to the city if the proposal is not carried out, will then and there be publicly opened and read. Each proposal should be plainly marked "Proposal for Military Equipment." The bid must be in duplicate, one to be sent as above, the other to be filed with the City Auditor, City Hall, previous to the time named for opening bids. The bidder awarded a contract will be required to deposit a surety bond or a certified check for not less than 25 nor more than 30 per cent of the amount of the contract, payable to the City of Boston, which check shall become the property of the city unless the bidder carries out his agreement in accordance with the specifications. The School Committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to accept such bid, or part of a bid as may be deemed best for the interests of the city.

PROPOSALS FOR FURNISHING DOUBLE AND SINGLE TEAMS AND AUTO TRUCKS.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals for furnishing double and single teams and auto trucks in Districts Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6–9, 7, 8, 10 and 11, between February 1, 1922, and January 31, 1923, and giving bond therefor of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each district, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Forms of proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Furnishing Teams," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. on Wednesday, January 25, 1922, with a certified check for three hundred dollars ($300) for each district, or three thousand dollars ($3,000) for all the districts, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. The attention of all bidders is called to the fact that failure to bid on furnishing auto truck and chauffeur may lead to the rejection of the entire bid. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the proposals. If the price bid on any district appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low it may lead to the rejection of the proposal for said district. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to accept any proposal should he deem it to be for the best interests of the city so to do.

Gas Masks.

On January 25 to American Atmos Corporation as per following communication:

Boston, January 20, 1922.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Under date of the 14th ult. this office opened bids on six oxygen-breathing gas masks for the Fire Department. A list of the bids received is attached hereto. The bids were referred to the Fire Department as to recommendation as to award, and have been returned with the request that the lowest bid, that of the American Atmos Corporation, be accepted.

The lowest bidder was not familiar with the requirements that one copy of proposal was to be submitted to the auditor's office and the other copy to the Supply Department, and actually sent both copies of proposal to the Supply Department. I believe therefore that I am justified in rejecting all the bids that were received, and request that I be authorized to enter into a contract and purchase, without advertising, six oxygen-breathing gas masks at $165 each and twenty extra absorbers at $2.50 each, purchase to be made from the American Atmos Corporation.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. Cronin,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Bids opened December 14, 1921:

Six Oxygen-breathing Gas Masks.—American Atmos Corporation, $165 each; Whitney Fire Appliance and Recharging Service, $210 each (with refillable cartridge, $2.22 each extra); Mine Safety Appliance Company*, $223.50 each (refillable absorber, $1.28 recharge); $211.50 each.

Twenty Extra Absorbers.—American Atmos Corporation, $2.50 each; Whitney Fire Appliance and Recharging Service, $3 each; 20 four-pound cans cardoride, $1.28 per can; Mine Safety Appliance Company*, $2.10 each.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

Fire Department.

Repairs to Fireboat Engine No. 47.

On January 24 to Bertelsen & Petersen Engineering Company as per following communication:

Boston, January 20, 1922.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—On December 13, 1921, as the result of an inspection by the United States Steamboat Inspection Service, a quotation was received from the Bertelsen & Petersen Engineering Company to do certain work on Fireboat Engine No. 47. This work consisted of the following items:

"We will be pleased to dry dock, clean underwater body and rewood stern bearing of the above-named fireboat, for the sum of $167."

This price was the lowest proposal received from three bidders. After this work was ordered done and the boat was in the dry dock of the Bertelsen & Petersen Engineering Company, another inspection was made by the United States inspectors, which resulted in an order from them to have the following work done on the boat:

"Renew 7 planks, 4 on starboard side and 3 on port side. Renew bolts in gudgeon fastenings. Calk and fill seams where needed. Secure band iron on stem, also on guards. Shaft was found wasted away from corrosion at after end of composition sleeve. It is directed that shaft be reinforced with electric welding at this point. By applying this welding it will prevent further wasting of the shaft."

This order was dated January 11, 1922, and on January 10, 1922, in anticipation of the order, the following quotation was received from the Bertelsen & Petersen Engineering Company:

"Renew, repair and refit quadrant in good working order, $143; fill in corroded portion of tail shaft with electric welding and refit wheel to same, $172; furnish and install new cast-iron tee on main and bilge suction line, $115; renew 7 planks where rotted away, recalk and make same tight; remove and fasten iron guard in way of same and refasten stem iron, $463; renew or patch all copper sheathing found to be in bad condition, $67; total, $960."

In order to expedite completion of the work and the return of the boat to service, authority was given to have the above-mentioned work done by the Bertelsen & Petersen Engineering Company, the boat being in the dock of that company at the time and subject to dockage charges of $28 per day.

On January 13, 1922, the United States Steamboat Inspectors made another visit to the vessel, found other matters which required attention and stated that a notice would be sent to this department. On the same day the Bertelsen & Petersen Engineering Company submitted an estimate as follows, the result of the inspection of that date:

"We will be pleased to carry out the following repairs to Fireboat Engine No. 47:

"Remove one bunker plate on starboard side; fit new ends on plank as found necessary; replace bunker plate and make water-tight; repair one stanchion on forward port quarter; fit graving piece in one plank; remove guards, guard irons and planks above guard on starboard and port sides; furnish and install six liners on starboard top timbers and four liners on port top timbers; replace planks, guards and guard iron, using new material where required, and recalk all; for the sum of $644."

This quotation was followed on January 14, 1922, by another quotation from Bertelsen & Petersen bearing on the same inspection, as follows:

"At the inspection yesterday by the United States Steamboat Inspectors of the hull of Fireboat Engine No. 47, we found the coal bunkers on port and starboard sides to be badly deteriorated and in unfit condition for service, several of the plates being completely corroded. Eight new plates and considerable new angle stiffeners, braces, tee irons, etc., will be required to make suitable repairs. We estimate the cost of this work to be $896."

Dated January 16, 1922, and received at this office January 19, 1922, the following report from the United States Steamboat Inspectors ordered the work outlined in the two quotations of the Bertelsen & Petersen Engineering Company, dated January 13 and 14, to be done:

"At the dry dock examination of Fireboat Engine No. 47, made on the 13th instant, the following requirements were found necessary:

"Ten frames found badly rotted, same to be renewed; renew 6 sheets of metal in coal bunkers; repair stanchions of deck, port side."

The work called for is the result of three different and distinct inspections, and it was not possible to foresee what requirements the United States inspectors would insist upon. Some of the work called for could not be discovered until part of the work was started and subsequent defects noted. While a general and thorough inspection of the boat by the inspectors at the beginning might have resulted in more work being required in their original order of January 11, 1922, there is still some question as to whether or not they could, at that inspection, discover all the defects that were subsequently revealed.

The total amount for all the work to be done is $2,667. Part of the work has already been completed by Bertelsen & Petersen Engineering Company, namely, that called for in their quotation of December 13, 1921, amounting to $167, and that called for in the quotation of January 10, 1922, amounting to $960. At the time the award was made under the quotation of January 10, 1922, this was looked upon as a second and distinct job from the first.

All quotations for the work were made for immediate acceptance, and delay in acceptance subjects them to the payment of a dockage charge for the boat amounting to $28 per day. In order to avoid the payment of dockage charges and to expedite the return of this boat to service, I would request your Honor's approval of the various quotations of the Bertlesen & Petersen Engineering Company:

December 13, 1921, $167; January 10, 1922, $960; January 13, 1922, $644; January 14, 1922, $896; total, $2,667.

If work was stopped on the boat and proposals requested after advertising for the items included in the quotations of January 13 and 14, more than two weeks' delay would result before work could be started again, thereby requiring the payment of dockage charges of $28 per day while the boat is laid up so that it might be examined by prospective bidders. Also the efficiency of the department would be impaired by depriving the department of the use of this boat for so long a period. In my opinion this is emergency work.

Very truly yours,

Joseph P. Manning,
Acting Fire Commissioner.

AUDITING DEPARTMENT.

Boston, January 21, 1922.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I hereby designate, with your approval, under authority of chapter 3, section 22, of the Revised Ordinances of 1914, William H. Hayward to act as auditor at such times as I may be absent during the four weeks beginning Saturday, January 21, 1922.

Respectfully,

John J. O'Callaghan,
Acting City Auditor.

Approved January 23, 1922.
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

BILL FOR REPAIRS OF ASPHALT PLANT.

Boston, January 16, 1922.

To the Mayor of Boston:

I respectfully request your approval of the bill of the Dyar Supply Company, amounting to $2,365.92, for repairing and assembling the asphalt plant at the Codman street yard, Dorchester.

This plant was removed from the Hancock street yard owing to a complaint from the Health Department on account of the smoke and dust. The preliminary work on the foundation, etc., was done by our department forces, but the dismantling of the plant and reassembling of the machinery was performed by the Dyar Supply Company, who supplied the plant to the city originally and who alone carry the necessary repair parts.

The work extended over a period of five months, and while the amount of work done in any one month could have been paid on a bill if it had been presented at the time, the bills were not submitted; hence the delay. The plant is now in first-class condition and available for operation when needed. The work was done in a satisfactory manner, and the prices are reasonable.

Yours respectfully,

T. F. Sullivan,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Bill approved by the Mayor January 20, 1922.

COLLECTING DEPARTMENT.

Boston, January 19, 1922.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—I hereby designate, with your approval, under authority of chapter 3, section 22, of the Revised Ordinances of 1914, John J. McCarthy to serve as Acting City Collector at such times as I may be absent between January 19, 1922, and February 6, 1922.

Respectfully,

E. V. B. Parke,
City Collector.

STREET COMMISSIONERS.

January 19, 1922.

Ordered, That this Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the making of the public improvement consisting of the discontinuance of St. James avenue, Boston proper, as a highway, at the northwesterly corner of Arlington street, under the order of the Board of even date herewith, and awards no damages therefor.

January 19, 1922.

Ordered, That this Board, having passed the order of notice relating to the public improvement hereinafter described, and having caused a copy of said order to be published December 23 and 24, 1921, and December 27 and 28, 1921, in the Boston Globe and the Boston Transcript, two daily newspapers published in the City of Boston, and having given the public hearing, notice of which was given in said order and being of the opinion that public convenience so requires, does hereby order the making in said city of the public improvements shown on a plan, marked "City of Boston, St. James Avenue, Boston Proper, November 14, 1912, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," deposited in the office of the Street Laying-Out Department of said city, and named, bounded and described as follows:

The highway named St. James avenue is hereby discontinued at the northwesterly corner of Arlington street. Said highway as hereby discontinued is bounded:

Southeast by the northwesterly line of St. James avenue as hereby established, nineteen and 75/100 feet; northwest by the northwesterly line of St. James avenue as it at present exists, twenty-two and 73/100 feet; and northeast by Arlington street, ten and 50/100 feet: containing one hundred and four square feet more or less.

No betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Mary R. Peters has agreed to accept the sum of $400 as full payment for all land taken from, all rights acquired in, and all damages occasioned to her estate on Centre street by the relocation of said street under the order of the Board of Street Commissioners of November 1, 1918.

The following petitions for pole locations, etc., have been approved:

New England Telephone and Telegraph Company and Edison Company, Mansfield street, Ward 26, erect 9 poles.

New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, Ashmont street, Ward 20, erect 1 pole.

E. E. Fitch, Greenwood street, Ward 19, stretching wire.

MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

TELEPHONE OPERATORS, FEBRUARY 8, 1922.

A competitive examination for the position of telephone operator (open to men and women) in the service of the state, of Boston, and of the various cities of the Commonwealth and of such towns as are classified under civil service, will be held on February 8, 1922.

Persons who pass the examination are entitled to have their names placed upon the eligible lists for the service of the state and of the city in which they reside and any two others for which they may indicate a preference.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Experience 50; memory 15; telephone operation 35; total 100.

POLICEWOMEN, FEBRUARY 15, 1922, IN THE SERVICE OF BOSTON, ALL OTHER CITIES IN THE STATE, AND SUCH TOWNS AS ARE CLASSIFIED UNDER CIVIL SERVICE.

Vacancies occur from time to time in the Boston Police Department, at an entrance salary of $1,400 a year, increasing $100 a year to a maximum of $1,800. At present there is a vacancy in the Lowell Police Department at a salary of $20 per week, and a vacancy in the Medford Police Department at a salary of $1,000 a year. Other vacancies may occur at any time in other cities and towns than those named above.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Experience 5; report 1; practical questions 4; total 10.

Persons who pass the written examination may be required to qualify in personality (as determined by an oral interview) before certification.

The practical questions will concern such matters as warrants, arrests, etc., the laws relating to night walking, stubborn children, shoplifters, etc., and practical cases to test applicants' judgment and resourcefulness in handling typical problems along protective and preventive as well as correctional lines. Some of the practical questions will be based upon information contained in a manual supplied by the Department of Civil Service and Registration, Division of Civil Service, and known as the "Blue Book," a copy of which will be sent to every person who files an application. Applicants are advised to inquire either personally or by letter should they fail to receive this manual.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in experience. Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

Applicants for Boston must be not less than 25 nor over 35 years of age at the time of filing applications, which must be accompanied by birth certificates. In no other city or town is an age limit required.

There are no requirements as to weight or height in any city or town.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in chapter 150 of the General Acts of 1919.

Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply. Preference in certification will be given to applicants who, at the time of filing application, are residents of the city or town from which requisition is received.

As far as practicable, these examinations will be held in various centrally located cities throughout the state.

Application blanks may be obtained by applying in person or by letter at the office of the Department of Civil Service and Registration, Division of Civil Service, Rooms 148-152, State House, Boston.

VETO—DEPUTY SEALER OF WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 3, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith returning without my signature the amendment passed by the City Council on December 19 to chapter 3 of the Revised Ordinances of 1914, as amended by chapter 2 of the Ordinances of 1920. I am informed by the Sealer of Weights and Measures that there is no need for the creation of an additional position in his department, and it is for that reason that I am vetoing this suggested amendment.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

Placed on file.

PLAN FOR PARKMAN FUND EXPENDITURE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 29, 1921.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting the original report of the committee appointed by me to recommend a definite plan for the expenditure of the Parkman Fund. In view of the importance of the subject upon which the committee reports I recommend that the report be printed as a public document.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

(Accompanying the message was the report referred to.)

Placed on file and ordered printed as a public document.

OUTSIDE WORK IN THE PRINTING PLANT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 30, 1921.
To the City Council:

Genntlemen,—I have noted the order passed by the City Council on December 28 relative to certain work being done in the City Printing Plant.

I have today sent a communication to the Superintendent of the Printing Plant, a copy of which I am herewith transmitting to you for your information.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 30, 1921.
Mr. Charles S. Lawler, Superintendent Printing Department, 286 Congress Street, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—I am herewith inclosing a copy of an order passed by the City Council on December 28 relative to City Printing Plant refusing certain work.

It is my desire that you be guided by the expressed wish of the City Council.

Very truly yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

(Inclosed was copy of order referred to.)

Placed on file.

RESTRICTIONS ON USE OF BUILDINGS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 9, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentleman,—Attached is a proposed ordinance to restrict and limit the use of buildings in trades and industries and to protect residence districts from undesirable business encroachments and uses of buildings and premises. This ordinance has been approved by the Corporation Counsel.

One of the constitutional amendments adopted two years ago authorized the General Court to pass laws "to limit buildings according to their use or construction to specified districts of cities and towns." In the discussion pending the adoption of this amendment it was made plain that its purpose was to prevent offensive building and undesirable uses of buildings in business and residential districts of cities and towns.

The Legislature of 1920, by chapter 601 of its acts, gave the cities and towns the authority needed to carry out the purpose of the constitutional amendment, and it is under this act that this proposed ordinance has been prepared.

By this ordinance the city would be divided into three classes of districts as follows:

Business districts.
Residence districts.
Unrestricted districts.

Special regulations are proposed for business and residence districts, while in unrestricted districts the erection, alteration and use of buildings will be regulated as now by the building laws.

It is proposed that in business districts certain trades and industries which may be considered offensive, and which are named in the text, shall be excluded. No hardship need be feared on account of this exclusion for, taking the business districts of the city as a whole, there are very few offensive trades or industries carried on in them. Those that exist will not be disturbed by this proposed ordinance, as the statute permits them to continue.

Residence districts, all over the city, need protection from undesirable buildings, trades, industries and uses of buildings and premises. Many such districts have been seriously depreciated in value and their desirability for homes greatly impaired because of obnoxious encroachments and uses. This is particularly true in respect to violations of setbacks. Nothing can be more offensive to a fine street of single or double dwelling houses which were erected under restrictions, including a setback line, than to have a building erected or altered with its front wall extended beyond the setback line to the line of the street. This has been done over and over again with immediate and continued deterioration to property in many streets.

By the terms of this proposed ordinance buildings and their uses in residence districts would be limited to dwelling houses, hotels, educational institutions, libaries, museums, public buildings hospitals and sanatariums, philanthropic institutions, clubs, railway passenger stations, community houses, truck gardening, nurseries and greenhouses, and small garages for motor vehicles of the passenger type for private use. It provides also, but under exacting conditions, that larger garages may be erected in residence districts.

Hospitals, sanatariums, philanthropic institutions and community houses may be objectionable in some parts of residence districts. The location of such institutions in residence districts would, under this proposed ordinance, have to be approved by the Health Commissioner and the Building Commissioners, acting jointly.

It is proposed further that in a newly opened residence district no building shall be erected to a height in excess of the width of the street on which it is erected; but for each foot that a building may be set back from the line of the street two feet may be added to the height of the building. This provision is intended to induce owners of undeveloped land to open streets at a proper width, and to establish a setback for buildings, thus adding attractiveness to the street.

The importance of an ordinance of this kind is in the protection it will give to residence districts. I believe that many home seekers and home builders, if they were assured of protection such as this proposed ordinance is intended to give, would build their homes within the limits of the city instead of in suburban districts as so many former citizens of Boston have done. People do not leave Boston to establish and to build homes elsewhere because of lower taxes and lower property valuations do not exist in most suburban places. They do so, I believe, because they want security against things lower property valuation, as lower taxes and which are obnoxious, which depreciate the value of a home and which make home surroundings undesirable.

Every observer has noted the shift of population in Boston from one district to another. Its cause is easily traced. It is principally because the district which people leave is made undesirable to them by business encroachments and the obnoxious use of buildings and premises. They establish themselves in the new district, with surroundings agreeable to their tastes, only to find in the course of a few years that the undesirable things follow them. Eventually these conditions become unbearable to many people who get the feeling that there is no security for them within the limits of the city. Their final move is to establish their homes in suburban districts, often in inconvenient places.

Assure people who would build their own homes of the protection which they seek and which an ordinance of this kind offers, and this migration will stop. Such an ordinance will, I belive, cause a speedy and extensive development of the great, unoccupied land areas of the city by the erection of homes, and perhaps a remodeling of many dwelling houses in the older sections for modern home uses.

A map, in colors, showing the proposed division of the city into the three districts named, is submitted herewith. I submit herewith an ordinance for your consideration. While it meets with my approval, I do not formally recommend its passage, in view of the provisions of section 2 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, which would make it imperative for the City Council to act upon this matter without the probable necessary delay.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

An Ordinance to Limit Buildings According to Their Use or Construction to Specified Districts of the City. (Chapter 601 of the Acts of 1920.)

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston as follows:

Section 1. For the purpose of restricting buildings to be used for particular industries, trades, manufacturing or commercial purposes to specified parts of the city, and also for the purpose of regulating the construction, alteration and use of certain other kinds of buildings designed for specific uses the city is hereby divided into the following three classes of districts, which districts are hereby established;

(A.) Business districts.
(B.) Residence districts.
(C.) Unrestricted districts.

These districts are shown on a map of the city and are marked A, B, C, respectively, said map being attached to this ordinance and with its designations is hereby declared to be a part thereof.

Sect. 2. In a business district the following-named specific industries, trades or uses shall, on the passage of this ordinance, be excluded therefrom and no building shall hereafter be erected or altered for such industries, trades or uses:

Ammonia, chlorine, or bleaching powder manufacture; blacksmithing or horseshoeing; boiler making; carpet cleaning; distillation of tar, coal, wood or bones; electric central station power plant; fat rendering; fertilizer manufacture; gas manufacture or storage; glue, size and gelatine manufacture; incineration or reduction of garbage, offal, dead animals or refuse; inflammable fluids or compounds or other explosives, the production of; junk, scrap paper or rag storage or baling; paint, oil, varnish or turpentine manufacture; petroleum refining or storage of its products; raw hides or skins, storage, curing or tanning; repair shop for motor vehicles; rubber manufacture from the crude material; saw or planing mill; slaughtering of animals; soap manufacturing; stock yards; sugar refining; sulphurous, sulphuric, nitric or hydrochloric acid manufacture; tallow, grease or lard refining or manufacture.

(a.) No building or premises in a business district shall be used for any industry, trade or use which is noxious or offensive by reason of the emission of smoke, dust, odor, gas or noise; but places of amusement and the printing of newspapers and other publications shall not be excluded from such districts.

(b.) Industries, trades or uses existing in any building at the time of the passage of this ordinance which do not conform to the requirements of this ordinance may be continued therein; but such building shall not be enlarged or structurally altered unless its use is changed to a use which is authorized by this ordinance in the district in which such building is located.

Sect. 3. No building shall hereafter be erected in a residence district other than a building, including its accessories, arranged or designed for any of the following uses:

Dwelling houses for one or more families, boarding and lodging houses and hotels of twenty or more sleeping rooms; churches; educational institutions, including libraries and museums; public buildings for governmental and civil uses and municipal buildings having public meeting halls, baths, and gymnasiums; hospitals and sanitariums; philanthropic institutions; clubs, but not clubs carried on as a business; railway passenger stations; community houses; truck gardening, nurseries or greenhouses.

(a.) In a residence district no building intended to be used as a hospital, sanitarium, philanthropic institution or community house shall be erected or altered for such a use until its location in said district shall have been approved by the health commissioner and building commissioner acting jointly.

(b.) No building or premises in a residence district shall be used for any purpose other than as specified herein and for the accessory uses incident thereto. The term "accessory use" shall not include a business, except within hotels of twenty or more sleeping rooms, the business of a newsstand, ticket agency, cigar stand, bar, stock brokerage, florist and milliner may be conducted. A garage for not more than five motor vehicles of the passenger type for private use may be deemed an accessory use in a residential district.

Sect. 4. On a street in a residence district where buildings have been erected to a setback from the line of the street on lots totalling one third of the frontage of the street no building shall hereafter be erected or altered with the front wall extended beyond the front wall of the building next nearest to it on a line parallel to the exterior line of the street on the same side of the street. Steps, windows, porticos and other usual structures appurtenant to the front wall of a building as authorized by the building laws of the city may be permitted.

Sect. 5. On a newly opened street in a residence district no building shall be erected to a height in excess of the width of the street; but for each foot that a building may be set back from the line of the street two feet may be added to the height of such building. In determining the height of a building having frontage on two streets the width of the widest street may govern. The height of a building shall be measured from the mean grade of the curb. In no case shall the height of a building exceed the limit fixed by statutes relating to the city and by chapter 45 of the General Laws.

Sect. 6. Such use of a building or premises as is permitted in a residence district may be permitted in a business district.

Sect. 7. The term "unrestricted district" designates districts for which no restrictions or regulations for the erection, alteration or use of buildings or premises are provided in this ordinance but which are governed by the building laws of the city.

Sect. 8. The building commissioner may grant permits for not more than two years for temporary structures and their uses in undeveloped sections of the city in contravention of the requirements of this ordinance, subject to appropriate conditions and safeguards in harmony with the general purpose of this ordinance. Such structures shall be removed and their uses shall cease immediately on the expiration of the permit.

Sect. 9. The Board of Street Commissioners may grant a permit for the erection of a garage for more than five motor vehicles in a residence district provided that the petitioner for the garage files the consents, duly acknowledged, of the owners of seventy-five per cent of the frontage which may be deemed by said Board to be immediately affected by the proposed garage. A permit for a garage in any district shall specify the maximum size or motor vehicle capacity of the garage, and no use shall be made of the garage or the premises with which it is connected except as allowed in the permit.

Sect. 10. It shall be the duty of the Building Commissioner to enforce the provisions of this ordinance. He shall refuse to grant a permit for the construction or alteration of any building if the building as constructed or altered would be in violation of any of the provisions of this ordinance. Any person who may be aggrieved by the refusal of a permit for the construction or alteration of a building under the provisions of this ordinance may appeal to the Board of Appeal created under the provisions of chapter 550, of the Acts of 1907. The said Board of Appeal may in specific cases where there are practical difficulties or unnecessary hardships in carrying out the strict letter of the provisions of this ordinance vary any such provisions but such variation shall be in harmony with the general purpose and intent of this ordinance.

Sect. 11. No building or part thereof hereafter erected, altered or converted wholly or partly in its use or structure shall be used or occupied until a certificate of occupancy shall have been issued by the Building Commissioner setting forth that the building or premises as constructed, altered or converted and the proposed use thereof conform to the provisions of this ordinance. Said certificate of occupancy shall be issued within ten days after a request for the same shall have been filed with the Building Commissioner by the owner of the building or premises affected if the conditions of this ordinance have been complied with. A temporary certificate of occupancy may be issued by the Building Commissioner of a part of a building which is being erected, altered or converted.

Sect. 12. Nothing contained in this ordinance shall require any change in the plans of construction, alteration or the proposed use of a building for which a permit has heretofore been issued by the Building Commissioner, nor in plans which have been filed in his office awaiting approval at the time of the passage of this ordinance, provided that said plans are approved and a building permit issued within three months from the date of the passage of this ordinance.

Sect. 13. A building which has been wholly or partly destroyed by fire, explosion, act of God or act of the public enemy may be restored and the use of such building as it existed at the time of the destruction of said building or part thereof may be continued therein. Any part of a building declared unsafe by the Building Commissioner may be restored and the existing use continued therein.

Sect. 14. This ordinance shall take effect on its passage.

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

AUCTION OF CITY PROPERTY, ARCH STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 16, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a copy of a communication from the Street Laying-Out Department relative to the auction held on January 12 for the sale of the property at the corner of Arch street and Hawley place.

It was obvious at the sale that the minimum price set by the City Council was too high, and that an upset price of $160,000, which is the assessed valuation, might have been productive of more successful results.

I am also transmitting a copy of a communication from the Superintendent of Public Buildings, stating that the property is no longer required for public purposes. I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order, which will make it possible for the city to sell the property in question at not less than its assessed valuation.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Street Laying-Out Department,
January 13, 1922.
Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—In accordance with the order of the City Council, approved by your Honor on December 7 last, the Board of Street Commissioners held an auction yesterday of the property at the corner of Arch street and Hawley place, which had been taken for a site for a police station.

The Board begs to inform you that there was no sale, as no one seemed willing to make a bid, at the upset price of $176,000, which is 10 per cent above the assessed valuation, the terms fixed in the order of the City Council. The proposed sale was extensively advertised and was well attended, but the minimum price could not be obtained.

The Board would respectfully suggest that another effort be made to sell the property, with the assessed value of $160,000 as the upset price. To do this a further authorization by the City Council, with your Honor's approval, will be necessary.

Very truly yours,
John J. O'Callaghan,
Chairman.

City of Boston,
Public Buildings Department,
January 16, 1922.
To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—As I have charge for the City of Boston of the lands and buildings on Arch street and Hawley place, so called, containing thirty-eight hundred and sixty-two (3,862) square feet more or less, taken by the Board of Street Commissioners for said city for municipal building purposes by vote recorded February 5, 1918, with Suffolk Deeds, Book 4073, page 189, and of all the rights now appurtenant to said lands, you are hereby notified in compliance with the provisions of section 15, chapter 40, General Laws of this Commonwealth, in my opinion said lands, buildings and rights are no longer required for public purposes.

Respectfully yours,
Fred J. Kneeland,
Superintendent of Public Buildings,

Whereas, the Board of Street Commissioners of the City of Boston by its vote recorded with Suffolk Deeds February 5, 1918, in Book 4073, page 189, took in fee for said city for municipal building purposes certain lands and buildings at the corner of Arch street and Hawley place, so called, in Boston, containing thirty-eight hundred and sixty-two (3,862) square feet more or less as fully described in said vote, and whereas said city has also acquired certain rights which are now appurtenant to said lands. And whereas the Superintendent of Public Buildings of said city now having charge of all said lands, buildings and rights has notified the City Council in writing that in his opinion said lands, buildings and rights are no longer required for public purposes.

Ordered, that the Board of Street Commissioners be, and they hereby are authorized in the name and behalf of the city to sell at public or private sale all of said lands, buildings and rights for a minimum amount of not less than one hundred and sixty thousand dollars ($160,000), and that his Honor, the Mayor, is hereby authorized in the name and behalf of the city, and in form satisfactory to the Law Department, for said minimum amount of one hundred and sixty thousand dollars ($160,000) to convey all of said lands, buildings and rights.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRANSFER FOR WHARF REPAIRS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 16, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am transmitting herewith a communication just received from the Institutions Commissioner requesting a transfer from the House of Correction, Machinery and Materials for Manufacturing Account, to a special appropriation for Repairs to Wharves at Deer Island and Eastern Avenue. I respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Institutions Department, January 14, 1922.
Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I respectfully ask that a transfer of fourteen thousand (14,000) dollars be allowed from the House of Correction, Machinery and Materials for Manufacturing Account to a special appropriation for Repairs to Wharves at Deer Island and Eastern Avenue Wharf.

The wharf at Deer Island is badly in need of repair. It is in an unsafe condition and during the last two months the horses have gone through the planking on two occasions. The stringers have so badly decayed that the planking cannot be nailed to them.

The conditions at Eastern Avenue Wharf need immediate attention. The planking has been patched here and there during the past year, but the entire surface must be renewed.

Yours respectfully,
Thomas C. O'Brien,
Commissioner.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the Acting City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of $14,000 from Machinery and Materials for Manufacturing, Deer Island, to an appropriation for Repairs to Wharf at Deer Island and Eastern Avenue Wharf.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

LOAN FOR LAUNDRY, LONG ISLAND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 16, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a communication from the Commissioner of the Institutions Department relative to an appropriation for a new laundry at the Long Island Institution. It has been patent for some time that a new laundry is an absolute necessity, and I therefore recommend the immediate passage of the accompanying order, so that there may be no further delay in providing for the needs of the inmates of the Island Institution.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Institutions Department, January 16, 1922.
Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—On April 22, 1919, the laundry at Long Island was partially destroyed by fire. For some time thereafter laundry work for that institution was done by a laundry in Boston. Since January, 1920, laundry work for Long Island has been done at the Suffolk County House of Correction. This has been at some inconvenience to both institutions, and with the population at Long Island now well over 1,000, I feel that it is absolutely necessary that this institution have its own laundry equipment.

It is respectfully requested that your Honor recommend an appropriation of $20,000 for the purchase and installation of laundry equipment.

Yours respectfully,
Thomas C. O'Brien,
Commissioner.

Ordered, That the sum of $20,000 be and hereby is appropriated for Laundry, Long Island, and that to meet said appropriation, the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

LOAN FOR STREET CONSTRUCTION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 16, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a communication from the Commissioner of Public Works relative to an appropriation of $21,000 necessary to care for an account owing to the Boston Elevated Railway Company for certain street construction which the Elevated undertook at the city's request.

The appropriation of this money before the end of this fiscal year will make it possible for the Elevated to pay the city certain sums which it now owes the city. The failure to pass this order will, by the same token, deprive the city of the sum which the Elevated will pay us upon the passage of the order. I therefore recommend your immediate favorable action upon it.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
January 16, 1922.
To the Honorable the Mayor:

I respectfully recommend that an additional loan appropriation of $21,000 be made under the item of "Highways, Making of," to cover the cost of paving in the track area on Belgrade avenue and Centre street, West Roxbury, this work having been done by the Boston Elevated Railway Company.

The tracks in this section of Boston are owned by the Old Colony Street Railway Company, and under the provisions of chapter 188 of the Special Acts of 1918, its successor, the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company, has been exempted from any expense in connection with city work.

Yours respectfully,
T. F. Sullivan,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Ordered, That the sum of $21,000 be and hereby is appropriated for Highways, Making of, under the provisions of chapter 393 of the Acts of 1906, and that to meet said appropriation, the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

LOAN FOR CONSTRUCTION OF SOUTH BOSTON GYMNASIUM.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 16, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a communication from the Park Department relative to an additional appropriation which is necessary for the construction of the South Boston Gymnasium. The attached communication is self-explanatory, and needs no explanation. I recommend the immediate passage of the accompanying orders.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, January 12, 1922.
Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At a meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners held Tuesday, January 10, 1922, it was voted to ask your Honor to make a request upon the City Council for an appropriation of $140,000 to be added to the $200,000 already appropriated for the purchase of land for and the erection of a municipal gymnasium at Broadway and C street, South Boston.

Forty thousand dollars has already been expended for the purchase of land, and the balance of $160,000, with an added appropriation of $140,000, will make $300,000 for the erection of the building. This amount, in the opinion of the Board, is sufficient to provide adequate facilities, including a swimming pool.

Very respectfully yours,
James B. Shea,
Chairman.

Ordered, That the sum of $118,000 be appropriated, to be expended by the Park Commissioners for the purchase of a site and for the erection of building for gymnasium in South Boston; and that to meet said appropriation, the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to make the following transfers:

From the balance of the following loan accounts: Bath House, Orient Heights, $5,000; Mystic Playground, Charlestown, $3,462.58; Power and Heating Plant, Deer Island, $6,237.42; Municipal Building, Hyde Park, site, $7,300, to the appropriation for Gymnasium, South Boston.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

ADDITIONAL PROPERTY FOR ORCHARD PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 13, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting copies of communications from the Park Department relative to the acquisition by the City of Boston of certain property adjoining Orchard Park, which the Park Commissioners believe should be acquired for park purposes.

There is already available a fund of $1,500 which can be used for the purpose in question. I am heretofore transmitting an additional order only for the sum of $2,000, and I recommend your favorable action upon it.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, January 3, 1922.
Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Confirming the result of the conference held between the Board of Park Commissioners and your Honor on Thursday, December 29, 1921, relative to the advisability of purchasing land adjoining Orchard Park, belonging to Mrs. Adelaide A. Quinn, I desire to inform you that the Board requests the city government to appropriate a sum of money for the purchase of the land.

An erroneous impression was unintentionally conveyed to your Honor in a previous letter from me relative to the supposed value. This letter stated that the land could be purchased for $7,000. It was since then discovered that in a personal letter to your Honor from Mrs. Quinn, that her statement was that the property was assessed at $3,500. In order that there should be no misunderstanding as to the assessed value, the real figures were obtained from the assessor's office. These figures are as follows:

One lot of land, 2,049 square feet at 25 cents per square foot…………	$500
Second lot of land, 3,144 square feet at 40 cents per square foot…………	1,300
Total ………………………………………………	$1,800

There are no buildings.

I have written for an appointment with Mr. Daniel J. Kiley, who represented Mrs. Quinn at the meeting of the Park Commissioners, although not appearing as a paid attorney, stating to him that it was the decision of the Board, with your Honor's approval, that the land should be purchased at the assessed value, and that if Mrs. Quinn is of the opinion that she will accept this, we have every reason to believe that the city government will appropriate a sufficient amount to complete the transaction. I believe that this course will meet with your Honor's approval.

Very respectfully yours,
James B. Shea,
Chairman.

City of Boston,
Park Department, January 5, 1922.
Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of your letter of January 3, replying to my letter of January 3, 1922, to your Honor, relative to the purchase of certain property adjoining Orchard Park, owned by Mrs. Adelaide A. Quinn.

In my letter to you I stated that I would confer with Mr. Daniel J. Kiley, representing Mrs. Quinn. This conference was held over the 'phone and Mr. Kiley informed me that his information was that on account of Mrs. Quinn's position as a widow without a family to support her, the assessment was reduced from $800 on one parcel to $500 and from $1,800 on another parcel to $1,300, this reduction being made for the taxes of 1921, so that the taxes for 1919-20 were $1,800 on one parcel and $800 on another, making a total of $2,600. This assessment of $2,600 has dated back for five years, with the exception of the present year, when it amounts to only $1,800. This information will be sent to Mr. Kiley with the request that Mrs. Quinn be asked if she will accept the proposition to purchase her property for the sum of $2,600.

Following is the assessed value on the two parcels of land for the last six years; this does not include any assessment on the buildings which existed there for the first three years of the six years mentioned:

Ward 12, Orchard Park.

Year.	Owner.	Location.	Value of Land.	Area (Square Feet).
1916…………	Adelaide A. Quinn…………	5, 6, 7 Chadwick court…….	$800	2,049
1917…………	Adelaide A. Quinn…………	5, 6, 7 Chadwick court…….	800	2,049
1918…………	Ida M. Hodson, T. T…….	5, 6, 7 Chadwick court…….	800	2,049
1919…………	Ida M. Hodson, T. T………	Vacant land, Chadwick court,	800	2,049
1920…………	Adelaide A. Quinn…………	Vacant land, Chadwick court,	800	2,049
1921…………	Adelaide A. Quinn…………	Vacant land, Chadwick court,	500	2,049
1916…………	Ida M. Hodson, T. T………	1, 2, 3, 4 Chadwick court…..	1,800	3,114
1917…………	Ida M. Hodson, T. T………	1, 2, 3, 4 Chadwick court…..	1,800	3,114
1918…………	Ida M. Hodson, T. T………	1, 2, 3, 4 Chadwick court…..	1,800	3,114
1919…………	Adelaide A. Quinn…………	Vacant land, Chadwick court,	1,800	3,114
1920…………	Adelaide A. Quinn…………	Vacant land, Chadwick court,	1,800	3,114

Very respectfully yours,
James B. Shea,
Chairman.

City of Boston,
Park Department, January 9, 1922.
Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—On January 5, 1922, I wrote you relative to a meeting which I had with Mr. Daniel J. Kiley, representing Mrs. Adelaide A. Quinn, the owner of property abutting on Orchard Park.

This conference was relative to the acceptance by Mrs. Quinn of an amount representing the assessed value for the parcels of land owned by her.

Following this meeting Mr. Kiley produced the tax bill to Mrs. Quinn for the year 1920, which shows that instead of two parcels mentioned in my letter, that three parcels are owned, two on Chadwick court and one on Park place; the three parcels are assessed for $3,500

I am forwarding with this letter the tax bill.

Mr. Kiley states that Mrs. Quinn is willing to accept the assessed value of $3,500. This, therefore, is the amount needed instead of $2,600 mentioned in my letter of January 5, to make the purchase.

Very respectfully yours,
James B. Shea,
Chairman.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of $2,000 from Power and Heating Plant, Deer Island, to the special appropriation for Park Department, Public Parks.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PLAYGROUND, FOREST HILLS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 16, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am transmitting herewith a communication from the chairman, Board of Park Commissioners, requesting an appropriation for the purchase of land and development of a playground in the Forest Hills district.

You will note that the Park Commissioners have asked for an appropriation of $50,000. This sum is not available, and it is necessary for me to reduce the amount to $35,000. I respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying orders.

Respectfully,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, January 16, 1922.
Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At a meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners held Monday, January 16, 1922, it was voted to ask your Honor to request the City Council to appropriate a sum of $50,000 for the purchase of land and development of a playground in the Forest Hills district.

This land is owned by the City of Boston, being that part of Stony brook in the rear of Washington street between Tower and Morton streets, and land owned by the Sarah A. Seaver heirs, the Thomas Minton heirs and the Boston Elevated Railway Company, containing about 90,000 feet in addition to the land already owned by the City of Boston. This land is indicated by red lines on the blueprint accompanying this letter.

Very respectfully yours,
James B. Shea,
Chairman.

Ordered, That the sum of $10,000 be and hereby is appropriated for Playground, Forest Hills District, and that to meet said appropriation, the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to make the following transfer:

From the appropriation for Playground, Mattapan, to the appropriation for Playground, Forest Hills District, $25,000.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

MONEY FOR RENT AND HOUSING COMMISSION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 10, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am transmitting herewith a copy of a communication just received from the Rent and Housing Committee relative to an additional appropriation.

I think the committee should continue its work for at least another month. I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Rent and Housing Committee,
January 7, 1922.
Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The money provided for the needs of this committee will be practically exhausted on the 31st instant, and I respectfully request that the sum of $1,000 be appropriated to continue its work for one month dating from February 1, 1922.

Yours respectfully,
E. Billings, Chairman.

Ordered, That the Committee on Rent and Housing be and hereby is authorized to expend, under the direction of the Mayor, an additional sum of $1,000, the said amount to be charged to the appropriation for Reserve Fund.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

APPROPRIATION FOR CASE AGAINST EDISON COMPANY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 13, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting an original communication from the Corporation Counsel relative to an additional appropriation to be expended by the Law Department in its case against the Edison Electric Illuminating Company. The letter from the Corporation Counsel adequately covers the situation. There is no need for me at this time to go into it in further detail.

You will note that the Corporation Counsel asks for an additional appropriation of $25,000. This sum is not available in the Reserve Fund, and lack of appropriating power makes it necessary for me to restrict my recommendation for an appropriation to the sum of $10,000. I am herewith transmitting an order for the appropriation of this amount, and I recommend its immediate passage.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

Ordered, That the additional sum of ten thousand dollars be and the same hereby is appropriated for the purpose of meeting charges for expert services, stenographic services, additional legal assistance and other necessary and proper expenditures in connection with the hearings on the request for arbitration under the street lighting contract between the City of Boston and the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, dated December 7, 1914, and under the petition for a reduction in the price of electricity filed by the Mayor with the Public Utilities Commission, said amount to be charged to the Reserve Fund. All expenditures under this appropriation shall be subject to the written approval of the Mayor and the Corporation Counsel.

City of Boston,
Law Department, January 6, 1922.
Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—On May 2, 1921, the City Council appropriated $50,000 to be expended in connection, first, with the arbitration pending before the Department of Public Utilities in respect to the contract for street lighting with the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston; and second, with respect to the petition filed by you on behalf of the city for a reduction in the rates charged for electricity by the company. Since that date, and indeed before, this department has been actively engaged in the necessary preparation for the effective trial of these petitions, and a number of hearings have been held.

In the course of our work it became evident to us that the coal clause and the extra surcharge imposed by the Edison Company in addition to its regular rates were not necessary and also that there was discrimination in the application of these charges by the company. By reason of the existence of outstanding contracts made by the company before the time when it first imposed any coal clause or any surcharge, about one quarter in quantity of the business of the company was not subjected to pay these extra charges. This fourth of the business included street lighting for various municipalities, Boston among them, but also included a very considerable number of the larger private consumers. The effect of this situation was to impose a heavy and, we believe, an illegal burden on the remainder of the business. Because of the fact that the coal clause and surcharge were unnecessary and because of this discrimination the city has brought suit against the company. The amount which we claim to recover is approximately $70,000 but if the city is successful a considerable additional sum can also be recovered and recovery may also be had by any private consumer who has paid the charges. A number of such private consumers have, in fact, already brought suit. The Edison Company filed a demurrer to this suit which was sustained by Judge Hammond of the Superior Court, chiefly upon the ground that it was desirable that the legal aspects of the case should be determined before the court and the parties were required to enter on what would necessarily be a lengthy trial of the facts involved. The case is now pending before the Full Bench and should be argued at the next term of court.

In addition to what we believe to be the overcharges above mentioned, we believe that the average rates of the Edison Company are much higher than those of the other large cities. In particular we find that the maximum rate is entirely too high. This is the rate charged to all the customers who constitute the great bulk of those dealing with the Edison Company. It is also the rate under which most of the charges, other than the street lighting charge, are made against the City of Boston.

It has been necesary to examine all these questions in detail, particularly as there has never heretofore been a thorough and complete examination by the Public Utilities Department of the Edison Company's rates and the facts upon which they were based. We found that the Department of Public Utilities was disposed toward such an investigation and we have received from it various suggestions as to matters which it desired to examine. In order to secure a satisfactory examination of the system of rates it has been necessary to determine, for example, the present value of the Edison Company's plant. This has involved an examination of all additions to plant made by it since the year 1900 in order that we might include the consolidation of the Edison Company with the properties purchased by it in the suburban districts. In connection with this work I have employed as my chief experts Mr. S. H. Mildram, a well known engineer in the city, who was one of the city's technical advisers in the former street lighting arbitration; Col. T. H. Dillon, late United States Army, now professor at the Institute of Technology, and Mr. Edwin F. Dwelley, who for some years has acted as expert in the suit brought by certain consumers for a reduction of rates, which has been pending before the department, and who has accumulated a large quantity of valuable material. I have also employed a number of assistants who have worked on the collection of facts, the classification of figures and other necessary matters. While the work is not yet completed, most of the necessary data has been collected and what chiefly remains is the task of getting it into shape and the completion of the presentation of the case before the Department of Public Utilities. What has been done will, in my judgment, be of the greatest value not only in the present case but in any future relations between the Edison Company and the public. The examination of the plant, for example, will be of inestimable importance should the city ever desire to purchase the Edison property. If such a purchase were ever decided on an examination like that which we have made would be inevitable.

The first appropriation will be exhausted before the end of the present month. It would, in my judgment, be highly detrimental to the interests of the city to stop work at the present time as this would not only lose the benefit of what has been done but would also disrupt an organization which has been working on the case for several months and is in shape to get the best results. For these reasons I respectfully suggest an additional appropriation of $25,000. This should, so far as I can now see, be sufficient to complete the case. I annex a statement showing approximately how the money has been spent. Outside the technical services and the ascertainment of facts, the only expense has been the employment of Mr. Richard H. Wiswall to render additional assistance in the preparation of law, it being impossible, with the other litigation of the office, to deal adequately with the legal side without outside assistance.

In the arbitration between the city and the Edison Company which took place in 1917, and which involved only the street lighting arbitration, approximately $75,000 was appropriated. The result was a saving to the city of approximately $80,000 a year for the ten years covered by its contract. The present case includes not only the readjustment of street lighting rates but also a building up of rate bases or plant investment from actual figures taken from the Edison Company's books, a criticism of the general and operating expenses of the company and an inquiry into their entire system of rates. I believe the results to be reasonably expected for the city and for the public at large will be so beneficial as to make the additional expenditure proposed well worth while and that it is greatly to be desired that the incoming administration should start with such an appropriation as will be necessary to complete the work in hand. I therefore request that you will recommend to the Council an additional appropriation of $25,000.

Very truly yours,
Arthur D. Hill,
Corporation Counsel.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

ADDITIONAL APPROPRIATION, SHERIFF'S HOUSE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 16, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith transmitting a communication from the Superintendent of Public Buildings relative to an additional appropriation for the sheriff's house, at the Suffolk County Jail.

In accordance with the request of the Superintendent of Public Buildings, I recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Buildings Department,
January 16, 1922.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I wish to advise you that on January 29, 1918, the sum of $17,500 was appropriated for building the sheriff's house, Charles Street Jail, and I have just received from the architect an estimate of $27,500 to do this work.

I therefore respectfully request that an additional sum of $10,000 be added to this appropriation, making the total $27,500.

Respectfully yours,
Fred J. Kneeland,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Ordered, That the sum of $10,000 additional be appropriated, to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for the construction of sheriff's house at Suffolk County Jail, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

UNEMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Law Department, December 28, 1921.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—In answer to your request contained in the following order, passed December 19:

"That the Corporation Counsel be requested to inform the City Council whether or not it is possible for the city to establish a permanent commission or bureau on unemployment for the purpose of affording an opportunity free of charge for those out of work to register, and for employers to obtain labor."

The General Laws, chapter 40, section 6, clause 3, provides that towns (which includes cities) may appropriate money for the relief, support, maintenance and employment of the poor. I am of the opinion that this legislation makes it possible for the city to establish a permanent commission or bureau on employment for the purpose of affording an opportunity, free of charge, for those out of work to register and for employers to obtain labor.

The expenditure of the money appropriated for such purposes may be legally and properly performed by such a commission or bureau.

Yours very truly,
Arthur D. Hill,
Corporation Counsel.

Whereas, The Mayor and Common Council and citizens of the city of Columbus were extremely liberal in the matter of assisting the City Council in securing said information; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Boston City Council hereby expresses its deep appreciation of the kind, wholesome and generous treatment accorded the representatives of the legislative branch of the Boston city government and await the day when they may be permitted to reciprocate.

Ordered, That a copy of these resolutions be engrossed and forwarded by the City Clerk to the Mayor and Common Council of Columbus, Ohio.

The question came on the passage of the preambles, resolutions and order.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, as the result of an order passed by this body early in the year appropriating a sum totalling $5,000 to permit the City Council to visit other cities where municipally owned lighting plants were located, for the purpose of securing information pertaining to that particular matter, an order passed unanimously by the body, members of the City Council have taken such a trip and have returned. The purpose of the passage of the order permitting the expenditure of a sum belonging to the taxpayers for that trip was because of an order before the body which will be acted upon adversely or favorably on or before the last meeting of this fiscal year, an order providing that the City Council of Boston consider the advisability of entering into municipal operation of gas or electric lighting plants, either or both. That order is now before the Executive Committee and will be acted upon adversely or favorably before the close of the present Council. There was considerable comment upon and criticism of our proposed trip. We accept the criticism in good spirit but will say in reply that it is misdirected and based on alleged facts that are not facts. The $5,000 appropriated by this body through the good offices of Mayor Peters has brought back to the City of Boston in the way of publicity more benefit than $100,000 that might have been expended by civic bodies in Boston. As president of this body, I feel highly honored because of the calibre of my associates who sacrificed their business interests to seek information on an important topic which might call for the expenditure of the taxpayers' money in a sum totalling $50,000,000, as a result of the action that may finally be taken. We visited the city of Buffalo and, contrary to reports in the newspapers, we secured much information there. It is true that perhaps we were not treated there in perhaps the same way we were in some other cities, but that can be easily explained when I tell the members who were not present on the trip that the day we landed in Buffalo was the day that Mayor Schwab was inaugurated, and we did not see fit to impose on his good nature, although he turned us over to his Commissioner of Public Works, who furnished me and the committee on public lighting, data in regard to lighting in Buffalo. It is not my intention to have anything to say about the lighting question today. I merely wish to put before the people of Boston an account of our stewardship as in connection with this trip that we took for information, to benefit them and not ourselves. I will touch on the lighting question later in the year, before this Council goes out of existence. In Buffalo we got much information and were treated royally by those we went to see, although we did not thrust ourselves upon the city government of Buffalo. Your president, however, met the Mayor of Buffalo, with Coun. Donoghue, and he sent back his best wishes to the Mayor-elect of Boston, James M. Curley, and also to the present Mayor. When we left Buffalo we went to Cleveland, and in Cleveland it was the same as in Buffalo, inauguration day of Mayor-elect Kohler. While we did have an opportunity to call upon him, the hour set for our visit was such that some were unable to attend. One was myself, and, for the reason that I was not present, the other members did not accept the invitation, but merely left their respects. He did, however, turn us over to the Commissioner of Public Utilities, Mr. Schwartz, a new appointee of the office, under whom all the lighting questions of Cleveland are attended to. In Cleveland we met Bostonians who went to Cleveland to settle. They went to Cleveland because they felt that the opportunity was greater there than here for a man not tied up to the so-called ultra class of our community, the so-called "holier-than-thou" outfit, and those men are making good in Cleveland. We made no preparation in advance to see anybody in either Buffalo or Cleveland, but we did arrange by letter to get in touch with the Mayor of Columbus, Ohio, the capital of Ohio, and the Mayor and the entire Council were at the depot to meet us when we arrived. The city was open to us for information and sociability without stint. We were entertained there in a way in which we have never been entertaind here. We were invited by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce to be their guests, and at the hotel where the banquet was held we were surrounded by the leading citizens of Columbus, the capital of Ohio. We listened to an address by a professor from the University of Pittsburgh and the vice-president of one of the large Pittsburgh banks. We heard from the leading bankers of the city of Columbus and, at the conclusion, it was my honor to sit at the head of the table with the Mayor and other high officials of the city and the president of the Chamber of Commerce. At the very beginning of the meeting I was called upon, as president of this body, to address the members of the Chamber of Commerce, and at the conclusion of my few words, I introduced each of my colleagues by name. The reception they got at the hands of the leading citizens of Columbus made my heart glad and made me think, "Is this possible that we are of this much consequence, in view of the way we are treated in Boston by the absent landlords of Boston?" I have since received this letter, which I will give to the stenographer to be made a part of our records:

The Columbus Chamber of Commerce,
Columbus, Ohio, January 7, 1922.

Mr. James A. Watson,
President City Council,
Boston, Mass.:

My Dear Mr. Watson,—The Columbus Chamber of Commerce thoroughly enjoyed having you as our guest at the forum meeting yesterday and we were grateful to you for your short message of encouragement and for introducing to us the different members of your party.

We are very glad that you were with us and that you have paid honor to our city in visiting us. We assure you that if we are ever so fortunate that we will be sure to drop in and pay you our respects.

Wishing you and yours a prosperous and happy new year, I am,

Very sincerely yours,
COLUMBUS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE,
AVERY G. CLINGER,
Manager Social Service Bureau.

I cannot permit the opportunity to pass without spreading on the record here the fact that the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Columbus, Mr. James T. Daniels, asked me to convey to the secretary of our Chamber of Commerce his very best wishes, and then he said, "Mr. McKibben and I do not agree in regard to the advisability of holding weekly meetings of the Chamber of Commerce. He thinks that that is too frequent." But I agree with Mr. Daniels that this frequent rubbing of elbows of citizens of a city mean better things for the city; and that is the spirit of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, which is far different from the spirit of our Chamber of Commerce. We then left Columbus and sent word to Milwaukee that we would be there the following day. We were met in the depot in Milwaukee by the president of the Common Council of Milwaukee, Cornelius Corcoran, and a majority of the members of the Milwaukee Common Council, and they said the only fault they had to find with us was that our stay in the city was too brief. We put in about five hours there, because we were keeping our schedule and doing our utmost to render a proper stewardship of our work to the people of Boston, whose servants we are. We left Milwaukee, leaving behind us wholesome effects of our visit and deep appreciation of our going to that great city of the West. I will not attempt now to spread on the records of this body what we saw, because that will be done, and will be most important, when the lighting situation is established. We left them, and we left them friends. The papers everywhere contained no short, snappy paragraphs about our visit, no ridiculous funny things about us. We were not considered curiosities, but the representatives of the citizens of Boston, the people's choice, the members of the legislative branch of the city government, representing the everyday man in Boston, the personal councilors and representatives of the citizens. They pictured us in fine colors, and I can say without any apology that our conduct, that of each one of us, was such that not one word of criticism could be directed against us by the most high-minded or fastidious man or woman drawing the breath of life on God's footstool. From Milwaukee we went to Chicago. We did not make preparations for the visit ahead, but went from the hotel to the Mayor's office the morning after we had arrived. Mayor Thompson was absent, but his secretary, a Mr. Kelly, sent immediately for Commissioner of Public Works Francis and for representatives of the lighting department of Chicago and we were placed in their hands. We were then taken in hand by the sergeant-at-arms of the Board of Aldermen of Chicago and escorted about by several of the leading members of the City Council. Even the so-called conservative reformers of Chicago in the City Council escorted us around their city, showing us their most magnificent drives and their great things. We were treated royally there and left behind us an impression that augurs well for this dear old, but quiet and sleepy city of Boston, in its relations with Chicago in the future. Boston is the city that I love, but it is being relegated to the rear because of the cold-blooded conservatism of those absent landlords who earn their money here and cut their coupons and pay their taxes in Brookline, Cambridge, Weston, Milton and other suburbs. They run our city down and belittle us red-blooded men, we who know the people's needs. But in Chicago, thank God, and the same in Milwaukee, Buffalo and Columbus, absent landlordism in the management of public affairs of those cities is missing. They have home rule there. Their representatives are trusted. People who select them to represent them know the men whom they select and they abide by their action. If their servants fall down, they do not return them to public office, but when they elect them they give them power and trust to their honesty, and they make good. They are not controlled from the State House of their state, as we are from Beacon Hill. The Chambers of Commerce of these cities I have mentioned do not mix into cheap, little, petty things. They do not claim that a man who steals $10 is a thief, while a man who steals $1,000,000 is honest. A man who steals a million in any of these cities I have mentioned is a thief, as well as the man who steals a pocketbook with a few dollars in it. We do not have that condition of affairs here, and I am sorry to say, and in saying that I am not belittling the place of my birth, because there is no city on God's earth that can equal Boston in any particular. But Boston is helpless because of the lack of interest and attention paid by the voters to public affairs. The result is that things get into the hands of certain rich men, a certain privileged class. I do not refer to men of wealth who get their wealth honestly, but to the privileged class, who ignore the public interest and who focus their minds and action on certain things, for their own benefit. That does not apply to the great majority of our people. When we left Chicago we left behind us in the press and in the public mind the feeling that Boston is a city that is worth while and that Boston has a legislative body that is on a par with the average legislative body in any state, city or board of selectmen in the whole United States, if not in the world. We left Chicago, bound for Detroit. We arrived there at three o'clock in the afternoon and were met at the depot by a committee of councilmen, were escorted to our hotel, and when we had completed our lunch and got washed and cleaned up and dressed, we went over in a body to the City Hall. It was inauguration night. The Mayor had been elected, I think, two years before for a four-year term, the same as is the case here. The Mayor is James Couzens. We intended to be there to hear his message. They swore in one new member of the Council, the first labor man elected a member of the Common Council of Detroit, Mich. We were late in getting there, but as soon as we arrived in City Hall, where they were awaiting us, we were escorted inside the inclosure to seats reserved for us, and I was escorted to the president's chair and sat beside the president, a Mr. John C. Lodge. As soon as they had completed their business, a member arose and offered a resolution, which was passed, showing as a matter of record that we were there as guests of the city. I was called upon to respond, which I did, and I introduced each of my colleagues to the gathering, and our reception was very, very cordial. We left Detroit Wednesday evening at ten minutes past six and arrived in New York on Thursday morning, and there we concluded our trip of investigation. The trip was educational and of tremendous value to my colleagues and myself, because many of my colleagues when we started did not know about the lighting situation or how we were being mulcted by the Edison Company. They had heard me speak for ten meetings, but, even taking all I said to be true, they found that they would have to add something even to that in order to get at the real conditions that we have here in Boston, that they are even worse than I could picture in the most exaggerated words I might use. We secured wonderful information in New York. We bring back here data from every city we visited, information from experts, and we are prepared, I think, any one of us, to go before the Public Utilities Commission and present a case against the Edison Company that will be almost as good as the one that is being presented by the Corporation Counsel and other attorneys. We have gone right to the source, the very fountain head of information, and we have got it in black and white. Boston—my Boston, your Boston, the greatest city in the world—is being strangled by a very small percentage of its citizens; Boston, the great giant, has been sleeping, but she will wake, and my prediction is this, that in the coming year the Legislature of Massachusetts will not dare to handicap Boston in any particular. We are going to get a square deal from the Legislature. We demand it and the public will demand it, and we are going to get it. I have talked longer than I intended to, and there is simply an incident that I must refer to at this time, in addition, something that I cannot permit to pass. I said in my opening that every member of this body approved the $5,000 appropriation, and that at the beginning every member intended to make this trip of inquiry. Three did not do so. The acting president of the Council (Coun. Moriarty), because of business reasons publicly stated here, regretted that he could not go. We then invited the two members-elect. One could not go for social reasons; the other, Mr. Walsh, accepted, and then for some reason did not go. Mr. Collins did not go because he said business detained him here. Another member, Mr. Hagan, did not go because he did not want to spend the taxpayers' money. He wrote a letter to a newspaper in Boston, and not one other member of this body thought that he did the right thing in writing that letter. He said he would not go on the junket, but at Chicago, when we were at the Congress Hotel, Coun. Hagan joined the party and accepted our hospitality for two days. Perhaps he will explain why he did that. In conclusion I will say that there has been a lot of speculation and talk about the junket. In our party of thirteen, as it started out, was included Commissioner of Public Works Sullivan, and, as I say, a large amount of very valuable information was obtained. Our numbers shrank to ten, I think. We come back from that trip prepared to turn back into the Reserve Fund of the city treasury $1,400 unexpended out of $5,000 appropriated, something never known, they tell me, in connection with public trips. But we returned $1,400 to the city treasury and, for the $3,600 spent, we bring back information that is invaluable as bearing on our action on a very important matter, plus more than $50,000 worth of genuine publicity for our city in these several cities that we visited, because of our trip. Mr. President, I move a suspension of the rule that the resolutions and orders may be put upon their passage at this time.

The rule was suspended and the preambles, resolutions and orders were unanimously passed.

ORDINANCES.

Coun. BRICKLEY, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted the following:

1. Report on ordinance (referred November 21) relative to employment of people on city contracts—recommending passage in the following new draft:

Section 1. No contract shall be made by the City except with,—

(a) individual citizens of the United States;

(b) corporations or other legal associations wherein the controlling interest to the extent of at least over one-half thereof is owned by a citizen or citizens of the United States.

Sect. 2. No person other than a citizen of the United States shall be employed on any public work being done by,—

(a) the City of Boston;

(b) any contractor with the City of Boston;

(c) any subcontractor with such contractor; except that persons not such citizens may be employed in the manner and under the conditions set forth in the following section.

Sect. 3. Whenever no citizens of the United States competent to perform the work in question can be had at the prevailing and customary rate of wages, the head of the department having charge of the work in question, with the written approval of the Mayor, may issue a written authorization for the employment of such number of persons other than citizens for such time as may be necessary to do the work, provided that no such authorization shall be issued except after compliance with the provisions of the following section.

Sect. 4. Before issuing the written authorization provided for in the preceding section, the head of the department having charge of the work or contract shall give one or more public hearings and shall satisfy himself and certify in writing that the facts exist which warrant the issuance of such authorization. Where the employment is to be by a contractor or sub-contractor he shall require a written statement from such contractor or sub-contractor to such facts sworn to before a Justice of the Peace.

Sect. 5. It shall be the duty of all heads of departments to cause suitable inspection to be made of all work for which they are severally responsible to ensure compliance with the provisions of this ordinance, and also to call all breaches thereof to the attention of the proper authorities for prosecution.

Sect. 6. Any person, firm or corporation violating any section of this ordinance shall be subject to a penalty not exceeding dollars for each offence and a separate offence shall be regarded as committed for every day during which such person, firm or corporation shall continue such violation.

Sect. 7. All contracts hereafter made by the City shall contain suitable provisions requiring contractors and subcontractors to comply with the terms of this ordinance and providing that no recovery shall be had on such contracts or subcontracts either against the City or any other person if a breach of this ordinance has been established.

The report was accepted.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I want to say that after introducing the former ordinance, after having some talk with the Corporation Counsel, I left it in his hands, and the Corporation Counsel is responsible for the redrafting of the ordinance. I hope it will receive the approval of the Mayor, being in my estimation, one of the best protections that was ever introduced here for the salvation of the citizens of this Commonwealth.

The ordinance was passed.

2. Report on ordinance (referred December 28), changing name of Consumptives' Hospital to Boston Sanatorium—that the ordinance ought to pass.

Report accepted; ordinance passed.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Lane and Ford. Whole number of ballots cast 7, yeas 7, and the appointments were confirmed.

TRANSFER FOR REMODELING FIRE HOUSES.

President WATSON called up unfinished business, No. 6, viz.:

6. Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer the sum of $4,500 from the appropriation for Power and Heating Plant, Deer Island, to the appropriation for Remodeling House, Engine 26 and 35, Fire Department.

On December 28, 1921, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 9.

The order was giving its final reading and passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

RELEASE OF CITY LAND.

President WATSON Called up unfinished business, No. 7, viz.:

7. Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized and empowered in the name and behalf of the city to release and quitclaim unto the New England Trust Company, trustee, by deed of trust for the time being in the United States of the Employers' Liability Assurance Corporation, Limited, its successors and assigns, all the right, title and interest of the city, if any it has, in and to, two certain parcels or strips of land on Liberty square in Boston, one parcel containing fifteen (15) square feet, and the other parcel containing less than one (1) square foot, being the lands decribed as discontinued as parts of Liberty square, by an order of the Board of Street Commissioners of said city, approved by the Mayor, September 21, 1921; said conveyances to be in form satisfactory to the Law Department and to be made when and if said New England Trust Company, trustee as aforesaid, shall in form satisfactory to the Law Department convey to said city for street purposes two parcels or strips of land, one contining thirteen (13) square feet, the other containing two (2) square feet, described in said order, as taken for the widening of said Liberty square, and shall release said city from all claims for damages by reason of such taking; all of said lands are shown on a plan of said street marked "City of Boston, Liberty square, Boston proper, August 30, 1921, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer Street Laying-Out Department," and deposited in the office of the Street Laying-Out Department.

On December 28, 1921, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 9.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 6, nays 1, Coun. DONOGHUE voting nay.

DISTRIBUTION OF LUMBER.

Coun. FORD offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to appoint a committee consisting of himself, Mayor-elect Curley, two members of the City Council and the president of the Chamber of Commerce to co-operate with Hon. John N. Cole, State Commissioner of Public Works, in his efforts to induce the lumber interests of the Pacific Coast to distribute their lumber throughout New England from the City of Boston.

Coun. FORD—Mr. President, it has come to the notice of citizens of Boston recently that the Pacific Coast Lumber interests are going to ship lumber through the Panama Canal up toward New England by the Atlantic Coast. It has been stated that both Providence and New London are seeking to be the terminus from which the lumber will be distributed throughout New England. Mr. Cole, the State Commissioner of Public Works, has been in the West and has had conferences with the different lumber interests for the purpose of getting the shippers to come to Boston, and the whole matter will boil down to this, the advantages that the particular city will offer to the lumber interests. To that place the lumber interests will come and from there they will distribute the lumber. I have asked to have appointed on that committee the in-coming Mayor. We were West, most of us; we saw the great dynamic energy that is put into propositions out there. Recently in the City of Boston, whether one supported him for Mayor or not, there was seen coming from the successful candidate for Mayor a most brilliant idea, that of paying the differential rate for the difference in the rate that exists between Baltimore and the West, Philadelphia and the West, and Boston and the West, to the grain shippers in order that Boston might be the port of shipment for millions of bushels of grain. That was such a very clever and original idea that it was commented upon favorable not only in the Boston papers but in papers in other parts of the East. That particular idea of the Mayor-elect did more in the way of suggesting a solution of this tremendous problem toward the solution of which we here in Boston appropriated $2,500 about two weeks ago, to my mind, than anything else. It brought to the attention of the whole country the fact that we were being discriminated against here in Boston. Hence, I ask that the Mayor-elect, with the present Mayor, be appointed on this committee, feeling that he, with that type of energy of his, such as we have also seen in the West, might be able to take action that would result in affording some advantages to the shipping interests so that Boston may become the center of lumber shipping in New England. It would mean a tremendous boom to Boston and a tremendous amount of business for Boston. I would say this, that if these people coming to New England and we are to lose this business, it will be the fault of those who are in power here, who will be in a position where they can offer these advantages, and will not do so. I don't think either the present Mayor or the in-coming Mayor will lose the chance that is offered. I think it is another opportunity and a great opportunity, to boost our town. When we were out in the West, each one of us resolved that when we went back to Boston we would try to put a punch into the old town, so that things would move. We hope, with the assistance of the in-coming Mayor, to put the biggest punch into Boston commercial affairs that we have seen for some time. Let us now put this over and try to get these lumber interests to come to Boston, in order that we may take a step in the right direction and go ahead. It was facetitiously remarked in a newspaper or newspapers that when we were in the West we had punch. We know that coming back from the West we have punch left, and we are going to try to put that punch into the affairs of Boston the coming year. I want to move a suspension of the rule that this order may go upon its passage, so that we here in the City Council may do something to wake up this city from its sleepy condition, a position which it truly occupies, according to our best observation.

The rule was suspended, and the order was passed.

THANKS TO MARSTERS TOURIST COMPANY.

Coun. LANE offered the following:

Resolved, That the Boston City Council extend its thanks to the Marsters Tourist Company for the courtesy extended through its agent, Mr. John Hancock, on the recent trip to look into municipal ownership of gas and electric lighting plants.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Marsters Tourist Company.

Passed.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. LANE moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned at 5.34 p. m., to meet Monday, January 23, at 2 o'clock p. m.

Monday, January 23, 1922.

Regular meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at two o'clock p. m., President WATSON in the chair and all the members present.

PAYMENT TO PARENTS OF JOHN JOSEPH KELLEY.

Coun. FORD offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston favors the enactment of legislation authorizing the City of Boston to pay a sum of money to the parents of John Joseph Kelley, a minor.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. MORIARTY in the chair.

APPROVAL OF LEGISLATION CONCERNING EDWARD M. HARTWELL.

Coun. HAGAN offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation authorizing the city to retire with a pension Edward M. Hartwell.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

OWEN ROONEY SQUARE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the space at the junction of Elm, Friend, North and Union streets be named Owen Rooney square, in memory of said Rooney, who was killed in France while in the ambulance service of the United States during the World War; and that said location be suitably marked with signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

LEGISLATION AFFECTING BOSTON AND SUFFOLK COUNTY.

President WATSON offered the following:

Resolved, That the Legislature be hereby requested not to enact any special legislation concerning Boston or the County of Suffolk without attaching to the same a referendum either to the people of the city or county, or the Mayor and City Council.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, the present Mayor has been handicapped to a very great extent by opposition from the Legislature during his term as Mayor. Concerning particular measures upon which he has been handicapped I have nothing to say at this time, in view of the fact that his Honor the Mayor will retire from public office, so far as the mayor's office is concerned, on the first Monday in February. The incoming Mayor is meeting with even greater opposition from the same source, and I, for one, will not permit myself to remain a member of this body without protesting against the continuance of the interference by the Legislature in Boston's domestic affairs. Recently it was brought to my attention that a bill was introduced in the Legislature providing for the placing of assessors under the civil service rules and regulations. Regarding the merit of that particular measure I have nothing to say, except that I believe thoroughly in civil service rules and that the rules shall apply to all alike. As proof positive of my position on that matter, as well as the position of my colleagues, I will refer any interested person who may feel that I err in the statement to the fact that we have voted to accept every measure that was sent to us by the Legislature which had virtue in it, whether it was a matter that had to do with the placing of some particular department under civil service, or some other measure which had to do with employees, or other city matters. Only recently, despite the opposition and desires of certain people, I was one of nine members to vote to accept the act passed late in the year placing the employees of the Collecting Department under civil service. Now, all I ask and all that my colleagues ask, I believe, is that matters that have to do with the City pf Boston be sent down here for acceptance before they become a law, or else referred to our masters, the people, for referendum. I have in mind, for instance, such measures as that placing the assessors under civil service. I have no quarrel with any person who might come within the protection of that bill, but I have a strong objection to the Legislature tying the hands of the incoming Mayor, because they do not happen to be on friendly terms politically or otherwise with him. I hold no brief for James M. Curley. He owes me nothing and I owe him nothing. I will never ask him for a favor except in a matter that contains merit, and I will ask him not to request any favor of me unless the matter contains merit. I shall consider conscientiously what I should do in matters coming from him pertaining to the affairs of the City of Boston, before acting, as I am supposed to do under my oath of office and as my colleagues are supposed to do. The people have spoken, however, Mr. President, and they have selected as their mayor for four years James M. Curley, despite the opposition of every reformer, every crooked rich man, every newspaper but one, and of every political leader but a few in Boston,—yes, every leader, because I do not consider myself a leader, nor do I consider Coun. Brickley or Donoghue, my colleagues, leaders. There was not a leader in Boston who supported his candidacy. In fact, everything seemed to be against him, but the people, knowing the vicious elements behind the opposition candidate, decided that they would vote for him as mayor, and they did, and 74,000 of them did so vote and selected him to be the standard bearer and the executive in charge of city affairs for the next four years. So much for that. I propose to do my duty here during the coming year. Mayor Curley will receive from me full support for anything just and in the interests of the citizens which he may undertake to put forth; and I believe,—and I don't say this to lickspittle or suck around him, to use the vernacular of the day,—I am confident that he will make good, as he himself has promised that he would, for the sake of the 74,000 people who have confidence in him. So much for that. Mr. President, the matter that I have most strongly in mind is the conduct of one member of the Legislature by the name of Elijah Adlow, a Republican representative from Ward 16 and a neighbor of mine, a young man with little experience in politics. I am free to confess that when he was nominated I was interested in his success and probably got four or five of my family to vote for him, although he was a Republican. I knew the young man, out in Roxbury, as he lived near where I lived when he was in short pants. His father was a good man who came from the other side of the pond—not from Ireland, England or Scotland, but a gentleman of Jewish extraction, who came here for freedom and the right to act according to the dictates of his conscience, and in order to get away from oppression. The young man, the son, Mr. Elijah Adlow, went to the Legislature, with the help of four or five of my friends who voted for him and, Lord, I ought to be put away for asking them to do it. I make lots of mistakes, and that was one of them. He stood on the floor of the State House, on Beacon Hill, and took the stand he did on the assessors' bill because he was one of the most vicious opponents of James M. Curley, and because some of the assessors were appointed as politicians, a fact which cannot be denied. Eighty per cent of the assistant assessors were appointed because they were the creatures of some political leader in Boston, either Democratic or Republican. Lomasney has one there—and I have no quarrel with Mr. Cuddy; and Charles H. Innes has one there—and I have no quarrel with James H. Phalen. Elijah Adlow, with some of the young Republicans, together with Martin M. Lomasney, favored the bill. Martin M. Lomasney still lives, but not politically. He still lives physically, and Mr. Lomasney, together with Elijah Adlow and some of the young Republicans, passed a bill to put under civil service the first assistant assessors, without a referendum by the people of Boston and without an acceptance by the Mayor or City Council. It was finally passed by a vote of 83 to 6; 89 members out of a total of 240 voted. There was not even a majority of the members of the House voting on the question of passing the measure to its third reading. During the discussion, with his eloquence and his bump of conceit, with his acquired egotism, with his overeducated mind, from Harvard, Mr. Adlow said, "Do not refer this measure to the City Council of Boston, don't let it go into the garbage can." This young man is a graduate of Harvard, a Republican legislator from Ward 16, the son of immigrant parents who came here to get away from oppression in Europe, and he stands up there on Beacon Hill and denies to the people of Boston the home rule that his father and mother came here from Europe to obtain. That is why I have offered this resolution today, in order to pay my respects to Elijah Adlow. In my opinion he is not true to his constituents and I prophesy that when the people of Ward 16—which is a pivotal ward, sending Democrats and Republicans to the Legislature—know that Elijah

Adlow, their representative, because of bias, spleen and spite, undertook to shackle the hands of their Mayor and their councilmen, he will have a hard row to hoe to go back to the House of Representatives. I know of five votes that he will not get, and I think I will find more. And, by the way, the Republican party is going to pieces in this state today, with the row that is on between Wilson and Lodge and between Governor Cox and the Quincy House, with other things coming to the front in legislation in Washington and in corporation control on Beacon Hill. There is soon going to be a good opportunity to change the complexion of the Governor's chair and perhaps of the Legislature. I trust, therefore, that the rule will be suspended, and that this resolution may go through unanimously, letting it be a message to Governor Cox and the Republican majority in the Legislature, House and Senate, to the effect that the people of Boston, through their duly accredited representatives in this legislative branch, propose to demand, not ask, home rule for Boston, the same home rule that every other city in the Commonwealth but Boston has. There is no more corruption, no more wrongdoing in Boston, in proportion, than there is in Springfield, Beverly, Haverhill, or the smallest town in the community that is governed and controlled by Republicans. I move, Mr. President, a suspension of the rule that the resolution may go upon its passage at this time.

The rule was suspended and the resolution was passed.

RESCISSION OF ORDER NAMING SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That the order passed by the City Council November 28, 1921, naming the junction of Robert, Corinth and Belgrade streets James F. Healy square, be and the same hereby is rescinded.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 3.12 o'clock p. m., on motion of President Watson, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by the President at 6.12 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. MORIARTY, for Executive Committee, submitted the following, viz:

Reports on orders (referred today) favoring legislation concerning the following, viz.:

Edward M. Hartwell, for pension.

Warren J. Stokes, for increase of pension and Minnie O. Dunton for pension.

Payment of sum of money to parents of John Joseph Kelley, a minor.

Reports accepted; orders passed.

2. Report on message of Mayor, communication and orders (referred January 16) for transfer of money for playground, Forest Hills district—that the orders ought not to pass.

Report accepted; orders rejected.

3. Report on petition of Walter M. Lowney Company (refered January 16) for abatement of taxes—that no further action is necessary.

Report accepted.

4. Report on notices of hearings on petitions for licenses for the keeping and sale of gasolene (refered December 19) at various places—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; notices placed on file.

5. Report on protest of John J. Mortell et al. (referred today) against granting of permit to Thomas B. Molloy for storage and sale of gasolene in Charlestown, Chelsea and Chestnut streets—that the petitioners be given leave to withdraw.

The report was declared accepted.

Coun. Donoghue doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The report was accepted, yeas 7, nays 1, Coun. DONOGHUE voting nay.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

President WATSON called up Nos. 1, 2, and 3, unfinished business, viz:

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor January 16, 1922, viz.:

1. George T. Gilbert, to be a Counstable.
2. Dexter Hedge, Hugh Kelly and E. R. Goodwin, to be Weighers of Coal.
3. W. E. Marshman and Otto E. Bachmann, to be Weighers of Goods.

The question cåme on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Lane and Ford. Whole number of ballots cast 7, yeas 7, nays 0, and the appointments were confirmed.

APPROVAL OF BOND.

The constable's bond of George L. Gilbert was received, approved by the City Treasurer. Approved by the City Council.

MODIFYING OF PROHIBITION LAWS.

Coun. LANE offered the following:

Resolved, That it is the sense of the City Council of the City of Boston in meeting assembled, that the Congress of the United States ofAmerica, amend and modify existing probhibition laws under its jurisdiction and within its proper power which will permit the manufacture, sale and distribution of wholesome beers and light wines, and that all governmental revenue derived from such permission be set aside as a separate fund for the payment of bonuses to ex-service men; be it further resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to each of the following named officials by the City Clerk of the City of Boston: To the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States, and to each member of the House of Representatives from the State of Massachusetts.

The rule was suspended, on motion of Coun. LANE, and the question came on the adoption of the resolution.

Coun. LANE—Mr. President, I have introduced these resolutions because I believe that this country is not satisfied with the workings of the Volstead Act. Bootleggers all over the country are getting enormously wealthy, and the government is losing revenue every day. If the Volstead Act could be amended by Congress so that light wines and beers could be manufactured and sold, by placing say a tax of $1 on a gallon of light wine and perhaps 25 cents on a gallon of beer, sufficient money could be raised for the bonus for the veterans, and in ten years all the Liberty Bond obligation could be paid off. The city of Chicago through its aldermen recently voted 52 to 2 in favor of a resolution similar to this; St. Louis by a vote of 25 to 1. Baltimore and Cincinnati have voted unanimously in favor of a resolution similar to this, and Milwaukee also. I believe that the time has come when the city governments of this country by memoralizing Congress may be able to amend this awful Volstead Act. I trust that the resolutions will pass unanimously.

The resolutions were adopted, Coun. LANE asking for the yeas and nays, yeas 8, nays 0.

LEGISLATION FAVORING MRS. FLANAGAN.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston favors legislation for the payment to the widow of Lawrence Flanagan, late an employee of the Public Works Department of the City of Boston, of salary which he would have received for the year 1921 had he lived and served throughout that year.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

SUITABLE TRAFFIC SIGNS.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to further study the matter of erecting suitable traffic signs for the City of Boston.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, some six months or more ago I introduced an order in this Council asking the Board of Street Commissioners to erect some suitable sort of sign for the direction of traffic. It has come to my attention that the signs here in Boston were inconspicuously placed and at the same time really did not amount to anything in the matter of directing traffic. We have heard a great deal about the relief of congestion and of traffic conditions in our city, but the Board of Street Commissioners, to my mind, have not granted very much relief, particularly to the automobile traffic. I noticed while we were on this last trip of the Council that in the city of New York they have an arrow which points the direction in which traffic should go, and on that arrow it says, "Traffic this way." It seemed to me that that was rather a simple and at the same time effective sign to direct traffic. In our city we have little signs in some of our streets, "One way street. Don't enter," with such small lettering that no one can read them unless they are right on top of them, and the average person really does not know what they mean. I think if they instituted here some such system as the one in New York, which is a very simple one, an arrow pointing the direction in which traffic should go, it would very much simplify traffic conditions in the City of Boston. I hope the rule will be suspended and that the order will pass.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered an order—That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to study the matter of relieving traffic congestion by building semi-tunnels at the junction of intersecting streets where traffic at present is very congested.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I got the idea of this from Detroit, and I think it is a very good idea. Coun. Watson and myself made a trip while we were in Detroit and noticed at the intersecting corner of two of the busiest streets they had built a sort of semi-tunnel, so called, whereby the traffic coming one way could go underneath the street and the traffic going the other way had the freedom of the street. I felt that if at a location, for instance, like the corner of Boylston and Tremont streets, where traffic is congested practically during the entire day, some such system as this were brought into being it would relieve traffic conditions very much. I think those matters ought to be studied by the Board of Street Commissioners. That is the duty of the Board. They should pay more attention to the relief of traffic conditions that now confront the citizens of Boston, instead of paying as much attention as they do to the erection of gasolene tanks and garages through the residential sections of our city. I hope the order will pass and that the Council will receive some sort of report from the Board of Street Commissioners. I am getting sick and tired of introducing orders here requesting information from different boards appointed by his Honor the Mayor and not even receiving a reply. I think we should at least receive the courtesy of a reply to any order introduced here, particularly an order that stands for something. I hope the rule will be suspended and that the order will go upon its passage.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. DONOGHUE moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

NEXT MEETING.

It was voted, on motion of Coun. LANE, that when the Council adjourns it be to meet on Thursday, January 26, at two o'clock p. m.

Adjourned at 6.12 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. LANE.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

On January 31 to Joseph A. Kelley for removing manure from the stables and yards in the various divisions of the department. Bids opened January 26:

Joseph A. Kelley, $3.88 per horse per year; J. N. Smith & Co., $3.60 per horse per year.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

On February 1 to Henry J. Lyons Company for installing and completing plumbing system in the George Putnam District intermediate school. Bids opened January 20:

Henry J. Lyons Company, $11,932; E. C. Kelly, $13,278; William N. McKenna Company, $13,495; George P. Sennott, $14,534; Reardon Brothers Company, $14,950; P. J. Mooney, $16,193.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Concrete Mixer.

On January 26 to Hubbard-Floyd Company as per following communication:

BOSTON, January 17, 1922.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Under date of the 4th instant this office opened bids on one new concrete mixer for the Transit Department, a list of the bids being attached hereto. The bids were referred to the Transit Department, and were returned this morning with the recommendation that the lowest bid, that of the Fairbanks Company for a Raber & Lang mixer, price $1,625.40, delivery thirty days, discount 2 per cent for cash in ten days, be not accepted for the reason that the agent of this bidder reported that he was unable to show a mixer of the type offered in the bid in this part of the country. The Transit Department understands that the mixer is gasolene driven, but that the bidder was to ship it on to Boston and fit it up as a steam-driven mixer as required in our advertisement. The mixer is made in the West and the Transit Department is in doubt if spare parts could be easily obtained in Boston.

They recommend that the next lowest bid, that of the Hubbard-Floyd Company for a Knickerbocker mixer, price $2,199, less 2 per cent cash in ten days, be accepted, in which recommendation this office concurs. Machines of the type offered by the Hubbard-Floyd Company are in use in Boston, and the engineer of the Transit Department has had an examination made of one of them, and from his report it appears that the machine is entirely satisfactory. Spare parts are kept in stock in Boston by the local agents.

Authority is respectfully requested to place the award with the Hubbard-Floyd Company as outlined above.

Respectfully yours,
G. J. CRONIN,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Bids opened January 4, 1922:

Waldo Bros. & Bond Company, $2,498; Koehring Company, $2,740; Chas. J. McCarty & Co., $2,695; Dyar Supply Company, $2,440; The Fairbanks Company, $1,625.40; Ransome Concrete Machinery Company, $2,385; The Hubbard-Floyd Company, $2,199.

On January 26 to George McQuesten Company for hard pine lumber for the Transit Department. Bids opened January 20:

East Boston Yard, 50 M. Feet 8 by 10 by 4 Inch, Tongued and Grooved, 18-foot Lengths, Planed One Side.—Curtis & Pope Lumber Company, $54.50; P. S. Huckins Company, $46; Downes Lumber Company, $47; B. L. Tim Lumber Company, $47; George McQuesten Company, $44.50.*

Commonwealth Pier, 30 M. Feet 8 by 10 by 3 Inch, Tongued and Grooved, 18-foot Lengths, Planed One Side.—Curtis & Pope Lumber Company, $54.50; P. S. Huckins Company, $46; Downes Lumber Company, $47; B. L. Tim Lumber Company, $47; George McQuesten Company, $44.50.*

* Awarded contract.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

Printing Department.

Boston, January 24, 1922.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I respectfully request permission to be allowed to pay a bill to the Library Bureau for 253,200 special Fire Department cover-up cards, ruled, punched and printed—sets consist of 200 cards of each of the following assignments: 1,235 boxes assignment cards, 9 general alarm cards, 18 suburban calls, 4 instruction calls, total, 1,266, $3,620.76.

There will probably be an additional cost for substitutions and corrections made by the Fire Department during the process of work, which will amount to approximately three or four hundred dollars.

The Library Bureau in past years has always handled this particular job and they are the only ones to whom this work can be awarded with satisfaction. Nothing could be gained by advertising this job.

Respectfully yours,

Charles S. Lawler,
Superintendent.

Supply Department.

On January 30 to Lombard Granite Corporation as per following communication:

Boston, January 26, 1922.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Under date of July 12, 1920, your honor approved the award of a contract to the Lombard Granite Corporation, covering 30,000 lineal feet of granite edgestone for the Public Works Department, Paving Service, at $1.90 per lineal feet. This was the lowest bid received at that time.

The contractor commenced deliveries immediately upon receipt of an order from this department, dated July 14, 1920, and ceased delivery on September 3, 1920, in accordance with a request made by this office.

Up to the time of the request to cease deliveries, 14,000 lineal feet of edgestone had been delivered. The Lombard Granite Corporation made a claim against the city covering the 16,000 lineal feet undelivered under the contract, and the matter has been in conference since July 25, 1921, with the result that the Lombard Granite Corporation agrees to deliver 16,000 lineal feet of edgestone on the street for $1.50 per lineal foot as against the bid price of $1.90 per lineal foot delivered on the Public Works Department wharf. Joseph P. Lyons, Esq., Assistant Corporation Counsel, suggested to me that the matter could be best settled by terminating and cancelling all previous contracts and entering into a new contract with the Lombard Granite Corporation for 16,000 lineal feet of granite edgestone at a price of $1.50 per lineal foot delivered on the street, and I therefore request authority to enter into contract and purchase, without advertising, the edgestone mentioned above.

Respectfully yours,

G. J. Cronin,
Superintendent of Supplies.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved:

Fire Department.

Boston, January 25, 1922.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I request your Honor's approval of the following extra work in connection with the contract to install plumbing at the quarters of Engine Company 48, Hyde Park, contract dated September 19, 1921.

Amount of original contract, $1,675; extra No. 1, one metal covered door and frame, in place of wood as called for, $35.20; extra No. 2, cutting two doors through brick walls which were shown as wood stud partitions, $20; contract to date, $1,730.20.

Under extra No. 1 it was decided to install a metal covered door in the shower-bath room instead of a plain wooden door, and the work under extra No. 2 was necessary in order to complete the job.

Yours very truly,

Joseph P. Manning,
Acting Fire Commissioner.

Public Buildings Department.

An addition, amounting to $1,175, on contract with Joseph Rugo, dated July 20, 1921, Branch Library, West Roxbury, viz.: Grading.—Fill in cellar of present building and regrade the whole lot to conform to the grade around new building. This grading to be done according to specifications (page No. 25); $290. Carpenter Work.—Transfer bookcases in present building and set them up in the storeroom, next to toilet room. These to run around room and one section to be set up in lunch room. These to be properly fitted and given two coats of paint. Also run these bookcases entirely around work room and in office where directed. Do all fitting, etc., in the best manner. These cases to have two coats of paint and then grained to match the hard pine finish. The graining must be done by experienced workmen. Build a cabinet of North Carolina pine over sink in passageway between office and workroom and finish same as other work. Furnish and set over each of the six front window radiators an oak shelf made according to detail, and one in office and one in workroom. These to be finished to match adjoining finish. Add three shelves to bookcases in rear of lobby. These to match and be finished same as the other shelving in first floor. Carry canvas up to height of case. Price to be for the carpenter work, mentioned above, $885. Original contract, $53,718; total addition, $1,649; present contract, $55,367.

Schoolhouse Department.

An addition, amounting to $19, on contract with A. Piotti Company, dated April 21, 1921, Roger Wolcott District, viz.: Install complete with shut-off damper and chain pulls a 16-inch 16-ounce copper round ventilator of the "Simplex" type, or equal, in the hip skylight over the moving picture booth ante room, on the slope of the skylight towards the corridor. Original contract, $329,383; total additions, $8,582.60; total deductions, $4,228; present contract, $333,737.60.

An addition, amounting to $240 on contract with Lamont Brothers Company, dated January 5, 1922, Boston Trade School, viz.: Resurface entire concrete floor slab with cement grout, to make ready to receive waterproofing as specified, $180; remove all rubbish, silt and other foreign matter from the floors and walls of the duct under the concrete floor slab, $60. Original contract, $1,570; total addition, $240; present contract, $1,810.

PERMISSION TO DO WORK WITH DEPARTMENT FORCE.

The Mayor has granted to the Commissioner of Public Works authority to do the following work with the department force without advertising for competitive bids:

Rebuild middle span of the Boston approach of Dover Street Bridge, over Fort Point channel, which was damaged by fire on June 1, 1921, and to make such other repairs as may be necessary in connection with this reconstruction. The work to be done by the Transit Department force and Public Works Department force, the estimated cost for labor and material being $40,000.

CONTRACTS APPROVED.

The following contracts have been signed by the Mayor. Lists of bidders and amount of bids have appeared in a previous issue.

Estate of William K. Porter, Eugene F. Ladd, trustee, has agreed to accept the sum of $400 as full payment for all land taken from, all rights acquired in, and all damages occasioned to their estate on Stanhope street by the change of grade of said street, under the order of the Board of Street Commissioners of December 20, 1917.

January 26, 1922.

Ordered, That this Board deeming it necessary does hereby order that the sewerage works hereinafter described be constructed, and does hereby take for said city for its sewerage works, the lands, rights and easements hereinafter described. Said lands are shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Plan No. 428, Sewerage Works, Tina Avenue, Hyde Park, January 14, 1922, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," deposited in the office of the Public Works Department, Sewer Service, of said city, and said lands, rights and easements, and said works to be constructed are as follows:

The right and easement is taken to lay and maintain sewerage works in the following described lands, exclusive of any interest in trees, buildings or other structures standing thereon, reserving to the owners thereof the right to use the lands for any purpose except such as may injure or obstruct said works, and except for placing and maintaining any structure on said lands not authorized in writing by the Mayor of said city; trees, buildings or other structures standing upon or affixed to the land in which an easement is hereby taken are to be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said taking for the purpose of constructing said sewerage works. Said lands are in that part of Boston formerly Hyde Park and are bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Tina avenue, bounded:

West by Wood avenue, eight and 45/100 feet; northwest by another part of Tina avenue, two hundred and eighteen feet; northeast by the same, six feet; and southeast by the same, two hundred twenty-three and 95/100 feet: containing thirteen hundred and twenty-six square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows:

About 210 linear feet of 10-inch pipe sanitary sewer, in the above-described premises, being part of the private way known as Tina avenue, leading northeasterly from Wood avenue for a distance of about two hundred and twenty-one feet.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the improvement ordered herein.

This Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of said easement and construction of said sewerage works and awards no damages therefor.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of land abutting on the northwesterly side of Tina avenue within a distance of two hundred and thirty-eight feet northeasterly from Wood avenue, excluding the lot at the northeasterly corner of Wood avenue and Tina avenue, and the lots of land abutting on the southeasterly side of Tina avenue, within a distance of two hundred and forty-five feet northeasterly from Wood avenue, excluding the lot at the southeasterly corner of Wood avenue and Tina avenue, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement ordered herein, each of the particular lots to the amount respectively set against them herein; said lots and the supposed owners thereof being shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Plan No. 428, Sewerage Works, Tina Avenue, Hyde Park, January 14, 1922, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

APPROVAL OF BILL.

Boston, January 27, 1922.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I wish to advise you of the following facts:

Some time ago, under the direction of the Superintendent of Markets, Herbert S. Potter did some electrical work in accordance with recommendations of the Wire Department of the City of Boston at the Quincy Market, and under instructions from you I paid said bill in the sum of $780.29.

Mr. McGourthy has now presented me with another bill from Herbert S. Potter in the sum of $713.06, claiming that the first bill was merely for temporary construction and the second was for making same of a permanent nature.

The payment of this bill of $713.06 will of course bring the sum total considerably over $1,000, which is allowed by law, and in order to pay this second bill I hereby request permission to do so without the usual form of advertising.

Respectfully yours,
Fred J. Kneeland,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

APPROVAL OF BILL.

Boston, January 24, 1922.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Your Honor's approval is respectfully requested to pay a bill to George Coleman & Co. for binding 3,900 copies of "A Book for Little Immigrants" at 26 cents per copy; total, $1,014.

This work was done by the Coleman Company as they were the lowest bidders on this job and nothing could be gained advertising further on this matter.

Respectfully yours,
Charles S. Lawler,
Superintendent.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Boston, January 25, 1922.

To the Mayor of Boston:

On August 15, 1921, your authority was requested to arrange with the Boston Elevated Railway Company to relay the paving in the track area and dummy on Washington street, West Roxbury, from south of Corinth street to Denton terrace, that being the limits of a contract which this department had made for repaving Washington street, and your approval was granted. The railway company continued on this work from Denton terrace to Cornell street. This work is now completed, and I respectfully request your approval of the additional cost of this extension, at the same prices made in the original authorization, amounting to $4,359.84.

Under the provisions of section 20 of chapter 188 of the Special Acts of 1918, the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company is relieved of any expense of this work, and it is to the advantage of the city to have the work done by the Boston Elevated Railway Company in connection with the relaying of its tracks.

Yours respectfully,

T. F. Sullivan,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Approved January 25, 1922.
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

Boston, January 25, 1922.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

On June 3, 1921, you authorized an expenditure of $12,000 to be paid to the Boston Elevated Railway Company, this being the estimated cost of preparing the leased space for installation of pumping equipment at Lincoln Power Station.

At that time their engineers had no true knowledge of the underground conditions at this location, but when the excavation was made it was necessary to remove and reconstruct a drainage system and also take care of serious leakage which could not have been anticipated.

This work has been completed in a thoroughly satisfactory manner, and therefore request your approval of the bill amounting to $18,998.69.

Yours respectfully,

T. F. Sullivan,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Approved January 26, 1922.
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

RE. S. S. "LEVIATHAN."

Boston, January 31, 1922.

Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge,
U. S. Senator, Washington, D. C.:

My dear Senator Lodge,—I write in the hope that you will find it feasible and proper to use your influence in behalf of carrying to final complete success the efforts to obtain for the Boston Navy Yard the right to submit an estimate upon the work of reconditioning the S. S. "Leviathan."

Adoption of the Dallinger amendment in Congress last week is so positive a stage in the direction of success that I believe we can now count upon obtaining what we have so long worked for.

As you know, I have spent much time upon the effort to obtain for the Boston Navy Yard an opportunity to offer an estimates on this work. I have become convinced upon my investigation of the matter that a navy yard estimate will show a very substantial saving to the government while, at the same time, it will guarantee employment for a considerable number of high grade American citizen workmen at Charlestown.

I feel sure that I can count upon your assistance and I am confident that with it we shall have success.

Very truly yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

Hon. Frederick W. Dallinger,
Member of Congress, Washington, D. C.:

My dear Mr. Congressman,—I wish to express to you my hearty appreciation of your success in obtaining adoption in the House of your amendment which prohibits the Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation from expending any part of their appropriations of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, for repair work, until it is first ascertained whether such work could be done at less cost in navy yards or arsenals.

As you know, I have devoted much time and thought to securing an opportunity for the Boston Navy Yard to make an estimate on the work of reconditioning the S. S. "Leviathan." My study of this matter convinced me that the Boston Navy Yard had an unassailable right to make such an estimate. I became convinced from the facts which I obtained that the Boston Navy Yard could save the country more than a million dollars if allowed an opportunity to estimate on this "Leviathan" work.

As you know, I have called upon officials in the Navy Department, the Shipping Board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation, also upon Gen. Dawes and likewise upon President Having to urge this matter.

It, therefore, is a cause of much satisfaction to have evidence that the fine co-operation by yourself and other members of the Massachusetts delegation in Congress has produced definite results. The matter had progressed to such a stage that action in Congress was necessary for success. This action you have taken with the support of your colleagues. In behalf of the peaple of Boston I wish to express my thanks for your timely support of my efforts which now I believe are about to be completely successful.

Very truly yours,
Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

RE S. S. "LEVIATHAN"

At a meeting held at Young's Hotel January 30 for the further purpose of having the "Leviathan" reconditioned at the Boston Navy Yard, Mayor Peters was asked to send the following telegram to Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge,
Washington, D. C.

Delegation representing Government of all cities and towns within twenty miles of Boston would attend meeting of all New England senators and representatives provided you as the leader from New England arrange said meeting. The purpose of this meeting is to have the "Leviathan" reconditioned and refitted at Boston Navy Yard.

Andrew J. Peters,

Those in attendance at the meeting were: Mayor-Elect James M. Curley, Mayor Edward Quinn of Cambridge, Mayor John M. Webster of Somerville, Mayor Lawrence F. Quigley of Chelsea, Acting Mayor Harvey C. Voorhees of Medford, Mayor John V. Kimball of Malden and Mayor Thomas A. Noone of Revere.

Mayor Peters received February 1 the following telegram from Senator Henry Cabot Lodge in reply to the Mayor's telegram of Monday:

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
City Hall, Boston, Mass.

Have received your telegram. Amendment authorizing reconditioning of "Leviathan" at Navy Yard has passed the House as you know. Of course I shall do everything in my power to secure its passage when the bill comes to the Senate. To secure this "Leviathan" for Boston it will be necessary to have this legislation. I will do anything I can to help and if committee desires to come on here and be heard or to meet the New England delegation let me know when to expect them and I will arrange it. Think it well that you should communicate with senators from other New England states.

H. C. Lodge.

The Mayor has sent to each New England senator a telegram as follows:

"Amendment authorizing reconditioning of the "Leviathan" at Navy Yard has passed the House. I hope you will be able and inclined to support this cause when the bill comes to the Senate. Keep American workers employed. Insure all American work on all American vessels."

Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

Hon. H. C. Lodge, United States Senate,
Washington, D. C.:

At meeting, my office, February 2, Mayors of Cambridge, Somerville, Chelsea, Malden, Revere and Boston voted to send delegation to Washington in re "Leviathan." If convenient delegation would meet New England senators, Tuesday, February 7, at ten o'clock in the morning, at your office.

Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

Hon. William A. McDonald, care of A. J. Borres, A. F. of L. Building, Washington, D. C.:

Delegation Greater Boston mayors will meet New England senators Tuesday, February 7, ten o'clock morning. Hope you will be present. Meeting arranged with Senator Lodge at his office.

Andrew J. Peters.

Present at meeting: Mayor Peters, Mr. Riley and Mr. Chapman, representing Mayor-elect Curley; Mayor Quinn, Cambridge; Mayor Webster, Somerville; Mayor Kimball, Malden; Mayor Noonan, Revere; Frank D. Crowley, Secretary to Mayor Quigley of Chelsea, and Richard Teeling.

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS OF MAYOR PETERS.

DELIVERED TO THE CITY COUNCIL, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1922.

Gentlemen of the Council:

This is the last official communication I, as Mayor, shall have with you as members of the Council of the City of Boston. In presenting this communication I, as Mayor, am meeting with you as members of the Council for the last time. I have sought in this résumé of the past four years to indicate something of the sense of responsibility which must come to every one sharing in the administration of city affairs. These years have been important years for the country and for our city. They have been most agreeable years for me as Mayor, and in saying good-bye to you I wish to express my appreciation of the opportunities which have come to us to improve this city and to further the purposes of municipal government.

We close the city's financial year with a surplus of $2,046,809.42. Four years ago I commenced my administration with an assumed deficit from the previous administration of $804,879.38.

The total net debt on January 31, 1918, was $84,570,177.04. The total net debt on January 31, 1922, was $79,913,010.56. This shows a reduction of $4,657,166.48.

In addition to paying the bills for the last four years we have paid to the Boston Elevated Railway Company out of revenue, as a special assessment, the sum of $2,905,930.87, which will later be repaid to the city as revenue.

A further burden was added to our financial position by the loss of the yearly revenue from liquor licenses, which amounted in 1917 to $1,047,803.91.

The accounting system of the city is based on cash receipts and payments. Under this system we have taken care of twelve months' payments each year, but this period does not coincide with the twelve months of the fiscal year. To conform with the provisions of the charter and to strengthen the keeping within budget appropriations, it has been determined to change the accounting system to an income and expenditure basis.

In order to change to an income and expenditure basis it will be necessary to provide for certain pay rolls during the month of January and for a large number of invoices incurred during December and January.

The plan proposed is to finish this year as has been our custom, and to provide a special account for all unpaid current expenditures, including those of the School Department, incurred to January 31, 1922, inclusive. The fund available for the payment of these expenditures will be made up of balances of appropriations, excess revenue, and taxes for 1921, as received.

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

The government of a city is exactly what the people make it. They will have precisely as good government, or as bad government, as they deserve. All that city charters can do, all that any form of law and legislation can do, is to make simpler and surer the means of direct expression of public will in city affairs, and place obstructions in the way of those who would seek self-exploitation and self-aggrandizement from muncipal office.

There is no magic formula by which a city can be well governed. There is no short cut to municipal virtue. There is no political talisman by which the people of a city can be protected against preying politics.

As long as greed exists in the world the greedy will seek ways to gratify their hunger. As long as dishonesty exists in the world the crooked and the callous will seek to divert to their own material advantage those assets which by every moral right belong to the public.

Boston is not different from the average American city. The essential problems in any American city are the same. Reduced to their simplest terms, they are problems of honesty and ability. Honest men in office, able men in office — these are the means by which the people of any city can have their right to good government assured, guaranteed and maintained. There is no other way.

The mass of people in any city are honest. Dishonesty is the exception, not the rule. If this were not so, all civilization would long ago have collapsed and we should be groping amid the wreckage of a bankrupt and ruined world. The forces of evil are always in the minority; but they sometimes profit by the craft which is theirs and by the ingenuity of organization. They profit also, and this is a vital point to be kept in mind in seeking to solve problems of municipal government, by the indifference of the people as a whole.

There exists another common human quality which often has operated against good government in our cities. It is the feeling that the city government is some sort of curiously secret institution, an organization apart from the people, and an unapproachable or impenetrable domain wherein the common man has no personal business.

We believe that the primary essential for good government is to awaken in the minds of the public recognition of what is truly the great truth in city government. It is this: The government of an American city is the people of that city. The democratic form of government may not be perfect, but it is the best that any-one has yet devised.

Those who for varying periods occupy public office do so as the agents of the people, and for no other purpose, by no other right. There is no patent of nobility surrounding any municipal office. Every office in a city government rests on the single foundation of the public interest. Every city office is a position in which the business of the people shall be conducted for the public advantage and for no other purpose. Every citizen of a city must have access to any part of his government, and must carry with him the conviction that he is, by virtue of his citizenship, himself a part of the government of his city.

Until the majority of the citizens do this we shall always have difficulty in maintaining good government. "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." It is no less the price of good municipal government. The public pocket is deep. The arm of the greedy is long. The temptation to exploit the public constantly appeals and must constantly be thwarted.

Possessing natural advantage of location which should be of great material worth to the city, Boston can only obtain and hold her rightful eminence as a metropolis by establishing and maintaining an honest and efficient government continuously. No asset of a city can exceed the reputation for honest and efficient municipal government. Once let it be nationally known that the public affairs of Boston are conducted with the maximum ability, and with scrupulous fidelity to the public interest; once let it be nationally known that such a state of affairs is customary and constant in this city, and we shall have here a growth of material prosperity unsurpassed by that of any American city.

This is the concern of every person who lives and does business in this city. There is no item in our municipal government too large, none too small, to enlist the interest of every citizen. All prosper by the welfare of each. Bad government takes toll from every inhabitant of the city. Minor deficiencies of administration come to the individual's attention. Inefficient collection of ashes and refuse, bad street conditions, inadequate fire protection — such matters would immediately and always engage the attention of the citizens. But bad financing, wasteful expenditures and the countless details of administration no less truly involve, every day, the interests of the people.

The relations between a municipal government and the public are not dissimilar to those that exist between any big business and the public. A great retail store, or a great manufacturing concern, depends ultimately upon the public will for continuance and prosperity.

The head of a retail store holds his position subject to the approval of the people who constitute the store's patronage. He is in some sense elected by the people. He surrounds himself with business assistants who are in a sense comparable to the heads of a city government's various departments. If the store head fails so to conduct his business as to please the public, or if he uses poor judgment in selecting his assistants, trade will not support him and he will fail.

The final word in any human undertaking is always said by the public at large.

When any man in public office forgets that he is there as the spokesman and agent of the public and for no other reason, he is instituting a process of disintegration for the government of which he is a part and for the injury of the public whose representative he is. We cannot eliminate personality, we cannot subordinate personal character, in the conduct of business or the conduct of government. Human nature is the controlling factor in the affairs of humanity. The foundation virtues of honesty and sincerity are the basis for successful business and for efficient government, always.

The public determines which business undertakings shall prosper. The public determines what shall be the form and what shall be the personal leadership and direction of governments. Our American business structure and our American political system are anchored to this fact. All our legislation, despite occasional departures, takes this fact into account, and year by year we build up laws and regulations, in nation, state and city, which have for the ultimate purpose the single object of the public good and the public satisfaction. It is by the direct and continuous appeal to the public favor that business can be maintained at a profit. It is by the sincere and unremitting service to the public that government maintains itself on a plane of honor and progresses towards true democracy and American effective self-government.

The Financial Problem.

When I took office on February 4, 1918, the supreme thought in every mind was for the nation's safety. We were all in the midst of our war activity. Every other consideration was secondary. It was apparent, as I said in my inaugural address at Faneuil Hall, that municipal improvements which were not strictly necessary must be postponed; yet municipal service must be maintained as a contribution to an efficiency essential to winning the war. Thus we started the administration with the double task of devoting our resources and energy to winning the war and keeping municipal service adequate.

To keep municipal administration effective in the public interest it was obvious that the affairs of City Hall should be run on the single basis of public service. It was obvious that the conditions called more than ever before for the most rigid adherence to sane and sober principles of business, and that if the city was to do its full duty in the war, and at the same time to maintain adequate public service, all superfluous consideration of personal or party politics must be eliminated. To such a purpose I pledged myself in my inaugural address. To such a course I have sought to adhere. The endeavor has been to conduct an administration without partisanship. To facilitate this, and to diminish the number of obstacles, I pledged myself not to be a candidate to succeed myself and I secured an amendment to the Boston City Charter making the Mayor of Boston ineligible for a second term immediately after the expiration of the four-year term for which he is elected.

The city's financial problem at the beginning of my administration was considerable. The prospect for city borrowing, within the debt limit, was $1,230,373 lower than for the preceding year. Also instead of having $1,182,721 of unappropriated cash in the treasury, as it had on January 31, 1917, when I entered office the city had not a single dollar of unappropriated cash in the treasury. The total amount available for general municipal purposes from taxes and revenue showed for the current year a reduction of $1,876,758, more than 11 per cent, or from $16,679,974 to $14,803,216. Thus, with a reduction of $1,876,758 in the amount available from taxes and revenue, and a reduction of $1,230,373 in the borrowing capacity within the debt limit, the city government, in February, 1918, had $3,107,131 less funds available than in the preceding year, a reduction of more than 15 per cent.

With this inadequate financial equipment we faced the necessity of maintaining satisfactory city government in war time, and with many special problems directly ahead of us, such as the need to provide $100,000 more to meet the increase in the pay of day laborers, which had been advanced to $3 a day on June 1, 1917; to provide $172,000 more for extra firemen, due to granting one day off in three; and to provide means to meet many of the exigencies of war.

The first year of my administration was the last year of the World War. The termination of the war did not, however, end the difficulties of the city. The problems of readjustment after the war have been serious. The war increased prices of materials necessary for city use, increased the burden of relief departments, discommoded city financing, halted public construction work, and in many ways made the city's course difficult. How heavy was the burden may be seen from the fact that the actual expenditures exceeded a round total of $50,000,000, including county and metropolitan expenditures and our share of the state tax. Many causes contributed to this high cost, such as large expenditures, more than $1,500,000 for street repairs, reduction of working hours in the Police and Fire Departments, increase in the payment of pensions, and for the retirement of serial bonds. These were local causes, which combined with general conditions to increase the cost of conducting the management of Boston's public affairs.

These difficulties were overcome. At the end of three years of my administration the deficit mentioned above had been absorbed, and that year was closed with unappropriated cash in the treasury of the City of Boston amounting to $3,817,250.61, the largest in the history of the city.

Assessing.

This has been brought about by systematic management of the city's affairs and by adequately assessing the properties of the larger corporations of the city. Today the six largest corporations in the city pay a tax on a valuation $25,615,400 greater than that before the present administration took office.

The system of the Assessing Department has been both simplified and developed to a degree of much higher efficiency than it previously had. The real estate record sheets, which were used on the street, have been perfected so that they contain in detail a description of each parcel of property, showing the character of the building, number of stores, and giving a complete description of the estate, including the character of the land, etc.

As a result of existing surveys the maps for use in the department have been developed for the benefit of the city. The Assessing Department now has on hand maps covering about two hundred twenty-five surveyed blocks of the city. In addition to these gains in efficiency, a considerable number of blueprints have been made of the atlases, upon which is shown the price per foot, for the use of the local assessors in making their assessments.

The state income tax law in 1917 reduced the valuation of the city by about $167,000,000, as it took from the total valuation of the city the valuation of the intangible property; and in 1920 there was a further reduction of about $40,000,000, due to a change in the law regarding taxation of foreign corporations. The full effect of the earlier reduction was felt for the first time in 1920. The full effect of the second will probably be felt next year. The effect of the first reduction was to reduce the borrowing capacity of the city by 2½ per cent on $167,000,000. It is for such a reason that we had to go outside of the debt limit in 1920 to get legislative authority to borrow $2,500,000 for Stuart street; $1,000,000 for new ferry-boats, and $100,000 for Old Harbor improvements. Thus the appropriating and borrowing powers of the city have been seriously interfered with by charges effected in state legislation.

The City Treasury.

In the Treasury Department the system of payment by checks has been established thus placing the operations of this office on a modern business basis, with the result that there is a much greater exactness and precision in all of its functions. This system obviously imposes a check against errors, and is a strong safeguard to the city. It has met with general commendation and may be taken as a permanent improvement in this department.

The facilities of the treasurer's office have been materially increased by the addition of the most modern, practical office equipment. The work of addressing and mailing has been appreciably speeded up by this improvement.

Two particular demonstrations of the efficiency of the city treasury office may properly be emphasized, both of them representing a distinct gain in security of the public funds. A better interest rate, amounting to 3¼ per cent on certain accounts, has been obtained for the public funds. This is a better rate than the city has received on such accounts in recent years.

The last year has seen much disturbance in certain banking circles in and about Boston. This disruption of public confidence was a serious menace from which the state suffered heavily as a depositor, along with many private individuals. It is a source of great satisfaction to the City of Boston that through the wise foresight and correct action of the City Treasurer, not one dollar of the City of Boston funds was tied up in any of the banks closed by state authority. The position of the Treasury Department of the city was that its first duty was to safeguard every dollar of the public money. No other consideration could take precedence over this. The City Treasurer conceived it to be his imperative duty to protect this money, acting as trustee for all of the people of Boston. He proceeded from this conviction with entire success and with great benefit to the city. It is not a part of city government to undertake to uphold weak or questionable banking institutions. The city uses these institutions in its financial operations precisely as any business house should do. Therefore when it became clear to the City Treasurer that certain banks were less strong than any institution should be to warrant doing business with the city, he acted with promptness and applied his correct principle with the result which is recorded, that is, the unimperiled security of the public funds of the City of Boston.

Further advantage and profit for the city have been obtained by undertaking in the Auditing Department during the past year the payment of bills daily, in order to take advantage of discounts. This suggestion was made to the City Auditor by me last spring and was put into operation on March 1, 1921. The plan has worked admirably. Up to December 1, 1921, the saving effected has been $9,542.96. This plan continued in operation should be of large public advantage. It is the business-like way and is directly in line with the modern methods of conducting public business on the same lines of economical management as have been found necessary in private business.

Methods of economy carried forward without sacrifice of service have operated for the public's advantage in many departments of city affairs. It is an achievement worth emphasis that during my administration the city debt has been notably reduced. The decrease from January 31, 1918, to December 31, 1921, was $4,439,660.26. The complete figures for the debt of the City of Boston and county of Suffolk as compared for these two dates are as follows:

DEBT OF THE CITY OF BOSTON AND COUNTY OF SUFFOLK

Net Funded Debt December 31, 1921, Compared with January 31, 1918.

* Increase.

Tax Rate.

The history of Boston's tax rate for the past four years is satisfactory. In 1917 the Boston tax rate was $17.70, then the lowest but one in the state — Peabody, $15.

Boston's 1921 tax rate is $24.70. There are only four Massachusetts cities with lower rates this year. Those four cities are Beverly, $22.80; Holyoke, $24; Newton, $24; Fall River, $24.20. In other Massachusetts cities the tax rate runs much higher, reaching the peak in Revere, which has a 1921 rate of $37.20.

In 1917 there were a number of cities grouped near Boston in the size of their tax rate. For example, in 1917 these tax rates were close to Boston's: Springfield, $17.80; Chicopee, $18.70; Lawrence, $18.80; Holyoke, $18.80; Attleboro, $19. It is interesting to note now that the rates in all of this group, which four years ago were close to Boston, have increased far more than has the rate in this city.

The increase in Boston's tax rate in the past four years has in fact been absolutely normal. The increase has been exactly $7. This is precisely the increase in the average tax rate for thirty-eight Massachusetts cities. The average rate for these cities in 1917 was $21.56. The average rate for the same cities in 1921 is $28.56. Thus, Boston's rate has remained exactly $3.86 lower than the average Massachusetts city tax rate.

It will be borne in mind also that during this period the tax for city departments, despite the unusual costs, and extra expenditures for streets, outside the schools, has shown a decrease. The tax figures applying to such city departments are: 1918, $12.37; 1919, $12.13; 1920, $11.90; 1921, $11.53. It will be observed that since 1918 there has been an actual annual reduction. From 1918 to 1921 this reduction was 84 cents. In the same period the expenditures for schools have increased greatly. Over this the Mayor has no control. The portion of the tax which was applied to schools was: 1917, $4.33; 1918, $4.48; 1919, $5.02; 1920, $7.14; 1921, $8.03. It will be seen that the school tax has nearly doubled in this period. This made the increased tax rate inevitable, despite economies in any other municipal department. It is gratifying to Boston that during a period of rapidly rising costs of material and labor through the stress of difficult war conditions and almost equally difficult conditions accompanying reconstruction, we have been able to meet all the demands resulting from the war, and at the same time to increase the efficiency of public service and at the same time to prevent Boston's tax rate from rising beyond reason. To have kept the city's tax rate in the same relation to the average city rate for the state during these four years, to keep that rate still $3.86 below the average rate, is, I think, a matter for congratulation to every taxpayer. The problems of a large city such as Boston are more complicated than those of a smaller community. The war's demands were particularly heavy upon us as the capitol city of this state. The pressure of acute unemployment conditions further bore upon this city with greater force than on most other cities. Thus it would have been reasonable to expect a much greater increase in Boston's tax rate than actually occurred. I think the citizens of Boston should appreciate the fact that an unreasonable tax rate increase has been prevented simply by the co-operation of all city departments in seeking to give the maximum of service at the minimum of expense.

Under the statutes the city tax limit is $6.52. It became necessary, during my administration, to increase this tax limit. A special act was secured from the Legislature permitting such increase. During last year the tax limit was fixed at $11. The difference between $6.52 and $11 means an increase in the amount available for the city, amounting approximately to $6,750,000.

It undoubtedly will be necessary for the incoming Mayor to seek similar assistance through legislative act. Due to the termination of the special act increasing the tax limit, that limit now automatically returns to $6.52. The Legislature at its last session was disinclined to increase the tax limit for Boston so far in advance, and it therefore will become necessary for the incoming Mayor to take this matter up on Beacon Hill. I have left available facts and figures pertaining to this situation, which I hope will be useful to the new administration.

Politics and Administration.

The problem which the executive of a city must keep foremost in mind at all times and under all conditions can be stated in simple terms, though its translation into action and results is not simple. In brief, it is to save the public money, and, at the same time, to secure for the public a maximum of service. One of the commonest obstacles to the solution of this problem in municipal government is the presence of what may be called political considerations. This is the obstacle commonly met in all departments of democratic government, whether municipal, county, state or federal. It is this consideration of political exigencies and necessities which so often leads commentators on our public affairs to comment unfavorably upon the differences between the conduct of public business and private business. The temptation or the pressure which interferes with the business-like management of public affairs at all times makes difficult such management in the public interest. I have endeavored to provide in the conduct of the affairs of the City of Boston a nonpolitical administration. Considerations of political strategy and the claims of political prejudices have been eliminated. I have sought to direct city affairs, so far as they came within my control, upon a basis of the fundamental requirement which I have already emphasized, that is, to secure the maximum of public service at the minimum of public cost.

It is not possible to make a precise comparison between the government of a city and a private business. It is possible, however, and it is necessary if the best results are to be obtained, for those directing a city government to keep ever in mind the essential principles which promise the best results in any business undertaking. If a private business should be conducted with a constant yielding to the importunities of personal advantage, or if it allows itself to be influenced by demands of favoritism it must encounter difficulties and invite failure. So we find in direction of public affairs that the pressure of political favoritism operates as a brake against municipal progress.

Recognizing these facts, and recognizing the difficulties of my office in this regard, I have tried always to keep the public interest uppermost and to eradicate pernicious politics from the city administrative affairs.

This policy has been to a marked degree successful. I believe that during my administration city employees in all departments and of all grades have felt that their work was judged on the simple basis of faithfulness and efficiency, and without undue consideration to their political affiliations.

Streets.

It is an ancient truth recognized by the earliest builders of cities that convenient means for travel from place to place are necessary for progress and prosperity. The basis of such provision is good roads or streets. From the earliest times the importance of highways has received recognition. The safety of the nation has always depended upon the facilities for travel from place to place. The prosperous development of a city no less depends upon an equipment of streets adequate in number and suitably maintained. In laying out a new city under modern conditions this problem of street provision is the one which receives first attention. Under such conditions as apply to a made-to-order city the problem of street arrangement and construction is not particularly difficult. Under such conditions as prevail in a city of Boston's age and physical characteristics the problem is, on the contrary, supremely difficult. We have here an old city, including in its business section and in part of its residential sections, a network of old, crooked and narrow streets, which, however picturesque they may be, and however well they may have served the early colonists, present a considerable problem to modern city government.

Through years of inefficient service, inadequate appropriations and badly advised expenditures, Boston's streets fell into a disgraceful condition. Old streets had been allowed to fall into decay and no longer served even within their restricted range of possibilities the normal demands placed upon them. New streets had been planned and constructed often in a haphazard manner, and frequently for the purpose of meeting the importunities of some politician or political influence. When I assumed office I was impressed by this existing and menacing situation. It was obvious that it would not be sufficient simply to doctor this condition by any haphazard or casual methods. I therefore dealt with this situation by appointing a committee, on which the engineering firm of Stone & Webster accepted membership. Under this committee a searching investigation was made by engineers, with the purpose of establishing a policy for essential street improvements.

As a result of the study by this committee a comprehensive plan was made. This plan called for general street improvement in the down-town section, and then for the construction of thirteen radial highways. This plan has been followed towards completion. It has to a very large extent obtained satisfactory results. What is perhaps even more important, in its promise for the future, is that it has removed street construction problems from the confusion and contamination of local politics. It is hardly necessary to emphasize the fact that this plan and its operation have met vigorous antagonism from a few local interests. Nevertheless, the wisdom of the plan has received general recognition, and the opposition will disappear. It is important and gratifying to record the concrete achievement of this committee in undertaking a solution of the street problem of this city. Yet the most important feature of what has been done is not this concrete achievement, but is rather the line of procedure indicated by its undertaking. I most earnestly hope that the city will continue to approach its street problem in the same spirit and with as gratifying results.

Stuart Street.

The most important single undertaking in street laying-out or construction was the Stuart street widening and extension. This was authorized by me as Mayor on September 8, 1921, when I approved the order for the laying out, extension, widening, relocation and construction of Stuart street as a highway, between Huntington avenue and Washington street, over and including parts of Grenville place, Tennyson and Eliot streets, and the widening and construction of Eliot street, as a highway, between Warrenton street and Broadway. This project is a direct contribution toward the solution of the large traffic problem of the city. It is impossible to forecast the extent to which this will increase the general business prosperity of the city as a whole. It will, however, add what the city has long needed, a broad and well-planned general highway cutting through the city, or in the midst of a busy business section, and certain to become one of the most valuable and important portions of the whole city.

This improvement, one of the largest of its kind in the city's history, will be carried to completion without excessive initial cost, and with the absolute assurance of largely increased public revenues through the rapid development of real estate values and the erection of important buildings. Awards for land to be taken and for buildings to be cut off or removed, make a total of $2,391,068.25. The total estimated cost of construction is $350,000. This makes the total estimated cost of this improvement, $2,741,068.25. Property in the territory through which this highway is to extend should benefit to the amount, according to estimates, of $2,369,936.95. If these estimates are maintained, the net cost to the city of the Stuart street improvement and extension will be but $371,131. This sum is hardly more than the annual tax revenue at 2½ per cent from three large buildings which are already planned for construction abutting this highway. That the completion of the street will largely increase the taxable property of the city is obvious. It is hardly less clear that it will immediately contribute to public prosperity through a new stimulation of business. The streets, in their arrangement and their maintenance, constitute an essential part of the equipment by which the city does business and prospers. With inadequate streets or with streets poorly maintained, it is not possible for any city to increase its business or even to maintain an established activity. Boston has for many years suffered from the fact that it was attempting to do the business of a modern city in times of great speed and energy with a street equipment designed for other times and for less strenuous needs. The problem of readjusting street conditions in this city to meet the pressure of modern business and to allow for what should be our normal development of prosperity, is not a simple one. I believe that the extension and improvement of Stuart street is the most direct, and will be the most effective attack on this problem which the city has made in recent years. Its initial cost to the city is low. The possibilities of its profit to the city are incalculably large.

Cleveland Circle.

Another improvement of much importance and of particular satisfaction from the fact that it completes a scheme which was planned more than thirty years ago, is the development of Cleveland circle, at the head of Beacon street, near the Reservoir in the Aberdeen section of Brighton. Previous efforts to carry this work through have been retarded by a number of reasons, among which was the fear that a number of fine trees and a fountain would have to be destroyed. At my suggestion this matter was taken up again, and after a careful study of the problem by the engineers of the Park Department and the Public Works Department, a plan was worked out which saved all but two of the trees, those saved being the best ones. It was planned that additional trees should be planted in the circle this spring.

In connection with this development, and as a part of it, Chestnut Hill avenue, between the Brookline line and Commonwealth avenue, has been widened; here again a number of trees which it was feared would have to be destroyed have been saved by the skillful planning of the engineers. On the park bordering Chestnut Hill avenue a wall has been built which, I am informed by the landscape architects, is one of the most attractive of its kind to be found anywhere.

I am speaking at some length of the Cleveland circle improvement because it is an example of development which not only is of artistic value, but also contributes specifically to the increased safety of the public. The widening of Chestnut Hill avenue has removed a dangerous spot where automobile collisions were of rather frequent occurrence. The avenue was formerly 60 feet wide with a double line of car tracks laid on one side of the roadway. It is now 80 feet wide. This is a heavy traffic point. This traffic formerly used but one side of the roadway and it was forced to meet on the wrong side of the road traffic which was passing through from Beacon street westerly. Under the new plan the tracks are in the center of the avenue, leaving plenty of room for traffic. This should materially reduce the number of accidents at this point.

Thus we have perfected what is probably the most attractive approach to the City of Boston over the highways. Most of the overland tourists to and from New York and the West follow this route.

Other Street Development.

A larger amount of street construction has been undertaken and completed during my administration than in any preceding similar period. This was in response to an obvious need. The business prosperity of any city requires the best possible construction of its highways and an adequate maintenance of them. The present administration has sought to keep this fact constantly in mind, and to expend the city' money with a constructtive economy in the field of highway development. There have been constructed or improved 313 miles of streets and 75 miles of artificial stone pavement during the past four years. This is the largest amount of such construction in any similar period in the city's history.

A number of other important highway developments have been put through during the past four years. The Stuart street extension and the development of Cleveland circle and Chestnut Hill avenue, above referred to, are of particular importance, but they do not stand alone as marking the progress made by the city toward a satisfactory equipment of highways.

For many years the improvement of Centre street, West Roxbury, from South street to Spring street, has been sought. This work has now been done. Its completion gives to the important and growing district of West Roxbury a particularly fine radial highway which insures far better transportation than in the past for the people of this part of the city. It is to be expected that this improved highway will to a considerable extent develop along business lines.

Complementing the Centre street improvement are the extension of Belgrade avenue and the widening of Beech street. This improvement was dictated by the desirability of fully completing the surface car transportation plans which the widening of Centre street promotes. The Centre street widening alone could not guarantee such surface car transportation improvement as was desired, but the work on Belgrade avenue and Beech street carried the plan forward and eliminates bad curves and a roundabout route for the cars. Thus these two important highway improvements should operate to develop rapidly a home area adjacent to this better served territory.

Chelsea street, Charlestown, has been widened. This improvement is made necessary by the demands of teaming and street car transportation. To and from the docks along the Mystic river is a large amount of teaming, most of which is by way of Chelsea street, this being the only approach to the docks without a difficult grade. Before the widening of this street such teaming was hampered by much traffic congestion and many vexatious delays. These obstructions to business traffic on Chelsea street are now almost eliminated.

Hyde Park had received a notable street improvement in the widening of Hyde Park avenue, which has been completed after much difficulty with the street railway situation. The Hyde Park section should profit materially through this street improvement, both in better transportation facilities for business and in a stimulated real estate development.

The widening of North Beacon street, Brighton, between Market street and the Charles river, is the fulfillment of a plan partially carried out a few years ago when this street was widened between Union square and Market street.

In South Boston, D street, Claflin street and Fargo street have been ordered constructed. These improvements will mean much to a large territory close to the waterfront in a part of the city which offers possibilities of large and profitable development for factories and storage warehouses.

One of the most important street improvements of recent years is the widening of Charles street in the city proper. This improvement was made in the interest of traffic and particularly to serve the transportation of merchandise to and from the freight terminals. The need of some relief in this congested section of business travel has been recognized for many years, and in recent years there has been much insistence upon making improvements there. The increase of motor vehicle traffic, with its consequent increased congestion, created a situation which has now been happily relieved. This Charles street widening is the first step in a scheme for better means of motor transportation around Beacon Hill and away from the retail shopping district.

Additional improvement in street conditions in the vicinity of Park square is obtained by the extension of Clarendon street, between Columbus avenue and Stuart street. Clarendon street is now a completed thoroughfare from Tremont street to Beacon street. Before this work was undertaken there was a break in the street, between Columbus avenue and Stanhope street, the two sections being divided by an open railroad cut. This led to confusion and, of course, it also halted property development in that section. In order to carry this improvement through it was necessary to build a bridge over the railroad to join together the two parts of the street. The success of this improvement is already manifest in a steadily increasing traffic by this route. It provides convenient approach to the Back Bay railroad stations. It is to be expected that the completion of this street will encourage valuable real estate development in that territory. It is a particular satisfaction to make note of the completion of this work because it has been advocated practically every year since 1870.

As a material contribution to lessening the difficulties of the traffic situation, Tremont and Boylston streets were widened from the Common side after a referendum to the people.

Large amounts of main highway construction have included, in the city proper, Atlantic avenue, Commercial street from the South Station to the North Station; all of Federal street; Portland, Merrimac, Cross, Blackstone and Charles streets, Clarendon street extension, Tremont street from Eliot street to Massachusetts avenue; State and Albany streets, and Harrison avenue, Newbury, Exeter, Devonshire, Franklin and Stuart streets.

In East Boston, Saratoga and Chelsea streets have been improved. In Charlestown, Main street, Rutherford avenue and Chelsea street have been improved. Other important street construction of the past four years includes, in South Boston, Broadway, East Fourth street, Dorchester street and Dorchester avenue; in Dorchester, Dorchester avenue, Washington, Pleasant, Stoughton, Morton, Bowdoin, Norfolk and Babson streets and Geneva avenue; in Roxbury, Warwick, Smith, Conant, Parker, Tremont and Dudley streets and Columbus and Walnut avenues; in Jamaica Plain and West Roxbury, Centre, Washington, Green, Amory, Boylston, Beech, La Grange and Morton streets and Belgrade and South Huntington and Metropolitan avenues and Arborway; in Hyde Park, Hyde Park avenue and River street; in Brighton, Washington and Cambridge streets, North Beacon and Market streets, Chestnut Hill avenue and Cleveland circle. Much work has been done also in improving the condition of the bridges, without which the use of the highways is of course obstructed. Work done in this branch of the public works is as follows:

Bridges.

Broadway Bridge, over Boston & Albany Railroad, rebuilt.

New bridge constructed over Belgrade avenue extension (formerly Beech street), West Roxbury.

Norfolk Street Bridge, Dorchester, over New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, widened to conform to the new street lines.

Northern Avenue Bridge, reconstructed to permit the operation of Union freight trains.

Summer Street Bridge, over Fort Point channel, reconstructed to permit the operation of electric freight cars.

New bridge constructed on Brookline avenue, west of Beacon street. This will allow the operation of the heaviest type trolley cars.

New bridge constructed over the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and Boston & Albany Railroad at Clarendon street, between Stuart street and Columbus avenue.

Ashland Street Bridge, West Roxbury, over New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, was rebuilt.

Warren Bridge, between Boston and Charlestown, was reconstructed to permit the diversion of the heaviest type trolley cars in the event of an accident to Charlestown Bridge.

A contract has been let for designing the superstructure of a permanent bridge, to replace the present temporary one, at Chelsea South, between Boston and Chelsea.

A new steel deck girder bridge, encased in concrete, was built on Bennington street, East Boston, over the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad.

On Hyde Park avenue, over Mother brook, Hyde Park, a new reinforced concrete bridge is being constructed.

Other Public Works.

A new wall was constructed along the line of the Roxbury canal, in the rear of the city's paving, sanitary, sewer and water yards and the City Hospital, and the canal was dredged to allow larger barges to deliver coal at the City Hospital coal pocket. The old bulkhead had collapsed and impeded navigation in the canal.

Work is now in progress on the improvement and sanding of the Strandway beach, at M and N streets. A concrete wall is to be built, also.

Engineering parties from the Public Works Department have been lent to the Institutions, Fire, Public Buildings and Hospital Departments to supervise the erection of various structures for those departments at a very appreciable saving.

The interests of the employees of the Public Works Department and their necessities, in view of the difficult living conditions of the past few years, have been kept in mind, and increases amounting to from $1 to $1.50 per day have been given to laborers and mechanics. Also to all clerks and inspectors receiving below $2,000 per year have been granted salary increases to from $200 to $400 per year. A schedule allowing annual increases to employees of the engineering service has been successfully adhered to.

Ferry Service.

Further to encourage and provide for improved traffic conditions, the Ferry Service has been greatly strengthened. Two new steel ferryboats of the latest type have been built and are now in operation. They are the "Lieut. Flaherty" and the "Ralph J. Palumbo." These boats represent the latest word in this sort of vessel and a feature of them which demands public interest and approval is that they are equipped with fire pumps so that in the event of waterfront fires they can be used as auxiliaries to the regular fireboats. Two of the old ferryboats, no longer in use, have been disposed of. They are the "D. D. Kelly" and the "General Hancock."

The remaining ferryboats have been reconstructed or repaired so that they now are in first-class condition. The ferryboat "Noddle Island" has been given an entire new hull. The "General Sumner" and the "John H. Sullivan" have been so constructed as to provide for four teaming roadways. This work of reconstruction has increased the vehicle-carrying capacity of these three boats by about 100 per cent. The ferryboat "Hugh O'Brien" has been given a new boiler and its machinery has been thoroughly overhauled.

On one of the slips on each side of the South Ferry, provision is made for a double runway, which will greatly facilitate loading and unloading the ferries.

Thus Boston's Ferry Service has been brought up to date and made to fulfill its purpose.

Water Service.

Another branch of public works in which particular effort has been made to increase the safety and convenience of the citizens of Boston is that of the Water Service. In order to strengthen the city's fire protection and to anticipate new street construction, as well as to extend the high service for sprinkler systems, twenty-seven miles of water mains of various sizes have been laid or relaid in different parts of the city during the past four years. These include:

A 12-inch main was laid in Main street, Charlestown, in place of the worn-out 6-inch main.

In Jamaica Plain, a 16-inch main was laid, replacing small pipes.

The supply in Spring street, West Roxbury, was reinforced by a second pipe to provide sufficient service for the United States Public Health Service Hospital in the old Parental School property.

A new 12-inch flexible main was laid between Moon and Long Islands, to afford a second supply for the harbor service.

Twenty-five hundred linear feet of 24-inch pipe, laid in 1885, in Perkins street, West Roxbury, were replaced with 36-inch pipe. This is the first step in a plan to afford an adequate second feed in the high service from the metropolitan mains. To make the new supply fully effective, 4,000 feet of the 24-inch pipe remain to be replaced.

The laying of the 36-inch high service in Harrison avenue, over the railroad bridge, at Motte street, was completed, greatly improving the supply to the high value district of the city proper.

Waste water surveys have been made in Charlestown, Brighton, South Boston, East Boston, portions of the city proper, Back Bay, Roxbury and Dorchester. The results of this survey have justified the expenditure, in that Boston's share of the metropolitan assessment has been appreciably reduced.

The two pumping stations of the high pressure fire service have been completed, one in the Edison station on Atlantic avenue and the other in the Lincoln power station of the Boston Elevated Railway Company. The station in the Edison property is equipped with two electrically-driven four-stage centrifugal pumps, each of a capacity of 3,000 gallons per minute, at 300 pounds pressure. The station in the Elevated property is equipped with two steam turbine driven three-state centrifugal pumps each of a capacity of 3,000 gallons per minute, at 300 pounds pressure.

Arlington Station.

Improvement of transportation facilities within the city and between the city and suburbs is a constant necessity, and always in the processes of expansion, never completed. This process during my administration has been carried on with such results that there is a notably increased provision for the business and convenience of the residents of Boston and for those who do business here. Under the Transit Department of the city public convenience has been served by a wise and well ordered expansion of transportation facilities. The most notable specific achievement in this line is the completion of the Arlington Station in the Boylston Street Subway. The demand for this station was long ago expressed. That demand is now met by a station admirably arranged, easy of access and egress. This arrangement is particularly convenient for the public. Each entrance and exit leads to or from all trains in either direction. This convenient arrangement eliminates confusion and serves the public perfectly. The completion of the Arlington Station provides one link in a most important chain of Boston's development. Through many years past it has been felt by business men that there were opportunities for large development in the region adjacent to Arlington street and Park square. Certain business establishments and places of entertainment have made considerable investments there, yet street facilities and transit conveniences were lacking. During my administration this section of the city has been brought into active participation in the city's growth. The completion of the Arlington Station and the commencement of the Stuart street widening and extension are specific and mighty factors in opening up to progress one of the potential business centers which has too long suffered suppression. Other improvements in transit facilities during my administration include provision for an underground station at Maverick square for the East Boston Tunnel; enlargement and improvements at the Park Street Under Station of the Cambridge Subway, and preliminary plans for general expansion in existing facilities.

Public Buildings.

The demands of city growth exert a continuous pressure upon the physical equipment of a city, and this must be met by a continuous series of additions to the list of public buildings of all sorts. The growth of population and improved methods of education exert strong pressure year by year to amplify the equipment of school facilities. During this administration the appropriation for new schoolhouses reached a total on November 30, 1921, of $5,763,123. The most important of these was the new high school in Dorchester, for which $1,200,000 was appropriated. For a new Public Latin School in the Back Bay $950,000 was provided. The Intermediate School, Roger Wolcott District, Dorchester, required $400,000. A twelve-room building for the Washington Allston District took $300,000. In West Roxbury the twelve-room building for the Charles Sumner District took $360,000. Other schools provided for under these appropriations are: Dearborn District school, Roxbury; Samuel Adams District school, East Boston; Lewis District school, Roxbury; George Putnam District, eighteen-room intermediate school; Prince District, Back Bay; Theodore Lyman District, East Boston; Emerson District, East Boston; John Marshall District, Dorchester; Edmund P. Tileston District, Mattapan; Robert G. Shaw District, West Roxbury; Julia Ward Howe District, Roxbury, and additions to the Pauline Agassiz Shaw School, Dorchester; Michael Angelo School, North End; Oak Square School, Bennett District, Brighton; Mary Lyon School, Brighton; Bailey Street School, Dorchester, and the William Lloyd Garrison School.

For public buildings up to November 30, 1921, there was provided $1,582,000, these including a new municipal building for old Ward 12, $527,000; a municipal building for Hyde Park, $355,000; a new courthouse for Forest Hills, $265,000; a building for Engine Company 31 and Police Station 8, $230,000; West Roxbury Library, $65,000; Wayfarers' Lodge improvements, $50,000; besides $90,000 appropriated for Police Station 2.

For Recreation.

The growth of public playgrounds is of comparatively modern experience. The value of these spaces in the development of good citizenship and in meeting the legitimate demands of the public have been recognized in Boston by a progressive addition to the number of such playgrounds. More than a million dollars have been appropriated during my administration for the construction and improvement of playgrounds and buildings thereon. The most important of these is provision for a new gymnasium building with baths and a swimming pool in South Boston, to cost around $400,000. This will be located at the corner of Broadway, C and Athens streets and will replace the old D Street Gymnasium. It is to be of the most modern type and will be one of the finest buildings of the sort in the United States. Everything in the way of up-to-date equipment to provide wholesome enjoyment and to serve public convenience will be included in this building. It will be a gymnasium of which all the city will be proud.

Conditions at Marine Park had long demanded radical changes. The old headhouse and the bathing facilities there were out of date and no longer served the purposes for which they were maintained. It was apparent early in my administration that the situation at this point demanded radical treatment. The work of improvement was undertaken and has been carried forward with entire success. The headhouse has been reconstructed, modern bathing facilities have been installed, the restaurant has been placed under the best business management and there is now located at Marine Park, one of the city's most notable recreation spots, a thoroughly modern and altogether satisfactory headhouse. The cost of this reconstruction work at Marine Park was $157,500. Other playground improvement includes work done at Franklin Park, including new greenhouses at a cost of $90,000 and a model and up-to-date lion house at a cost of $65,000; Portsmouth Street Playground; Mozart Street Playground; improvements at Park, Washington, Poplar, Ashland and South streets, Roslindale; Charlestown Playground at Sullivan square; playground at Castle, Washington, Dover and Tremont streets; Adams Street Playground in Dorchester; land taken at East Cottage, Pleasant and Pond streets; new land and grading at Carolina Avenue Playground, and a survey of the Jeffries Point Bathing Beach.

Public Health.

It is as true of a city as it is of an individual that physical well-being is essential for progress and happiness. Modern advance in the care of the individual health is a matter of record. Along with this has marched the development of means to protect what we call the public health. By this is meant an accumnlation of methods and the enforcement of regulations under which there is an effective prevention of disease and an encouragement to living conditions which shall be conducive to health. Under my administration the Health Department of this city has kept in mind its primary purpose, to make Boston a healthier city in which to live and to increase, in so far as the limitations of its authority allow, the physical comforts of city residents. The Health Department has been developed in these last few years to a high state of efficiency. It has commanded the attention and respect of health authorities throughout the country. It has adopted modern methods and has laid a permanent foundation upon which I trust the city will hereafter proceed toward further perfection of guarantees for the public health. The problem of housing conditions in a city the size of Boston, and particularly in a city of Boston's age, is always difficult. Progress has been made to a satisfactory extent in improving these conditions. Under the direction of the Health Board many dark rooms have been provided with adequate light and ventilation, and in general accommodations and facilities have been insisted upon, where practicable, better to safeguard the health of the residents. It is an important fact, which of course the Health Department has emphasized, that the health of every individual is a matter of public concern in a densely populated city. Therefore these insistent efforts of the Health Department to lessen the likelihood of unwholesome living conditions are not only a benefit to the individuals immediately affected, but are also constant contributions toward the general health of the city.

In addition to the work of improving housing conditions within buildings, there has been a particularly effective attention to such danger places as stables, hen yards, public dumps, etc. Mosquito-breeding pools and other dangerous accumulations of water have received special attention. All such places as these have been recorded on the department maps and a careful record has been kept of the work done. In fact the efforts recorded particularly during the summer of 1921 afford a substantial basis for a systematic and more economical work of similar sort in the future.

MILK.

The close relation between the public health and the supply of milk is, of course, recognized everywhere. It is a matter for satisfaction that the regulations of the Boston Board of Health concerning the handling of milk in this city are rigid in their nature and that they have been strictly enforced without favor, but with absolute justice at all times. Personal inspection by the Health Commissioner has been made of many of the creameries and shipping stations through which milk and cream come from the farm on their way to Boston. The results of this inspection have been specifically better to safeguard the public of Boston. I wish particularly to emphasize the fact that such results have been accomplished chiefly by co-operation rather than by compulsion. This method has been amply justified. In pursuance of this policy a letter prepared by the Health Department, urging the care and cooling of milk in transportation, was sent out to about 25,000 persons by the milk distributors doing business in Boston. This campaign covered the entire milk producing area serving Boston, including all of New England, and parts of New York and Quebec. Also, in pursuance of this policy of co-operation and to make it effective between railroad managements and milk distributors, a conference was held on May 16, 1921, where this matter was discussed and the relative duties of consignors, transportation agents and consignees were studied. The result of this conference has been a better understanding among all parties and a substantial improvement in the service. This is a far-reaching achievement in the interest of the health of the people of Boston. As another instance of this policy of co-operation, a conference was held with the representatives of large milk distributing agencies, and as a result of this, the Health Department has a more effective control over the milk supply and the farmers have a far better understanding of the requirements in this field.

Greater precision in establishing the fitness of would-be producers and distributors of milk in Boston has been attained through the work of the Health Department. It has been established as a policy that no one can enter the milk business here without demonstrating some definite knowledge of the business. This has operated to keep unfit persons from being in a position to menace, although unintentionally, the health of Boston people.

During the past year there have been several disturbances in the milk business of Boston. From these the public has not suffered. A threatened labor disturbance in this industry was fortunately smoothed out after a conference in the Mayor's office, which was attended by representatives of all the larger milk distributers and all of the producers. Application was made also during the past year by a chain-store system for a license to sell milk in its stores on the cash and carry plan. Such license was granted only after the applicant satisfied the commissioner and the department that he was qualified to conduct the business properly, that his source of supply was satisfactory, and that in all the company stores he would faithfully observe every requirement under the health regulations. These conditions were complied with, and as a result, the price of milk to the consumer in Boston has had several reductions. The City of Boston has no interest in the milk business except to see that all receive scrupulously fair treatment, and that there shall be no menace to health. The competitive element which entered the Boston milk situation this last winter was, I believe, a public advantage.

FOOD INSPECTION.

Hardly second to the milk problem in a large city is that of the food supply. There is a long dismal history of epidemics in the past which have been traceable to infection carried through food publicly sold. Such epidemics are now less common, and less excusable than they were. In Boston the Food Inspection Division of the Health Department has most effectively guarded the public health. The routine work of condemning unsound or unwholesome foodstuffs has been carried on with thoroughness and with fairness. Food sold in Boston today is better prepared, better stored and better distributed than before. Two recent pieces of legislation have been of great assistance in this regard. They are "The act to regulate bakeries and bakery products," chapter 418, Acts of 1920, and "The act regulating the manufacture or bottling of certain nonalcoholic beverages," chapter 303, Acts of 1921.

Last year has been one of particular danger to the citizens of Boston, this danger being met by a greater activity of the department in the condemnation of unfit foodstuffs, than ever before. There appeared to be a movement to unload upon the public various kinds of food, accumulated during the war and held for high prices. These prices not being obtained, the owners dumped this stuff on the market, and the public was thereby imperiled. Illustrating the extent of this danger, it may be cited, for instance, that 110,000 pounds of fish were condemned in the warehouse of one concern. Elsewhere, 274,200 ice cream cones were excluded from the food market. Flour to the extent of 19,795 pounds was condemned as unfit for use. Twenty thousand cans of foodstuffs also were seized and many lesser condemnations might be recorded.

I believe this work of condemning foodstuffs was most important. And I believe it should be emphasized for the public understanding that the necessity for such considerable condemnation is in itself a most unwholesome sign. As long as unprincipled men will deliberately court disease and death for the public for the sake of profits, no system of condemnation or fines is either adequate or in accord with public needs. It must be borne in mind, furthermore, that the cost of such goods destroyed is almost invariably passed on to the consumer in the form of higher prices for foodstuffs actually sold. It is an unfortunate fact that losses entailed by such means are too frequently transferred to the consumer, out of whose pocket comes the penalty for such deliberate and vicious attacks upon the public health for purposes of private greed. The Health Commissioner has suggested, and I heartily accord with his view, that "The only hope in the situation seems to be jail sentence for habitual offenders of this class, for jail sentence could not be passed on to the ultimate consumer as fines and losses through condemnation are."

DANGER FROM FRUIT.

It is a source of much gratification to this city that through its activity in protecting the health of the buyers of fruit here, a reform of national importance was effected in the fruit industry of the Western Coast. In 1919 the Health Department discovered that considerable fruit brought to this market from the Pacific Coast was contaminated with arsenic, the result of too late, too heavy or inefficient spraying. It was necessary for the Health Department to condemn much of this fruit. Such action was thoroughly commendable. There was a considerable contest for some time with the western fruit growers over this issue and an appeal was taken by the growers to the United States Bureau of Chemistry at Washington in an effort to have that Bureau sanction the shipment and distribution of such fruit as was condemned by the Boston Health Department. It is a source of gratification for this city that its Health Department was sustained by the Federal Bureau. The immediate result of this was that the western growers, instead of further combating the health protective methods, sought to devise means whereby their fruit might be freed from the arsenic taint. These efforts were of varying success during 1920 when condemnations continued large, though less than in 1919, and again there was some friction between the growers and the local Health Department. By 1921, however, the western growers had put into operation proper methods. The result is that the shipment of western fruit into Boston during the past year has been satisfactory.

This is a most important achievement for the Health Department of this city. So far as I know, this department was the first in the United States to take an effective stand against this very considerable public danger of arsenic-tainted fruit. Following the local board's action, there was effected the co-operation of the state officers in the western states and the growers themselves, and their agents in Boston. Thus the entire country has benefited greatly through a reform in the western fruit business which owes its origin to the courageous stand taken by the Health Department of Boston.

DISEASE PREVENTION.

In the more direct function of disease prevention, the efforts of the Health Department have been gratifyingly successful during the years of my administration. During the year 1921 the general death rate for the city was 13.48 per thousand; the lowest on record in the history of Boston. The total number of deaths among the population, including residents and nonresidents, for 1921, numbered 10,217. What these figures mean in the lives saved, or at least in deaths postponed, is impressively shown in the table on following page.

Among residents of the city there were, in 1921, 8,356 deaths, the death rate being 11.03. A striking and encouraging feature of the mortality tables for the last year is a lowered death rate among children under five years of age. During the year 1921 there were but 2,056 such deaths as compared with 2,773 in 1920. Among children under one year, there were 1,489 deaths, equivalent to a rate of 77.52 per thousand births.

TABLE SHOWING NUMBER OF DEATHS THAT WOULD HAVE OCCURRED IN 1921 AND OTHER YEARS HAD THE DEATH RATES OF EARLIER YEARS CONTINUED.

	Calendar Year.
	1901.	1906.	1911.	1916.	1921.
Deaths of residents and nonresidents that did occur	11,300	11,411	11,767	12,760	10,217
Deaths that would have occurred had the same death rate prevailed as:
In 1901, death rate 19.87	11,300	11,922	13,689	14,824	15,054
In 1906, death rate 18.61		11,411	12,821	13,884	14,100
In 1911, death rate 17.08			11,767	12,743	12,941
In 1916, death rate 16.78				12,760	12,713
In 1920, death rate 15.44					11,699
In 1921, death rate 13.18					10,217

Plague.

The threat of plague from Europe, South America and some of the Atlantic islands at least served the purpose of stimulating the work against the presence of rats. A patrol of the waterfront, established in 1920, has been since continued and good results have been obtained. There was effective co-operation by the Boston Health Department and the Massachusetts Department of Public Health. On the initiative of the Boston Health Department, the Boston Chamber of Commerce called a conference to consider plague prevention, at which were present representatives from the United States Public Health Service, from the State Health Department and from the corresponding departments of other New England states, cities, towns and civic bodies.

Another peril which stirred some public excitement was the fear of typhus fever during the past year. The Boston Health Department was efficiently active in guarding against this danger and throughout the season of alarm no case was discovered. In December, however, one typhus patient, a resident of Maine, was found in a local hospital, having presumably caught the disease during a journey between New England and Florida. The circumstances, however, were not such as to cause comment and there was no public danger.

In connection with these dangers, it became increasingly evident that the Federal Quarantine Station at Gallop's Island was inadequate to serve the Port of Boston in the event of the influx of any considerable number of immigrants. The station there was not even adequate for current needs. The Boston Health Department therefore took the initiative in calling a conference of the health authorities, federal, state and city, along the Atlantic sea coast. This conference was called in February, 1921, by the Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service and was held at Washington. It brought about a better understanding of the situation. The most concrete result of the conference was a considerable appropriation for the enlargement and improvement of certain federal quarantine stations, including a $150,000 appropriation for the Boston station.

Convenience of Voters.

A municipal government, like a private business, is never a completed venture. It is always in a process of growth. It draws to itself new problems and it increases the dimensions of the old ones. Boston is a growing city and its problems, therefore, become increasingly difficult year by year. The task of providing for the elementary processes of functioning democracy is in itself one which demands efficiency and forbids anything else than that. The admission of women as voters has increased the work of registration and has required new and better provisions for voting. Preceding the last election, for instance, during the period from September 6 to November 23, in the central office of the Board of Election Commissioners and in the several ward registration places there were registered 14,861 men and 14,396 women. To accommodate the new pressure upon the registration facilities the Election Board as a new departure opened registration in the ward quarters for nine days, twelve hours each day, and on the last two evenings of registration doubled the numbers of registrars in the evening. The result of this efficient handling of the situation was that at 10 p. m. of November 23 all persons who had appeared to be registered were able to do so before the closing hour. A large increase in the voting list likewise has made necessary a new division of voting precincts. The number of these are increased from 221 precincts in 1920, to 274 precincts in 1921. Not only has the number of precincts been increased, but the convenience of voters, more particularly the women voters, has been consulted in the location of polling places. Many of these have been placed in churches, schools and private buildings. The location of these polling places is shown by the following table:

Number of schools used	149
Number of churches used	42
Number of booths used	51
Number of private buildings used	19
Number of city buildings used	12
Number of state buildings used	1
Total	274

Industrial Unrest — Police Strike.

During my administration the city has passed through a difficult period in which unstable business conditions and industrial unrest have presented a series of difficult problems which demanded sane treatment and the application of patience in their solution. It has been my good fortune in some cases to aid in smoothing out these difficulties and in effecting a settlement satisfactory to the parties directly involved and, I believe, to the advantage of the public in general.

The most serious of the strikes which have occurred during the past four years was that in the Boston Police Department in the fall of 1919. The relations between the city government and the Boston Police Department are in general well understood by the public. The elected officials of the City of Boston under ordinary conditions have no responsibility for the maintenance of order in the city, this responsibility resting with the Boston Police Department, under a Police Commissioner appointed by the Governor of Massachusetts. In the event of riot or tumult, however, emergency powers can be assumed by the Mayor of the city.

When it became apparent that the danger of a serious upset in the Boston Police Department was likely to occur, I appointed a Citizens' Committee with the purpose of aborting a strike. This committee endeavored to persuade the police to abandon their plan of affiliation with the American Federation of Labor and to drop the idea of striking. The committee was unable to persuade the police to such a course. Therefore, when on September 8 a strike appeared unpreventable, and when it appeared that in consequence of such a strike the lives and property of the people of Boston would be placed in peril, with members of the Citizens' Committee I conferred with the Governor of the state and urged him to take an active part, pointing out to him that I had no authority to act at that stage of the situation.

On the following day, being desirous that law and order in the city should be secured, in the event of a strike actually occuring and acting in accord with my responsibilities as Mayor of the city, I consulted with the Police Commissioner, seeking information as to what measures, if any, had been taken to guarantee such security for life and property in Boston. I was assured by the commissioner that he had the situation well in hand and that there was no occasion for alarm. I suggested to him the wisdom of providing sufficient forces to deal with any emergency that might arise, and asked him whether he did not believe that the State Guard should be mobilized to provide such security. The Police Commissioner was emphatic in saying that he did not wish such aid at that time. The Governor likewise emphasized to me that he would not interfere with the Police Commissioner.

This left the situation squarely in the hands of the Police Commissioner, the safety of the public, therefore, resting upon his assurance, made to me, that there was no occasion for alarm.

At roll call that evening the police went on a strike. That night the city was without enforcement of law. The property and lives of the people of Boston were placed in jeopardy. Adequate provision for enforcing law and preserving order in this city had not been made. The danger which I had foreseen and which I had called to the attention of the Governor and the Police Commissioner developed into a condition of extreme lawlessness.

On the following morning which was Wednesday, acting under my responsibility to the people of Boston as their Mayor, I took over control of the Police Department which had failed to protect the people of this city, through its error of judgment, and through its failure to gauge with accuracy the menace involved in the threat to strike. I applied immediately such emergency measures of protection as the authority of my office allowed. I ordered out such portions of the state troops as were located within the City of Boston. I asked the Governor to order out, under his authority, an additional 3,000 soldiers. Notice was sent by telephone promptly to the Adjutant General of the state that orders would reach him summoning the State Guard, and he was asked to proceed accordingly. As a direct result of this action of the City of Boston, members of the State Guard were providing public protection on the streets by 4 p. m. of that day. The night passed with a diminished disorder and by Thursday morning the public danger was ended. On Thursday afternoon the Governor of Massachusetts took control of the State Guard.

Other Labor Difficulties.

The public convenience was threatened by a strike of telephone operators in April, 1919. Matters had reached a deadlock from which no escape presented itself. Believing that a solution was possible but that it required active interest from a quarter not involved in the direct controversy, I called upon the Postmaster General at Washington, and as a result of this visit he sent a representative to confer in Boston with representatives of the company and the striking operators. This representative from the Postmaster General accompanied me back to Boston and with little delay succeeded in adjusting differences. The public was thus within a period of forty-eight hours saved from the inconvenience of a protracted strike and suspension of telephone service.

In the following month the welfare of the city was threatened by a similar deadlock in the building trades. This condition prevailed for several weeks, with little promise of resumption of construction work. In accordance with the responsibilities of my office I suggested to the contending parties a basis for compromise and this was accepted by both sides. The result of this settlement was a renewed stability in the building industry.

In the summer of 1919 a very grave danger presented itself in the form of a strike by railroad employees. Such a strike if of protracted length would create a serious peril to life and would, of course, involve heavy industrial loss. Recognizing the danger of a food shortage due to interrupted transportation I organized a Committee on Food Supplies to meet such an emergency. Motor truck lines were provided for as a means for supplying the people of the city with food. This threatened danger did not materialize to such an extent that utilization of these means of transportation became necessary. The situation, however, served eloquently to emphasize the public spirit in Boston which is one of our most dependable assets, and which I am sure we can always count upon in any emergency. My efforts at that time to protect the people of the city against temporary famine brought forward a demonstration of fine public spirit and unselfishness such as have characterized Boston through its history, and such as will always appear here. It was proved in this railroad strike emergency that the people of this city are equal to any crisis and that our citizenship is an absolutely dependable force which will work as a unit for the preservation of the public welfare.

The Soldiers.

When I took office the World War was in its final year. The end of the war was not at the time of my inauguration foreseen. Every effort and activity of the city necessarily centered about war problems. The part which Boston played in war activities is a matter of record and it does not need new emphasis here.

With the signing of the armistice the responsibility of the city for welcoming returning soldiers and looking after their welfare became a matter of prime importance. Early in December, 1918, before the arrival in Boston of the "Canopic," with returning troops, I appointed a committee of about one hundred fifty persons who arranged for the reception of the returning men. Receptions were planned for every steamer which should arrive. These arrangements were carried out with entire success, and I believe were the equal, if not the superior, of any such receptions in the country. The committee made its headquarters in Liberty Hall on the Common where every facility was provided for the comfort and assistance of discharged or returned service men. Positions were found for those desiring them, meals and entertainments were provided and in general the city exerted itself to receive as it should the men who had given their services and offered their lives for the protection of America and its people. In this work of welcoming returned service men I had the most enthusiastic and efficient coöperation of all the people of the city and, as in frequent instances, I was impressed with the unity of spirit and the willingness of action on the part of the people of the city. It was said at Washington that no organization for welcoming returned service men equaled that of Boston's. More than 40,000 men registered at Liberty Hall and this meant that more than 40,000 returned soldiers were given individual attention.

With the war fading into the background there arose an increasingly important task of protecting the welfare and furthering the opportunities of former service men. The problem of aid preceded, however, the end of the war. The first contingent under the selective draft arrived in camp in September, 1917, and immediately thereafter demands began to reach the Soldiers' Relief Department of the city for assistance to the dependents of those who had been called to the colors. These demands reached a climax about August, 1918, when the pay roll on account of dependents of those in the World War reached the total of $69,067.63.

Following the signing of the armistice November 11, 1918, the demands for aid gradually decreased, so that in February, 1919, they show a total of $35,157.83. From then there was a more or less steady decrease in the demands upon the department until November 1, 1920. At about this time the period of industrial depression showed itself with the melancholy result that many able-bodied service men found themselves without employment. From then onwards there has been an increase which perhaps is best shown by the statement that whereas on January 1, 1921, the number of cases drawing relief from the department was 2,062, the corresponding number of cases on January 1, 1922, was 4,745. This increase within twelve months, amounting to more than 100 per cent, was due almost entirely to the serious condition of unemployment. The amounts expended through the Soldiers' Relief Department during my administration are shown in the following table:

Year.	Applications Allowed.	Expenditures.
1918	4,410	$893,103 49
1919	2,152	471,549 03
1920	2,011	417,339 82
1921	4,933	*1,000,000 00

* Approximately.

The operation of the Soldiers' Relief Department has been simplified and made more efficient so that those to whom the city owes the responsibility of assistance are less inconvenienced and are better served. It has in some past years been not uncommon to have fifty or more men waiting on the stairway at 9 a. m. to have their cases heard by the department. This congestion and delay was not the fault of the department itself, but was due to conditions which made it difficult, if not impossible, for that department to handle its work expeditiously. These conditions have been changed. By employing additional help it was not long before the work was dispatched day by day and it rarely was found necessary to ask men to come back a second time with the same application. As now conducted, the office gives immediate attention to all applicants.

This Soldiers' Relief Department has been provided with new and roomier quarters into which it moved last July. The equipment of this department is now thoroughly up to date, and the demands upon it are met efficiently.

Committee for Americanism.

The city's Committee for Americanism, now more than two years old, has proved its usefulness and marks a constructive step toward solving one of our national problems. On Monday, December 1, 1919, there was held in the Mayor's office a meeting of various governmental agencies charged with the duty of dealing with problems of undesirable propaganda, etc. From this meeting grew the idea of the Boston Committee for Americanism, which I appointed on December 10, 1919.

It seemed to me, and it doubtless did to many others, that the best interests of American citizenship could not be served simply by processes of investigation and suppression of evils. An attitude which regards the newcomer to this country as a hostile element, or as one to be viewed with suspicion as a potential criminal or revolutionist, is a vicious attitude which invites disaster and which certainly does not strengthen either our national establishment or the world's respect for us. There must, of course, be constant vigilance to guard against dangers to the state as well as dangers to the individual, whether these dangers are imported or of domestic origin. This, however, is by no means the sum of all responsibility toward the alien. Neither is it a measure of our opportunities for national development. Our country is built up of an almost unreckonable variety of racial origins, and it has been the triumph of America that these have been blended to form not only a stable nation but the strongest and freest that history has known. The homogeneity of our country was demonstrated beyond dispute in the World War.

The better sense of our American responsibilities now takes primary cognizance of the opportunity and duty to build our treatment of the alien upon the assumption that he is a potential good citizen and that, barring mischance, he will by coming here increase the strength of our nation. The best guaranty of American stability is not to be sought along paths of hostile criticism and suppression, but is to be found by national consciousness of the vast opportunity which lies before us in national, state and municipal action seeking constructive and friendly handling of the problems of immigration and citizenship.

Boston's Committee for Americanism is based upon this understanding of our duty and opportunity. In creating this committee I believed it could work advantageously by getting in touch with residents of foreign birth and by giving them a better understanding of the ideals and practices of the United States form of government. This expectation has been realized. This committee is an important addition to the work of the city government and it should be developed into a mighty source of municipal strength. Already it has attracted national and even international attention through its "Little Book for Immigrants," which has been taken up in a number of educational institutions, and which has been sent for from many quarters of the earth.

Public Welfare.

It has been the effort of the Board of Overseers of the Public Welfare during my administration so to conduct its affairs as to impress upon those who resort to it for advice and assistance the fact that this department of the city administration is not a bureaucratic establishment, but is an organized group of officials existing for the purpose of giving service. This department has kept in close touch with all agencies of social work in Boston, and it has aided in bringing together for meetings the State Department of Public Welfare and the relief officers throughout the state. During the last few years the problem of unemployment has affected this Board and it has therefore been in frequent contact for purposes of co-operation with many committees on unemployment, and with the Boston Council of Social Agencies. It has also continued the usual co-operation with the Family Welfare Society and the private relief-giving organizations in the city.

The responsibility of this department of the administration is such that large expenditures were necessary under the industrial conditions which have prevailed. It would have been a dereliction of duty to fail in liberal provision for this necessary emergency work, and therefore we can take a justifiable pride in the achievements in this field. The conditions of the last few years have made it difficult for the private relief-giving societies to perform their work. They have been less able than in less difficult years to support the efforts made by the Overseers of the Public Welfare. On this account and because of the continued business depression, a larger appropriation for last year was required. It was necessary to draw upon the city treasury during the year ending January 31, 1922, to the amount of $1,208,105.34. Certain receipts paid over to the city treasury during the year will reach $408,000, leaving a net charge to the city of about $800,105. Collected by the Board for care and maintenance in the City Hospital for state paupers and those belonging to other cities and towns is $45,000; collected on account of the Board of Health for cases in the Boston City Hospital, $30,000.

There has been developed in the Board a thorough system of visiting cases. Written reports of agents' visits are made to a Case Committee, consisiting of the majority of the Board. This committee determines the amount of aid which should be given to each family.

Increased exercise of co-operation between the overseers and the State Department of Public Welfare and other organizations has materially improved the quality of service given under the Mothers' Aid Act.

Figures showing the number of lodgings at the Temporary Home and at the Wayfarers' Lodge are as follows:

Temporary Home.

	1920–21.	1919–20.	1918–19.
Number of lodgings during the year:
To women........	3,503	3,066	3,507
To children.......	2,516	2,458	1,371
Total..........	6,019	5,524	4,878

Number lodgings November, 1921, 538.
Number lodgings November, 1920, 654.
Number lodgings November, 1919, 463.

Wayfarers' Lodge.

	1920–21.	1919–20.	1918–19.
Number of lodgings during the year..	17,654	3,251	14,270
Number of meals provided during the year...........	33,075	6,602	24,745

Number lodgings November, 1920, 603.
Number lodgings November, 1921, 1,550 (note large increase).

A thorough reconstruction of the Wayfarers' Lodge has been undertaken during the last year, and the results are satisfactory. This institution is now not only habitable, but comfortable, and I believe that our municipal lodging house is now worthy of the city.

Fire Protection.

The Boston Fire Department has been redeemed from a condition of inefficiency to one of leadership among the fire departments of the country. Four years ago this department was denounced by the underwriters as inadequate for the protection of property in this city. It is now pronounced a model among such departments. The high pressure service, long recognized as essential for proper fire protection in Boston, has been completed. Whereas 6,865 feet of pipe for this service were laid during the last two years of the preceding administration; 13,290 feet were laid in the first two years of the present administration. Nearly ten years ago this city began the effort to obtain such high pressure fire protection equipment. Much time has been lost during the past decade in the discussion of pumping station sites and in other ways. It is a gratifying thought to all the people of the city now to know that the obstacles have been overcome and that for the first time in its history Boston has fire protection adequate for its needs.

This strengthening of the city's fire protection has been obtained not only by the completion of the high pressure system, but by a thorough reorganization of the department and by the acquisition of modern fire-fighting apparatus. There was much apparatus in the department which was valueless. This has been disposed of. Discipline has been restored in the department, the use of smoke masks has been developed within the past year, a system of inspecting steam fire engines has been established, a school of instruction for the engineers who operate the high pressure system is in operation, warning bells have been installed at points of traffic congestion for the purpose of giving warning of the approach of apparatus, a new signal system has been placed in service to bring the high pressure system into prompt action, flood lights have been added to the equipment for the proper fighting of night fires, and in general an efficient and thoroughly up to date fire-fighting machinery has been constructed.

The first preliminary tests of the high pressure system were held October 27, 1921, at the station of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company at Atlantic avenue, opposite Pearl street.

Street Shower Baths.

An important work of the Fire Department not directly associated with its primary purpose has been the perfection of a shower bath device which is attached to hydrants in the congested sections of the city during the hot weather. After a successful test on May 27, 1921, the device was generally utilized for the alleviation of hot weather discomfort, and brought much happiness to the children. These shower baths, during the past summer, were in use on the following streets: Border, Saratoga, Meridian, Stone, Chapman, La Grange, North Grove, North Margin, Tyler, West Third, Newman and Mercer streets, Emerald and Sterling streets, Warren avenue, Mission Field, Cabot, Ruggles, Hancock, Leonard, Callender, Holton, Lamartine, Fernboro, Garden Court and Fleet streets, Bigelow street, Oak square and Glencoe street.

Institutions.

The conduct of the city's institutions to which come those needing aid or care is of the utmost importance. It is not enough that these institutions shall be run economically, for the primary consideration must be a thoroughly adequate public service. When a city or an individual accepts a responsiblity, it follows that this charge must be performed with the fullest consideration of honor and under the most liberal interpretation of methods. The city's institutions required reinvigoration in order to meet its responsibilities. Such reinvigoration they have received.

In the interests of efficient administration the Penal Institutions Department, the Children's Institutions Department, the Institutions Registration Department and the Infirmary Department, have been combined under one commissioner, thus centralizing authority and placing the responsibility where it should rest. This consolidation has proved thoroughly wise. Also in the interest of public service the Suffolk School for Boys has been closed and juvenile offenders in this county will henceforth be cared for by the state. The buildings on Rainsford Island were unfit for the use to which they had been put and the location for this institution was not good. Under the new arrangement the boys will be better cared for and the city saves a considerable sum of money which would have been necessary for new buildings, besides saving a portion of the annual cost of maintenance. In the same field of public service a new Child Welfare Division has been organized under the direction of a deputy commissioner. This division has taken over the care of neglected and dependent children and it has commanded the confidence of those social agencies whose co-operation is essential if the city is to perform fully its duty to unfortunate children.

A most satisfying result of this reorganization of the city's institutions has been obtained at Long Island where a transformation has been effected in the almshouse and hospital. This institution had run into so unsatisfactory a condition that the city's charges suffered discomfort, and lacking fire protection, were in constant danger of losing their lives from fire.

The fire danger at Long Island was recognized years ago and the first effort to remedy that condition was made before the World War, under the old Board of Trustees. At that time the lowest bid for installing sprinklers, etc., was $750,000, this including protection for five buildings. This contract, owing to conditions, was never awarded. The first actual work to protect the institution was made during the present administration which accepted bids for sprinkler installation, etc., in the five buildings referred to and in two others as well. In addition to these sprinklers, two high pressure pumps were installed with gasolene engines, and one pump was equipped with electric power. Fire boat connections were made at the two wharves. The two pumps with all connections are valued at $13,000. Sprinkler work in the two additional buildings cost about $2,500. Additional water mains were laid and a 500,000 gallon reservoir was repaired at a cost of $6,400. A number of additional hydrants were placed. This entire fire protection equipment cost something under $105,000, which had been appropriated for this purpose. It is satisfactory to record the fact that in spite of the upward trend of prices since the days preceding the war, all of the work, which had been planned for under the $75,000 proposal, as noted above, actually cost the city less than $51,000, representing for the protection of the original five buildings under consideration, a net saving to the city of $24,000.

This thoroughly constructed system of fire protection for the Long Island Institution is not, however, the sum of the achievements at that place. Everything has been done to make almshouse and hospital comfortable homes for those who are in their care. So effective has been this improvement, that in October, 1921, the American College of Surgeons placed the Long Island Hospital on its approved list of hospitals for the United States. This institution has won the unqualified confidence of Boston physicians, and has become noted as a particularly desirable hospital for the chronic sick. Improvement in the almshouse is hardly less striking. That institution is now said to be without an equal among similar institutions for physical equipment and the care of inmates.

The City Hospital.

As a result of improvements at the Boston City Hospital it will be possible upon their completion easily to care for 1,000 patients a day at the Out-Patient Department.

The hospital was allowed $629,000 for remodeling the out-patient building and the Lodge building. No expenditure of city money could be better worth while than this, permitting the city, as it will, to support its obligations to the sick. The Out-Patient Department long ago outgrew its quarters which have become inadequate and in no degree fit for the work it should do. In the future this department of the City Hospital will be so equipped that the city may take satisfaction in the work done there. The hospital has, of course, performed its duties always with conscientiousness, but it has been seriously handicapped by out-of-date buildings. The reconstruction of the out-patient building is one of the most satisfactory achievements in the past few years.

Another improvement which will meet with universal commendation is the construction of the Thorndike Memorial, made possible by the appropriation of $150,000 to be added to the bequest of the late George L. Thorndike. The Thorndike Memorial will take the place of old Ward P, which was built thirty years ago, and which was designed for temporary use. That temporary structure has therefore been in use far beyond the period intended and far beyond the limits of its proper public usefulness. The Thorndike Memorial thoroughly modernized and well appointed will be used for an X-ray department, medical amphitheater, intensive study of patients, and, on the two upper floors, for laboratories.

At the South Department the third pavilion has been completed. This remodeling of the pavilion from an open ward into an isolating building makes the South Department again a modern contagious hospital, so that the various types of disease may be isolated without danger of cross infection.

Prevention of cross infection from the children in the main hospital has been secured by remodeling Ward I at a cost of $15,500. This makes Ward I a complete isolating unit for the accommodation of thirty-two children.

In June, 1921, the sprinkler system at the South Department and Drown House was completed. By the expenditure of an addtional $25,000, authorized by the Council in November, and approved by the Mayor on December 7, 1921, completion of the sprinkler system at the hospital is assured. With this done the hospital buildings will be as safe, according to expert authority, as if of first-class construction.

Throughout the City Hospital there has been manifested an enthusiasm and a spirit of growth which are a source of great satisfaction to this city. The material equipment of the hospital has been thoroughly modernized and the departments have shown energy and accomplishment. Monthly meetings held by the surgical staff at the hospital have brought forth many papers which have subsequently been published and which have attracted wide interest. Several important clinics have been established and a number of new departments for the study of special topics have been added.

Consumptives' Hospital.

The record of progress in the Boston Consumptives' Hospital has been particularly marked by the efforts made to bring comfort and happiness to the patients through improved means of entertainment. More has been done in this direction by this department during the past two years than ever before in its history. Expenditure of money for this purpose has met with hearty public approval. Motion picture shows, concerts, as well as church services have been held in the dining room of the day camp building, which has been improved and made convenient for such purposes. In many ways the efficiency of this department has been increased and necessary economies have been practised.

The Out-Patient Department has been the center of a work of great importance to the city. The work here and at homes by the nurses is one of the most effective contributions towards eradication of tuberculosis. The United States Census Bureau report for 1920 shows that at that time Boston had seven more clinic hours a week per 100,000 population than Philadelphia, twice as many as New York or Cincinnati and in fact more than in any other city on record.

Industrial work for patients at the Mattapan Hospital has had encouraging results. Such work interests an increasing number of patients and it is indicated that a further extension of facilities for this work will prove of great public benefit.

Establishment of a dental clinic in the Mattapan Hospital organized in 1920 has also been of much value. It is worth while to emphasize particularly the work of the Occupational Therapy Department. Under trained teachers, patients, including many who are confined to their beds, have occupied themselves in making a large variety of articles and have in consequence derived much benefit through an improved state of mind and increased happiness. The patients are paid for their work and the articles made are sold at prices covering their cost. A special shop for the sale of such articles was opened at the corner of Boylston and Berkeley streets and has attracted favorable attention. I am strongly of the belief that this work is of much value in improving the physical condition of the patients by encouraging them and giving their minds a more pleasant outlook. In many cases the disease has been arrested and the patients have been able to return to work. A new and much larger workshop has been provided for and in general the development of this branch of the hospital work has been most encouraging.

The Children.

The great responsibilities which the citizens have toward their dependents must be kept ever present in the minds of those intrusted with city administration. To the hospitals for the sick and to other agencies of relief where unfortunates find a home must be given constant care and helpful treatment. To the soldiers, those reminders of our national obligations, must be shown a willingness to help them when in trouble.

Of all who turn to the city for aid, the children must be ever present in our thoughts as offering the greatest opportunity for help. The children of today are the nation's rulers of tomorrow. A nation will advance only so long as it is able to place one generation of its children on a plane slightly higher than that occupied by their fathers and mothers.

No responsibility of the city should be placed above its responsibility of helping to develop its little children. To our schools democracy will ever turn for a strengthening and renewing of the forces on which it rests; and no increased appropriation in the budget of the city is more willingly met by the taxpayers than that for schools. No parent fails to feel the desire to give his children a better opportunity than she or he himself had.

The appropriations for playgrounds, for beaches, for gymnasiums, for libraries, must be so used as to give the most help to the children. No reluctant or narrow mind must hamper the city's determination to help these future citizens.

The Public Library.

The conduct of the Public Library and its branches has been such as to increase their public service and to encourage popular demands upon such service. The entire Public Library system is being used now to a greater extent than ever before in the city's history. There has been marked increase in the library work with the children and the schools. General and special reference work at the Central Library and branches and the circulation of books also have greatly increased. This tendency to increased use of the library has been especially emphasized during the last year. Following the war there was an evident and stimulated demand for books throughout the country. The Boston Public Library was well equipped to meet that demand and it did so. The library's equipment of reference books for branches and reading rooms, such as encyclopedias, dictionaries, atlases, etc., has been renewed and kept up to date. Technical and fine arts books suited for reference work in the branches have been added. There has been a special increase in the number of books for children, many of these selected to aid them in their school work.

It is an interesting fact that more than half of the volumes bought during the last year were children's books.

A new reading room at Jeffries Point has been provided with a collection of reference works, children's books and books of general interest, as well as a list of periodicals.

The extent of the public demand for library facilities is indicated in the fact that the number of "live cards" outstanding, that is, cards in actual use in the system on November 1, 1921, was 106,982. This indicates a gain of 1,524 for the first nine months of 1921. More impressive, however, than the increase in the number of cards is the increased use of cards. The total circulation of books through the branches, reading rooms, schools and institutions, including the daily use of Central Library books through the deposit collection and the direct circulation from the Central Library for the nine-month period between January 1 and November 1, for three successive years has been as follows:

1919	1,574,423
1920	1,654,674
1921	1,810,354

In 1920 an information office was established as an adjunct to the work of the Reference Department. This office contains a variety of city and business directories and similar important volumes, and a steadily growing card index to information sources both within the library and elsewhere. The office also contains valuable files of material on vocational guidance and unemployment, originally collected and organized by outside agencies. There is also available here a large variety of publications issued by the United States Government and by business organizations, such as Chambers of Commerce in the United States and many foreign countries This information service is certain to be of very large public usefulness.

Establishment of an open shelf room adjoining the information office has also proved a success. During the past year more than 30,000 volumes of nonfiction were circulated.

Development of the use of the Lecture Hall at the Central Library has proceeded so successfully as to tax the capacity of the hall. Under the stimulating direction of the Library Department the hall has been almost continuously occupied for lectures, University extension courses and other educational meetings, including on some evenings several different classes, each with a capacity attendance taking turns in the use of the hall. The success of the library lectures has been made possible by that spirit of co-operation which is an essential asset for the successful conduct of all public affairs. This spirit of co-operation has induced many men and women to devote their time and efforts to furthering these lectures. This is a branch of library service susceptible of almost unlimited development.

The Jeffries Point Reading Room, referred to above was opened October 15, 1921, in the thickly populated Italian district of East Boston. The public response to its opening was immediate. This reading room will become a most important factor in the continued development of the city and it undoubtedly will grow far beyond its present quarters.

The Library Department is planning for a larger service in West Roxbury and in the South End. The West Roxbury Branch is an exceptionally attractive library building and will become one of the important institutions of that part of the city.

During 1921, for the first time in a period of years, repairs of major importance were undertaken in library property. These include repairs at the branches in Brighton, North End, West End and at East Boston and at the reading rooms in Lower Mills and at Faneuil. Important rearrangements have been made in the children's reading room in the Dorchester Branch.

Art Commission.

The Art Commission of the city has worked continuously and effectively to sustain the city's reputation. The importance of this commission has been emphasized during this administration by the conditions consequent upon the World War. It has been necessary to give much time and expert attention to the question of war memorial tablets, etc. A considerable number of commercial designs for such tablets have been improved before acceptance by this commission. These memorials carry with them a noble sentiment and it is desirable that this sentiment should be finely expressed through the excellence of workmanship. Some of these tablets have been by most eminent artists. All have been brought within the requirements of good artistic judgment by the commission. In its capacity as a board of regional advisers for war memorials for New England of the National Federation of Arts, Boston's Art Commission has been called into consultation in other cities and so has aided appreciably in maintaining high standards throughout this section of the country.

The advice of the Art Commission was a great benefit in connection with the form of exits and entrances of the Arlington Street Subway Station. The question of their form was jointly discussed by the Transit Commission, the Park Department and the Art Commission, and at the suggestion of the Art Commission an architect was engaged to make a suitable design. This plan worked out successfully and has now been carried to completion, the designs which were accepted by these three departments having met with public approval. The service of the Boston Art Commission in the capacity of regional adviser on New England war memorials was a distinct compliment to Boston. The Boston Commission accepted these duties in 1919, at the request of the American Federation of Arts, Washington, D. C., and with my warm approval.

City Planning.

The difficulty of planning for the most orderly and attractive development of any old city whose ways are necessarily to a large degree fixed is obvious and has perplexed many municipalities. To construct a new city is a comparatively simple matter in so far as the arrangement of streets and the restriction of districts is concerned. It is only within comparatively recent years that serious attention has been given to the work of adapting old established cities to modern conditions. Boston has two problems of city planning with which to deal. One, and that which should be simpler, is the development of new areas both for residence and business. The other and more difficult is that of lessening the confusion of the older portions of the city and makng them suitable for modern business purposes.

Boston's City Planning Board has dealt with both phases of the problem. During the past four years permanent advancement has been made in the task of bringing all of Boston into closer accord with what a city should be which seeks to meet modern business and residence requirements, and at the same time retain those admirable characteristics which are inherited from a historic past. By my direction the City Planning Board made a survey of municipal improvements under way and proposed in the ten largest cities in the United States, as well as the activities contemplated by a number of the smaller municipalities. A very full report of this survey was made under date of March 29, 1921. The information thus obtained by the Planning Board was of much value to the city.

Another important task undertaken by the Board was to furnish the City Council with a list and synopsis of investigations and reports covering the past twenty or thirty years in connection with the commercial, maritime and industrial development of Boston. This task involved a large amount of research work and close attention to detail.

The Planning Board was of great usefulness to the Special Commission on the Extended Use of Public Buildings, for which commission it prepared a map showing the location of municipally owned buildings. This map was accompanied with charts and other information of value.

In an effort to add to the beauty of Boston, the Planning Board has worked out a plan for the possible rearrangement of Copley square. This plan was submitted July 18 last, and calls for what might be termed a Maltese cross arrangement of the grass plots with a large open circle in the center.

The City Planning Board has made several recommendations at different times regarding the proposed widening of Washington street at various points, as circumstances such as the demolition of old buildings have suggested the feasibility of such improvement.

In a wide variety of investigation and report the City Planning Board has aided in obtaining permanent improvements in the city's physical arrangement. A formal indorsement of the work of the Board from the Boston Society of Architects is a pleasing fact to be recorded. Another attestation of the value of the Board has been the interest shown in its work by not less than a score of visiting representatives from Japan, including architects, engineers and city planners.

Requests for copies of the City Planning Board reports have come from many parts of the United States and from abroad. Monsieur M. Jacques Greber of Paris devoted some time to studying the work of this Board and a set of lantern slides of various improvements contemplated by the Board was prepared for and furnished to him for purposes of exhibition.

A Zoning System.

Two years ago one of the constitutional amendments adopted authorized the Massachusetts Legislature to pass laws "to limit buildings according to their use or construction to specified districts of cities and towns." Its purpose was to prevent objectionable building and undesirable uses of buildings in business and residential districts of cities and towns. Following the spirit of this amendment the Legislature of 1920, by chapter 601 of its acts, gave to the cities and towns the necessary authority to carry out such a purpose. Under this act there was presented to the Boston City Council on January 9, 1922, a proposed ordinance establishing a system known as the "zoning system" in Boston. By this proposed ordinance the city was divided into three classes of districts:

Business districts.
Residence districts.
Unrestricted districts.

This ordinance was prepared by the Board of Street Commissioners.

For business and residence districts special regulations are proposed. In the unredistricted districts the erection, alteration and use of building would be regulated as in the past by the building laws.

This plan is a definite step of the utmost importance to Boston. It is designed equally to protect residence districts against an unwarranted and injurious encroachment by business, and to protect business against embarrassment and injury due to objections raised after such business has established its location in good faith and with honest purpose. The modern city, particularly one in which manufacturing is carried on, must consist of a variety of citizens with a variety of desires and needs. It is one of the functions of municipal administration to guarantee, in so far as it is possible, the happiness and prosperity of all of these inhabitants. In past years the growth of cities and the location of residences and business have been determined by what have been called natural tendencies.

It is apparent now, however, that such tendencies, if unrestrained and undirected by any systematic authority, may work grievous injury to individuals, may seriously lower real estate values in certain sections, and will almost certainly create dissatisfaction and complaint among the people. It has always been found difficult to substitute for this natural growth a predetermined and limited method of development and expansion. The demand for an effective system of restriction in Boston is imperative. It is to meet this demand that this zoning ordinance was submitted with my hearty approval, and I strongly recommended its passage. It offers a distinct starting point for an ultimately entirely satisfactory disposal of the problem of business and residence restriction in this city. Only through such a system can private property, whether for residence or business, be guaranteed a square deal at all times, and only by such interest of purpose and performance and by such guaranties of stability can the public interest be adequately served.

Park Department.

A special effort has been made during this administration to improve the upkeep of the properties under the Park Department. This policy has had gratifying success. Large areas of woodland at Franklin Park and trees, shrubs and grass areas in other parts of the city have been brought under more thorough care than had previously been given them.

One of the important policies of the commissioners has been to develop, so far as funds would permit, the unfinished playgrounds throughout the city.

The commissioners have believed that money thus spent would be of greater benefit to the city than a similar expenditure to acquire new areas without the funds properly to equip them for the public.

Parks and Playgrounds.

I would like in this connection to emphasize with great earnestness the importance of the acquisition, equipment and maintenance of public playgrounds. In the earlier days of our American civilization and before the modern period of extreme congestion in cities the natural human right for open spaces for outdoor recreation was taken for granted. It is a natural human desire to seek health and happiness in the open. The love of blue skies and green fields and the exhilaration of snowclad hills are inheritances from our ancestors. There is no normal man to whom the appeal of outdoors does not come at some time during his life. In the early and universal occupation of mankind, in hunting, and in the pursuit of agriculture, the enjoyment of outdoors was a part of his everyday activity and was a source of strength for the race.

Under modern city conditions this essential right of humanity and the happiness of outdoor life is in a large measure withdrawn. I sometimes question whether all of the modern conveniences and efforts of indoor facilities can adequately compensate the human race for that loss of outdoor freedom which has resulted from the new and ncessary living conditions.

The earliest builders of our New England towns clung with tenacity to the ancient heritage of wide spaces. Every old New England town kept its village green or common free from encroachment, a public park and playground for the young and old of the village. There is no more peaceful and wholesome sight than that of an old New England village street, wide in its reach from house to house, beautiful in its display of great trees and spread of lawn.

In most of the New England cities this inclination to maintain a public common, the square in the city center, has been cherished. In no city is this more marked or more admirable than in Boston. We have here, in Boston Common, a possession which is not to be exceeded in value to the city by any asset of any other municipality anywhere.

Within recent years we have revived somewhat of the old appreciation of the value of open spaces for all the people. This has led to the development of playground systems in our American cities. In Boston this understanding of public needs has had my heartiest encouragement. I cannot too strongly emphasize my belief that the development, equipment and maintenance of parks and playgrounds in Boston is a vital necessity for the city's prosperity and wholesome growth. These things have not only a sentimental value but materially add to the city's prosperity by making residence and business here more attractive, by increasing the public health and by contributing in many indirect ways toward permanent conditions conducive to municipal progress.

Boston Common, diverted from its customary uses to meet the demands of war conditions, has resumed its normal condition. The work of restoration has been well carried on, additional concrete walks have been laid, additional seats have been placed about the Parkman Memorial Bandstand, new shade trees have been planted and many other improvements made. A baseball field has been placed in perfect condition provided with fences and backstops, and the opportunities for this sport have been increased.

The Public Garden has been improved and all of the city parks have been put in first-class condition. At Franklin Park buildings have been renovated, golf links have been improved, and in general the work of the Park Department has been worthy of the city.

Some idea of the amount of work required in fighting plant pests may be gained from the fact that under the Park Department during the year 1920 more than 42,000 private trees were inspected, more than one half of which were reported infested with gypsy moth nests, most of these, as well as all trees belonging to the city, being sprayed or cleaned by the moth force during the season.

Zoological Garden.

The fact that fully two million persons visit the Zoological Garden at Franklin Park during the year emphasizes the importance of this institution. On Sundays and holidays through the spring, summer and fall the capacities of the Zoo buildings are severely taxed. During the past four years the exhibits at the Zoo have been strengthened and the accommodations have been added to. The most important of these is the new lion house, which is a building containing seven large cages constructed according to the most modern plan. The lions had until this time been kept in old, dark and poorly ventilated quarters and it was agreeable to be able to move them to this modern building.

Cemeteries.

Boston's cemeteries have been kept up to the mark and where improvements were necessary these have been added. At Mount Hope Cemetery a lot containing 85,000 square feet has been reserved for the burial of World War veterans. The Mount Hope, Fairview and Evergreen Cemeteries have had added to them new sections for use. The appearance of King's Chapel, Granary, Central and Dorchester South Burying Grounds has been much improved. A number of old tombs which have shown the effects of time have been restored at the Dorchester South, Roxbury South, Bennington Street, East Boston, King's Chapel and Granary Burying Grounds. The large trees in all of these places have been carefully pruned and treated and restored to a condition which increases their likelihood of long life.

Public Buildings.

The public buldings of the city have been improved in appearance and usefulness. At the Faneuil Hall Market new metal awnings were put in place, new storm doors added and in other ways the usefulness of the market increased.

The Old State House, which was damaged by fire, was thoroughly restored in May, 1921, at a cost of $12,500.

Important improvements at the Charles Street Jail have been begun and when completed will include a hospital and office rooms, as well as rest rooms, and an auditorium for religious and social purposes.

The contract was let on December 14,

1920, under an appropriation of $355,000, for a new municipal building at Hyde Park.

New quarters for the Division 8 Police Station, for which $230,000 was appropriated, will accommodate not only the police boats but Fireboat No. 31 and a part of the Public Works Department.

The new municipal building for Old Ward 12, for which was made an appropriation of $449,000, the contract being let on July 18, 1921, provides for that section of the city a modern fireproof building of first-class construction. The first floor contains an auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,200 and also public shower baths. On the second floor are a social room and a gallery for the auditorium. The top floor will contain a gymnasium with showers and individual dressing rooms. On the fourth floor are a running track, shower baths and dressing rooms. In the basement are accommodations for a branch of the Public Library. This is one of the best buildings of its kind in the country and its acquisition is one of the important items in this administration.

Another important new building is the Forest Hills Courthouse, for which $265,000 was appropriated. The contract was awarded November 8, 1921.

Schoolhouses.

During the past four years there have been general improvements in Boston's schoolhouses and their equipment.

Office quarters at 15 Beacon street have been taken for the School Administration Building at a cost of $435,307.63. This is the most economical arrangement, as well as placing the School Administration Department in a convenient location. By this arrangement there was effected for the city a saving of about $700,000 under what it would have cost to construct a new building.

Reference has been made in another portion of this address to some of the new schools which have been built. They are essential factors in the progressive development of Boston. Besides these new school buildings there has been a considerable expenditure of public funds for bettering the condition of existing school buildings by providing improved heating and ventilating systems and other necessary modern equipment.

City Supplies.

Through the activity of the Supply Department the purchase of city supplies has been placed on a business basis. The taking of cash discounts on public bills has involved an increased amount from month to month because the office advertises the fact that the city is anxious to take a cash discount. As soon as this discount has been granted the office of the Purchasing Agent speeds up in so far as it can the passage of bills through the various channels in order that the City Treasurer may take the discount available.

Under this same department the inspection service has been broadened and through co-operation with the Public Works Department the laboratory has been much in use for chemical analysis of materials which enter into road making and have to do with the operation of motor vehicles. The Supply Department also has worked in co-operation with the food inspection laboratory of the Health Department with admirable results.

I have also urged upon this department that it handle the electric light contracts, except street lighting, and the Superintendent of Supplies has devoted much time and effort to obtain a reduction in rates.

Weights and Measures.

In the important work of protecting the public against false weights and measures the Department of the Sealing of Weights and Measures has been fully equipped with up-to-date standard instruments to replace those which were worn and obsolete. This is an investment which will last for many years.

The Public Market.

An achievement which has brought much satisfaction to the business men in the market was the adoption of the so-called "four o'clock law," which forbids the sale of perishable produce between 5 p. m. and 4 a. m. of the next day.

For thirty years the market gardeners doing business on South Market street have tried to put such a law into effect but they were powerless to do so because of a statute passed a century ago. I am sure that the farmers are greatly pleased by the introduction of the amendment, which I favored in the Legislature and which became a law on March 1, 1921. Under this law the office of the city Superintendent of Markets opens at 4 a. m. No farmer is allowed to uncover his load of produce or to offer anything for sale until the market bell is sounded. Therefore the provision dealer, grocer, peddler and commission merchant have the same opportunity to buy their produce. This is something which has never been known in Boston before. It establishes fairness and an equal chance for all in doing business.

City Printing.

The City Printing Department has been brought to a high stage of efficiency. It is now one of the best equipped and best managed printing establishments ever under municipal control.

For the fiscal year ending January 1, 1921, the Printing Department showed a net profit of $71,210.14, which was an increase of $40,357.07 over the net profit for the preceding year. The cash receipts for the year ending January 31, 1921, were $439,816.67, including the balance from 1920. The payments were $312,519.30, leaving a balance to the department's credit of $127,297.37, as against $58,212.71 at the beginning of the period—an increase of $69,084.66.

Three new linotype machines have been installed and are in successful operation. This thoroughly modernizes the plant, increases its efficiency and lowers the cost of operation.

On January 22, 1920, in a communication from the Finance Commission, accompanying a report made under its direction, and suggesting certain changes which appeared to it feasible, the commission stated that "The Superintendent has conducted the plant economically and efficiently; that he has endeavored to reduce expenses, has purchased supplies and materials with intelligence and at a low cost, and has displayed initiative in subletting a portion of the premises covered by the lease that is not now needed by the plant, which has reduced the net rental from $8,220 to $6,900 a year."

In the special report of the Finance Commission dated January 5, 1920, and signed by James H. Smyth, which is a report accompanying the communication which I have quoted, the statement is made that "The Superintendent shows himself fully alive to the city's interests and able to resist political and labor pressure."

Law Department.

The City Law Department is always a source of strength and reliance to the head of a city administration. I have received the heartiest co-operation and uninterrupted assistance at all times from the Corporation Counsel and his assistants. The department has ably represented the city before the courts and in the Legislature, and has maintained the reputation of the city for fairness and for efficiency. The Law Department has conducted important work of a great variety of kinds. One achievement indicating the value of its investigations is its achievement in devising ways and means of saving the city annually approximately $28,000 by changing meters and the schedules under which electricty has been purchased by the city.

It is important also to record the fact that the Law Department collected from the surety companies in two instances the entire amount of city losses. This prevented the city from losing more than $40,000, and is an example of efficiency in the public interest.

To give the general public some idea of the extent of the work placed upon the shoulders of the Law Department, reference to the following table is valuable. It states the disposition of claims referred to the Law Department by the City Council.

Music.

Provisions of music for open-air public entertainment is an important function to which this administration gave serious and, I think, profitable attention. The system of open-air concerts in Boston needed considerable improvement to make these entertainments worthy of the city and of value to the public. I therefore appointed an Advisory Committee on Music, which after a careful study of the situation, developed an annual series of open-air concerts which have reached a high state of excellence. The repertoire of these concerts was of high character and was thoroughly appreciated by their large attendance always. Bands of reasonably permanent organization were employed under able leadership. The results were gratifying.

The general policy of the committee early adopted, consistently adhered to, favored concentration of the concerts at a few generally accessible points rather than dividing them among a number of city and suburban districts. This policy improved the conditions under which performances were given and made it feasible to employ larger bands with a resulting excellence of performance.

Mention has been made in another part of this report of the provision for additional permanent seats to the number of more than 3,000 and to the planting of additional trees to shade these seats at the Parkman Bandstand on the Common, these improvements being made under the direction of the Park Department. At Franklin Park the bandstand has been moved to a permanent position selected for it in accordance with the general plans eventually to be perfected.

The Modern City.

In planning for our city we should appreciate that we must plan for the social and physical well-being of our future citizens. While we cannot determine definitely the direction in which tendencies are leading us, some developments are so marked as to indicate plainly that we should take them into consideration in planning for the future.

For one thing, we shall witness a growth in area and an immense expansion of population. In 1915 seventy per cent of the people of Massachusetts were living in the thirty-five cities. Before the century is out Boston will probably include all of what we now call Greater Boston and will count its population by the millions. It will absorb and combine its neighbors just as New York a while ago revised its boundaries so as to bring the surrounding cities and towns under one administrative system.

But this development in size is inevitably accompanied by a congestion which the perverse ingenuity of architects favors and accentuates. The skyscraper is built to accommodate 10,000 workers. Business is concentrated at favored points, residential areas are crowded almost to suffocation, traffic is deadlocked in the principal thoroughfares, and the freedom and speed of movement which city life requires is hopelessly impeded. This is the stage which we have reached today in New York and Boston and many of the other large cities. There is no doubt that we have passed beyond the saturation point and that there must be an overflow in some direction to afford relief.

The key to such relief is distribution and the key to distribution is transportation. Transportation in the American cities will have to quicken its pace so as not only to meet but to anticipate the needs of the population. At present, as you all know, it lags far behind. There will have to be a great slashing of broad avenues so as to provide not only ingress and egress but cross currents of circulation. There will be tunnels and more tunnels. There may be arcades and depressed streets and other devices. There will certainly be a great increase of motor travel, necessitating new methods of regulation. It is not impossible that we shall see passenger air ships.

A system of careful zoning has been worked out by the City of Boston. A city to be developed now should group its component parts, by zones or otherwise, so as not to interfere one with another. The city of the future will not permit the prevailing winds to deluge a residential section with factory or railroad smoke as happens in large cities today. We do not expect to get a standardized city, but certain functions of our cities should be developed along similar lines and we should profit by the general experiences of others.

But it will be a democracy that recognizes the value of knowledge and the need of skilled guidance. The expert is already filling a large place in city affairs. There is the city planner himself, a new kind of expert, besides the engineer, the sanitarian, the bacteriologist, the gardener, the accountant, the lawyer, the educator specialists of many sorts. My own policy has been to place an expert at the head of every department. The merit system even undertakes to make the whole city force, if not a body of experts, at least as capable as may be. What a change that indicates in the public mind! What a transformation from the days of "rings" and "machines," of "bosses" and "heelers"! But then they were experts, too,—of an older and happily vanishing school.

Party politics, in the old sense, will probably disappear. Whether the citizens will divide on strict lines of social or economic cleavage is hard to say. It is practically certain that the methods of taxation will change. They are different now in almost every country and there is nothing final or authoritative anywhere. The trend, however, is toward an attempt to make the burdens more just and equal, by disclosing the incidence of indirect taxation and recognizing the indirect taxpayer.

The scientific budget, with moneys all accounted for in detail and contracts awarded on merit and not by favor, is well installed and will be improved and extended.

More important, however, than any other development in our city should be the development and strengthening of the moral and political fiber of our people. You cannot legislate a good government onto a people. Neither a code of laws nor any system of administration will produce it. Good government must rest on the ideals and standards of the people themselves. The stream of political life can never rise above the spring which is its source, and the source of political strength is in the standards and ideals of our people.

Children in our schools should be taught what our government means, and in what its strength lies. They should be brought up to realize that democracy is not a form of government from which simply benefits can be taken, such as freedom of action, religious freedom, protection of property and those other great advantages which we have; but that it can only survive if the citizens recognize that they owe duties as well.

No one can have been for four years in the office of Mayor without appreciating the great spirit of the American people and grasping the struggle that is going on to better conditions. To help the masses of the people to better conditions is one of the great services that can be rendered in municipal government and to which that branch of the government, more than any other, lends itself. While the Mayor's office brings one in contact with that class of people who are known as politicians, I do not believe that the standards differ so widely from those of business life as people whose experience has only been with writers are led to believe. The world is full of clean, honest, kindly people who desire to be met in a straightforward, direct manner and who will respond, and a reputation for straight dealing or uprightness is as much an asset in political work as in any other work.

It has a tendency to discourage one, to realize that after years of work in getting organized a city organization, a successor can wipe out that organization with one final stroke of his pen. I don't believe, however, that it is ever wiped out. Whenever a better standard of administration is given it will make its impression and help develop a still better standard in the future. Of the future of our country I am prefectly confident. Progress is made by swings, and over a period of time we are going to see a raising of our ideals of public service. It has been a great privilege to administer the affairs of the city as Mayor, and one which has made the last four years the most satisfactory ones of my life. No one can do public work without faith in the people and without confidence that the people at heart are really true and are as a mass striving toward better and higher ideals. I firmly believe this. None except those with confidence can successfully give public administration, and it would be impossible for one to continue such service without coming to a firm belief in the uprightness and general honesty of the people.

STATEMENT BY MAYOR PETERS IN RE FINANCIAL SITUATION OF THE CITY AT THE CLOSE OF THE FISCAL YEAR 1921-22.

(Statement issued February 1.)

The city closed its fiscal year yesterday with a cash surplus on hand of $2,046,809.42. This surplus contrasts with a deficit of $804,879.38 with which the treasury was turned over to me four years ago. To my mind, the surplus this year constitutes an unusual showing, particularly when one stops to consider the general industrial and financial situation.

As stated in the valedictory address which I delivered before the City Council this morning, I am changing the accounting system of the city from the cash receipts and payments basis to the income and expenditure basis. In order to change to this latter system it is necessary to provide for certain pay rolls during the month of January, and for a large number of invoices incurred during the months of December and January.

The amount of the pay rolls to be thus cared for is definitely known, and we have estimated the invoices to be cared for on the basis of similar invoices previously cared for on the February and March drafts. It is estimated that the total of these will not exceed $1,900,000, despite the extravagant statement attributed to the chairman of the Finance Commission recently before a legislative committee that the obligations of the city totalled in the neighborhood of $6,000,000. In order to meet the pay rolls and invoices in question we are establishing a special account composed of the cash surplus of $2,046,809.42 plus the unexpended balance of the School Committee, the latter being included as the sum of $1,900,000 mentioned above includes all obligations of the School Committee incurred prior to February 1, 1922. The special account thus created totals $2,297,705.42. This account will be maintained until all obligations incurred prior to February 1, 1922, have been paid, and the balance will go into general revenue available for expenditure by Mayor Curley, and the sum which will thus revert to the general treasury will no doubt run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

In short, although during the past year we will have paid, through the medium of this special account, expenditures of at least thirteen months, a substantial cash surplus will be available for Mayor Curley.

* From the fiscal year 1885–86 to the fiscal year 1899–1900, inclusive, the City could make annually appropriations, to be met by the general revenue of the City and by taxes, to the amount of the interest and sinking-fund requirements, to the amount of the County expenses up to $425,000 and to the further amount of $9 on each $1,000 of the average of the assessed valuations for the preceding five years, less abatements.

During the fiscal year 1900–01, the Legislature passed an act (Stat. 1900, Chap. 399) repealing the laws of 1885 and 1887 (Stat. 1885, Chap. 178, and Stat. 1887, Chap. 281), and authorizing the City Council to make appropriations annually to the amount of the interest and sinking-fund requrements, to the total amount of County expenses, and to the further amount of $10.50 on each $1,000 of the average of the assessors' valuations for the preceding three years, reduced by all abatements allowed to December 31 of the year preceding. The law went into effect in June, 1900. By Chapter 521, Acts of 1910, the limit of $10.50 on each $1,000 was raised to $10.55, by Chapter 184, Special Acts of 1915, to $10.57, by Chapter 267, Special Acts of 1916 to $11.02, by Chaps. 120 and 132, Special Acts of 1918, to $14.29 and by Chap. 206, Spec. Acts of 1919 to $14.90 for that year and $18.67 for 1920.

† Does not include State tax and assessments, nor Metropolitan assessments, which are met by "Taxes and General Revenue."

[1] $2,500,000 in addition to the cost of land. Cost of land, $1,056,469.69; $2,746,000 authorized by City Council; $75,000 additional for furnishing authorized by City Council.

[2] Never approved by City Council.

[3] Not exceeding $6,000,000 in excess of Sinking Fund — debt authorized in 1891 ($500,000) included in the above amount inside of debt limit; $852,500 this amount issued as Park Debt under chapter 394, Acts of 1897.

[4] Chapter 548, Acts of 1894, authorizes the City of Boston to borrow not exceeding $7,000,000 to promote rapid transit (this amount reduced $616,000 under authority of chapter 347, Acts of 1897), and such further amount for Charlestown Bridge and its approaches, in addition to the $750,000 heretofore appropriated by the City Council, as may be necessary for the completion of said bridge and approaches.

[5] No limit to the amount.

[6] Also $1,800,000 inside the debt limit. Amendment, chapter 442, Acts of 1897.

[7] Not exceeding $1,000,000 each year. By chapter 204, Acts of 1908, all loans issued after March 14, 1908, are to be inside the debt limit.

[8] Repealed by chapter 473, Acts of 1901.

[9] Limited each year to one-twentieth of 1 per cent of taxable valuation.

[10] Limited to amount required to repay all sewerage charges collected by the city under chapter 426, Acts of 1897.

[11] Total expense to Boston and Cambridge not to exceed $120,000.

Chapter 315, Acts of 1909. "All authority heretofore granted under any special act to the City of Boston to borrow money or contract loans outside the debt limit except for transit purposes under the transit acts, so called, except so far as the issuance of such loan may be necessary to pay amounts due on contracts made prior to June first, nineteen hundred and nine, or to pay executions of court on suits brought under the acts authorizing said loans prior to June first, nineteen hundred and nine, is hereby rescinded and the parts of said acts authorizing the continued issue of loans are hereby repealed."

MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

Telephone Operators, February 8, 1922.

A competitive examination for the position of telephone operator (open to men and women) in the service of the state, of Boston, and of the various cities of the Commonwealth and of such towns as are classified under civil service, will be held on February 8, 1922.

Persons who pass the examination are entitled to have their names placed upon the eligible lists for the service of the state and of the city in which they reside and any two others for which they may indicate a preference.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Experience 50; memory 15; telephone operation 35; total 100.

Policewomen, February 15, 1922, in the Service of Boston, All Other Cities in the State, and Such Towns as are Classified Under Civil Service.

Vacancies occur from time to time in the Boston Police Department, at an entrance salary of $1,400 a year, increasing $100 a year to a maximum of $1,800. At present there is a vacancy in the Lowell Police Department at a salary of $20 per week, and a vacancy in the Medford Police Department at a salary of $1,000 a year. Other vacancies may occur at any time in other cities and towns than those named above.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Experience 5; report 1; practical questions 4; total 10.

Persons who pass the written examination may be required to qualify in personality (as determined by an oral interview) before certification.

The practical questions will concern such matters as warrants, arrests, etc., the laws relating to night walking, stubborn children, shoplifters, etc., and practical cases to test applicants' judgment and resourcefulness in handling typical problems along protective and preventive as well as correctional lines. Some of the practical questions will be based upon information contained in a manual supplied by the Department of Civil Service and Registration, Division of Civil Service, and known as the "Blue Book," a copy of which will be sent to every person who files an application. Applicants are advised to inquire either personally or by letter should they fail to receive this manual.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in experience. Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

Applicants for Boston must be not less than 25 nor over 35 years of age at the time of filing applications, which must be accompanied by birth certificates. In no other city or town is an age limit required.

There are no requirements as to weight or height in any city or town.

Pilot and Quartermaster, Public Works Department, February 17, 1922.

The salary is $32.60 per week. The working day is eight hours, but the eight-hour watch varies from day to day. One day off in seven is allowed. The duties of the position are to assist the captain, keep the pilot house clean, keep a watch out for approaching craft, assist the captain in traffic count and in any other way that the captain may direct.

In the absence of the captain the pilot assumes the duties of master. It is desirable that applicants be familiar with the rules of the United States Steamboat Inspection Service. Applicants should have a pilot's license for vessels of 900 tons, and should also have a life boat man's certificate.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 6; report, 1; practical questions, 3; total, 10.

Applicants will be required to obtain at least 65 per cent in training and experience.

Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

General Information.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in chapter 150 of the General Acts of 1919.

Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply. Preference in certification will be given to applicants who, at the time of filing application, are residents of the city or town from which requisition is received.

As far as practicable, these examinations will be held in various centrally located cities throughout the state.

Application blanks may be obtained by applying in person or by letter at the office of the Department of Civil Service and Registration, Division of Civil Service, Rooms 148-152, State House, Boston.

BOSTON TRUST FUNDS AND BEQUESTS.

Number of permanent funds and bequests held by the City, February 1, 1921, for various purposes, 128, representing a total value of $10,025,490. The earliest dates back to 1674, viz., Gibson School Fund. The largest fund is the bequest of the late George F. Parkman, consisting of various parcels of real estate (now mostly sold) valued at $5,000,000 to $6,000,000, the income from which (about $195,000 annually) is used for the upkeep and improvement of the older parks. Total amount of Parkman Fund in custody of City Treasurer, $5,377,877; next in amount, $907,894, made up of 17 funds in charge of the Overseers of the Public Welfare; (3) the Franklin and Franklin Union, amounting to $766,808; (4) 41 Public Library funds, $674,533; (5) Public School Teachers' Retirement, $665,568; (6) 8 Cemetery funds, $609,839; (7) Permanent School Pension, $380,516; (8) Police Charitable, $207,550; (9) 19 School funds, $170,936; (10) 19 Hospital funds, $97,750; 18 others, $166,219. Average annual income from all invested funds, nearly 4 per cent.

Two other funds are held by incorporated members of the Fire Department and Police Department respectively, viz.: Firemen's Relief Fund, amounting to $240,000 and Police Relief Fund, $232,005.

The Thorndike Memorial Building Fund, viz., $200,000 (bequest of George L. Thorndike) received by City Treasurer in 1919, is to be used for a ward building for clinical research purposes by the City Hospital Trustees. A loan of $150,000 for this object has been authorized but not yet issued.

A duplicate bid, without check, must be left at the auditor's office prior to the time named for opening bids. The bids will be publicly opened and read Friday, February 10, 1922, at 12 m. at Room 801, City Hall Annex. The successful bidder must furnish a bond for one quarter the amount of the contract with a surety company authorized to do business in Massachusetts. The Superintendent reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals, or any part of a proposal, and to award the contract as he deems for the best interests of the city. All contracts made subject to appropriations to meet payments thereunder.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

To Electrical Contractors.

The Schoolhouse Commissioners of the City of Boston invite sealed proposals for installing and completing the electrical and gas systems in the Intermediate School, George Putnam district, School and Dixwell streets, Boston, Mass., and giving bond of a surety company approved by the Commissioners in the sum of 45 per cent of the entire contract price. Only proposals obtained at the office of the Commissioners, Room 1009, City Hall Annex, signed by the bidder and left before 12 o'clock m. of Tuesday, February 14, 1922, at said office with a certified check for $1,500, payable to the city if the proposal is not carried out, will then and there be publicly opened and read. The proposal shall be made in duplicate, the one with the check to be submitted as indicated above and the other to be deposited with the City Auditor, City Hall, previous to the time named for opening proposals. The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any or all proposals. A deposit of $15 will be required for a complete set of plans and specifications, said sum to be refunded on return of plans and specifications. Mutilation of the plans or specifications will be deemed sufficient cause for the forfeiture of the said deposit.

Joseph P. Lomasney,
James J. Mahar,
Ralph Harrington Doane,
Commissioners.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Thursday, January 26, 1922.

Regular meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at two o'clock p. m., President WATSON in the chair and all the members present.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. MORIARTY, for the Executive Committee, submitted a report on an order authorizing it to investigate and report on municipal lighting—recommendiing the passage of the following, viz.:

Ordered, That the City of Boston establish and maintain a municipal lighting plant, including suitable land, structures, machinery and other apparatus and appliances, for manufacturing, using and distributing electricity for municipal use and for the use of its inhabitants, all in accordance with the provisions of chapter 164 of the General Laws.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. MORIARTY in the chair.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, for almost one year, after what I would call an exhaustive study by at least a majority of the members of this Council today the Executive Committee reports this order favorably by more than a two-thirds vote, I think, an order which is the first step that Boston can take in the matter of public ownership of an electric lighting plant. There is no reference in the order to the question of taking over the gaslight company or equipping a plant of the city for the manufacture and sale of gas for illuminating, heat and power purposes, and for the reason, at least, from my point of view, that Boston cannot for a moment afford to consider taking over what is now, in my opinion, close to being a bankrupt concern. Therefore I will pass lightly over the objection which may be made by some members to the effect that we have not covered the ground called for in my original order. We have been treated to a statement of conditions and principles, economic and political, by the learned gentleman who appeared before the Executive Committee; but, entirely independently of what he may have said there, the data that we have collected, of which each member has a synopsis before him, is sufficient, in my opinion, for this body to vote favorably on the question of Boston entering upon municipal ownership of electric lighting plants. The condition that confronts us today, and which has led to our acting upon this measure, has been brought about by the autocratic attitude of an aggregation of wealthy and absent landlords, who control the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston—which is misnamed, because it is not the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston. It is the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston and ten or twelve other cities and towns. Because they are located in Boston does not mean that they do business only in Boston, because they take in Framingham, Malden, Newton, Brookline and many other cities and towns. I am also going to pass over lightly the question of the control by the Edison interests of the Legislature. It is too well known to the average man, and better known by those who have served in the Legislature and who have been in public life in a minor or greater degree, to comment upon. Corruption has been their tool. They have bought votes up on Beacon Hill or elsewhere, according to their needs, and I want to publicly absolve many good men who have fallen, who have succumbed to their temptations, because in a way those men were not to blame. There can be no bribery unless there are bribers, and it is never the presumably honest member of a legislative body, or one who holds a public office, who voluntarily becomes corrupt or dishonest. He is tempted at the psychological moment, according to his needs, personal and otherwise. I say that there is corruption on Beacon Hill. It is there today. Let them protest as they may; it is there, and I will pass lightly over it. I must pay tribute publicly to an official of this city who will soon pass back into private life, the Corporation Counsel of the City of Boston, Arthur Dehon Hill, a man who in my opinion is the equal if not the superior of any officer in our Law Department during my time in public service in the City of Boston; a man of sterling, upright character, both in a business and a personal way; a man whom Boston can ill afford to lose,—and, of course, we must lose him, because of political conditions. I do not mean by that that his place cannot be filled or that he cannot be replaced by a man who can perform the duties equally well; but I want to state now definitely that when Arthur D. Hill severs his connection with the City of Boston as its highest Law Department official, Boston will be the loser and not Arthur D. Hill. He is prosecuting now the Edison Company in other directions, fortified by our help, the Mayor's help and the help of many taxpayers, and results will surely be obtained that will be beneficial to us. I must also pay tribute to a newspaper in Boston that since I remember, back in 1904, has stood in favor of political bodies not being used by corrupt interests, and which has been strongly in favor of matters vital to the people's interest at all times. I refer to the Boston American. I have differed with them frequently, but in the main they have been a bulwark against combinations of corrupt interests in bettering public interests. Their judgment concerning candidates for high offices has not always been the best. In that connection I need only refer back to the last mayoralty campaign, when they fell down in the matter of the selection of a candidate who was to succeed. I see by their editorials that they are now in favor of upholding the hands of the Mayor-elect, standing firmly back of him in his endeavor to give to the public of Boston the proper kind of an administration, such an administration as he is capable of giving, and one which he will give. Now, Mr. President, we have visited other cities, and we have obtained undeniable evidence that municipal ownership and operation of electric lighting plants is a positive 100 per cent success. We visited Columbus, Ohio, with a population of 237,000 people, the capital of the state of Ohio. We visited Buffalo, New York, with a population of 525,000; we visited Detroit, Michigan, with a population of 985,000; we visited Chicago, Illinois, with a population of two and one-half million. Springfield, Illinois, we did not visit, but we have data here that is positive and unanswerable. We also visited Milwaukee, Wisconsin, with a population of 475,000. We have information, or I have, rather, from Jacksonville, Florida, with a population of 92,000; information from Cleveland, Ohio, with a population of 800,000, and information concerning New York, which I am not going to touch upon because it has no bearing on the matter, but which adds to the evidence in favor of doing something in the way of making the Edison Company do the fair thing by the citizens. The only way in which we can get the company to do it, Mr. President, is by passing such a measure as this. Let me read some of the information which we have obtained. Columbus, Ohio, has a municipal plant, and has had for some years. They could junk their present plant today and show a profitable investment after so doing. They supply light to the inhabitants of Columbus, Ohio, according to the report given to us by the Commissioner of Public Utilities, and according to the statement furnished us by Mr. C. F. Turner, superintendent of the Columbus municipal electric lighting plant, for residence lighting at 6 cents per kilowatt hour. The private plant in Columbus charges 8 cents. The charge for street lights there is $38.70 per lamp per year, as against $78.10 or $79.10 per lamp per year in Boston. That report is here for the members to read if they so desire. We talked with many people in Columbus in regard to the matter. I will not bother to tell the Council all that they told us, but it is enough to say that they were unanimous in the feeling that they would never think of doing away with their municipal light plant. They had an interesting and enlightening experience there early in the history of the plant. Unfriendly interests, representing the private plant, got into the municipal plant, got control there, and almost wrecked it, but it was finally saved through a very watchful Commissioner of Public Utilities, who does his duties as he sees them in the interest of the taxpayers. Next we pass on to Buffalo, New York. Buffalo has no municipal lighting plant, but it is supplied by a private plant, the Buffalo General Electric Company. They get the power from which to generate their electricity in part through a contract with the Niagara Falls Power Company, using in large part hydro-electric power generated from the great Niagara Falls, but they also have a 90,000-kilowatt plant where they generate electricity to the full capacity from steam, which means from coal. They charge to the people of Buffalo 4 cents per kilowatt hour, as against 11 cents here, and there are no coal charges. That is, while they use coal there, as they do here, there is no extra charge on that account. The charge for street lights there by the private company is $43.25 per year per lamp, as against $79.10 in Boston. I may err in saying $79.10 here, and it may be $78.10, but it is either $78.10 or $79.10, and the charge for street lights in Buffalo is not much more than half that amount. I have here a receipt from a user in Buffalo. Coun. Donoghue was with me when I secured this paid bill, in a shop near the Statler Hotel. I have an interesting report here from William F. Schwartz, Commissioner of the Bureau of Streets of the Department of Public Works of Buffalo, regarding the prices per lamp per year for street lights. I will now pass on to Detroit—Detroit, the city beautiful, progressive Detroit. Perhaps it would not be out of place for me at this time to read something that was of interest to me, if it is not a matter of interest to the other members of the body. Right before the hotel where we stopped in Detroit is what they call Circus Square, in the heart of Detroit, and in the middle of that magnificent open space is a splendid large granite statue of a man whose memory is beloved and honored in that city. On that statue is an inscription that will go down to the ages, and I am going to read it here:

"The citizens of Michigan erect this monument to cherish the memory of Hasen Pingree, gallant soldier, enterprising and successful citizen, four times mayor of Detroit, twice governor of Michigan. He was the first to warn the people of the great danger threatened by powerful corporations and first to awake to the great inequality in taxation, and to initiate steps for reform."

The idol of the people, he died June 18, 1901, at the age of sixty years, nine months and three days. And right in front of that statue cars move, owned by the people of Detroit, municipally owned and operated street railways, the finest cars that your eyes were ever permitted to look upon, with 5-cent car fare; and lighting the circle around this statue are great arc lights supplied by the municipal electric lighting plant of Detroit at a price of $65.65 per lamp per year, as against our price of $79.10 per lamp per year. And the Detroit Edison Company supplies current to the inhabitants for lighting and heating purposes, and I hold in my hand a bill rendered for the month of April, 1921, to Mr. George Davis, of 16 West Adams avenue, Detroit, Michigan, for 161 kilowatt hours of electricity used at 5½ cents per kilowatt hour, with no coal charges, as against our 10 cents plus coal charges and excess. I have here the report of Mr. Mistersky, general superintendent of the Public Lighting Commission of the city of Detroit, giving the price of the city street lights and the history of the lighting plant question in Detroit. Next we come to the city of Chicago, another one of the cities where the reformers do not control, and there we find that the street lights in Chicago cost $29.99 per lamp per year, according to the report for 1919 of the gas and electricity department of the city of Chicago. It is true that they get much of that power, their energy, for making their electricity from the Chicago District Sanitation Commission, hydro-electric power, but the street lights are lit, practically all of them, by the city of Chicago itself at the price I have mentioned. Some of the street lights are supplied by the private company, called the Commonwealth Edison Company of Chicago, and I hold here in my hand a bill rendered to John W. Diemhart, 1737 Summerdale avenue, for 34 kilowatt hours, consumed in the month ending December 24, at 5½ cents per kilowatt hour, as against 10 cents, besides the coal and excess charges, in Boston. There are no coal charges and no excess charges in Chicago. I hold in my hand a report signed by Willis J. Spaulding, Commissioner of Light, Power and Water in Springfield, Illinois, in regard to the operations of the Springfield Municipal Light and Power Plant. Springfield, Illinois, was once the home of Abraham Lincoln, and I cannot permit this time to pass without quoting something that I clipped from the Boston Herald today in regard to Abraham Lincoln, while I am speaking of the city of Springfield, Illinois. This was at the head of the editorial column, headed "Anecdote for the day," and is as follows:

"When Lincoln was a candidate for Congress in 1846 his friends subscribed $200 for his campaign expenses. When the conflict was over he gave back to the treasurer $199.25, with the statement that his expense had been but 75 cents for the entire canvass. Wherever he went he said he found friends who cared for him and his horse without charge, and he wished the money returned to the owners. He had spent three quarters of a dollar only; that for a few gallons of cider to treat a lot of hands in harvest."

This was taken, according to the Herald, from an article entitled "Lincoln's Lessons for Today," by Garrett Newkirk, and I assume that it is correct, even if it is in the Herald. In Springfield, Illinois, according to the report, six cents per kilowatt hour is charged for electricity for light, heat and power purposes to the inhabitants, and the price paid for street lights is 50 per cent less than the amount paid to the private company prior to the city's taking over the street lights and operating them with its own plant. Milwaukee, Wisconsin, has no municipal plant. It has a private plant, the Milwaukee Traction and Light Company. They had a municipal lighting system in Milwaukee until a few years ago, but they are now starting in to handle their own street lighting. Under the Wisconsin law they do not have to go through all the devious and roundabout methods that we have to adopt here in order to do our own owning, but they can make short cuts. They don't have to read between the lines and try to reconcile all sorts of provisions of law. The law is plain. They have now taken over the streets lights, have condemned and ordered out the old poles, old equipment and conduits of the private company, and have substituted their own equipment, with reinforced concrete poles and lamps of the very latest design and invention, and we are informed by the Commissioner of Public Works that Milwaukee has the finest lighted streets in the country. We had to take his word for that, as we did not stay there over night. They are buying their electricity at the present time from this private company at 1¼ cents per killowatt hour to the burner on the pole, and it is figured that, taking the money placed to one side for depreciation and for sinking fund, the entire cost of the plant will be cleared up inside of twenty years. They are getting their lights there for less than $35 per lamp per year. They have done more than that. The voters have just voted by referendum vote in favor of a bond issue of half a million dollars for building the first unit of a municipal plant in Milwaukee. Jacksonville, Florida, we did not visit, but this information that I have came from my employer, Mr. Dyar, who is in Florida. The information is given in a Florida newspaper. The amount charged by the municipal plant is 6 cents per kilowatt hour, and 9 cents by the private plant. The price charged for street lights is $42.85 per year per lamp. The newspaper article I have here says that the city plant has earned $497,727.27 for the year 1921, and shows a tremendous profit to the people. Cleveland has a municipal and a private plant. I have here a copy of the annual report of the city of Cleveland for 1920, Department of Public Utilities, Division of Light and Power. The Commissioner of Light and Power in Cleveland is Mr. W. G. Davis, a wonderful man, who has been on both sides of the fence. He was a pioneer in establishing and building lighting plants, a big man, and every member of the Council here who was in Cleveland will admit that he is a valuable man. I have here a communication which would make interesting reading, but I do not think I will go outside the scope of this order to read it. Mr. Davis is certainly an extremely valuable man, so far as information on these matters is concerned, and I promise now that next year I will ask the Council to invite Mr. Davis here to give us assistance in the matter of arriving at a decision before taking our second vote. I think the other members of the Council will agree with me that he ought to come. Cleveland, as I say, has both a municipal and a private plant, and here is the revelation. Think of it—a beautiful plant supplying electricity for 3 cents per kilowatt hour, and prior to the establishment of the municipal plant the Cleveland private plant, known as the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company, was charging 12 cents per kilowatt hour. When the people were about to vote on the bond issue, to establish the municipal plant, the private company reduced their rate to 7 cents to try to offset the possibility of the people adopting the bond issue and establishing the municipal plant. But that had no effect in preventing the establishment of the municipal plant, and that plant is established today. The public plant charges 3 cents per kilowatt hour; 5 cents is charged by the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company, the charge being brought down from the amount charged by the company previously, which I have mentioned, to 5 cents. And, by the way, the municipal company now serves 35,000 users, and it is branching out and is going to serve a much larger portion of the community. Two fifths of the street lights are supplied by the municipal plant and three fifths by the private plant, and the private plant not wishing to get out of the street lighting business, an agreement was reached with them whereby both companies charge $46.60 per year per lamp for lighting the streets of Cleveland. I have bills here from Cleveland as well as from other places. I think, Mr. President, that I have about covered the ground except that I do wish to make a few references to points which occur to me. I wish to refer, for instance, to the growth of municipal plants. In 1890 there were 137 municipal electric light plants in the United States, or 13.50 per cent of the whole. In 1900 there were 710 municipal electric light plants, or 22.02 per cent of the whole. In 1917 there were 2,313 municipal electric light plants in the United States, or 35.43 per cent of the whole. So much for that, Mr. President. In a moment I shall be through. I have tried to condense my remarks as much as possible, but I cannot let the opportunity go by without referring to an editorial in the Boston Herald of this morning. I am going to read it here and make it a part of our record, so that those who come after us may get inspiration from it. This is an editorial in the Herald of Thursday, January 26, 1922, and it is an attack on Arthur D. Hill of the Law Department, the Mayor and the City Council of Boston. It is headed "A Costly Approach." It says:

"To obtain easier contracts from the Edison company, why should Boston have to make extraordinary appropriations running into five figures? The City Law Department is well manned. At least, neither the Corporation Counsel nor his numerous staff receives more criticism than any such department may naturally expect in its discharge of duty. The state's Department of Public Utilities enjoys an unusual degree of public confidence. This it has earned by its fair attitude, both toward the service corporations and toward the consumers. Seemingly Boston has every agency it needs for its protection in such simple transactions as buying light and power."

Why, that sounds almost like Coun. Collins!

"Yet the city has recently committed itself to a special outlay of $50,000 as the first expenditure in an aggressive contest with a single corporation. Can the situation warrant this expense?"

No, not from the standpoint of State street or of Lincoln O'Brien—no! And, by the way, the Herald, you know, is the paper that was owned formerly by the New Haven road. See what the Hereld did to the New Haven road!

"On the merits of the demand for lower rates the state commissioners can pass: it may well appear that the 'coal clause' and the 'surcharge' have outlived their occasion and should be discontinued. But on the city's method of approach every taxpayer must have misgiving. It may be assumed that the Edison Company is shrewd enough to understand that in getting new business the satisfied customer is its best agent."

Shrewd enough? Has anyone ever doubted that, with $50,000 being paid to Edgar, about $40,000 to Ives, Burdett and Wardwell? They are shrewd enough, there is no doubt about that!

"It may be assumed that the Edison Company is shrewd enough to understand that in getting new business the satisfied customer is its best agent. Certainly a company able to keep its service well above complaint is able to see that its own interest demands frank and friendly relations with its most important customer."

Oh, what a joke!

"Is it possible that the city has been fancying that the lower rates it is seeking and the changes it desires in the company's ways of making contracts can best be gained by threats and force? In any case, an approach that must be paved with extravagant appropriations should be considered, not only in its effect on the Edison Company and other public service corporations that are looking on, but also in its effect on the city's funds."

I don't know whether I ought to say this, but it is in my mind and I am inclined to think it is true. I think Burdett wrote that editorial, and that it was run without a change by the Herald. It all dovetails in. I see these things perhaps in rather a radical way and perhaps I stretch my imagination somewhat, but they are based somewhat on facts. On Beacon Hill we have a Legislature; in Boston we have a Good Government Association, the charter guards. We have Mr. Balch, who thought that the charter was an immortal document and should not be changed an iota; but he now goes to the Legislature and wants to amend the charter, to change it, because under it he has not been able to get a majority here that is to his way of thinking. And I cannot help saying this also, that Mr. Francis N. Balch—brigadier-general or corporal, I don't know which, of the charter guards, custodian of the morals and goodness in municipal and state affairs—is, I believe, the same Francis N. Balch who recently charged a policeman who lost his position, perhaps through neglect, $250 for making three visits to the Police Commissioner, and he did not succeed in reinstating the man then. Then we have another man here, Herbert W. Burr, another wonderful man, and I cannot let this moment pass without referring to him. He went on the pay roll of the City of Boston, not from the civil service, and when I was acting mayor I refused to sign the voucher to pay him, leaving that for Mayor Peters to do. He did not work long; he was valueless. He wants to change the charter, too. The Edison Company would like to get rid of fellows like the great majority here today. They do not own us. Then we have somebody else, Representative Rice of Newton, another one of those out-of-town members who want to run affairs in the City of Boston. Mr. Rice wants the Governor and the Governor's Council to be given the right to remove the Mayor of Boston from office—a body of nine, with only one Democrat! They want a chance to remove the Mayor, if they can, the man elected by the people of Boston to be mayor of the city, and they want a chance to remove him simply because he does not serve their purposes. And who is Mr. Rice? He belongs in Newton, but he gets a living in Boston. Ninety per cent of the people who buy things in his store are the people who have voted for the Watsons, the Donoghues, the Fords, the Brickleys, the Moriartys and the McLaughlins, who are not indorsed by the Good Government Association. The gentleman is treasurer of the Butler Company, and if the people who trade there knew this I would not care much for his receipts at the end of a week. He is also owner of the Glen Shirt Company. He earns his money here, pays his taxes in Newton, and then wants to run Boston from Beacon Hill. But the people are awakening. Mr. President, I have taken longer than I intended. I anticipate amendments. In fact, one of the councilors has said that he will offer a substitute, to the effect that the Council ask the Public Utilities Commission for information concerning the cost of the Edison plant. That is all buncomb and all camouflage. I am going to ask the member to believe with me that we are free from corporation control to vote that amendment down when it is offered. The gentleman offering it will do so for the purpose of throwing dust in our eyes and in the eyes of the public, or to save his own skin. He is against public ownership, in my opinion, even under the most favorable conditions. He has told me that he is against this measure or a measure similar to it; and I want to say now that I am informed that the order I introduced the other day, calling for ownership of the Edison Company,—an order which at the time I was informed represented the only way in which we could get at ownership of the lighting plant,—was not the proper order to offer. Having learned that I made an error, and having found out what was the proper order to introduce, I have now introduced a new order. Furthermore, this is not the last step. As to the cost, what if it does cost fifty million dollars? Aren't the people of Boston better able to issue bonds and make good on them than the Edison Company, especially when the Edison Company is earning 12 or 15 per cent on a big capitalization, about 50 per cent water? They tried last year, under their plan to capitalize premiums, to get the benefit of a forty million dollar melon cutting proposition, placing the additional burden on the consumers of electricity. But that was stopped then, and it would seem by today's paper that it has been now stopped for good. The day is coming, and is not far distant either, when electricity will be used for heat in my home and in the humblest man's home, and for light in the humblest man's home, as well as in the home of the rich. The Edison Company does not play many favorites. A few business men and newspapers are controlled by them on account of special rates, but the man who lives on Beacon street, near Coun. Lane, let him be worth a million dollars, will be bled by the Edison Company as well as the small business man or the poor man. All are affected alike. And so the rich man, unless he benefits through some profiteering scheme, is just as much back of us in this movement for public ownership as the man who has only his small pay envelope to look at on Saturday night. I thank the members for bearing with me in these remarks, but I believe that what I have said will remain on the record as an indisputable evidence of the success of municipal ownership and the operation of municipal lighting plants in the cities we visited; that it will justify the expenditure of the money of the taxpayers that was expended by reason of our trip to the West. We came back from the West better educated, better informed and with broader views than we ever had before. I sincerely trust that the vote in favor of this order will be unanimous, but I do not expect that. We must secure a two-thirds vote, must have six votes today, to pass the order. I don't know whether we have them or not. But the people, those who believe as I do in the matter of public ownership, are watching this contest. They are watching their servants, and we are the servants of all the people in this matter, of the rich as well as of the man who uses the pick and shovel on the street. Don't be misled by the idea that because we sit here in comfortable chairs, in front of a haughty desk, surrounded by comforts, that we are any less public servants than the good woman who scrubs the floors in this City Hall. We all have a sworn duty to perform. You all do your duty as you see it, and no one can expect less, but don't do it according to the dictates of others who have an ulterior motive and a corrupt thought in mind. I ask and trust, Mr. President, that a two-thirds vote will be taken in favor of this proposition today, so that next year the incoming Council will have an opportunity to consider it again, and finally I hope our action will be favorable, and that those whose servants we are, those who send us here, may be permitted to be the final judges of whether or not we should enter into the manufacture and sale of electricity to the inhabitants through a municipal plant.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, the member who has just spoken on an earlier day in this week brought an order before the Executive Committee, and was very insistent on its immediate passage at that time, providing that the City of Boston purchase the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston in so far as that company had property within the limits of the City of Boston. After I heard the order for the first time that day I was impressed with the fact that there must be something wrong, that the statute perhaps was not quite as bald as his order would have us believe, and I opposed that order here for over an hour last Monday. After a debate on the proposition postponement was voted. The Law Department was sent for, and today one of the assistant corporation counsels in the Law Department, Mr. Lyons, appeared before the Executive Committee with a draft of another order, which order is before the Council at this time. That order, Mr. President, provides that the city proceed to the erection of a municipal electric lighting plant in accordance with chapter 164 of the General Laws. That is the order which is now before the Council, that we proceed under chapter 164 of the General Laws. That being so, while an academic discussion of this subject is interesting and instructive, it is far from convincing, because we are not discussing here, as the last speaker would have you believe, the abstract question of municipal lighting, whether or not it is a success here, or whether or not it is a success there. The problem that confronts the Council is, whether or not we shall proceed in accordance with chapter 164 of the General Laws, which chapter, as shown by the advocacy of this order by the last speaker, meets, as far as the purposes of this meeting are concerned, with his hearty approval. Mr. President, we are living under a government of laws. The assistant corporation counsel who appeared before the Executive Committee stated clearly that, unless the law was changed, we would have to proceed under this statute. Let us examine a very interesting section of that statute, chapter 164 of the General Laws. I will call your specific attention to section 42 and, in order that it may appear upon the record, I am going to read the most important parts of it, as they appear to me:

"If, when a town votes to establish a municipal lighting plant, any person or corporation engaged at the time of the first vote required by sections 35 and 36 in generating or distributing gas or electricity for sale for lighting purposes in such town shall elect to sell in the manner hereinafter provided, the town shall purchase of him or it such portion of his or its plant and property within the limits of such town as is suitable for, and is used in connection with, such business."

So that, after all, aside from a purely technical proposition, is in form and essence substantially the basis of the order which was offered a few days ago, because the statute provides that the city or town must buy the plant of the electric light company situated within its limits at the time of the first vote of the Council or the vote of its inhabitants. But, be that as it may, the fact is this, that the Edison Electric Illuminating Company is doing business in Boston today, as it has done business for some years, and if this statute ever is adopted, if the action of the Council is ever ratified by the people, it means as a practical matter that the City of Boston must buy the plant of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston—I mean the plant within the limits of the City of Boston. That is a fine statute on which to launch a fight for municipal ownership! Why, Mr. President, I cannot think of a statute drawn up more inimical to public ownership than this particular statute under which the gentleman seeks to have this Council commit itself. But further on that section provides:

"If the main gas works or the central electric station lie within the town limits, such town shall purchase the whole of such plant and the property used in connection therewith, lying within such limits, at its fair market value for the purposes of its use, taking into account any depreciation or obsolescence thereon or of any part thereof."

Mr. President, not only you have to buy the plant, but you have to pay the fair market value of that plant as a going business, of course.

"But no portion of such plant shall be estimated at less than its fair market value for any other purpose including, as an element of value, the damages, if any, caused by the severance of any portion of such plant lying outside such town limit, if not purchased by the town, and excluding any mortgage or other encumbrance or lien to which such plant or any part thereof may be subject at the time of such purchase."

Mr. President (referring to Coun. Moriarty, in the chair), as chairman of the Executive Committee you called the attention of the asistant corporation counsel to that particular section, and it was suggested by him in the committee that not only would the City of Boston have to pay the fair market value of the plant in the City of Boston but would have to pay any consequential damage resulting from disconnecting the lines here in Boston from those of our suburban neighbors. That being the fact the City of Boston is tied down and absolutely committed under this statute. Now, is it not fair to argue, before the city government proceeds under any such law, that we ought first to find out fairly what is the fair market value of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company's plant here in Boston? Is it not right that we should find out what that fair value is from competent authorities? But we will not get that information under the proceedings that have appeared here during the past few months. Hearings have been had, there have been general discussions of the subject, a committee of six of my associates have visited some of the western cities and have come back with a report; but, I would like to ask, what evidence have we here on which to base our conclusions as to whether or not it is a wise plan—not as a general proposition, but under this statute—to proceed? The citizens of Boston are entitled to expect that their legislative representatives here will not pass on a proposition of this kind until those members have given it not only the most serious consideration but have obtained the very best data that is obtainable; and yet we have the unusual situation of this great city, through its legislative branch, being about to pass a vote to proceed, mark you, Mr. President, not on the general problem of municipal ownership in itself, but under a particular statute by which the City of Boston will be compelled to purchase the Edison Electric Illuminating Company at the election of that company. Can you think, Mr. President, of anything more absurd? Can you think, if that vote is taken, of the Edison Company in the present state of market prices, in the present state of its earning capacity and with its stock selling at 160, doing anything other than saying, when they see the City of Boston coming in in this way, "Gentlemen, here is your plant; pay us our price." And what will be the result? It is all right to stand up here in this Council and wave your hands in the air and say you are friends of the people because you advocate some general proposition which may meet with general approval as an abstract proposition. I do not, as one member of this Council, hold myself second to anybody here in the city government, in the executive, administrative or legislative branches, in doing what I believe is right by the citizenship of this city. But, Mr. President, what is the right thing to do by the citizenship of the city? Should we not, before taking an affirmative vote on this matter, ascertain, in fairness to the city, what this plant of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company is going to cost? Before anything is done affirmatively by the Council we ought to have somebody who knows tell us approximately what the cost is going to be. Is that not a fair, businesslike, sensible proposition? Should we not do that before declaring ourselves under a certain statute in favor of the measure as advocated by the gentleman who has just spoken? I want now to call your attention to another statute which relates to this subject-matter, but before doing so I want to say specifically at this time that many people from whom I have inquired, people who are not experts, say that the capital investment of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company within the limits of the City of Boston is more than forty million dollars. That in itself, Mr. President, does not indicate what the fair market value is. That value may be considered having reference to the earnings and other elements. But certainly the fair market value ought to be determined by a board whose duty it is to set before us the facts. With that in mind I have prepared here an order to offer, to ask the Department of Public Utilities what the approximate market value of the property of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company is, and also what the capital investment is. I do not offer that as a substitute; I offer it in order to get the facts. I realize from the attitude of my colleagues in the Executive Committee that most of the members are going to vote for this order. Therefore I shall not offer my suggested order as a substitute, but shall simply vote against this proposition that is pending before us and then will offer the other order afterwards, because I know that the vote is going to be overwhelmingly against my proposition not to act upon this matter until we get the fullest and fairest information. In all the discussions that have obtained here no electrical engineer has come before this Council, and no accountant has come before us, to give us some ideas as to the cost of this particular plant, that of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company. Bearing in mind that the investment of the Edison Company within the limits of the City of Boston is forty million dollars, not to speak of the market value, whatever that may be, I want to call your attention to this statute about which I spoke a few moments ago. In section 8 of chapter 44 of the General Laws, paragraph 5, it says:

"For establishing, purchasing, extending or enlarging a gas or electric lighting plant within the limits of the territory within which such gas or electric lighting plant is authorized to distribute its product, twenty years (referring to the period of debt that cities or towns may incur for these purposes); but the indebtedness so incurred shall not exceed in a town five per cent and in a city two and one-half per cent of the last preceding assessed valuation of such town or city."

In all the discussion to date that section of the law has not been referred to. What does it mean, in plain language? It means, taking our assessed valuation for the last few years, substantially not more than $4,000,000 is at the disposal of the community for this purpose. And yet you have the peculiar and anomalous situation of asking for something that is going to cost $40,000,000, $50,000,000, $60,000,000 or $70,000,000, when only $4,000,000 is at your disposal. Mr. President, I am not inquiring into the motives of any man. I assume that everybody is acting conscientiously in this matter. But, I submit, no one is acting more conscientiously than I am. I am voting against this order because to commit the city at this time to this proposition is committing the city to the purchase of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company within the limits of Boston at a price we know not what. That being true, I will not, notwithstanding so-called political expediency, do what I believe is not right. I believe it is outrageous to foist upon this community the Edison Electric Illuminating Company at a price that nobody here knows. Mr. President, it is the application of the doctrine to the particular statute under consideration that I object to. Under this statute the proposition is wrong, is unfair to the community. It is very expensive, and it would be unjust to pass it, and for that reason, on behalf of the citizenship, and as against all other interests, I am going to vote against the order.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I do not quite grasp what the gentleman means by so-called political expediency. He is retiring from public life, and I assume that he is not going to run for office again. Therefore I do not quite understand when he speaks of not considering political expediency. I would like to ask him how it is that since March, 1921, when this movement was first started, he did not suggest our getting this wonderful information, so that we might have it before this late day. I want to state to him that he is in error about what the Law Department's representative said concerning what we must or must not do. I had my ears open, as well as he, and I am not going to allow any attorney to twist things to suit himself or to suit his side of the question. He speaks about this section of the law he has quoted and says that we knew nothing about not being allowed to raise by indebtedness more than 2½ per cent of the valuation of the city, or something of that sort. I did not get it all. Of course, we cannot do that without going to the Legislature. How did we get Stuart street? We had to go to the Legislature for special legislation. What do we have to do with all these things? He speaks about the law. Every bit of law that he has read there pertaining to electric lighting was written practically by Burdett, Wardwell and their associates, the attorneys for the Edison Electric Illuminating Company. He ought to know that. He was in the House, and he ought to know. I would like to ask him this, in conclusion,—do you believe in public ownership of public utilities, such as the Elevated railroad, the Water Department of our city and the Edison Company, as a fundamental principle? I ask the gentleman to answer that question. Do you? Silence is the answer.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, during the recent months there has been a rate hearing before the Department of Public Utilities, the case being handled by the Corporation Counsel and now being handled by him. That rate case is now pending. In connection with that case, in the matter of appropriations pertaining thereto, I have always done what I could in my small way to help secure the passage of the necessary orders. That is particularly interesting, perhaps, in view of the gentleman's remarks and his last question. He is asking a general academic question that has no application to the particular thing before us. But I will say this in answer to that question, that only a few years ago there was passed through the Legislature a so-called public control bill for the Boston Elevated Railway Company. At that time the community and the people were led to believe by what appeared in print that it would be desirable from the standpoint of the public to act favorably upon that matter. And what happened? The City of Boston has paid out millions of dollars from the tax levy, and the community are still paying 10-cent fares. During times of hysteria these general propositions sound good. Of course, I prefer public ownership to such a proposition as that. In any particular case which may come before the government, if I believe a thing can be most advantageously and wisely handled for the community through public ownership, I will favor community ownership, if feasible. But if not feasible, I believe in rigid public control. We have had in Massachusetts, long before it obtained in these western cities, a Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners, which did its very best to keep down the rates, and I believe that the efforts of the Corporation Counsel before the present Public Utilities Board will be successful in the particular case now going on. The gentleman asked me another question, relating to the fact that this matter has been pending for months. There has been only one appropriation passed within several months, in connection with this investigation, and that was $5,000. Some of that remains unexpended. I had hoped that there would be a disinterested report by a man or men who could go into the matter and give us the costs from an electrical standpoint and also from the standpoint of certified public accounting, before we should be called upon to act; and I expected that the gentleman who has just preceded me would wait until he got that mature, deliberate, disinterested thought on the subject, by a paid expert or experts, in order that the Council might have more light and in order that we might not plunge into darkness instead of into the light.

Coun. LANE—Mr. President, I stand ready today to cast a vote for the first step in municipal ownership of an electric lighting plant for the City of Boston. I, together with other members of this body, toured various cities in the West, and I got enough information on that trip to satisfy me that the City of Boston should take the first step. That first step, gentleman, does not commit us absolutely to the purchase of the Edison Company's plant or to the erection of a municipal plant by this city. We have to take another step next year,—that is, if the Mayor should approve of this,—and we also have to take that second step by a two-thirds vote. During the year to come I expect that this body will get further information, such as Coun. Collins thinks is necessary, and if that information should show us that this plant is not feasible, I stand ready to reverse my vote. Coun. Collins assumes that under this act, chapter 164 of the General Laws, the Edison Company is going to force the City of Boston to take its plant. Perhaps, Mr. President, the Edison Company may not care to sell its plant at what would be a fair valuation. It may wish to continue in the business. According to their figures they have a goose that lays a golden egg, and they may not fear the competition of the City of Boston for some time to come. Or they may believe that through legislation they will prevent the City of Boston from interfering with their business. Coun. Collins is very much worried about the price we may have to pay for the Edison Company's plant. I don't know what that price may be, but I have the figures here showing what money they have invested. They have a total funded and mortgage indebtedness of $22,065,000, and capital stock of $22,528,000. Then, gentlemen, they have $10,000,000 of 5 per cent gold notes which are due on the first of February; they have $6,000,000 of 6 per cent gold notes due the first of February; and they have $3,000,000 of 7 per cent gold notes which are due the first of August, 1922. As you can see, gentlemen, they are paying from 5 to 7 per cent on their borrowed money. The City of Boston is borrowing money today at anywhere from $4\frac{1}{2}$ to 5 per cent, and so is every other large city in the country. So, you see, there would be a large saving in the interest that would have to be paid if the city should take over the plant. Yet, gentlemen, in spite of what the Edison Company is paying for money, during this last year they earned 17.3 per cent on their capital stock, paying in dividends to their stockholders 12 per cent and carrying over 5.3 per cent into surplus, which, of course, adds to the value of the stock of that company. Gentlemen, if the City of Boston should take over the Edison Company plant and could earn 17 per cent on the capital invested, how long would it take before it could mark off the entire cost of that Edison Company plant? It would take twenty years, gentlemen, to retire the bonds, and at the end of the twenty years, I predict that the City of Boston would own that plant and not have one dollar tied up in it. Gentlemen, on those figures alone and from what I learned in the West, I am perfectly willing to take the first step and to vote that the City of Boston establish its own municipal plant. It does seem rather queer that the two gentlemen of the Council who did not vote to go on the trip West are the ones who are opposed to municipal ownership. I naturally, by environment, was opposed to municipal ownership; but we live and learn, and I believe today that this city could enter into municipal ownership of this electric light plant. I trust, Mr. President, that the members of this Council will pass the order by a two-thirds vote.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I rise simply to say a very few words on this important matter. I do so merely because I feel the necessity of stating my position. The gentleman opposite (Coun. Watson), who is an advocate of municipal ownership, has said that he and all of us should vote according to the dictates of conscience and for what we believe is the best interest of our citizens. I oppose this order with that full thought in mind. I will not go into all the various objections that I could expatiate upon, which have been so ably presented here today by Coun. Collins, other than to say that I concur in the thought to which he has given expression. He has given you substantial reasons why you should pause and hesitate now before taking any definite action. I am sorry for the condition that seems to have developed, a condition beyond our control, because of the fact that there are laws upon the statute books which were written there for the benefit of the Edison Company and against the best interests of the citizens of this city. Those laws were enacted at a time when the Law Department of Boston and the city government of that period must have been asleep at the switch, for there was evidently no aggressive action to prevent the enactment of the laws in question. But they are there, and they serve as a great impediment, in my opinion, to the progress that all of us would like to make. I stand second to none in my opposition to the oppression of the public of this city by the Edison Company. I am a victim myself, with every other citizen who uses electric service. The coal clause and the excess charge, with the exorbitant price charged per kilowatt hour, are simply ridiculous in comparison with the prices charged in other cities. I would like to join with everybody here in asking that the City of Boston go into the establishment of a municipally owned electric lighting plant in competition with the Edison Company. But I cannot face the proposition before us. It is too vague, too uncertain. I cannot face the proposition of having to buy out the Edison Company at this time, because of laws which they themselves have written on the statute books. There is a difference of opinion existing here as to what Assistant Corporation Counsel Lyons gave utterance to as his opinion; but the stenographer, in answering the question in the executive room, repeated what Mr. Lyons said, and what Mr. Lyons said Coun. Collins has already told you. It is written into the notes, so that all element of doubt on that point is removed. If it were possible for Boston to establish a municipally owned distributing plant I would gladly embrace the opportunity to have the city enter into competition with the company, for I notice in the report submitted by the special committee who traveled through the West making an investigation that they report upon eight cities, which have eight privately owned electric lighting plants, and six out of the eight—Jacksonville, Cleveland, Ohio, Springfield, Illinois, Columbus, Ohio, Chicago and Milwaukee—are now operating—Milwaukee is beginning to operate—municipally owned plants in competition with and in opposition to the privately owned, perhaps so-called Edison plants, in those towns. You have been allowed to believe that these municipal plants were the only institutions in these cities, but all eight cities have privately owned plants, and six out of the eight have municipal plants. You see, there is competition, and I believe in competition. I believe in municipal competition. I have seen it demonstrated in San Francisco, where the city has a trolley service running along with the other trolley service in those wide streets, with four parallel tracks, two municipally owned and two privately owned, and because there is a privately owned and a municipally owned traction system there is good service in San Francisco and the fare has been kept down to a 5-cent basis, which would not be the case were it not for municipal operation. I cannot tell you whether all the costs pertaining to the municipally owned trolley service of San Francisco are properly figured in, so as to enable them to say that they are running at a profit, or at least paying their way, but they have at least succeeded in keeping down the fare, and if we had competition here with the Edison Company, without going to this vast expenditure of money, which at the present time we are by law compelled to go to, we would be bringing down the price of current to our citizens and to the city and would eliminate the coal clause and the excess clause, besides reducing the oppressive and ridiculously high rates. Coun. Lane said, using it as an argument in favor of voting for the order before us at the present time, that the Edison Company show by their reports that they are earning 17 per cent, and that if Boston was to own that Edison plant it would presumably earn 17 per cent and at the end of a twenty-year period we would have paid for the plant. Yes, but he has forgotten to bear in mind the fact that if the 17 per cent rate of earnings was continued the high price of electricity would have to be continued, with the coal clause and the excess clause, because it is the high charges and those additional clauses in the Edison Company's bills that enables them to earn the 17 per cent. Our President is a municipal ownership man. He believes in it from the depths of his heart, and I know he believes in it thoroughly and positively, whether right or wrong under the circumstances now presented to us. He is absorbed and filled with it, and he thinks that all of us must absorb his thought. But it is within our province to think for ourselves, and sometimes we have to differ with each other. I am facing what I think will be the cost. I have heard today of $20,000,000, $40,000,000, $70,000,000, and somebody thought it might be $100,000,000. Look at the element of doubt even in our minds while we are passing upon this important measure. We know nothing of the cost. When our President was on his feet debating the measure, I will repeat just what he says,—"The cost? The cost? What is $50,000,000?" Well, it is nothing between friends, but it is a vast sum to take out of the pockets of the taxpayers and an immense burden to put on the shoulders of this community. It is a great big sum of money and the $50,000,000 may be increased by quite a few million. I am just as good a spender as the ordinary fellow when I am spending my own money, but in this case we are spending somebody's else money, and that is where my conscience pricks. I want to pause, hesitate, give a great deal of thought and consideration to a problem that is as important as any that has ever come before any City Council in the years in which I have been a member. I want more light, and I want an opportunity for more study, for deeper thought and study. I want the best electrical advice available in the electrical world, and the best accounting advice available in the accounting world, from people in other cities where there are municipally owned plants. Are they being operated successfully in the opinion of the majority of the citizens of those towns? That is what I would like to know, and that does not appear from the report of the committee. There is a wealth of information due us but we have been given very little. This is too important a problem to pass upon hastily. I have greater confidence in the honesty and the public spirit of the average member of our Legislature than has been expressed here today, and I believe that this City Council, uniting with the members of the Legislature in a common and a good cause, and with the assistance of the executive of this city, could prepare and have passed by the Legislature a bill that would remove from the statute books the obnoxious laws that are there and clear the tracks for better things, for a better atmosphere, in the City of Boston, so that the city can go into the business of erecting and operating a municipally owned lighting plant which will be their property. I certainly trust that we will not by our vote today perhaps put ourselves further into the clutches of the Edison Company. That is what I am afraid of, and for that reason I have got to vote against a measure which, as far as the fundamental features are concerned, I believe in.

President WATSON in the chair.

Coun. LANE—I would like to say, in reply to Coun. Hagan's criticism that I overlooked the fact that the city would have to charge the same price as the Edison Company in order to pay off those bonds, that if he will refer to my remark he will find that I said we could reduce prices because we could get money much cheaper than the Edison Company can, that we would not be paying 12 per cent dividends, and that we would be enabled to reduce the cost of electricity by at least one third, owning the plant at the end of twenty years. We could not only reduce the price, but could save a great deal of overhead that is being paid today. The city would not pay Mr. Edgar $50,000 a year. Why does the Edison Company do it? Because he earns that money by work in connection with the Legislature; because, as has been said, the company corrupts the Legislature. That costs money. Then, think of the insurance rates they have to pay, which the city does not have to pay. We insure our own buildings. Neither would we have to pay workingmen's compensation insurance. Enormous amounts of money could be saved by city ownership and management. Therefore, as I say, not only could the price of electricity be materially reduced, but the city would own its plant at the end of twenty years.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I realize that no words of mine are going to change any votes, because I believe the members here have their minds made up and are prepared to vote as they think is right. It brings to my mind reading the Boston newspapers last Friday morning, setting forth what took place on Beacon Hill (when one member of the Legislature said that the Boston City Council, as now constituted, should be taken to the garbage can. We hear of such men as Adlow, who sit in the legislative halls on Beacon Hill and tie up the citizens of this Commonwealth very often so that they cannot get what belongs to them. I myself do not like some of the conditions brought about by legislation surrounding the matter upon which we will have an opportunity to vote today; but if it costs $75,000,000 to strike the shackles placed by the Massachusetts State Legislature upon the people of Boston, a legislature owned and controlled by this corporation, I would vote for it. The Republican members of that Legislature have had their necks in a halter for many years, and they should assert themselves in the interests of the people. Coun. Collins speaks of public control. Well, if public control is anything like the public control that we have suffered in connection with this same Edison Company, take me a long distance farther away from public control. If it means the public control that we have got of the Boston Elevated, take me farther away from that control. It may be a good thing for Boston to spend some money to let the public know all the barriers that we now find before us before we can proceed and obtain entire municipal ownership—this body that Mr. Adlow says should go to the garbage can! I ask you, Mr. Adlow, are some of your remarks centered against this body because when you appeared here as a paid attorney representing real estate owners on Washington street you did not see the thing as we saw it? That is what I want to ask you, Mr. Adlow. I hold no brief for the Edison Company. I believe I am the one who was responsible at the last meeting for having the meeting postponed until today, to see if we could not possibly find some other way. It was I who suggested to the President that we postpone action until we might have the Law Department come here and tell us the situation, and the Law Department has been represented here today and we have been told that there is no other way than that now proposed. Do the men who sent you here, Mr. Collins, and who sent other representatives here, know that those acts are on our statute books? We should let them know. Let them know every barrier that the Legislature on Beacon Hill has put in the way of the people controlling what belongs to them. Public control! I would like to know what public control means. Of the five trustees, the so-called Boston Elevated control board, four represent each and individually certain financial interests in our community, and when they were selected they were selected by certain financial interests on State street. I wonder if Mr. Winsor had the appointment of any of those men? Did Mr. Powers ever represent the public? Every time I ever saw him he was a corporation attorney, and he is the same on the Board of Elevated Trustees today. Then there is Mr. Jackson, and another fellow who was secretary of one of the Governors—those men are there as representatives of the financial interests of State street. I do not say that Mr. Burdett wrote those laws. I say that the keenest corporation lawyer in this town, Mr. Pillsbury, is the man who framed each and every one of those laws, in so far as the gas company, the Edison Company—yes, and the Elevated—are concerned; the honorable Mr. Pillsbury, the keenest and sharpest corporation lawyer in this city. His is the brain that is not only drawing these laws today but has drawn them for years. That old Republican whip has been cracked year after year. We know how these things are done. If anybody ever told the truth, it was the man who addressed us in the committee room today, a man whom I never had the pleasure to meet except on two occasions, once in this room awhile ago, and today in the room of the Executive Committee. He told us the same thing about the situation in New York, where there is Democratic control, that we have heard about the situation here under Republican control—that the old bag was always where it could be reached. If that has been so under Democratic rule in New York, I say that the same thing is responsible for these statutes here in Massachusetts, because the bag is always in attendance at the Legislature. I am sorry that the Legislature has tied my hands as a member of this body; that the only step I can take, the only way out, is to vote for this measure. I am the only man going to vote for this order today who did not take the trip. I do not say that with any feeling because of the fact that I did not take it. I am sorry that I could not have gone along with them. I would like to have got the knowledge that they obtained. I think that knowledge is valuable, and I did not go simply because I was playing the game of political expediency. It was because I was unable to go by reason of things here at home that were so pressing that I had to stay here. If it had not been for that I would have joined my colleagues, looking for information that might result in helping those who sent me here, who sent me here for the purpose of taking the responsibility, as I see it, for the things that come before me for action. I have no criticism of the men who are going to vote against this order. That is their right. But I am going to assert my right. I want to say, in conclusion, why put it off another year? All of us but two are going to sit here next year. Coun. Collins is going to leave us and Coun. McLaughlin is going to leave us. I believe every member of the Council will feel the loss of both of them, even if we have disagreed at times. But that will not change the vote. There are two other men coming here next year. One of them received the Good Government indorsement, if it is worth anything. Personally I don't think it is worth anything. To me their opposition was an asset. The other man coming back did not receive the O. K. of the Good Government Association. So the complexion of the Council will not be changed one iota, unless the man who received the Good Government indorsement experiences a change of heart, as I believe he will, and I believe he will be showing wise judgment when he does have a change of heart. I will say in conclusion—not wanting to keep the newspaper men here longer, because I know they want to get home—that I am compelled to vote for an order that I do not like, but as a corrupt Legislature through its act has made this the only possible way out, I am going to take that way out, so as to remove the shackles which I think an investigation would show that some of the executive committee of the Good Government Association have helped to place on the citizens of Boston through some of these statutes. If those same men were able to pull the wool over the eyes of the voters of Boston, we would have the same kind of legislation here that they are giving us on Beacon Hill.

President WATSON—I would simply like to say, for purposes of the record, that at the conclusion of the vote on this question, if the order is adopted by a two-thirds vote, I am going to ask Coun. Collins to assist us in getting more light for next year, perhaps through the order he has suggested asking certain information from the Public Utilities Commission. I will ask him to then present the order he has in mind, in order to get the information for next year.

Coun. COLLINS—I wish to assure the Chair that I made the point very clear in my statement that I was not going to try to introduce parliamentary tactics by offering this as a substitute order for the order before the Council, for the simple reason that I knew from the votes in the Executive Committee that most of my associates were going to vote in favor of the order now before the Council. Accordingly I shall offer it immediately after the vote is taken on the order before us. But before sitting down I want to say just a few words. My objection to voting in favor of the order before us is primarily based upon the provisions of the statute, which do not give the city a fair chance. I believe, from the standpoint of real municipal ownership and an opportunity for the city to operate properly under this charter, it would be unfair to the community. Feeling that way, I shall vote against the order. If it were a question of the city having the opportunity to meet the Edison Company on equal terms, going into the lighting business on a fair and decent basis, I would give my vote in favor of the order at this time, notwithstanding the fact that much of the discussion has been limited to comparatively few meetings and that no reports have been obtained from electrical engineers of standing. But I would not even then wish to vote until I had found out substantially what the cost was going to be. We have not even got an approximation of it.

The report was accepted and the order was passed, yeas 7, nays 2:

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Ford, Lane, McLaughlin, Moriarty, Watson—7.

Nays—Coun. Collins, Hagan—2.

Coun. COLLINS offered the following:

Ordered, That the Department of Public Utilities of the Commonwealth be respectfully requested to advise the City Council:

First.—The amount of the invested capital of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston in that portion of its plant and property within the limits of the City of Boston as is suitable for and is used in connection with the business of generating and distributing electricity for sale for lighting purposes in the City of Boston.

Second.—So far as the Department of Public Utilities may be able to do so, to advise the Council as to the approximate market value of the plant of said Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston as defined in section 42, chapter 164, of the General Laws.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, the information I have sought in that order I have contended should have been obtained before the passage of the main order. This order is so fundamental, so necessary and so simple, that I move a suspension of the rule that it may take its passage forthwith.

President WATSON—The Chair would suggest, in view of the fact that the order has only just come to light, as we have only been informed of the substance of it, that it should go to the Executive Committee, so that we may be sure of our ground. That may result, perhaps, in our drawing a better order. I would ask, therefore, that the councilor withdraw his order, and present it next Monday when it can go to the Executive Committee.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, I would ask if there is any disposition on your part to look into the order further, when you make that suggestion as a matter of courtesy?

President WATSON—Yes.

Coun. COLLINS—Then, Mr. President, I will extend that courtesy. I do not think, however, that you ought to ask it, because the matter is so fundamental that it seems to me we should be ready to pass upon it at this time.

President WATSON—Well, it has been drawn up by a lawyer, and so I would like a chance to look into it.

Coun. COLLINS—I would suggest that we might take a brief recess, so that you will have a chance to look at the order.

President WATSON—I would say that I am only one member of the Council.

Coun. COLLINS—Well, you are the only one objecting.

President WATSON—Well, I am the father of the child. I would suggest, in view of the fact that we are to adjourn sine die—or without day, as Coun. Collins says—a week from Saturday, that this information could not be secured in time for this Council. It would seem that it is a thing that will take some time.

Coun. COLLINS—Don't you think the sooner we get light in the matter the better?

President WATSON—Well, I have no objection to passing the order at this time. The question is on suspending the rule.

Coun. FORD—Mr. President, there is only one thing I would like to say, as far as I am personally concerned. I shall be glad to get the information, but I want to say now, so that there may be no question about it, that I am not going to be bound in any way by it, because I want to confess, for one, that I haven't enough confidence in the Public Utilities Commission to be bound by what they say in reference to the Edison Electric Illuminating Company.

The rule was suspended and the order was passed.

PERMITS FOR CHILDREN.

The following petitions were received for permits for children under fifteen years of age to appear at various places of amusement, viz.:

Mary Ellis, Norfolk Hall, January 31.

William L. Anderson, Unity House, January 31.

Mrs. L. H. Graham, Mechanics Hall, January 27.

The rule was suspended on motion of Coun. MORIARTY, and permits were granted on the usual conditions.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

On motion of Coun. DONOGHUE, a general reconsideration of all action taken today was refused.

Adjourned at 5.30 p. m., on motion of Coun. FORD, to meet on Monday, January 30, at 2 p. m.

MUNICIPAL SERVICE.

Complaints, inquiries or suggestions regarding the work of municipal departments should be made in writing to the officials directly in charge. The failure of such officials to make reply within a reasonable length of time should be brought to the attention of the Mayor. Communications should be directed as follows:

To the Board of Street Commissioners, Room 401, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the laying out, relocation, widening and the discontinuance of highways; the taking of real property for municipal purposes; the assessments of betterments for streets and sewers; the plotting of undeveloped areas for streets and the opening of private ways; the granting of licenses for the storage or sale of merchandise in public streets; the regulation of street traffic; the making of specific repairs in public streets, the naming of public streets, the planting and removal of trees in public ways, the issuing of licenses for the storage of gasolene, oil and other inflammable substances or explosive compounds, the use of the public ways for any permanent or temporary obstruction or projection in, under or over the same, including the location of conduits, poles and posts for telephone, telegraph, street railway or illuminating purposes, signs, marquises, bay windows, coal holes and vaults.

To the Commissioner of Public Works, Room 511, City Hall Annex, for information as to the watering, cleaning, lighting and repairing of streets, the construction and care of sewers and catch-basins, the operation of the ferries, the maïntenance of bridges and drawbridges and the removal of ashes and offal.

To Room 604, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the supplying or metering of water and the water charges of the city.

To the Health Department, Room 1107, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the inspection of milk, vinegar, meat, fish and vegetables, the issuance of permits for stables, slaughter houses, etc., smoke nuisances, the existence of contagious diseases or public health nuisances.

To the Board of Park Commissioners, 33 Beacon street, for information as to the care of the Common, Public Garden, Franklin Park, Franklin Field, Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay Fens, Marine Park and the small parks and playgrounds in general throughout the city, and as to the extermination of gypsy moths and the charges made for such service. Application may be made to this department for information regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mount Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

To the School Committee, 26 Mason street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

To the Schoolhouse Commissioners, Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

To the Board of Examiners, Room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

To the Wire Division of the Fire Department, Room 905, City Hall Annex, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of wires and electrical apparatus. Also to the same office for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must invariably be paid in advance.

BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTE TO GENERAL TAYLOR.

At a meeting of the Franklin Foundation, held at the office of Hon. Nathan Matthews, 1134 Tremont Building, on Wednesday, 8th instant, a beautiful tribute to the memory of the late Gen. Charles H. Taylor was paid in the form of a resolution presented by Dr. Charles E. Park and adopted by the managers.

The resolution of Dr. Park was as follows:

The managers of Franklin Foundation desire to place upon record some expression of their sentiments towards their beloved and highly respected associate, Gen. Charles H. Taylor, who passed away on June 22, 1921.

From the humblest beginnings, and solely by force of character and perseverance, General Taylor fought his victorious way through a host of obstacles and discouragements, that to another man might well have seemed insuperable, to a position of unqualified success in his chosen profession. His success was not merely the success of dollars and cents. It was the kind of success that includes the esteem and honor of all right-minded contemporaries, the success that means moral prominence and moral influence of a very distinct and admirable sort. He was the kind of man that one likes to see succeed, and this was conspicuously true in his case. Everyone was glad to see him succeed. No one begrudged or lamented the ever-increasing prominence he earned for himself. He was at heart a true lover of mankind, one who naturally liked and trusted others and was liked and trusted by others. His instincts were democratic. He was singularly free from prejudices, political, racial, sectional, religious; he met his fellow men upon the common footing of human likeness and brotherhood, and judged them by their real worth. This trait in him was the basis for that element of generous impartiality, which he introduced with marked success into the traditions of our local journalism, and which has helped to earn for his paper the reputation it still enjoys for honesty, kindliness and fairness to all sorts and conditions of men. His lifelong labors in Boston engendered in his heart a profound love for the city and a genuine pride in her promise. He felt an almost paternal solicitude for her municipal institutions. He found the appointment to the Board of Managers of the Franklin Foundation very much to his taste, because it gave opportunity for the practical expression of this loving pride in Boston, and in all Boston's hopes and prospects. His presence on the Board was eminently fitting, an assurance to the ordinary citizen, and a quiet but very genuine source of inspiration to his fellow-members.

ADDRESS OF HIS HONOR, JAMES M. CURLEY, MAYOR OF BOSTON.

DELIVERED TO THE CITY COUNCIL, MECHANICS BUILDING, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1922.

Gentlemen of the City Council:

The City of Boston is entering upon the second century of its existence as a municipality and it is for us to determine by our acts whether we shall measure up to the inspiring traditions of which we are custodians.

The misunderstandings between the retiring Mayor and the Finance Commission as to the financial condition of the City make it desirable that expert accountants be employed at once to determine the facts.

The report as to finances, when received, should be of value to the public from the standpoint of truth as to the City Council in determining their course of action.

We are jointly charged with the responsible duty of preserving and perpetuating humanitarian, patriotic, educational, commercial and industrial traditions greater than ever achieved in any other American municipality.

The success we attain will be determined, in large measure, by the coöperation which we receive from the entire citizenship rather than by our individual or collective efforts.

Boston has ever been pre-eminent for wise and courageous leadership in the fields of commerce and industry, and the courage and hardihood of her citizens in the early days made the American flag a familiar emblem in every harbor of the world. The same sturdy manhood and splendid leadership made possible not only the winning of the West but the development of its resources. We need men of that manhood and mentality, coupled with a confidence in our industrial and commercial possibilities, to regain the position and prestige formerly enjoyed.

Boston, unfortunately, has long been considered by the law-makers of the State purely as a political pawn whose commercial needs have been disregarded and whose industrial welfare was of little moment.

Great importance has been attached to the fact that Boston is one day nearer to Europe than any other port on the Atlantic coast, and yet, notwithstanding this knowledge, to the present time we have made but a feeble attempt to capitalize this strategic commercial position which is ours.

The present high freight rate operating to the disadvantage of Massachusetts, and more particularly Boston, to which, in some measure, may be traced the present industrial depression, can only be overcome by commercial development through which the handling of raw material by water may be possible.

The evidences of readjustment and resumption of business activity throughout the world is increasing each day and should impel us to speedily adopt a constructive commercial program which should merit the support of the entire Commonwealth.

The policy of expending public funds for every conceivable purpose, other than the promotion of industry and commerce, must end.

The lack of continuity of administrative policy due to successive changes in administrations has a most important bearing on the industrial and commercial life of the city, which after all should be regarded as a going business institution.

I personally believe that the time has arrived for enlarging the personnel and powers of the Boston Planning Board as, in my opinion, this Board should be representative of the industrial, commercial, religious, financial, labor and educational organizations of our city.

It should be provided with sufficient funds to conduct a campaign for the purpose of promoting both industry and commerce and for a comprehensive investigation as to ways and means of increasing municipal revenues and reducing municipal expenditures, to the end that our present per capita cost of municipal administration in Boston shall no longer serve as a detriment to industry already located here, or a barrier to industries seeking a fruitful field for investment which are now located elsewhere.

The welfare of the people demands the immediate restoration of the five-cent street car fare in Boston, since the present system imposes a daily burden on those less able to assume the same, while permitting those who benefit most from adequate street railway transportation to almost wholly escape a just portion of the cost.

Street railway transportation, in my opinion, has ceased to be a non-essential and is today as necessary as public water, sewerage, lighting and education.

It accordingly is my purpose to instruct the Corporation Counsel to present to the legislature such measures as may be necessary to provide, within the present year, a five-cent fare for that portion of the Boston Elevated system operating within the limits of Boston.

The results achieved at the Health Unit in the West End of Boston have not only demonstrated the necessity for a continuance of this unit, but have furnished convincing proof of the imperative need of additional units throughout the city.

The experiment made at Morton street in the North End in the substitution of a health-giving park for disease-breeding, congested tenement property has, in the past five years, proven its value to such a degree as to make of the precedent a fixed policy, and it is my purpose to recommend to your honorable body the expenditure, annually, during my term as Mayor, of a substantial amount for the razing of unhealthful tenement property and the establishment in place thereof of playgrounds for women and children.

The completion, at an early date, of the Strandway development at South Boston is essential, as this work, if carried on now, will provide opportunities for a livelihood to a large number of unskilled workers and, in a measure, tend to relieve unemployment, in addition to making possible what should ultimately prove to be the best playground in New England.

That every opportunity may be afforded the public to enjoy to the fullest degree the benefits and beauties of our park system, I recommended additional motor roads through Franklin Park and the substitution of granolithic sidewalks for the present loam and gravel sidewalks which, due to weather conditions, are suitable for public travel less than fifty per cent of the time.

The widening of Chelsea street has been in progress for a period of more than five years and it is imperative that this work be completed at the earliest possible date.

I favor the creation of a municipal employment bureau as a means of aiding the service man to maintain his American independence and his family without aid from the municipality.

Through the agency of a municipal employment bureau it should be possible to reduce expenditures in the Soldiers' Relief Department by a large sum annually, and from the important standpoint of opportunity for a livelihood make American citizenship more desirable by aiding only those who are citizens.

The neglect of Federal authorities is reflected in an increased cost of the Soldiers' Relief Department that is alarming.

It is all very well to talk Americanism, but to the returned service man who finds his old position in private life preempted by a less patriotic man and at a loss for direction, it is tragic.

The question of justice for the soldier is vital and early action is essential, if patriotism is to be fostered and American institutions safeguarded.

The termination of the World War found America helpless so far as providing proper accommodations for those men maimed in the service, and criminally negligent in the matter of bonus payment.

In the event of the Federal Government abandoning West Roxbury Hospital, I favor the transfer of the poor to this property so admirably located where, in the twilight of their existence, they can see the happy boys and girls at play and live over again the joys of boyhood and girlhood as they pass into the shadows.

It is advisable that chronic cases be treated at Elks Hospital, Parker Hill, where every facility is available, rather than at Long Island, where physicians and surgeons find it impossible to attend except on rare occasions, and where visits must be of short duration, due to the time consumed going to and from the island.

The abandonment of Long Island should present an opportunity for the Commonwealth to seriously consider this property as an ideal site for a state prison, affording as it does abundant opportunity for useful outdoor labor.

I have long cherished the hope that a little more of human kindness might enter into our treatment of the unfortunate poor and those in the community afflicted with chronic ailments, both of whom are at present sent to Long Island, where, without the cheering visits of friends or the opportunity to see other than the bleak and dreary prospect that a harbor island three miles from the mainland has to offer, they patiently await what, to them, is the welcome coming of the "Angel of Death."

There is no city in America that boasts a larger number of intelligent and philanthropic women and men banded together in organizations for the good of humanity than in Boston.

It is imperative, both as a health measure and as a sound business proposition, that, at the earliest possible date, arrangements be made for the Health Commissioner to co-operate with and the Health Department act as a clearing house for all organizations now engaged in health activities.

The problems presented by the limited examination I have been able to make, supplemented by the data received relative to the needs of various city departments, present a situation that gives just cause for apprehension to every taxpayer anticipating relief from the present high tax rate.

School expenditures have increased 91 per cent during the past four years, or $6,729,765.99.

1921	$14,092,739 99

The Police Department, Fire Department, County departments, Soldiers' Relief, Public Welfare and interest on outstanding indebtedness have increased the cost of administration to such an extent as to make necessary immediate retrenchment wherever possible.

All persons in the employ of the city are entitled to just treatment and the city is entitled to an equitable return for the salaries paid.

Employment with the city is attractive not only because of the permanency but because of the guaranty in many departments of pension when the individual has become incapacitated either through injuries or advancing years; consequently it is but reasonable to demand that all persons in the employ of the city shall work the full number of hours required in the department where they may be employed.

It would be advisable for all persons in the employ of the city who cannot comply with requirements as here outlined to tender their resignations at an early date; as my time will be sufficiently employed at more important work than hearkening to the pleas of well-intentioned, if not truthfully informed, political ambassadors.

Having taken the oath of office to serve faithfully and impartially the people of Boston, I desire at this time to serve notice upon all persons doing business with the city during the next four years that they will be required, so far as lies within my power to compel them, to live up to their contracts or agreements and give the city one hundred cents in value for every dollar paid out.

Any person, firm or corporation failing to comply with the above stipulation will be deprived of the privilege of doing business with the City of Boston, and any employee of the city found aiding or abetting any firm, individual or corporation in depriving the city of full value will be summarily removed.

I have no illusions relative to the task confronting me as Mayor and the present state of the city financially, commercially and industrially.

It is a situation which no man unaided can overcome.

The co-operation of the City Council, the press and the entire public is imperatively essential for the solving of our present problems, whose right solution mean so much not only to the present generation but to posterity.

Ours is indeed a tremendous responsibility and a prodigious task, and beneficial results are only possible provided the Legislature ceases undue, unwarranted and unwelcome interference with Boston in the conduct of its own business.

God grant us the wisdom and strength to honorably serve and to intelligently solve the problems that confront us at the dawn of the second century of the existence of Boston as a city.

MAYOR APPEALS TO NEW ENGLAND SENATORS.

His Honor, Mayor Curley visited Washington upon Tuesday, 7th instant, and made a strong appeal to the Senators of New England that the work of reconditioning the S. S. "Leviathan" may be performed at the Boston Navy Yard, Charlestown, as an imperative economic necessity by reason of the grave problem of unemployment in Greater Boston, the reduced cost to the government by assigning the work here, and also illustrated at the conference the material saving of time which could be accomplished if the local yard received this highly important government contract.

Mayor Curley declared that if the work on the "Leviathan" was awarded to the Boston Navy Yard it would result in saving at least $1,000,000 in money and from six to nine months in time for the government. He pointed out that the Boston yard has in the past turned out most excellent work for the Government, building a number of vessels.

The Mayor declared the Boston Navy Yard with its material, its skilled mechanics, its nearness to the Boston dry dock, the only one capable of receiving "the Leviathan," should be entitled to demonstrate its ability to do the work at less cost and in less time than any private yard. The Mayor, touching on the unemployment situation, said that during the war there were 12,000 workers at the navy yard; 15,000 at Fore River and Squantum and 6,000 at the Watertown arsenal. Of these, there are now left only 6,000, he said.

He said in 1915, it should be remembered that the United States Steamship Bridge was built at the Charlestown yard at a cost of $250,000 less than the yard's estimate and in three months less time than was estimated. There is plenty of precedent for sending the work there. The "Leviathan" work could be done there at $1,000,000 less cost and in a period of time from six to nine months less than it could be done at Newport News.

Mayor Curley advised the general unemployment situation is very serious. There are probably 60,000 at least, out of work in Greater Boston. Of these two thirds are mechanics. The work would be of direct benefit to the navy yard and of indirect benefit to Massachusetts and New England. It might serve as a precedent for having our merchant marine vessels repaired and reconditioned at the navy yards as they should, in order to make use of the organizations at these yards in this time of disarmament. But whether this be done or not, the navy yard should have the right to submit an estimate on this bid.

Incident to the conference Mayor Curley said that the conference may serve to show the value of concerted action by the New England delegation in Congress upon matters of concern to any part or all of New England and may be followed by similar ones, especially in the case of rivers and harbors legislation. Boston for years has failed to receive adequate consideration from Congress in rivers and harbors appropriations, advised the Mayor.

The New England senators were addressed by Mayors Quinn of Cambridge, Kimball of Malden, who also represented Melrose, Medford and Everett; Quigley of Chelsea and Noone of Revere. Chairman Robertson of the Somerville board of aldermen represented Mayor Webster of Somerville. Other speakers were Congressman Tague and Tinkham of Boston, Dallinger of Cambridge, ex-Congressman Conry, Edward F. McGrady of Boston, representing the American Federation of Labor, William M. McDonald, representing the Charlestown Navy Yard workers, and ex-Senator Richard Teeling of Charlestown.

SINKING FUND REQUIREMENT.

His Honor, Mayor Curley, addressed the following communication to the City Council, relative to sinking fund requirements to further provide for the discontinuance of East Boston Tunnel tolls, upon the 6th instant:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
Boston 9, February 6, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am submitting herewith an order for an appropriation of $6,843 to meet in part the expenses during the financial year beginning February 1, 1922, for interest and sinking fund requirements on the East Boston Tunnel debt.

I respectfully request the immediate passage of this order in order that the system adopted several years ago of discontinuing the collection of tolls in connection with the East Boston Tunnel be maintained.

Respectfully yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Ordered, That to meet in part the expenses during the financial year beginning February 1, 1922, for interest and sinking fund requirements on the East Boston Tunnel debt issued under authority of chapter 548, Acts of 1894; chapter 500, Acts of 1897; chapter 190 Acts of 1903, and chapter 187, Acts of 1905, the sum of six thousand eight hundred forty-three (6,843) dollars be and hereby is appropriated and that said amount be raised by taxation upon the polls and estates taxable in the City of Boston.

Schoolhouse Department.

Upon February 3, Mayor Peters approved a contract with the Heywood-Wakefield Company for setting up pupils' furniture in the various city schools for a period of one year.

The following statement is self-explanatory:

Boston 9, January 9, 1922.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The bids on furnishing, delivering and setting up pupils' school furniture in various schools for a period of one year, beginning March 1, 1922, submitted to the Schoolhouse Commissioners and opened on January 3, were as follows:

	H. T. Lindsay & Son.	Heywood-Wakefield Company.

Birch	13 75	14 70

Kenney Brothers & Wolkins submitted a bid on furniture not according to the specifications.

The Board has voted, subject to the approval of your Honor, to award the contract for cherry furniture to Heywood-Wakefield Company, the second lowest bidder, at the prices named. Our reasons for taking this action are as follows:

First.—The hinges installed in the sample desk submitted by H. T. Lindsay & Son, the lowest bidder, are claimed by the Heywood-Wakefield Company to be an infringement on a patent applied for by said company. This Board is of opinion that the city may become a party to a lawsuit on the said question if the contract should be awarded to H. T. Lindsay & Son; and if a lawsuit should ensue, the said H. T. Lindsay & Son would be unable to supply the furniture as per sample.

Second.—The sample submitted by the Heywood-Wakefield Company is, in the opinion of this Board, superior to the sample submitted by H. T. Lindsay & Son.

Third.—The Heywood-Wakefield Company has supplied the pupils' school furniture for the public schools of this city for seven years, and has always complied with the terms and conditions of its contract. H. T. Lindsay & Son, who propose to furnish the furniture which this department requires for the next year, state they are to procure the same from the Readsboro Chair Company, of Readsboro, Vt. The Readsboro Chair Company is capitalized for $300,000; the Heywood-Wakefield Company is capitalized for approximately $13,000,000. The pupils' furniture for the public schools is supplied by the Heywood-Wakefield Company from its factory at Gardner, Mass. H. T. Lindsay & Son, who made the proposal simply as agents, would have to supply the furniture through the Readsboro Chair Company, from Readsboro, Vt., which is 40 miles further distant from Boston, according to the testimony of Mr. Lindsay, than is Gardner, Mass. This Board does not consider it good business policy for this department to do business through a middleman or agent. When opportunity offers, it should be the policy of the department to do business directly with the factory or corporation producing the goods, rather than purchasing through an agent. It may be true that H. T. Lindsay & Son intend in good faith, functioning through the Readsboro Chair Company, of Readsboro, Vt., to furnish the pupils' desks and chairs, as they state in their proposal; but this Board is of opinion that the capitalization of the Readsboro Company and the facilities of its plant are not equal to supplying all of the school furniture for the City of Boston on time. This contract, you will notice, is for all the pupils' furniture for the public schools of Boston for the year 1922-23, and is a very large contract for a small corporation to undertake.

The department last year was supplied by the Heywood-Wakefield Company with pupils' furniture to the amount of $75,000. We estimate that the department will need approximately $60,000 worth for the next year. The Heywood-Wakefield Company having in the past year furnished satisfactorily $75,000 worth of furniture, there is no question in the mind of this Board of its ability to furnish the $60,000 worth required for the public schools during the next year.

In a contract of this kind, for supplying pupils' furniture for the public schools of this city, the question of the cost of the furniture is not of so much import as the quality and workmanship in the furniture supplied; for instance, while the price per set is higher in the proposal of the Heywood-Wakefield Company than in that of H. T. Lindsay & Son, this Board is satisfied beyond any reasonable doubt that the pupils' desks and chairs supplied by the Heywood-Wakefield Company will be of the quality and workmanship shown in the sample submitted at the office of this department. We have reached this conclusion after seven years of actual experience in purchasing the said pupils' furniture for the public schools from the said company.

For the reasons herein set forth, this Board believes that it is for the best interests of the taxpayers, as well as of the public schools of this city, to award the contract to the Heywood-Wakefield Company, as stated, at the prices named.

Respectfully yours,

J. P. Lomasney,
Chairman,

February 3, 1922.

It is necessary that this award should be approved at once, as the pupils' furniture for the new Public Latin School and the Roger Wolcott District Intermediate School, in Dorchester, amounting in all to about 2,400 sets, should be ordered immediately, in order that the furniture may be manufactured and ready for delivery and installation in those schools when the same are accepted by this Board.

J. P. Lomasney,
Chairman.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

Public Works Department (Ferry Service).

Upon February 3, Mayor Peters approved a contract with The Atlantic Works, East Boston, in harmony with the following communication:

Boston, January 31, 1922.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Authority is requested to make repairs to rudder, propellors and end of "Governor Russell" and to put boat upon marine railway at Atlantic Works, East Boston, without inviting proposals therefor by advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $1,600.

This is emergency work as the tiller broke, causing serious damage to rudder, propellor and end. The Atlantic Works are well qualified to do this work speedily and economically.

Respectfully,

T. F. Sullivan,
Commissioner of Public Works.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved:

Fire Department.

Boston, January 31, 1922.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I request your Honor's approval of the following additions and deduction in connection with the contract with Joseph Rugo, dated September 29, 1921, for alterations and additions to the fire station of Engine Co. 26-35, Mason street:

Amount of original contract, $24,393.

Extra No. 1, General Contractor.—Two new closets, one under staircase and one for district chief's supplies, $62; new emergency door in rear of dormitory, $36; drilling holes and setting bolts for balcony to same, $15; furnishing and setting two steel I-beams under third floor (precautionary against accident), $88; drilling holes, setting bolts for flagpole base, $32; cutting and patching for continuing gasolene vent from second floor along inside of building and up through roof, $34; covering eleven window frames and supplying metal sash and wire glass to same, as per demands of the Building Commissioner, $565; total, $832; plus 10 per cent commission, $83.20—$915.20.

Extra No. 2, Plumbing.—Substituting five vitrous china lavatories in place of two large soapstone sinks, $278; one enamel iron slop sink, necessary when lavatories are installed, instead of sinks, $97; 4-inch gasolene separator vent carried along floor to a point in rear and extended above roof, $84; total, $459; plus 10 per cent commission, $45.90—$504.90.

Extra No. 3, finish hardware, $400.

Extra No. 4, furnishing and placing an iron balcony fire escape at rear of building, $85.

Total amount of additions, $1,905.10.

Total amount of original contract, $24,393; total amount of additions to contract, $1,905.10; deduction for not cutting back old granite caps over main doors to apparatus room, $85; net amount of additions, $1,820.10; total amount of contract, $26,213.10.

This work has already been outlined in my letter to your Honor dated December 13, 1921, and the additional appropriation to cover it was allowed by the City Council January 16, 1922.

Yours very truly,

Joseph P. Manning,
Acting Fire Commissioner.

Institutions Department.

Boston, February 6, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Your permission is requested to add to the contract entered into with the Richard T. Green Company for repairs to the Steamer "Monitor" the following items:—

Make up and install new flagpole with ball and halyard; furnish and place one stanchion with rings, similar to others on steamer; furnish one additional ring; remove two chain guides, make and install properly four new ones complete, including brackets and rollers; supply one brass union to heating line; supply and install one new two pole knife switch for switchboard; repairs to truss frame in paddle box: Cut out and put in a graving piece about 5 inches by 5 inches, 4 feet long; fit three spare radial rods to standard pins; turn four spare pins down to standard size.

The above-mentioned company has agreed to do this work for the sum of two hundred twenty-three dollars ($223).

Because it is most desirable to have the "Monitor" in service at the earliest possible date, an addition to the contract already awarded is asked rather than proposals from various concerns in order that all repairs may be carried on at the same time, thus speeding up the completion of the work.

Very truly yours,

John F. O'Brien,
Acting Commissioner.

Park Department.

50 Bromfield Street,
Boston, February 2, 1922.

Messrs. T. F. McGann & Sons Company, 114 Portland Street, Boston:

Gentlemen,—You are herewith authorized to add to your contract sum for the furnishing and erection of a bronze base to flagpole in the Public Garden, Boston, the sum of three hundred and thirty-seven dollars ($337) for additional labor expended on the lower portion of base caused by additional ornamentation on the full size plaster model furnished to you by the city, over the original scale drawing on which the contract sum was based.

William D. Austin,
Architect.

Contract sum, $2,377; amount added by this order, $337; total contract price to date, $2,714.

MAYOR CURLEY GUEST OF ROTARY CLUB.

The Rotary Club entertained Mayor Curley at luncheon at the Boston City Club upon Wednesday, 8th instant. Ernest Lovejoy presided.

Mayor Curley emphasized the importance of securing the contract for the reconditioning of the S. S. "Leviathan" in Boston and explained his visit in Washington in behalf of this project.

He spoke of the necessity of a ship subsidy and called for a Greater Boston, which would take in all the suburbs. He urged the Rotary Club, the Chamber of Commerce and all citizens individually to work for the abolition of the freight differential to Boston, saying that it makes no difference to him whether the Boston & Maine Railroad combines with the New York Central or the Canadian Pacific, provided Boston gets traffic diverted here, as that would mean the building up of Boston as a port.

MAYOR ASKS CHAMBER TO AID.

Mayor Curley requested upon the 8th instant the Boston Chamber of Commerce to actively aid in the important labor of securing the contract for the reconditioning of the S. S. "Leviathan" for the Boston Navy Yard.

The letter of the Mayor was as follows:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
February 8, 1922.

Everett Morss, President, Boston Chamber of Commerce, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Mr. Morss,—The conference of New England senators held at the office of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Washington on Tuesday, February 7, upon the matter of the reconditioning of the S. S. "Leviathan," was sufficiently encouraging to lead me to believe that, regardless of the prior intentions of the United States Shipping Board, the prospects are excellent for the Boston Navy Yard being afforded an opportunity to bid and which, if given, should result in the award being made to this yard.

I personally know of no one thing that would be of greater benefit in relieving the unemployment situation than the assignment of this contract to the Boston Navy Yard. It should mean the employment of at least 7,500 men for a period of not less than six months and would involve an expenditure of approximately six million dollars.

A committee of the Chamber of Commerce, working in conjunction with the New England senatorial delegation, should be of real help and I sincerely trust, for the best interests of Boston, that this assistance will be accorded.

Sincerely yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

BOSTON REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING STATISTICS.

Total transfers in 1920 of real estate in Boston, 9,026 (i. e., 230 more than in 1919, but 224 less than in 1917), Dorchester leading with 2,391, (2) Boston Proper, with 1,796; (3) Roxbury, 1,268; (4) West Roxbury, 1,082; (5) East Boston, 708; (6) South Boston, 638; (7) Brighton, 562; (8) Charlestown, 313; (9) Hyde Park, 268. Total mortgages, 9,268 (576 more than in 1919), representing in value $79,945,480.

Applications filed with Building Department in calendar year 1920, 17,671 or 1,610 more than in 1919, as follows: for new brick buildings, 190; concrete, etc., 210; stone, 2; steel frame, 12; terra cotta, 13; other fire resisting, 92; total, 1st and 2nd class, 519; new wooden buildings (i. e., 3rd class), 526; alterations, 5,392; plumbing and gas-fitting operations, 9,816; installation of engines, boilers, etc., 583; elevators, 315; erection of signs, 37 and fire escapes, 65. Estimated cost of the new buildings undertaken in 1920, $17,683,132, divided thus: new 1st and 2nd class buildings, $16,552,749; 3rd class, $1,130,383; alterations of buildings, fixtures, equipments, etc., $10,495,121. Vacant and dangerous structures taken down in 1920, 418. Total number of buildings in Boston, January 1, 1921, 107,765 or 31,993 brick, concrete, etc. (i. e., 1st and 2nd class), and 75,772 wood (i. e., 3rd class). Largest building in Boston, South Terminal R. R. Station, covering 33.46 acres of ground. By Chapter 782, sec. 3, Acts of 1914, all new buildings in Boston must have fireproof roofing. Asphalt shingles are now allowed for roofs of third class buildings, under restrictions stated in Chap. 104, Special Acts of 1918.

Owing to the extremely high prices for building materials and labor during the past four years, the number of new dwelling-houses was far below the record for preceding years. In 1917 there were 352 houses erected, accommodating 1,293 families; in 1918, only 25 houses, occupied by 37 families; in 1919, 145 for 481 families; in 1920, 114 for 320 families, a total of 636 new houses in the four years. In the preceding four years (i. e., 1913–16) nearly six times as many or 3,762 were built. Shortage of dwellings in 1920 estimated to be at least 4,200.

The value of building contracts let in 1920 for Boston Metropolitan District (reported by F. W. Dodge Co.) amounted to $125,319,000 or $67,811,000 (i. e., 117.92 per cent) more than in 1919.

The highest valuation of realty in Boston is in the retail shopping district, corner Tremont and Winter sts., viz. $240 per square foot.

MAYOR EXPRESSES REGRET.

His Honor, Mayor Curley, addressed a letter of regret to Hon. John A. Sullivan, upon February 8, relative to the inability of Mr. Sullivan to again assume the office of Corporation Counsel of the City of Boston.

Mayor Curley's letter was as follows:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
February 8, 1922.

Hon. John A. Sullivan, 449-451
Tremont Building, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir.—I am in receipt this day of your letter declining the appointment tendered you by me of Corporation Counsel for the City of Boston.

I regret exceedingly that circumstances will neither permit of your acceptance or reconsideration of your decision as there are few men in Massachusetts as eminently equipped as you are to discharge the duties of Corporation Counsel and to wage a fight for a lower street car fare.

The tender of assistance, without recompense, upon legislation affecting Boston, pending at the State House, is gladly accepted.

Sincerely yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

OPINIONS UPON LIGHTING CONTRACT.

Arthur Dehon Hill, the Corporation Counsel, has rendered the following opinion relative to the question of law incident to the proposed municipal lighting plant.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters, Mayor,
City Hall, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—You have asked my opinion on the legal questions raised by the passage by the City Council of a vote providing for the establishment of a municipal lighting plant. A copy of this vote is annexed. These questions are first whether this vote requires any action by you in order to give it legal effect, and second, if so, what action you should take. Taking these questions in their order:

The statute under which this vote is passed is General Laws, chapter 164, sections 34 and 35. These two sections are as follows:

Section 34. A town may, in accordance with this chapter, construct, purchase or lease, and maintain within its limits, one or more plants for the manufacture or distribution of gas or electricity for municipal use or for the use of its inhabitants. Such plants may include suitable land, structures and machinery and other apparatus and appliances for manufacturing, using and distributing gas or electricity for said purposes.

Section 35. A city shall not acquire such a plant until authorized by a two third vote of its city council, or of a majority of the commissioners if the city government consists of a commission, passed in each of two consecutive municipal years and thereafter ratified by a majority of the voters at an annual or special city election. If such a vote is not ratified, no simlar vote shall be submitted for ratification within one year thereafter.

The vote now before you is the first such vote passed by the Boston City Council.

The statutes above quoted does not in express terms require the approval of the Mayor in order that the vote of the City Council may be legally effective. It must, however, be read in connection with the Boston City Charter (Statutes 1909, chapter 486, section 4) which provides that

"Every appropriation, ordinance, order, resolution and vote of the City Council, except votes relating to its own internal affairs, shall be presented to the mayor, who shall make or cause, to be made a written record of the time and place of presentation, and it shall be in force if he approves the same within fifteen days after it shall have been presented to him, or if the same is not returned by him with his objections thereto in writing within said period of fifteen days."

And with the principle repeatedly affirmed by the Supreme Court that

"when special acts growing out of the peculiar wants, condition, and circumstances of the locality have been granted to a particular place, and afterwards a general law is passed having some of the same purposes in view, and extending them to places in which the special acts had no operation, whether the general act is an implied repeal of all repugnant special acts depends upon a careful comparison of the statutes and the objects intended to be accomplished, and, speaking generally, it requires pretty strong terms in the general act, showing that it was intended to supersede the special acts, in order to hold it to be such a repeal.' "

> Boston & Albany Railroad Co. v. Public Service Commissioner, 232 Mass. 358, 359.
> Brown v. Lowell, 8 Met. 358.
> Copeland v. Mayor and Alderman of Springfield, 166 Mass. 498, 504.

In my opinion the provision of the City Charter above quoted applies to the vote in question. This conclusion is fortified by the history of the statutes by which cities are authorized to construct or purchase gas and electric plants. The first of these statutes in express terms required the approval of the Mayor,—Statutes 1891, 370, section 2. Such approval was also required by all subsequent statutes up to the General Laws of 1920.

See Statutes 1893, chapter 454, section 7.
Statutes 1894, chapter 432, section 1.
Revised Laws, chapter 34, section 2.
Statutes 1914, chapter 742, sections 93, 189.

While the requirement was omitted from the General Laws, there is no express statement nor necessary implication from the language used that either the commissioners who prepared the General Laws nor the General Court which enacted them intended to change the substantive law in regard to what was required. It is a fair assumption that the omission of the express requirement that the vote should be subject to the approval of the Mayor was because it was considered unnecessary in view of the existence of specific provisions concerning votes by the City Council in the charter of the various cities, including that of the City of Boston. The fact that a ratification by the voters is included in the law is not an indication to the contrary for the reason that such ratification has been a part of the law since Statutes 1894, chapter 448, and has coincided with an express requirement of action by the Mayor up to the enactment of the General Laws.

It is further eminently appropriate that in a matter of such great importance as the construction or acquisition of a municipal lighting plant, the chief executive of the city should have a part in the decision.

On the second branch of the question, namely, what action you should take, I assume that you do not desire my opinion on the question of the expediency of the municipal operation of public utilities in general or of the construction and operation of a municipal electric lighting plant in Boston in particular. These are matters of judgment and expediency and would require careful consideration and an investigation of facts which the time at my disposal would not permit. A decision on these questions is unnecessary for the reason that the existing state of the law would make it plainly unwise to attempt to construct and maintain a municipal electric lighting plant at the present time.

The existing statute, General Laws, chapter 164, section 49, provides in substance that if the city should decide to establish its own municipal electric plant, it may be compelled, if the Edison Company so elects, to purchase all that portion of the Edison Company's plant and within the city limits. The city is also compelled to pay whatever damages may be caused by the severance of the property within the limits of Boston owned by the Edison Company from the property owned by it outside these limits. Moreover, the city is not allowed to own or operate a municipal plant beyond its borders so that the public are in effect forced to pay for injury to property outside the limits of the city from which they may derive no adequate benefit in return for such payment. There is no provision for a time limit within which the Edison Company must exercise its election to require the city to purchase. In several other particulars the statute does not adequately protect the public interests. Its provisions are complicated in their meaning and uncertain in their effect. With the law in this condition I cannot believe that it would be wise for the city to take action. What the exact financial consequences might be I have not the data necessary to attempt to estimate, and I doubt very much whether any accurate estimate could be made in view of the uncertainty of the law; but the dangers of any action under such a statute are apparent.

If it is decided that the city should acquire and maintain its own municipal electric plant, steps should be taken to so amend and clarify the statutes as to make its provisions clear and workable and to adequately protect the public interest. In my judgment any amendment might authorize some form of public ownership which would allow the operation of a plant extending beyond the borders of the city itself, as well as other provisions to safeguard the city's interests. Such an amendment of the statute as is required is impossible in the short time remaining in your adminstration, but I believe the matter ought to be called by you to the attention of the incoming Mayor and the new City Council so that they may decide what policy they wish to pursue and take the necessary steps to pursue that policy effectively.

The questions involved are closely related to the need for some legislation leading to closer union between the present City of Boston as a legal entity and the cities and towns which together constitute the economic and social community making up Greater Boston.

It is, of course, true that if you approve the present vote it would be possible that the statute should be amended before the necessary steps which it requires for the completion of the city's decision shall have been taken. There can be no assurance, however, that a proper amendment will be obtained. The securing of such an amendment in my judgment is less likely after your approval of the first vote, and it is always unwise to base legal action on the possibility of a future change in the law.

Within two days you will cease to be the mayor, and your executive duties will devolve upon your successor, an additional reason why you should refrain from the course which, in any event, would be inexpedient.

If the city is to establish its own electric lighting plant the proper thing to do, in my opinion, is to get the law in good shape, then go ahead and do it.

Very truly yours,

Arthur D. Hill,
Corporation Counsel.

Upon receipt of Corporation Counsel Hill's decision, Mayor Peters sent to the City Council the following veto:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
February 4, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith returning without my signature the order passed by the City Council on January 30 for the establishment of a municipal electric lighting plant.

Upon the receipt of your order I requested the Corporation Counsel to advise me on the legal aspects of the case. I am attaching a copy of the Corporation Counsel's opinion. In view of the state of the law, and particularly in view of that part of the opinion which pertains to the second question, I deem it for the best interests of the city to veto this order.

Very truly yours,

Andrew J. Peters, Mayor.

BUILDING IMPROVEMENT.

His Honor, Mayor Curley, addressed the following communication to the City Council, relative to building improvement in the business district, upon the 6th instant.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
Boston 9, February 6, 1922.

To the Honorable the City Council:

The Boston Chamber of Commerce, through a realty trust formed for the purpose, has acquired more than half of the land contained in the block bounded by Federal, Franklin and Congress streets and Matthews square, with the intention of errecting thereon a modern office building of the finest type, the upper stories of which will be occupied by the Chamber of Commerce.

In order to construct upon this land a building which, under the present relatively high cost of building construction, may be expected to yield a return upon the money invested in it,—and the money to erect the building cannot, of course, be obtained an any other basis,—it is necessary to discontinue the passageway through this property, which for many years has been used merely for the delivery of goods to, and the taking of goods from, the properties abutting thereon, and thus make possible the construction of a continuous building; and this has been agreed to by all other owners of property in this block.

In view of the desirability of doing everything which can reasonably be done to revive building construction, of the large number of men for whom erection of the proposed building, which will be one of the very largest in the city, will furnish employment, and the large increase in taxable property which will result, both from the construction of the building itself and from the increase in value of properties adjacent thereto, it has seemed to the Board of Street Commissioners to be in the public interest that the passageway through the property acquired as a site for the proposed building should be discontinued; and the Street Commissioners have passed an order for its discontinuance.

A portion of Leather square, over which the proposed building would extend, was conveyed to the City of Boston by deed for street purposes—for which purpose it is, in the opinion of the Street Commissioners, no longer of any value to the city. The Mayor and

City Council, only, have authority to release the city's claim to this strip of land. For the reasons which actuated the Street Commissioners in passing the order of discontinuance—in which reasons I fully concur—I recommend the passage by the City Council of the inclosed preambles and order authorizing me, in the name and behalf of the city, to release and quitclaim all the right, title and interest, if any the city has, in the strip of land in question.

Respectfully submitted,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Whereas, William D. Spooner conveyed to the City of Boston a certain strip of land for the purpose of widening Sister street, now known as Leather Square, by a deed recorded in Suffolk Deeds, Book 706, page 134; and

Whereas, the Board of Street Commissioners have passed an order for the discontinuance of the street over said strip of land; it is hereby Ordered, that his Honor the Mayor be and hereby is authorized and empowered, in the name and behalf of the City of Boston, upon the payment to the City of the amount ($4095) paid by it for said strip of land, and by a deed in form satisfactory to the Law Department, to release and quitclaim to the Trustees of the Boston Chamber of Commerce Realty Trust, the owners of the adjacent land as successors in title to said Spooner, all the right, title and interest of the City of Boston in and to said strip of land.

SPECIAL COUNSEL CHOSEN.

In harmony with the personal request of Mayor Curley that immediate steps should be taken, as outlined in his inaugural message, to secure a restoration of the five-cent car fare for residents of Boston upon the lines of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, within the limits of the city, Sherman L. Whipple, one of the leaders of the Massachusetts Bar, has consented to serve as special counsel for the City of Boston, without compensation, in the effort to secure the desired legislation.

The letter of acceptance by Mr. Whipple is as follows:

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of the City of Boston,
Boston, Mass.:

My dear Mr. Curley,—I am deeply sensible of the honor implied in your invitation to join in support of the undertakings which you have outlined for your administration as Mayor of Boston.

I am in complete sympathy with what you propose, and I deem it distinctly a privilege to assist in achieving the benefits which you plan for the city and her people. I wish I were able to devote my time unreservedly to the work, but I rest under obligations to clients who have intrusted to me their affairs, which are of great importance to them, and from these obligations I cannot honorably release myself. While I am not free, therefore, to accept an official position, the duties of which would properly exclude other activities, I shall gladly—if I may do it without pay—serve you as best I can in helping to bring relief from the tribute which is now being exacted from the people of this city.

Sincerely yours,
Sherman L. Whipple.

MAYOR ORDERS READVERTISING.

Mayor Curley ordered Commissioner Sullivan of the Public Works Department to readvertise the contract proposals for furnishing double and single teams and auto trucks for city work, upon the 9th instant.

The letter of Mayor Curley was as follows:

City of Boston.
Office of the Mayor,
February 9, 1922.

Mr. Thomas F. Sullivan,
Commissioner of Public Works,
Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—An examination of the bids submitted for the furnishing of double and single teams and auto trucks would indicate that the system which has been in operation is conducive to a temptation that it might be extremely difficult, both for the contractors doing the work and for those in the city employ exercising supervision over the work, to resist because of the unbalanced system of bidding.

I personally believe that, for the protection of the city and for the good name of the Public Works Department, it would be well to readvertise for bids and establish a flat price of $20 per day for all auto trucks used in this work by the City of Boston.

You are accordingly directed to reject the bids received and readvertise in conformity with the instructions herein set forth.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Box 7336.—Boston Elevated carhouse, East First and P streets, running card to be the same as for Box 7332 and it will be connected into circuit No. 1.

IV. Coal Supply.

Company commanders will be governed by the following orders relative to supplying fuel for steam fire engines at fires:

The first and second steam fire engine companies due at a fire for which a second or more alarms are sounded will supply coal from the nearest coal depot to the fire.

In the absence of horses on the above companies, motor hose wagons will be utilized, unless wagons are engaged operating turret pipes on the fire, in which event the next due motor hose wagons will supply coal.

High pressure wagons shall not be utilized for supplying coal.

Until further orders Engine Co. 38-39 motor coal wagon will respond on all second alarms in the city proper, north of Dover and Berkeley streets, and north of Broadway in South Boston; and on all third alarms to Massachusetts avenue.

General Order No. 3.

I. Fire College.

The Fire College will be resumed at the class room, Wareham street and Harrison avenue.

The members assigned to attend and the lecturers will be named in special orders.

General Order No. 4.

I. High Pressure Maps.

High pressure maps are being provided for each deputy chief, district chief and company commander.

Company commanders will keep maps in a place accessible to the members of their respective commands.

II. Salvation Army.

Capt. Floyd L. Keller of the Salvation Army, with assistants, is hereby permitted to enter the fire lines for the purpose of supplying refreshments to the firemen while engaged in the performance of their duties.

On receipt of a second or more alarms of fire, notice will be given from Fire Alarm Office to Captain Keller by phoning Beach 6309.

General Order No. 6.

I. Commendations.

The Board of Merit, organized under paragraph 4, General Orders No. 5, series of 1921, has met and investigated certain cases referred to it by the Fire Commissioner. The findings of the Board of Merit, approved by the commissioner, are as follows:

Commendation for Hoseman Arthur D. Gramer of Rescue Company 1 and Hoseman Edward F. Doyle of Engine Company 25.

At 7 p. m., January 15, 1921, Hosemen Gramer and Doyle captured a highwayman who had held up and robbed Mary E. Burgess of 48 Garfield avenue, Revere, on High street, near the quarters of Ladder Company 8. After committing the robbery, the highwayman ran through Belcher lane to High street, to Oliver street, where he hid in the bottom of an elevator shaft. Hosemen Gramer and Doyle went into the shaft and captured the above highwayman and turned him over to the police of Station No. 2.

Commendation for Ladderman Thomas F. Kilduff of Ladder Company 4.

At 11.07 a. m., January 17, 1921, box 1663 was received for a fire at 28 Springfield street. Ladderman Kilduff entered a room on the fourth floor, which was filled with heavy smoke, and brought Mrs. Annie Baboian, an elderly lady of seventy-nine years, to the lower floor, where she lapsed into an unconscious state. Ladderman Kilduff by his prompt action possibly saved the old lady's life.

Commendation for Lieut. John M. Donovan of Ladder Company 16.

Lieutenant Donovan, while an a day off, January 25, 1921, discovered a fire at 24 Oakview terrace, Jamaica Plain. He immediately notified the Fire Alarm Office of its location and by the use of pails of water held the fire in check until the arrival of Ladder Company 10.

Commendation for Hoseman Michael J. Travers of Engine Company 7.

At 11.56 a. m., January 28, 1921, Engine Company 7 responded to still alarm at No. 11 Albany street, for a fire on the fifth floor. Upon arrival at the fire, a man was noticed at the window on the fifth floor in a very excited condition. Hoseman Travers was ordered to his assistance and found Louis Glick of 16 Georgia street, Roxbury in a state of collapse from smoke inhalation, as the room was heavily charged with the same. The prompt action of Hoseman Travers probably saved Mr. Glick from serious injury.

Commendation for Hoseman William E. Coughlin of Engine Company 3 and Ladderman Gilbert W. Jones of Ladder Company 15.

At fire, No. 144 Hemenway street, Box 2323, February 23, 1921, Hoseman Coughlin, detailed from Engine Company 3 to Ladder Company 15, and Ladderman Jones of Ladder Company 15 assisted Mrs. Richard Winn, age sixty-five, and Miss Marthella Church from the fourth and fifth floors, respectively, over staircase, which was fast filling with smoke and heat, to roof and into adjoining building. The quick work on the part of these men prevented possible suffocation to both women.

Commendation for Hoseman Owen W. Murphy of Engine Company 6.

At 9 p. m., February 11, 1921, Hoseman Murphy while detailed to drive the district chief's car (District 4) ran out of the quarters of Engine Company 4 and stopped an automobile that was pushing its driver toward the front of the building. The driver, Harry Chaszanovitz of 55 Warren avenue, Malden, started cranking his car while in gear, starting the car and pushing him before it. He remained on his feet for a considerable distance but finally fell holding onto the front of the car. Hoseman Murphy was attracted by the screams of several women and ran out of quarters, reached in and applied the emergency brake, stopping the car. He then assisted the driver from under the car and brought him into the quarters of Engine Company 4, where he was given first aid. Hoseman Murphy's presence of mind and quick action probably saved Mr. Chaszanovitz from serious injury.

Commendation for Ladderman Theodore P. Cresey of Ladder Company 19.

At 5.20 p. m., March 5, 1921, while a member of Ladder Company 6, Ladderman Cresey prevented a horse from running away through his prompt action in running out of quarters and grabbing the horse by the bridle, who had stumbled and unseated its rider.

Commendation for Engineer Peter J. Corrigan of the Bureau of Supplies and Repairs.

At 7.40 p. m., April 29, 1921, Engineer Corrigan rendered first aid and other valuable assistance to a person who had fallen in front of an Elevated train at Egleston square.

Commendation for Hoseman Edward T. Bowler of Engine Company 3.

Hoseman Bowler stopped a runaway horse at the corner of Albany and Thayer streets, April 26, 1921, while returning from dinner. The horse attached to a light wagon was running away with its driver and the prompt action of Hoseman Bowler probably saved him from serious injury.

Commendation for Ladderman Thomas J. Riley of Ladder Company 18.

While returning from a fire in East Boston, Box 621, on May 5, 1921, a horse attached to a light wagon was feeding on Eastern avenue, and became frightened and bolted. Ladderman Riley jumped off the truck, stopped the horse, and probably prevented serious injuries to pedestrians and damage to property.

Commendation for Hoseman Edward J. Murphy of Engine Company 29.

On May 23, 1921, while on his supper hour, Hoseman Murphy rendered valuable assistance to Sergt. Daniel McLeod of the Metropolitan Park Police by his efforts in trying to rescue a boy who was drowning in the Charles river, at the Western Avenue Bridge. Hoseman Murphy dove several times in his efforts to recover the boy.

Commendation for Hoseman John E. Doherty of Engine Company 5.

About 11 a. m., June 22, 1921, Hoseman Doherty, while a member of Engine Company 50, ran out of quarters and stopped a runaway horse attached to a light wagon. A small boy, about seven years old, was on the seat of the wagon and was probably saved from serious injury by the prompt action of Hoseman Doherty.

Commendation for Lieut. Maurice J. Prendergast and Ladderman Cornelius J. Harrington of Ladder Company 24.

At 10.30 a. m., August 3, 1921, Lieutenant Prendergast and Ladderman Harrington ran out of quarters and stopped two horses, attached to an ice wagon, who were running away. Lieutenant Prendergast and Ladderman Harrington by their prompt action probably prevented serious injury to pedestrians and damage to property.

Commendation for Capt. Philip A. Tague of Engine Company 50.

At 10.15 a. m., Wednesday, August 17, 1921, Captain Tague was notified that a woman living at No. 6 Monument square was severely burned and in need of medical treatment. Captain Tague responded in the district chief's automobile, bringing the medicine chest with him and by his prompt action in giving first aid probably saved the woman from more serious injury.

Commendation for Capt. John P. Walsh of Ladder Company 2.

On December 28, 1921, Captain Walsh, while on a day off extinguished a small fire in a register opening of a ventilating duct, in the basement of the store occupied by William Filene Sons Company at No. 416 Washington street. No disturbance ensued among the many patrons while the above fire was being extinguished.

Commendations for the following members of Ladder Company 1:

Captain Patrick J. Laffey, Laddermen John J. Buckley, Patrick J. Buckley, Maurice J. Buckley, Dennis J. Condon, Walter C. Glynn, Pillsbury C. Fickett, John J. Leary and John J. Degan.

At 3.45 a. m., January 4, 1922, Ladder Company 1 responded to Box 1213 for fire at 33 Cross street. When Ladder Company 1 arrived on the scene they found people hanging out the windows and others trying to get out on the third floor. All other means of escape were shut off. They immediately raised ladders to the third floor and carried the people down the ladders to the street below. By the prompt and efficient work of Ladder Company 1, the people entrapped on this floor were probably saved from serious injury if not death.

Highly commended, Ladderman Clarence H. Ball of Ladder Company 29.

At 3.29 a. m., January 3, 1922, Ladder Company 29 responded to Box 3373, for a fire at 11 Irma street, Dorchester. Upon arrival at the above fire, cries of a woman were heard from the second floor. Ladderman Ball, not knowing just where the woman was, entered the rear hallway, which was heavily charged with smoke and heat, and ascended to the second floor where he located the woman and assisted her to the ground over a ladder from the back piazza. Ladderman Ball was severely burned on both hands in effecting this rescue.

General Order No. 7.

I. New Fire Alarm Box.

A new fire alarm box will shortly be established at the following location:

Box 3574.—Randolph and Richmond roads. Assignments will be the same as for Box 3716, and the box will be connected into circuit No. 31.

II. Changes in Assignment.

The following changes in assignment of apparatus are hereby annnounced to take effect at 9 a. m. January 19, 1922:

Box 3378.—Fifth alarm assignment; cover for chiefs. Drop District 13 to Engine 53. Add District 15 to Engine 53.

Box 2129.—Fifth alarm covering assignment. Drop Engine 53 to Engine 14. Add Engine 53 to Engine 24.

Box 7431.—Fourth alarm assignment to fire. Drop Engine 3. Add Engine 13.

Company commanders will see that these changes are made on the assignment cards at once.

III. Engines on Motor Apparatus.

Until such time as vent pipes are connected to the exhaust pipes of motor apparatus in fire stations, that part of section 4, paragraph B, General Orders No. 90, series 1921, relative to the engine on motor apparatus being started and kept running for two minutes is suspended. The engine must be started, however, in order to ascertain that the motor is in proper working condition.

General Order No. 9.

I. New Form No. 11.

(Morning Report.)

A new form 11, morning report, has been issued to the department.

All old forms No. 11 on hand must be returned to Headquarters.

On the new form, company commanders will fill out at the top of the sheet the apparatus in active service as called for, and at the bottom of the sheet apparatus stored in your quarters will be noted. Also, summary of all men present for duty segregated in order as officers, men and those on day off must be shown.

II. Transfers.

The following transfers are hereby announced:

Hoseman Herbert D. Gilman, from Engine 33 to Engine 12.

Hoseman William H. Lanigan, from Engine 12 to Engine 33.

Hoseman George F. Brady, from Engine 27 to Engine 50.

Hoseman John H. Agnew, from Engine 50 to Engine 27.

General Order No. 11.

Metal Identification Tags.

Metal identification tags, in duplicate, are to be furnished engine companies and are to be carried in box on the rear step of hose wagons.

These identification tags are to be attached to lines of hose being operated in buildings, on fire escapes, roofs, etc. One tag shall be attached to the play pipe between the handles; the duplicate tag shall be attached to the end of the hose which connects to the hydrant or outlet of engine.

Company commanders will instruct the members of their respective commands in the proper placing of tags on hose so as to avoid confusion consequent to the mixing of numbers.

General Order No. 12.

I. Commendations.

The Board of Merit, organized under paragraph 4, General Order No. 5, series of 1921, has met and investigated certain cases referred to it by the acting fire commissioner. The findings of the Board of Merit, approved by the acting commissioner, are as follows:

Commendation for Hoseman Samuel J. Pope of Engine Company 4.

At 10.18 a. m., January 14, 1922, an alarm was received from Box 1344 for a fire at No. 70 Brighton street. Hoseman Pope entered building, which was heavily charged with smoke, and proceeded to the second floor where he found Mrs. Sitcawich in a dazed condition due to smoke inhalation. He assisted her to a place of safety on the balcony fire escape. The prompt action of Hoseman Pope probably saved Mrs. Sitcawich from more serious injury.

Commendation for Ladderman John J. Buckley of Ladder Company 1.

At 10.18 a. m., January 14, 1922, an alarm was received from Box 1344 for a fire at No. 70 Brighton street. Ladderman Buckley went over ladder to second floor window and entering the room, which was heavily charged with smoke, found an invalid, Michael Sitcawich, overcome by smoke. He carried him to the fire escape from which he was later removed to the hospital. Ladderman Buckley by his prompt action possibly saved Mr. Sitcawich from very serious injury.

II. Changes in Assignment.

The following changes in assignment of apparatus are hereby announced to take effect at 9 a. m. Friday, February 3, 1922:

Box 1276.—Fourth alarm covering should read Ladder 12 to Ladder 15 instead of Ladder 12 to Ladder 5.

Box 3855.—Third alarm covering should read District 8 to Engine 28 instead of District 8 to Engine 18.

Boxes 3463, 3464, 3465, 3467, 3471, 3472, 3473, 3475, 3476, 3482, 3483: Drop Ladder 4 to Ladder 23 on third alarm covering.

Company commanders will see that these changes are made in assignment cards.

By order of the Acting Fire Commissioner,

Peter E. Walsh,
Chief of Department.

STREET COMMISSIONERS.

The Board of Street Commissioners, with sanction of Mayor Peters, have granted the following petitions:

Edison Electric Illuminating Company, Milton avenue, Ward 21, erect one pole.

Edison Electric Illuminating Company, Munroe street, Ward 16, erect two poles.

Edison Electric Illuminating Company, Humphreys street, Ward 11, erect two poles.

Edison Electric Illuminating Company, I street, Ward 9, erect one pole.

Edison Electric Illuminating Company, Wessex street, Ward 20, erect one pole.

Edison Electric Illuminating Company, Humboldt avenue, Ward 16, erect 15 poles (transfer).

Mayor Peters approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the widening and construction of the easterly corner of Eighth and E streets, South Boston, as a highway.

The order is as follows:

The highway named E street is hereby widened at the easterly corner of West Eighth street, and ordered constructed.

The part of said highway as widened herein and the land, exclusive of trees or structures, affixed thereto, in which an easement for street purposes is hereby taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Southwest by the northeasterly line of West Eighth street as it existed previous to this widening, eight and 90/100 feet; northwest by the southeasterly line of E street as it existed previous to this widening, eight and 90/100 feet; and east by the easterly line of said E street as hereby widened, fourteen and 55/100 feet on a curve of ten feet radius: containing sixteen square feet more or less.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

No betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Mayor Peters also approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the discontinuance as a highway of Channing street, city proper, between Federal and Congress streets, and the discontinuance as a highway of Leather square, city proper, for about 100 feet southeasterly from Channing street.

The order is as follows:

The highway named Channing street, Boston proper, between Federal and Congress streets, and the part of the highway named Leather square, Boston proper, lying between Channing street as said street existed at the time of the passage of this order, and the northerly boundary line of property now or late of Stone and numbered 102 Federal street, extending in a straight line across said Leather square, be forthwith discontinued as public ways of the City of Boston, if and when, prior to April 1, 1922, the trustees of the Boston Chamber of Commerce Realty Trust, shall have acquired of the City of Boston the premises which were conveyed to said city by William B. Spooner, by deed dated October 10, 1856, and recorded with Suffolk Deeds, Book 706, page 134, and provided that, in the event of the failure of said trustees to acquire prior to April 1, 1922, the premises herein referred to as having been conveyed to said city by William B. Spooner, this order and a collateral agreement by which said trustees bind themselves, their successors and assigns, to indemnify, exonerate and save harmless the City of Boston from claims, suits or damages arising from or growing out of said discontinuances, shall be void and of no effect.

Channing street and Leather square referred to in this order are bounded and described as follows:

CHANNING STREET.

Southwest by Federal street, twenty-nine and 62/100 feet; northwest by the northwesterly line of Channing street, by five measurements, sixty-eight and 9/100 feet, fifty-six and 11/100 feet, twenty-one and 95/100 feet, twenty-four and 32/100 feet, and forty and 41/100 feet; northeast by Congress street, twenty-five and 23/100 feet; southeast by the southeasterly line of Channing street, by three measurements, sixty-three and 42/100 feet, eighty-four and 44/100 feet, and seventy-seven and 12/100 feet.

LEATHER SQUARE.

Northwest by Channing street, twenty-nine and 74/100 feet; northeast by the northeasterly line of Leather square, eighty-nine and 57/100 feet; southeast by another part of Leather square, twenty-seven and 71/100 feet; and southwest by the southwesterly line of Leather square, ninety-five and 85/100 feet.

No betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Mayor Peters approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners that a surface drain be constructed of one-foot eight-inch by 3-foot concrete, one catch-basin and one drop inlet in Adams street between Rosemont road southeasterly and Lonsdale street in the Dorchester district, at an estimated cost of $2,000.

Mayor Peters formally approved the orders of the Board of Street Commissioners for the laying out and construction of streets in the city proper and South Boston as follows:

The Board determines that the undermentioned estate sustains damages by the making of the public improvement consisting of the widening of E street at the easterly corner of West Eighth street, South Boston, in the amount hereinafter set against it, and awards said amount therefor.

	Amount.
Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston, 16 square feet and building	$2,000

The Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the making of the public improvement consisting of the discontinuance, as a highway, of Channing street, Boston proper, between Federal and Congress streets, and the discontinuance, as a highway, of Leather square, Boston proper, for about one hundred feet southeasterly from Channing street, and awards no damages therefor.

February 3, 1922.

William Killion has agreed to accept the sum of $2,000 as full payment for all land taken from, all rights acquired in, and all damages occasioned to his estate on North Beacon street by the relocation of North Beacon street under the order of the Board of Street Commissioners of August 22, 1921; it being agreed that the City of Boston shall assume the assessments made under the aforesaid order.

February 4, 1922.

Julia A. Shea, Charles A. Shea and James J. Shea, Trustees of John Shea, have agreed to accept the sum of $47,604 as full payment for all land taken from, all rights acquired in, and all damages occasioned to their estate on 56-60 Eliot street by the widening of said street under the Street Commissioners' order of September 8, 1921.

THE CITY FINANCES.

Mayor Curley has issued a statement in reply to the claim of former Mayor Andrew J. Peters in his valedictory message that a surplus of $2,046,809 is available for city purposes.

The statement of Mayor Curley is as follows:

"Press reports of Mayor Peters' valedictory are so confusing that the public may easily draw wrong conclusions therefrom. A fair inference from reading the newspapers would be that Mayor Peters was turning over to my administration a surplus of $2,046,809 to be used for the expenses of the new financial year. Such is not the case. This surplus is to be used, as far as necessary, for the payment of outstanding liabilites incurred to Jan. 31, 1922, inclusive, which means approximately the invoices for December and January, as well as the monthly pay rolls for January. This amount cannot be determined at present.

"The corporation counsel having rendered an opinion to the Finance Commission, to the effect that the new appropriations could not be used for the payment of these liabilities of the past year, as had been the custom over a long period of time, it becomes necessary to make use of this surplus for this purpose. It is quite clear that the amount stated will not be available for Curley, and this is a fact to be emphasized. Ordinarily, such a suplus would be available for appropriations in the new year, but such is not a fact at this time, due to the opinion referred to above.

"Further misstatement appears in press reports, to the effect that thirteen months' payments have occurred this past year. Such is not the fact. Mayor Peters has taken care of the customary 12 months' payments and neither his last year nor my first year is to be charged with these outstanding liabilities, as they are to be charged to a special account to be paid from the surplus indicated above.

"It is true that the close of my previous administration found the city obligated to pay under the system of bookkeeping then in vogue bills and payrolls amounting to something like $800,000 with practically no unincumbered cash surplus, but no reference has ever been made to the fact that the tax collection owing to war conditions and the scarcity of money were very much below normal, and that there was a credit of nearly $5,000,000 in uncollected taxes of that year alone to meet this liability. This is the fact, however, and Mayor Peters reaped the benefit of this credit during his administration, when collections became normal.

"The important point to be understood by the public is that the surplus of $2,046,809 is not being turned over to my administration for the expenditures of the new year."

BOSTON FINANCE COMMISSION.

BOSTON, February 9, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor:

SIR,— At the beginning of the fiscal year 1921–22 the Finance Commission tried to find out what indebtedness, if any, of the former fiscal year was carried over to the succeeding fiscal year for payment. The accounting reports in use by the City Auditor did not state that any such indebtedness had been carried over.

The Finance Commission made an inquiry of every department of the city and learned that bills and pay rolls of the prior fiscal year, amounting to nearly $2,000,000, had been brought over for payment in the fiscal year 1921–22.

An investigation was then made to establish how the indebtedness of one fiscal year in excess of the appropriations for that year could be paid in that year and how such payments could be charged to the next fiscal year. The City Auditor stated that he had authorized the payment of this excess indebtedness of bills and pay rolls under the authority given the treasurer by chapter 320 of the Acts of 1889. The City Treasurer appears to have accepted the decision of the auditor in the matter, although the responsibility for such payment was solely and entirely upon the treasurer. Any of the funds in the treasury were used in making these payments.

The Finance Commission challenged the right of the City Treasurer to pay bills and pay rolls of a past fiscal year with the appropriations of the next fiscal year under chapter 320 of the Acts of 1889, and obtained the opinion of the Corporation Counsel on the matter. This opinion sustained the contention of the Finance Commission and declared such payments illegal.

The Finance Commission had the firm of Patterson, Teele & Dennis, certified public accountants, make an examination of the city's auditing system. This examination established the inadequacy of the present auditing system of the city and the report of the accountants, with the opinion of the Corporation Counsel, was sent to former Mayor Peters on December 17, 1921, together with a report from the Finance Commission. This report of the Finance Commission recommended that steps be taken at once for legislative authority to provide the necessary funds to pay the indebtedness that was then known to exist in excess of the appropriations, because under the opinion of the Corporation Counsel none of this indebtedness which had accumulated for many years and which had been passed on annually to the succeeding fiscal year could be disposed of in that way in the future. No such steps were taken. Consequently on the last day for filing bills in the Legislature, the Finance Commission authorized the filing of a bill — House No. 736—for the purpose of providing funds for the payment of this indebtedness.

The City Auditor resigned in December, 1921. During January, 1922, the Finance Commission employed the firm of Patterson, Teele & Dennis to report on the financial condition of the city at the close of the fiscal year, January 31, 1922. This report is annexed hereto.

The following facts are established by this report:

1. Cash in the national banks and trust companies at the close of the fiscal year, January 31, 1922	$9,499,518 16
Cash in city treasury	420,900 97
Total cash on hand	$9,920,419 13

Of this cash on hand, $9,024,137.53 is needed to meet special appropriations previously made. The only unappropriated money in the treasury at the close of the fiscal year was $896,281.60.

2. During the first six days of the present fiscal year, February 1 to February 6,—or until your Honor took office,—there was paid in bills of the last fiscal year from this unappropriated cash in the treasury the sum of $221,459.01, thus reducing the unappropriated cash in the treasury when your Honor took office, February 6, 1922, to $674,822.59.

Former Mayor Peters stated in his valedictory address to the City Council, February 1, 1922, that his administration closed the city's financial year with a "surplus" of $2,046,809.42. The actual facts do not bear out this statement. The "surplus" of $2,046,809.42 that former Mayor Peters refers to was reduced by payments made in January of city and county pay rolls and bills for the month of January in the sum of $1,142,845.75. The actual balance, therefore, at the close of the last financial year was $896,281.60, instead of $2,046,809.42, as stated by former Mayor Peters.

Former Mayor Peters stated in his valedictory address of February 1, 1922, that it was planned "to provide a special account for all unpaid current expenditures, including those of the School Department, incurred to January 31, 1922, inclusive. The fund available for the payment of these expenditures will be made up of balances of appropriations, excess revenue, and taxes for 1921 as received."

The Finance Commission is of the opinion that the city officials have no power to establish such a fund as former Mayor Peters proposed.

The law provides that all money in the treasury at the beginning of a fiscal year must be used in the appropriations of that year or for the reduction of the tax rate. It seems clear that it cannot be used to pay the indebtedness of former years in excess of the appropriations of those years without further legislative authority.

The outstanding taxes at the close of the last fiscal year were $7,180,973.70. The commission believes that these outstanding taxes should be used to discharge the indebtedness of former years in excess of the appropriations of those years. It seems clear to the commission also that this cannot be done without further legislative authority. The authority necessary to provide the funds to pay this indebtedness of former years imperatively requires the passage of House Bill No. 736.

There is another bill now before the Legislature which the Finance Commission has authorized to be filed, House No. 944. If these two bills become law they will provide for the legal and orderly payment of this accumulated indebtedness and require the City Auditor to charge the auditing system in use by the city, so that the appropriations for a fiscal year will be applied to the twelve months of that fiscal year and no other.

The Finance Commission will be glad to confer with your Honor on this whole matter, and particularly on the passage into law of the two bills mentioned.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN, Chairman,
JOHN F. MOORS,
COURTENAY GUILD,
JAMES M. MORRISON,
J. WALDO POND,
Finance Commission.

AREA OF BOSTON.

Area to ward lines (26 wards), 30,598 acres (i. e., 47.81 square miles), 2,843 acres being filled land, 1,143 acres water area and 1,585 acres flats. Land area only, 27,870 acres (i. e., 43.55 square miles). Included in the latter are 138 acres of filled flats added to the land area of South Boston in 1919 and 48 acres to that of East Boston in 1918. Original Boston contained about 780 acres of land. Of the twelve leading American cities, six are larger in land area than Boston, viz., New York (326.9 square miles), Chicago (199.37), Philadelphia (129), Detroit (75.62), Cleveland (56.6) and St. Louis (61.37). The only city in Massachusetts with larger land area is Taunton (50 square miles).

If Boston should expand by annexations as New York, Chicago and Philadelphia have expanded, its total area, in case of including the 39 cities and towns within the 15-mile radius, would exceed the largest, viz., New York, the present land area of "Greater Boston" being 409.5 square miles.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENT.

Notice was received from the Civil Service Commission of the confirmation of the appointment of Charles L. Carr as Overseer of the Public Welfare.

Placed on file.

DEVELOPMENT OF BOSTON.

A report was received from the City Planning Board of investigations and reports for the past twenty or thirty years in connection with the commercial, maritime and industrial development of Boston.

Ordered printed as a city document and placed on file on motion of Coun. COLLINS.

SIDEWALK ASSESSMENTS.

A communication was received from the Commissioner of Public Works as to cost of construction of sidewalks on Columbus avenue, Ward 15, amounting to $5,608.76—recommending the passage of the following, viz.:

Ordered, That the persons named in the foregoing schedule be and the same are hereby assessed the sums set against their respective names as their proportionate part of the cost of construction of sidewalks on Columbus avenue, Ward 15, and the same is ordered to be certified and notice given to the parties.

The order was passed.

CONSTABLE'S BOND.

The City Treasurer, after having duly approved of the same, submitted the constable's bond of Henry Van Dam.

Approved by the City Council.

MINORS' LICENSES.

President WATSON submitted reports on petitions for minors' licenses for eighteen newsboys.

Reports severally accepted; licenses granted on the usual conditions.

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS OF MAYOR PETERS.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That the valedictory address of Mayor Peters be printed as a city document, and that an additional edition of 1,200 copies be printed and bound in cloth—600 of said copies to be distributed under the direction of Mayor Peters, and the balance to be distributed under the direction of the Committee on Printing; the expense of the same to be charged to the appropriation for City Documents.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PAYMENT TO MRS. W. A. SMITH.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston favors legislation for the payment of balance of salary to the widow of Walker A. Smith, formerly an employee of the Police Department of the City of Boston, for the year 1921.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

LEGISLATION FOR JOHN J. DOLAN.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered the following:

Resolved, That the Mayor and City Council of the City of Boston hereby approve the enactment of legislation to authorize the Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston to reinstate John J. Dolan, a former employee in said department.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Coun. BRICKLEY, for the Committee on Soldiers' Relief, submitted a report recommending the passage of an order for the payment of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families in the City of Boston for the month of January.

Report accepted; order passed.

PENSION FOR MICHAEL F. MEAGHER.

Coun. FORD offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston favors legislation for pension to Michael F. Meagher, messenger for the Supreme Judicial Court.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

SIDEWALK, LEICESTER STREET.

Coun. COLLINS offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Leicester street, east side, from Washington street to Surrey street, Ward 26, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from three to ten inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from five to twelve feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

Coun. FORD in the chair.

LIGHTS, CHARLES RIVER BASIN.

President WATSON offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to place calcium lights at the Charles River Basin for the benefit of skaters at said location.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I move a suspension of the rule that the order may be put upon its passage. During the cold spell I took my daughter, wife and son-in-law one evening, about half-past eight, over to Charlesbank to see the people skating on the basin, and as I went along Harvard Bridge and down the Esplanade towards the West Boston Bridge we were unable to see skaters ten feet from the embankment. The thought struck me on that large expanse of frozen surface, where young and old people of Boston and Cambridge were enjoying that healthy outdoor exercise, in the event of the ice cracking or somebody going through the ice in the darkness, they would perhaps drown before anybody went to their rescue. Furthermore, I believe things that are wrong are committed in darkness,—larceny, murder and other things,—and I thought, for the benefit of the morals of the children who might skate on that basin, and in order that people of vicious minds, perhaps degenerates, might not interfere with the young people there, it would be a capital idea to illuminate the basin. That very night I went home and wrote to the Metropolitan District Commission suggesting what I have here said in my few remarks concerning the necessity and advisability of putting calcium searchlights around the Charles river, on the Cambridge and Boston sides. My letter was dated January 21, and I received a reply from the secretary, George Lyman Rogers, on January 23. In that letter he said that he would refer the matter to the commission for their consideration. I then waited for two or three days, during which there was fine skating, and I saw nothing developing along the line I had suggested; and I then wrote back under date of January 25, saying in my letter:

"I have but one comment to make, and that is, it may be that as soon as the commission holds one of its regular meetings there may be no more ice skating on the basin, but at the present time the skating surface is in fine condition. If it is a question of funds, it may be that Mayor Peters will find a way to locate two searchlights on the Boston side of the basin, if you will give him permission. I will talk it over with him, if you say so."

Well, gentlemen, there is ice still on the basin, or was up to Saturday, with excellent skating, but very few people go out far for fear they will break through the ice, and very few enjoy the pleasure as it might be enjoyed. At least 5,000 could enjoy skating on the surface of the basin if it was properly policed and lighted, and certainly the lighting for a few nights would cost but a very small amount. Well, the Metropolitan District Commission wrote me through their secretary on January 27, as follows:

"Your letters of January 21 and 25, relative to maintenance of searchlights on Charles River Basin, were carefully considered by the commission at its meeting yesterday. I was directed to reply that the Commission deems it inexpedient to maintain lights as suggested. If the city desires to maintain some lights, the commission would be pleased to give such permission therefor as proves to be necessary.

Very truly yours,
Geo. Lyman Rogers,
Secretary.

The result of these communications is the order I have now introduced. This, Mr. President, is only a sample of what we see in connection with the state government. Boston pays the bills and they draw the salaries. The skating may continue or may not. I believe that Mayor Peters is a broad-minded man, a man who believes in healthy exercises outdoors, and I think that perhaps either Mayor Peters or the incoming Mayor, both of whom are fathers of families and who appreciate the value to the growing youth of skating and other outdoor sports, will be able to find a little money for the purpose of furnishing lights on evenings when they are required. A few lights will cost only a small amount, on the Boston side; perhaps Cambridge will co-operate with us, and we will thereby accomplish what is desired and save to the Commonwealth a few dollars. I hope that the rule will be suspended so that the order will be passed at this time.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

Coun. LANE in the chair.

ELECTION OF JUDGES.

President WATSON offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby approves of legislation favoring the election of judges by the voters, as against the present appointive system.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PRINTING THE MUNICIPAL ELECTRIC PLANT HEARING.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I move you, sir, that that portion of the stenographer's report of the hearing before the Executive Committee, held January 26, on municipal electric light plants in Boston, which includes the address of the Hon. George Fred Williams, be printed as a city document. I move a suspension of the rule that action may be taken today.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I would like to have the President give us some reason for printing the address of George Fred Williams as a separate document. My understanding is that all that matter was taken by the stenographer in the Executive Committee meeting, and that it will be printed entirely as a city document.

Coun. WATSON—No.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Why make a separate document of the address by Mr. George Fred Williams?

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I would inform the gentleman opposite that when he has had nine years' experience here he will know better how things go than he does now. First of all, let me say that there have been only three copies written out by the stenographer—one for the Council, one for the chairman of the committee, and one, as a matter of courtesy, for the Law Department. I am perfectly willing, and will ask unanimous consent, to withdraw my motion and move that the entire report be printed as a public document. Is that agreeable?

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, it was my understanding that the entire matter would be printed. If any of it at all is printed, in my opinion we should have the entire subject-matter printed rather than selecting any particular address by any individual and having that printed as a separate city document.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, for the benefit of the member I will say that a few years ago the Hon. Thomas N. Hart was given a banquet at the City Club, and delivered a prepared address on the subject of municipal government, as he understood it, in the old-fashioned way, and I came down here at the next meeting and put in an order that his entire address be printed as a public document. That was carried, and the document is one of the most illuminating publications on real, genuine home rule that we have seen in the City of Boston. That was an address delivered by Hon. Thomas N. Hart when eighty-eight or eighty-nine years of age, and it was printed as a public document and has been much sought after. But, as I say, I will, with the permission of the gentleman opposite, withdraw my motion to print the address of Mr. Williams, and will move that all the proceedings before the committee be printed as a public document. In limiting it to the address of Mr. Williams I had in mind saving some expense. I would now move that the entire stenographic report of the hearing before the Executive Committee with reference to an electric light plant for Boston be printed as a public document.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I think that is much better than the original motion.

Coun. WATSON—I agree with you.

Coun. DONOGHUE—I believe so because of the fact that the information that was gleaned from the meeting did not come entirely from George Fred Williams. Of course, I have no feeling against Mr. Williams whatsoever, but I feel, in fairness to everybody, that we should not select any one individual who comes before the Council or the Executive Committee to make an address and have a public document printed simply and solely dealing with the remarks that he has made. I think it is a much saner way of doing business to cover the entire matter, if it is going to be printed as a city document, than any one particular part of it.

Coun. WATSON—Perhaps I am not going to have the last word on this trivial matter, but I am going to have my say, anway. I am going to say that perhaps in my admiration for George Fred Williams as a citizen, an incorruptible, fearless public servant, who has suffered because of standing up for principle, with my feeling for him as a friend, perhaps I was carried overboard. I therefore want to discontinue the debate upon the matter at this time and simply say that I agree that the sane way to do the thing is the way that the sane member opposite suggests.

The Council voted that the hearing of January 26 before the Executive Committee, in regard to a proposed municipal electric light plant for Boston, be published as a city document.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at three o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. COLLINS, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the chamber and were called to order by the President at 3.37 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. MORIARTY, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Report on petition of James F. Ryan (referred today) for retirement under the provisions of the law—recommending the passage of the following, viz.:

Ordered, That the Retirement Board for Laborers be hereby authorized and requested to retire, under the provisions of chapter 765 of the Acts of 1914, as amended by chapter 63 of the Special Acts of 1915, James F. Ryan, employed in the labor service of the City of Boston, in the Public Works Department.

Report accepted; order passed.

2. Report on resolution (referred today) favoring legislation for reinstatement of John J. Dolan in the Public Works Department—that the resolution ought to pass.

Report accepted; resolution passed.

3. Report on order (referred today) for printing of valedictory address of Mayor Peters—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

President WATSON called up Nos. 1 to 6, inclusive, unfinished business, viz.:

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor January 23, 1922, viz.:

On January 16, 1922, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

LOAN FOR SHERIFF'S HOUSE.

President WATSON called up No. 11, unfinished business, viz.:

11. Ordered, That the sum of $10,000 additional be appropriated, to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for the construction of sheriff's house at Suffolk County Jail, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On January 16, 1922, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

The order was given its final reading and passed. yeas 7, nays 0.

MONEY FOR SOCIAL LAW LIBRARY.

Coun. COLLINS offered an order—That there be allowed and paid to the proprietors of the Social Law Library the sum of $1,000 for the maintenance and enlargement of said library, said sum to be charged to the appropriation for County of Suffolk, Social Law Library.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

ELECTION OF JUDGES.

Coun. MORIARTY offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby approves of legislation favoring the election of judges by the voters, as against the present appointive system.

Coun. MORIARTY moved a suspension of the rule that the resolution might be put upon its passage.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, as I understand it, an order substantially similar to that was placed on the table by the Executive Committee, and I further understand that this resolution has come before the Council for the first time today.

President WATSON—The gentleman is correct in his assumption.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I am not going into the question of the election of judges or the appointment of judges. I realize the fact that what the councilor on my left has just brought out is absolutely true, but the fact is that, as he says, the order was laid on the table in executive session today and that a hearing is to be held at the State House next Wednesday. That being so, if we adjourn today without taking action upon this matter, we will not be able to take it up again under the regime of this Council, because the Executive Committee will not meet again as the Council is now constituted. The laying on the table in the Executive Session was an act intended to postpone, so that we would not be represented as a City Council at the hearing to be held in the State House on Wednesday. I believe, under the circumstances, that we did give to that committee our thought in the matter, whether we are in favor of or against the election of judges as a City Council. That is my reason for bringing the matter up in open session here today. If the committee was not going to meet on Wednesday next and give a hearing upon this question, I would not have brought the resolution in. I will say also that I was not the introducer of the order that was laid on the table in the committee. Coun. Watson was the introducer of the order. When I heard the order I did not know that he was the introducer of it. I did not know who introduced it. I am now coming back here without any conference with Coun. Watson, but on my own initiative, introducing the resolution so that he may give that committee at the State House our thought in the matter, whether we are in favor of or against the election of judges. I have not had any change in this matter. I had the pleasure as a member of the Constitutional Convention to vote in favor of the election of judges. Nothing has happened since that vote in the Constitutional Convention that has changed my mind, but many things have happened since that have made me advocate more strongly the election of judges. I feel that we here, as local representatives of the people, ought to decide upon this matter today, and give our thought to the committee that is going to give a hearing upon that bill at the State House next Wednesday. If we let it lie over, it will only be straddling the issue. I realize that, looking at this from the viewpoint of the ordinary matter, as a matter of courtesy, it might perhaps be overstepping the bounds, in so far as the Council is concerned, to demand immediate action at this time. But, as the Executive Committee has practically held its last meeting, as it has been adjourned sine die today, and as, if no further action is taken, this matter will simply go to the waste basket, as we voted to lay the order on the table in Executive Committee on a motion that was intended to have the effect of putting it in the waste basket, I now come in here and offer this resolution, so that the matter may be acted upon before this body goes out of existence, and so that we may be represented at the hearing to be held at the State House next Wednesday. I certainly trust that the resolution will either go on its passage or be defeated, the position of the members being recorded as their names are called.

Coun COLLINS—Mr. President, this order came before the Council for the first time today and was sent to the Executive Committee, and a majority of that committee voted to lay it on the table—not, as was suggested by the last member, to defeat it, but for the purpose of giving the matter further consideration. The gentleman is in error when he says that because of its having been laid on the table the matter is defeated for all time, because there is always a blanket order passed in the Council on the last meeting day, which will be next Saturday, providing that all unfinished business shall be carried over until the following year. So that order will be alive in the Executive Committee next year, for action. The gentleman further stated that there is to be a hearing before the Legislature on Wednesday and that for that reason it was imperative that action be had forthwith. Why, Mr. President, the legislative hearing may be held, of course, but it may continue for days or weeks; and, if the hearing is to beld and closed, this Council can act one way or the other, and let the clerk of that committee receive any communication which we wish to send. To my mind nothing could be more absurd and ridiculous than for this Council to act upon the matter without any further consideration than we have had an opportunity to give, and that is what the motion to suspend the rules contemplates. In closing, I want to suggest that this is a very big question. The member spoke about its being threshed out before the Constitutional Convention. As I remember, no action was taken by the convention, as such, and here we, the members of the City Council, are called upon without any consideration, without any hearing, to go on record for or against this resolution. That does not strike me as the proper way to transact the city's business, in the first place, and, in the second place, it strikes me that the order should not be here. Strictly speaking, it is not a matter for the City Council but for the Legislature. Therefore, I hope the motion to suspend the rule will not prevail, but that the vote that obtained in the Executive Committee will obtain in the meeting of the Council.

Coun. MORIARTY in the chair.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I think the matter was tabled in the Executive Committee under a misunderstanding. It was tabled there by a vote of four to three. My first thought was that it might be well to consider this at a later meeting this year. But Coun. Donoghue raised the question that on Wednesday the Committee on Judiciary, I believe it is, will hear the measure, and that, if we are going to act, we should do so before that time. I agree with him, therefore, that we should act today. We could not get the vote to report the order back from the committee. Coun. McLaughlin is absent, Coun. Hagan is absent. I don't know how they would vote upon the matter if they were here. Therefore, we are met with this condition. This talk about postponing action in order that we may look into the thing is a joke. Of course, the councilor knows that when he says it. It is a positive joke. This election of judges by the people is no untried system. It is nothing new. It has existed in New York, Illinois and all progressive states; and I want to say that there is less corruption, according to the reports of the press, of judges elected by the people than of those selected by governors. I have no quarrel with the judges of Massachusetts, but I do have in mind one or two who ought not to be on the bench, and if we had elections by the people they would not be elected to the smallest position carrying with it judicial power. I have in mind a local judge, a man who would never have been thought of as a judge except for his connection with a corporation attorney connected with a certain firm of attorneys, the biggest firm of corporation lawyers in Boston, and men who run a large national bank. If it was a question of election by the voters, he would never have been nominated, would never even be considered, because he would be too small. If he were not, he would not allow his court to be run by a probation officer. And, gentlemen, if you want to know the court, I am not in the habit of beating about the bush,—it is the Roxbury Municipal Court, where Joseph Keane, a probation officer, runs the judge and is responsible for the decisions. I have been waiting for this opportunity, and I will speak plainly. I don't mince matters, and I will give names. I mean Judge Albert Hayden, a man who causes Democratic Representatives to introduce bills in the Legislature without referendum to put men on the county pay roll at large salaries, when we are the ones who have to pay the salaries. In this matter of election of judges by the people, I say that the people are wide awake. The people want progressive legislation. Beacon Hill may not be open to progressive ideas, but this body is, fresh from the people. Coun. Collins and I agree in some matters, but we disagree in others. He is with the old order, and I am not. Coun. Ford perhaps feels the same way,—I don't know. Coun. Lane perhaps agrees with the old order, but I believe he feels that in many cases direct elections would be better. I know that he would certainly favor direct election of the councilors here, not having them appointed by the Governor, because if they were appointed by the Governor he would not be here, nor I. That is understood. I say that people want progressive legislation. The judges are looked upon with suspicion by right-thinking people, whether rightfully or wrongfully. There is no getting away from it. They are considering in Pemberton square the future of a man. They may impeach him and remove him from office. He may be guilty, he may be innocent; but I think the decision of that court would be more responsive to justice if they knew that the people of Boston, of the State of Massachusetts, would have their say concerning action in that particular case. Yes, I know I am radical on these subjects. I believe with Senator LaFollette and Senator Owen, with all progressive individuals in the United States, that when the people pay the freight the people should rule. Only the other day we passed a resolution concerning the Volstead act. If a direct vote had taken place, on prohibition, if when the matter had been acted upon in Congress it had then been referred to the voters instead of having it referred to the different Legislatures for ratification, they would never have been able to put on us the eighteenth constitutional amendment, interfering with the personal liberty of the people, especially when two millions or more of the voters were across the sea fighting for liberty for the world. There is no getting away from that. Let the people choose, determine. If there are going to be errors made, let the people make them directly and they will take the responsibility and suffer the consequences. Don't delegate the rights of the people through misplaced confidence or mistaken ideas, where the people themselves should preserve those rights. Look, for example, at the example of the Edison Company fighting on Beacon Hill all the legislation of the state that applies to lighting plants, and practically compelling the people to submit to their demand. Oh, dear me. Can't you see that the people are demanding this? It is true that the Telegram today started this matter, but that has nothing to do with it in my mind. The Telegram and I are not on speaking terms. I don't worry much about that. Anything which appears in the Telegram that I believe in or anything that appears in the Transcript or the Herald that I believe in, will have my earnest support, whatever it may be. I am going to ask a suspension of the rule that this resolution may pass. The vote may be close, but let us have it. If it passes, we can have a committee of three appointed by the Chair to appear Wednesday in favor of any or all legislation that may be up to direct election of judges by the people. That is in line with action that has been taken in the progressive Western States. They elect their justices of the peace, as well as their Supreme Court judges. We all remember that when we started in with direct elections of United States Senators, those favoring such direct legislation were called radicals and reds. Who would go back to the delegate system, now? Who would favor the selection of the United States Senators by Houses of Representatives in the different states? Certainly no sane person. Would we ever have David I. Walsh in the United States Senate if the Legislature of Massachusetts was the body that decided it? Why, he would never have been heard of. I am going to pay you a tribute, Coun. Collins. I know that you are honest in your position against the election of judges by the people. You are honest, but you are an attorney. I might be an attorney, but, thank God, I am not, and it is perhaps a blessing to clients I might have that I am not. I know your point of view. You are honest. And I don't disagree with you, Coun. Ford, on your point of view,—although I don't know what it is yet. I am simply judging by the vote in the executive session. We had four votes to three, and the four were Ford, Lane, Collins and another. Now, I trust that the rule will be suspended and that we may have a vote on this resolution today. If the rule is suspended, I shall offer the amendment I have suggested.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I want to merely say as a member of the Constitutional Convention that I then favored direct election of judges and am of the same opinion now that I was then. I favor the election of judges today, as in the Constitutional Convention, because of one fact. To my mind the judiciary of Massachusetts is drifting altogether too much towards autocracy rather than democracy. I feel that no man elected by the people is better qualified to elect a judge for any court than the people themselves are to select that judge.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, I did not suppose on this motion that there would be a discussion on the merits of the proposition. I understood that the question related to the suspension of the rule. Coun. Watson has suggested that I favor the old order of things. I want to be perfectly frank with the Council and say that I do favor that which exists until a better system has been proven to me. On the question of the judges of this Commonwealth it does strike me from my observation and experience that we have a good set, a most excellent set, of men. From the standpoint of honor, fair dealing and justice, I believe they are second to none in this country, whether you compare them with those in the appointive or elective states. But to favor the change of the whole structure or form of government, or a particular form of government, without giving the matter any consideration before acting upon it, is, it strikes me, the height of absurdity. Therefore, I trust that the vote to suspend the rule will not prevail.

President WATSON in the chair.

President WATSON. I would say for the benefit of Coun. Collins that he knows as well as I do that this is a matter calling for legislative action and then, I believe, submission to the voters, as a proposed constitutional amendment. To hear him talk you would think that if we acted in favor of this resolution it might mean that judges would be elected tomorrow. There are plenty of chances for the people to pass on this, plenty of them.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, just a word in answer to the Chair. The legislative committee, whose business it is to act primarily on this matter, is not going to act upon it without a hearing. Why should we favor the particular legislation referred to without so doing?

President WATSON—I don't know why you should, but I know why I should.

Coun. FORD—Mr. President, what Coun. Collins says just now is what I was going to point out. If that committee of the Legislature, and the Constitutional Convenion, saw fit to have extended hearings on this matter, I don't know why we should not. I suppose most or all of the members of the Committee on Judiciary, before whom this matter would come, are lawyers, and in the Constitutional Convention the lawyers took a great part in considering the question of the election of judges, and a great many laymen also took a prominent part. Yet it was considered by all that, being a constitutional question, it needed considerable discussion and mulling over. As Coun. Collins says, and as I was going to say, we ought to give some sort of a hearing, and consider both sides of the matter. Another thing, we ought not to discuss or take the matter up without a full attendance of the Council. Coun. Hagan and McLaughlin ought to have a chance to express their views in the matter. Now, as one of the speakers has mentioned a judge by name, Judge Hayden of Roxbury, I might say a word myself, being known as a trial lawyer, one who is always in court and rarely in the office, of necessity, that if I were finally deciding whether or not I should elect or appoint judges and had to decide the question on the basis of Judge Hayden's standing at the bar, I should favor the retention of the appointive system.

President WATSON—I know that.

Coun. FORD—I am simply speaking from my experience; and, as for the bench drifting towards autocracy and away from democracy, I cannot agree with men who take that view. I think our decisions in Massachusetts in reference to labor matters and most things that concern the people themselves are very liberal and broad, that, rather than getting away from the people, they are coming more towards the people every day. I think the judges have been very fair in the great majority of decisions here in Massachusetts affecting labor. That is a good place to find out in what way the change is going, when you speak of autocracy. I cannot believe that there is any drift whatever towards autocracy on the part of the judges in this state. The judges sometimes have to act having consideration statutes that are fixed and upon the books. It is not their fault at times that they cannot decide differently from what they do decide. If they find the statutes on the books of Massachusetts they have to construe the statutes according to what they feel is the intention of the Legislature. If the thing is there, they must gather it from the words that appear in the statute and act accordingly. People must not criticise the bench for deciding in a certain way, because the words are there—because, for instance, a decision may seem to be against labor, when the court cannot construe the words of the statute in any other way. I have often heard judges say, "Well, I may not agree with the legislation myself, but there it is and what can I do?" It is sometimes the fault of the Legislature, which passes the laws, and not that of the judges who simply construe the laws, that decisions contrary to what people would like to see are rendered. I think, as

I see the bench of Massachusetts, that it is constituted, with perhaps one or two exceptions, both the Superior and other benches, of high-minded men, men who want to do the right thing. They are pleasant, affable, reasonable at all times. There may be cases where they do not seem to be reasonable, but, of course, they are human, admit that they do make mistakes, but when they do try to correct them. I feel that the system is at present an excellent system. There may be a chance to better it, but if there is, and some think that it will be bettered by the election of judges, we at least ought to get information from different sources, have an opportunity to look into the matter as it presents itself to the different states, before deciding that we want to change the system. I think we ought to study the system. I do not think members ought to come in here without notice and without an opportunity for consideration, after an order has already been laid on the table in the Executive Committee, and attempt to have such a resolution as this passed. I do not think that is the proper way to deal with such an important constitutional question. It is the most important constitutional question that we have tried to butt into, Mr. President, and I feel that it is one which needs serious consideration. Leaving the politics out of it, it tends to change the whole system of our government. It was given rather serious consideration in the Constitutional Convention, when Coun. Moriarty and Donoghue were present, and they had the benefit of the discussion. That may allow them to come in here at this stage of the game and advocate the passage of this resolution, perhaps properly so, because of their having considered the matter. But we have never considered it in any particular, and I think we ought to have some hearings before we are required to act upon it. I am in favor of at least a postponement until we may get some information. It has been the general practice here when members of the Council wanted postponement for further consideration, to grant the opportunity to them. That has been accorded as a matter of courtesy among the members, and I think that it is a courtesy that should be extended in this case, so that we may find out just what this will mean to the people, to the Commonwealth and everybody. I do sincerely hope that the members of the Council here who are advocating the passage of the measure will see the position of those who ask for some delay for consideration, and will be agreeable to having the matter stand until we may at least give it some mature consideration. It is a very important problem, and I trust that we may have an opportunity to give it proper thought later on.

President WATSON—The Chair, being responsible for the discussion, is compelled to add something to the record. I do not want any misunderstanding to be conveyed to the public to the effect that I have made any reflection on any other judge of the Commonwealth than the one I have referred to, Judge Hayden. I do not withdraw the crossing of a "t" nor the dotting of an "i" in what I said concerning Judge Hayden. Thank God, I am immune from anything that would lead me to have any concern in that respect, and I hope I will continue so. I want to say further that I enjoy the confidence of Justice Carroll, of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, so that he stopped and talked with me within a week on topics of the day, man to man. I also enjoy the personal acquaintance of Judge Christopher T. Callahan of Holyoke, with whom I was very friendly politically in 1898 and 1899, and I am also a friend of other judges in Massachusetts, including Judge Flynn, a very competent and able man, and a type of man, as are most of the others who would undoubtedly be reelected if they went before the voters for approval. Coun. Ford has said something concerning lawyers in this matter. Yes, if there were nine lawyers here present, this order would never be introduced or, if it were introduced, it would not get a single favorable vote. There are, instead, three. We have also been told about removing the things from politics. Why not remove business from this discussion, rather than politics? Forget politcs and forget the business end of it. After all, that has something to do with it, I think. I do not blame Coun. Collins or Ford a particle for their position. As a lawyer, I would do the same thing. It would be a matter of expediency in some cases. But I want to reiterate that anything I have said in no way casts any reflection on the judges of Massachusetts, with one exception. On the whole, I believe that the judges are the equal of any in the country, although no better than they have in states where they are elected by the people.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, I would like to correct the Chair. I am speaking and have spoken, not from the point of view of a lawyer, but from the point of view of a public servant.

President WATSON—The Chair stands corrected.

Coun. COLLINS—I would not refer myself to a particular man at this time were it not for the fact that the Chair has spoken twice, the second time reiterating what he said first in regard to a particular judge. He has referred to Judge Hayden of the Roxbury District Court. I have met Judge Hayden and have tried several criminal and civil cases before him, and I want to say that, in my experience before him, I have never found a more just man than Judge Hayden. I have felt that he has decided the cases coming before him with an eye to the best interests of the body politic, and I believe that his point of view as shown in that small district court in Roxbury, is respected in the point of view taken in that respect by the judges of the Commonwealth in general. I repeat again that as a public servant I protest against any hasty action such as is proposed in this Council.

President WATSON — The Chair almost thought he heard Judge Hayden's voice when Coun. Collins spoke.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, we have all heard a great deal of talk about hasty action upon the matter today and the absurdity of our acting as servants of the people on a measure which any man who has been in public life in Massachusetts at some time or other during his career must have at least considered. I think the minds of all the members of this Council are made up now as to whether or not they are in favor of or opposed to the election of judges by the people. I do not think arguments that may be advanced by those in favor of this legislation or opposed to it will change a single vote in this Council, any more than they would change a single vote in the Committee on Judiciary which will hear the bill next Wednesday. I think the minds of the members of that committee are practically made up now, just as the minds of the members here are now made up. It is rather a peculiar thing to me that in the Constitutional Convention, when this question was before the convention for consideration, when it was voted upon, practically all the lawyers in the convention, with the exception of probably two, voted against it, while those who favored it were the so-called laymen. To get a lawyer to vote in a way that might be considered as a vote against a judge or the interests of some judge, is a rather difficult thing to get. The old order of things, they say, maintains here in Massachusetts, and they say that our system of appointment of judges has given us some of the best judges in the United States. That may be so, and then again it might be that some men have never even been considered for appointment to the various benches in the State of Massachusetts who would make at least as able jurists as those now serving in the various districts. It seems to me that the courts, as I say, to my way of thinking, are tending towards autocracy. I still maintain that that is so. Instead of interpreting the laws made by the Legislature in recent years, the judges seem to try to construe the law not as it was intended when passed by the Legislature but as they would have it themselves. I think if the people—who, after all, are most concerned in the matters that come before the courts—have a voice in the selection of the men whom they wish to represent them upon the various benches in our courts, if they can say who those men should be, they would see to it that proper men were selected to represent the people. The fine deal, so-called, that labor has received, has been referred to. I ask any member of this body to show me a single instance of any law written on the statute books that has been interpreted by any jurist so as to give labor the best of the decision. I say that invariably labor has got the worst of it, rather than the best of it, and I think that under election of judges we certainly would not get any worse men in the various courts than we have now. We might get some better men in some cases and in some cases men equally good. I favor the election of judges and am going to vote for it.

The Council refused to suspend the rule (a two-thirds vote being required for suspension), yeas 4, nays 3:

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Moriarty, Watson—4.

Nays—Coun. Collins. Ford, Lane—3.

President WATSON—The rule is not suspended, a two-thirds vote being necessary for suspension. The order will be referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I move that the City Council go on record in favor of the direct election of judges by the people.

President WATSON—The councilor will reduce his motion to writing. Coun. Donoghue, the Chair under strictly parliamentary rules is compelled to rule that your motion is out of order, inasmuch as we already have such a resolution before the Council, and it has been referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. FORD—Mr. President, I move a reconsideration on all matters acted upon today, hoping that the same will not prevail.

Coun. MORIARTY — Mr. President, I am going to rise to oppose Coun. Ford's motion, for the reason that there may be something in relation to this order that we may decide at the next meeting to reconsider and, this being in the air, I am not going to be put in a box, simply because it is usually the practice to act upon such a motion. I am going to vote for the motion today.

The motion to reconsider was declared carried. Coun. Ford doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion to reconsider all action taken today was lost, yeas 3, nays 4:

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Moriarty—3.

Nays—Coun. Collins, Ford, Lane, Watson—4.

NEXT MEETING.

It was voted, on motion of Coun. DONOGHUE, that when the Council adjourns it be to meet on Wednesday, February 1, at eleven o'clock a. m.

Adjourned at 4.22 p. m., on motion of Coun. COLLINS.

Wednesday, February 1, 1922.

Special meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at eleven o'clock a. m., President WATSON in the chair. Absent—Coun. Donoghue and Hagan.

His Honor Mayor PETERS entered the chamber and President WATSON relinquished the chair to him for the purpose of delivering his valedictory address.

(For Mayor Peters' valedictory address see City Record of February 4, page 76.)

After his Honor Mayor PETERS had finished his address he said:

Mr. President and members of the Council, as I am closing my valedictory address to you I wish to thank you and the heads of departments, many of whom I see here, for the many pleasant days of association which we have had together; and I desire to assure you, sir, and your colleagues, and those associated here, of my very best wishes to them for a happy future.

President WATSON—Mr. Mayor, I cannot permit this opportunity to pass without expressing to you my sincere regrets, and I believe those of my colleagues, at our parting. My association with you and the other members' association with you, I believe, on the whole, has been very, very pleasant to us all. I have served under three Mayors in this body, and no Mayor of those under whom I have served have I found to be more honest and more sincere and a greater gentleman than yourself. In conclusion let me say that I regret that Boston is losing you, as Boston has been the gainer by your four years as Mayor. That the state may look to you and make use of your very excellent ability is the wish of the President of this body. (Loud applause followed by three cheers and a tiger for his Honor and President Watson.)

Adjourned at 12.28 p. m., to meet on Saturday, February 4, at eleven o'clock a. m.

EXPORTS AND IMPORTS, MASSACHUSETTS CUSTOMS DISTRICT.

Dating from July 1, 1913, the district includes Boston and the eight minor ports of the State. Value of exports in calendar year 1920, $192,866,178 or $141,687,853 (i. e., 42.35 per cent) less than in 1919; of imports, $392,752,807 or $93,387,808 (i. e., 31.20 per cent) more than in 1919; total foreign trade $585,618,985, a decrease of $48,300,045 or 7.62 per cent from 1919. Boston's total foreign trade for year 1920, next to the largest on record (viz. that of 1919) ranks fifth among American ports, New York, New Orleans, Philadelphia and Galveston leading. In 1919 Boston ranked fourth and in 1918 fifth. As to imports alone, Boston ranked second, and as to exports alone, twelfth in 1920. Tonnage of vessels in foreign trade in year 1920, entered 2,249,870 (i. e., 479,431 more than in 1919); cleared 1,337,972 (i. e., 56,513 more); number of vessels entered, 1,181 (i. e., 176 more than in 1919); number cleared, 844 (i. e., 12 more).

PROCEEDINGS OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Jan. 30, 1922.

A special meeting of the School Committee of the City of Boston was held in the School Committee Building, Mason Street, at 6.48 o'clock P. M., the Chairman presiding.

Present: Dr. Bogan, Miss Curtis, Messrs. Lane, O'Connor and Scannell.

AMENDMENT AND APPROVAL OF RECORDS.

On motion, the minutes of previous meetings were amended as follows:

Dec. 19, 1921, on page 180, to provide that the appointment from the eligible list of Ruth W. Watson shall read Ruth V. Watson.

Oct. 3, 1921, on page 133, to provide that in orders 4 and 5, relating to authorization of textbooks, the name W. H. Timble shall read W. H. Timbie.

The reading of the records of the last meeting was omitted, the Board approving them as printed.

APPOINTMENTS OF TEACHERS.

The Chairman stated the question was on approving the appointments of teachers, as reported by the Superintendent and laid over at the last meeting

The appointments were approved.

DEATHS.

The Superintendent reported the death of the following-named teachers who had been retired on pension:—

PETITION FOR INSTALLATION OF SANITARIES IN FREDERIC A. WHITNEY PORTABLE.

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of Jan. 30, 1922, to whom was referred at the meeting of Dec. 19, 1921 (see p. 184), a petition from various mothers of pupils attending school in the Frederic A. Whitney Portable No. 198, requesting that suitable sanitaries be installed in that portable, reporting that, upon investigation, he finds that the portable building referred to is approximately 150 feet from the entrance to the Frederic A. Whitney School yard which is too great a distance for little children to travel in extremely cold or inclement weather. He has therefore recommended to the principal of the district that the second grade now occupying the portable building be transferred to the main building, and that a third grade be housed in the portable, which arrangement, it is hoped, will temporarily relieve the situation.

Placed on file, and the recommendation adopted.

MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

The Massachusetts Civil Service Commissioners announce examinations as follows:

Policewomen, February 15, 1922, in the Service of Boston, All Other Cities in the State, and Such Towns as are Classified Under Civil Service.

Vacancies occur from time to time in the Boston Police Department, at an entrance salary of $1,400 a year, increasing $100 a year to a maximum of $1,800. At present there is a vacancy in the Lowell Police Department at a salary of $20 per week, and a vacancy in the Medford Police Department at a salary of $1,000 a year. Other vacancies may occur at any time in other cities and towns than those named above.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Experience 5; report 1; practical questions 4; total 10.

Persons who pass the written examination may be required to qualify in personality (as determined by an oral interview) before certification.

The practical questions will concern such matters as warrants, arrests, etc., the laws relating to night walking, stubborn children, shoplifters, etc., and practical cases to test applicants' judgment and resourcefulness in handling typical problems along protective and preventive as well as correctional lines. Some of the practical questions will be based upon information contained in a manual supplied by the Department of Civil Service and Registration, Division of Civil Service, and known as the "Blue Book," a copy of which will be sent to every person who files an application. Applicants are advised to inquire either personally or by letter should they fail to receive this manual.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in experience. Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

Applicants for Boston must be not less than 25 nor over 35 years of age at the time of filing applications, which must be accompanied by birth certificates. In no other city or town is an age limit required.

There are no requirements as to weight or height in any city or town.

Pilot and Quartermaster, Public Works Department, February 17, 1922.

The salary is $32.60 per week. The working day is eight hours, but the eight-hour watch varies from day to day. One day off in seven is allowed. The duties of the position are to assist the captain, keep the pilot house clean, keep a watch out for approaching craft, assist the captain in traffic count and in any other way that the captain may direct. In the absence of the captain the pilot assumes the duties of master. It is desirable that applicants be familiar with the rules of the United States Steamboat Inspection Service. Applicants should have a pilot's license for vessels of 900 tons, and should also have a life boat man's certificate.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 6; report, 1; practical questions, 3; total, 10.

Applicants will be required to obtain at least 65 per cent in training and experience.

Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

Aurist and Otologist, Boston School Department, February 23, 1922.

The salary is $5 per day. There are approximately 180 to 185 days in an ordinary school year, so that the physician would receive from $900 to $925 annually. The entire duties have to do with the examination of the ears of school pupils, especially those attending the Horace Mann School for the Deaf. The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 1; special questions on the duties of the position, 1; total, 2. Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience, and at least 60 per cent in special questions. Applicants must be registered to practise medicine under the Division of Registration in Medicine, Department of Civil Service and Registration.

Clerk of Works, Boston Schoolhouse Department, February 23, 1922.

The salary is $1,900 per year. It is desirable that applicants have had experience on construction work, be familiar with the building laws of Boston, and be able to read plans and check the work of the contractor, as well as understand specifications. They will also be required to make weekly reports on the progress of the work and to see that all authorized instructions are carried out by the contractor. The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 5; arithmetic, 1; report, 1; special questions, 3; personality and fitness, as determined by an oral interview, 5; total, 15. Applicants will be required to obtain at least 50 per cent in special questions, 65 per cent in training and experience, and a general average of at least 65 per cent in the written examination before they can be given the oral examination.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in chapter 150 of the General Acts of 1919.

Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply. Preference in certification will be given to applicants who, at the time of filing application, are residents of the city or town from which requisition is received.

Proposals for Furnishing Double and Single Teams and Auto Trucks.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals from citizens of the United States and corporations or other legal associations wherein the controlling interest to the extent of at least over one half thereof is owned by a citizen or citizens of the United States for furnishing double and single teams and auto trucks in Districts Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6–9, 7, 8, 10 and 11, between February 1, 1922, and January 31, 1923, and giving bond therefor of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each district, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Forms of proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Furnishing Teams," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. on Thursday, February 16, 1922, with a certified check for three hundred dollars ($300) for each district, or three thousand dollars ($3,000) for all the districts, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. The attention of all bidders is called to the fact that failure to bid on furnishing auto truck and chauffeur may lead to the rejection of the entire bid. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the proposals. If the price bid on any district appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low it may lead to the rejection of the proposal for said district. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to accept any proposal should he deem it to be for the best interests of the city so to do.

Thomas F. Sullivan,
Commissioner of Public Works.
Boston, February 9, 1922. (Feb. 11.)

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Proposals for Gasolene and Kerosene.

The Supply Department of the City of Boston invites proposals for furnishing to the various city departments

28,000 gallons, more or less, of gasolene;
6,000 gallons, more or less, of kerosene;

to be delivered during March and April, 1922, according to specifications, a copy of which may be seen at the office of the Supply Department, Room 801, City Hall Annex. The bidder must use the form to be obtained at the above mentioned office and the successful bidder must furnish a bond for one quarter the amount of the contract with a surety company authorized to do business in Massachusetts, as surety for the faithful performance of the contract. The bid, with a certified check for $300, payable to and to become the property of the City of Boston, if the proposal is not carried out, must be left at the office of the Superintendent of Supplies, Room 801, City Hall Annex, before Monday, February 20, 1922, at 12 m., at which time and place the bids will be opened and read publicly. A duplicate bid, without check, must be filed with the City Auditor prior to the time named for opening bids. The Superintendent reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals or any part of a proposal, and to award the contract as he deems for the best interests of the city. All contracts made subject to appropriations to meet payments thereunder.

In Board of Street Commissioners of the City of Boston, February 1, 1922.

Ordered, That due notice be given that this Board is of the opinion that public necessity requires the taking of land and buildings at 12, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 29 and 31 Cherry street and 146, 150, 152 and 154 Shawmut avenue, for playground purposes, substantially as shown on a plan on file in the office of this Board, that it intends to pass an order to make said taking, and that it appoints eleven o'clock a. m., of February 23, 1922, and the office of this Board as the time and place for a public hearing in the matter.

A true copy of an order passed by said Board on said day.

Attest:

Joseph F. Sullivan,
(Feb. 11.) Secretary.

CITY OF BOSTON.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Proposals for Sewerage Works in Dorchester Brook Sewer in Norfolk Avenue from about 240 feet Northwest of Franklin Court to East Cottage Street, Dorchester.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals from citizens of the United States and corporations or other legal associations wherein the controlling interest to the extent of at least over one half thereof is owned by a citizen or citizens of the United States for sewerage works in Dorchester brook sewer in Norfolk avenue from about 240 feet northwest of Franklin court to East Cottage street, Dorchester. A bond will be required for doing the work of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of ten thousand (10,000) dollars to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Plans and proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Sewerage Works in Dorchester Brook Sewer," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m., on Monday, February 20, 1922, with a certified check for two thousand (2,000) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the proposals. If the price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, or the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing such price. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as be deems best.

Thomas F. Sullivan,
Commissioner of Public Works.
Boston, February 9, 1922. (Feb. 11.)

CITY OF BOSTON.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Proposals for Lumber for the Public Schools.

The School Committee of the City of Boston invites bids for furnishing and delivering at the several schools lumber as per schedule. Only proposals obtained at the office of the Business Agent of the School Committee, 15 Beacon street, signed by the bidder and left before 12 o'clock m. on Monday, February 27, 1922, at said office, with a certified check for $100, payable to the city if the proposal is not carried out, will then and there be publicly opened and read. Each proposal should be plainly marked "Proposal for Lumber." The bid must be in duplicate, the one with the check to be sent as above, and the other filed with the City Auditor, City Hall, previous to the time named for opening bids. The successful bidder will be required to deposit a surety bond or a certified check for not less than 25 nor more than 30 per cent of the amount of the contract, payable to the City of Boston, which check shall become the property of the city unless the bidder carries out his agreement in accordance with the specifications. The School Committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to accept such bid as may be deemed best for the interests of the city.

William T. Keough,
Business Agent of the School Committee.

EXPENDITURES OF THE CITY OF BOSTON FOR THE PAST FISCAL YEAR.

Total ordinary and extraordinary, $57,477,910 or $5,288,419 more than in 1919-20. For maintenance of departments (excluding Water Service and Printing Department), $33,910,233 (including $9,897,928 for School Departments); for City and County interest, $3,406,141; sinking-fund requirements, $894,429; serial loan payments, $1,191,100 (making all debt requirements, excluding Rapid Transit, $5,491,670); for Water Service (including Metropolitan water assessment, interest on debt and extension of mains), $3,186,007 (covered by water revenue); State tax, $4,262,300 (regular) and $200,937 (special for benefit of soldiers and sailors of World War); other regular Metropolitan and State assessments, $1,596,897; Printing Department, $312,519 (covered by revenue); special appropriations from Tax Levy, $2,616,988; special appropriations from Parkman Fund income, $176,505. Total ordinary expenditures, $51,754,056 or $4,146,904 more than in 1919-20. Total expenditures for departments only, $5,976,774 more than in 1919-20. Department increases of expenditure in excess of $25,000 over the year 1919-20, were: Assessing Dept., $28,539; Collecting Dept., $31,896; Consumptives' Hospital Dept., $59,512; Election Dept., $72,521; Fire Dept., $359,093; School Depts., $2,485,296; Public Works, $1,295,958; Police, $495,770; County of Suffolk, $119,697; Park and Recreation Dept., $210,759; Overseers of Poor, $73,583; Library, $125,019; Public Buildings, $58,806; City Hospital, $235,071; Health, $52,201.

Regular appropriations unexpended by the departments and accounted as surplus reached the noteworthy total of $370,808. Decreases of expenditures from 1919 were City and County Debt Requirements, $357,991; Soldiers' Relief Dept., $52,557; House of Correction, $41,608; Licensing Board, $2,771.

Extraordinary expenditures for permanent improvements (i. e., loan appropriations, etc., including unused portions from previous year), $3,897,029, of which $792,215 was for Rapid Transit construction, mostly for the new Arlington St. Station, i. e., $607,496; $848,060 for sewer construction; $1,035,685 for making of highways; $350,000 for School Dept. buildings; $156,601 for East Boston Ferry improvements; $147,092 for sea wall, etc., Roxbury Canal; $112,466 for Jail hospital; $69,144 for widening of streets; $188,984 for playgrounds; $42,551 for park improvements; $78,522 for High Pressure Fire Service; $50,792 for public buildings and land; $24,917 for other objects. For Rapid Transit and other debt requirements, $1,793,044. Total extraordinary, $5,690,073 or $1,107,734 more than in 1919-20. Of the 1920 loans, the amount expended within the same fiscal year was $1,866,406 or 65.6 per cent.

POPULATION OF BOSTON BY SEX, NATIVITY AND COLOR.

By sex, 368,756 males and 379,304 females; ratio of males to females, 97.2 to 100 as against 96.7 to 100 in 1910. Foreign-born whites, 238,919 or 25,749 less than in 1915. Negroes, 16,350; Chinese, 1,075; Japanese, 76; Indian, 34; all others, 40; increase of 769 in Negro population since 1915 and 2,786 since 1910.

ASSESSED VALUATION AND TAX RATE OF BOSTON.

Assessed valuation as of April 1, 1920, $1,572,457,180 (as corrected), or $1,396,073,300 real estate and $176,383,880 personal (including $23,209,180 bank stock). The real estate valuation showed a gain of $66,783,200 over the 1919 total; the personality a loss of $22,479,798.

Total tax rate, $24.10 per $1,000 of valuation, or only 50 cents more than in 1919, divided thus: City tax, $19.04 ($7.14 of this for schools); County tax, $1.42; State tax, $3.64. Total tax warrant, $41,258,579.59 (i. e., $2,544,776.43 more than in 1919) or $32,833,918.08 City tax; $2,364,527.07 County tax and $6,060,134.44 State tax and Metropolitan assessments; Poll tax $978,970 or $5 each on 195,794 polls, the extra $3 poll tax being imposed 1920-23, inclusive, because of soldiers' war bonus (see Acts of 1919, Chap. 283).

The exceptional increase in the City rate, or $1.89, was due to the unprecedented demands of the School Committee for increased appropriations, the School tax for 1920 being $2.12 more, but the City tax other than for schools decreasing 0.23, as compared with 1919. As the State tax was reduced from $5.03 in 1919 to $3.64 (—$1.39) only 50 cents addition to the total tax rate was necessary in 1920.

Of total assessed property value, 43 per cent is located in Ward 5 and 23 per cent in Wards 7, 8 and 9, or about two-thirds of the whole in said four wards. Average valuation per acre for all land assessed (i. e., 18,611 acres), $42,512, the total land valuation in 1920 being $791,199,100.

In the 10 years 1906-1916, the total assessed valuation increased 25 per cent, while the population gained 26 per cent. In the 20 years, 1896-1916, the gain in valuation was 64 per cent and in population 50 per cent.

Boston has for some years ranked fourth among cities of the United States as to aggregate valuation, but first as to valuation per capita. The City's real estate valuation in 1919 was 74 per cent larger than that of St. Louis, 63 per cent larger than Pittsburgh's, 67.4 per cent larger than San Francisco's and 132 per cent larger than Baltimore's, all computed on the same basis, or 100 per cent assessment.

ANNEXATION TO BOSTON.

East Boston in 1637; South Boston in 1804, being set off from Dorchester; Roxbury in 1868, a city of Norfolk County since March, 1846; Dorchester in 1870, a town since September, 1630; Charlestown in 1874, a city of Middlesex County since February, 1847; Brighton in 1874, set off from Cambridge and incorporated as a town of Middlesex County in February, 1807; West Roxbury in 1874, set off from Roxbury and incorporated as a town of Norfolk County in May, 1851; Hyde Park in 1912, a town of Norfolk County since April, 1868.

These annexations, which added 24,312 acres of land to the original land of Boston, were by area as follows; East Boston, 1,435 acres; South Boston, 795; Roxbury, 2,450; Dorchester, 5,600; West Roxbury, 8,075; Brighton, 2,664; Charlestown, 424; Hyde Park, 2,869. Filled land increased the area later by 1,396 acres. In 1875 the annexed territory had a population of 201,250, or 58.86 per cent of city's total; in 1910 its population had increased to 477,311, or 71.18 per cent, Hyde Park not included.

POPULATION OF BOSTON BY GEOGRAPHICAL DISTRICTS.

East Boston (i. e., Wds. 1 and 2, including the islands) 63,051 or 2,629 less than in 1915; Charlestown (Wds. 3 and 4) 34,272 or 5,329 less; Boston Proper (Wds. 5, 6, 7, 8, and northern corner of Wds. 12 and 13) 170,637 or 25.663 decrease; South Boston (Wds. 9, 10 and northern part of Wd. 11 to Howell St.) 64,144 or 5,601 decrease; Roxbury (most of Wds. 12, 13, 14, 15 and all of Wd. 16) 135,024 or 7,341 increase; Dorchester most of Wd. 11, Wds. 17, 18, 19, 20, 21 and part of 24) 157,932 or 19,813 increase; West Roxbury (including Jamaica Plain and Roslindale, i. e., Wds. 22 and 23) 63,190 or 7,119 increase; Brighton (Wds. 25 and 26) 41,724 or 6,942 increase; Hyde Park (most of Wd. 24) 18,086 or 628 increase. According to these unprecedented census returns, the five districts constituting the most densely inhabited part of Boston (i. e., from the northern boundary to Franklin Park, including Roxbury and South Boston) showed a net decrease from 1915 to 1920 amounting in all to 31,881, while the other four districts showed an increase of only 34,502. In the preceding five years, 1910-1915, the same five districts increased by 16,373 and the other four by 58,481, a total increase (omitting the 15,936 gained by annexation of Hyde Park in 1912) of 58,918, or more than 22 times the increase from 1915 to 1920 as shown by last U. S. Census.

POPULATION OF COUNTIES (U. S. CENSUS) WITH INCREASE OVER PREVIOUS CENSUS (STATE) RANKED FROM LARGEST.

(1) Suffolk (3 cities and 1 town) 835,522 or 8,721 over 1915; (2) Middlesex (11 cities and 43 towns) 778,352 or + 44,728; (3) Essex (9 cities and 25 towns) 482,156 or + 18,494; (4) Worcester (3 cities and 57 towns) 455,135 or + 24,432; (5) Bristol (4 cities and 16 towns) 359,005 or + 12,041; (6) Hampden (3 cities and 20 towns) 300,305 or + 37,361; (7) Norfolk (1 city and 27 towns) 219,081 or + 17,174; seven other counties (4 cities and 127 towns) 422,800 or — 3,905. Total for the 14 counties (38 cities and 316 towns) 3,852,356 or 159,046 (i. e., 4.3 per cent) over 1915. Of said total, 2,741,599 (i. e., 71.17 per cent) were in the cities and 1,110,757 (i. e., 28.83 per cent) in the towns. The four counties, Suffolk, Middlesex, Essex and Bristol contain 63 73 per cent of the state's inhabitants.

If the municipalities having a population of 5,000 or over are properly called urban, then the percentage of urban population in the entire state reaches the notable figure of 90, while the rural shows but 10 per cent.

INCORPORATION OF BOSTON.

Boston was incorporated as a city February 23, 1822, this being the date when the Act of incorporation was passed by the Legislature. On March 4 following, the voters of Boston accepted said Act, viz. Chap. 110, 1821-22, as its first City Charter by a majority of 916 in a total vote of 4,678. Ten futile attempts had previously been made to incorporate as a city, viz., in 1650, 1659, 1667, 1708, 1744, 1762, 1784, 1791, 1804 and 1815. Revised charter adopted in 1854. Charter again revised in 1885 and amended in 1909.

MAYOR CALLS FOR ELEVATED INVESTIGATION.

REQUESTS GOVERNOR COX TO INTERVENE.

Mayor Curley called upon Gov. Channing H. Cox upon the 13th instant to send a special message to the Legislature for an investigation relative to the transportation situation in Boston as provided under the terms of the Boston Elevated Railway Bill of 1918.

The communication of Mayor Curley was as follows:

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
February 13, 1922.

HON. CHANNING H. COX, Governor of Massachusetts, State House, Boston, Mass.:

YOUR EXCELLENCY,—In behalf of the people of Boston, I invite your attention to the Boston Elevated Railway Bill of 1918, the circumstances under which it was enacted, and the unjust popular burdens thereby imposed.

When, in 1894, the original charter of this company was granted with its provision for 6 per cent dividends and a guaranteed five-cent fare for a term of years, it was felt that the company's promoters had made a bargain most advantageous to themselves. The company's stock immediately sold at a high premium and the promoters of the enterprise harvested large profits.

It certainly has never been suggested that these promoters were not men sufficiently astute as financiers or that they were misled in the bargain which they made.

After years of profitable operation, the company began to be less prosperous. The reasons why we need not here discuss. Opinions differ. There are those who claim, and sincerely believe, that the situation was caused by mismanagement, or worse. Those responsible for the administration of the company's affairs stoutly maintain that the situation resulted solely from economic conditions.

However this may be, in 1918 the railway appeared to be in desperate condition, when the men who had made the original bargain, who had reaped the profits of these prosperous years, but who were now confronted with loss, appealed for a modification of their trade. They said the bargain had become onerous, and that they could go on under it no longer. Their statements, apparently sustained by figures, aroused popular sympathy. It seemed plain that some aid might properly be extended, especially since the transportation of our citizens is a matter of such public importance.

The statements of interested parties were taken at par. There was no real or thorough investigation of the company's finances. The bill proposed by the promoters of the legislation was not carefully scrutinized or analyzed. It was considered hastily and enacted, I believe, with but slight appreciation of the onerous burdens it imposed upon the public.

The result was legislation which I verily believe is the most unfair and iniquitous our Legislature ever enacted. The act provides for the enrichment of its promoters by a payment of millions guaranteed by the Treasurer of the Commonwealth. It compelled the state to take charge of a property depleted, dilapidated, and on the verge of bankruptcy, build it up anew by the expenditure of millions of public money, and then hand it back to its owners, who thus become enriched at public expense. It was nothing more or less than a pure gift of public money to a body of financiers, who, at least, could not claim poverty as a reason for such bestowal.

But this is by no means all. While the bill requires that in the first instance those millions shall be paid from the public treasury, the ultimate exaction of this tribute is not from the state or from municipalities, or from banking houses or prosperous commercial or industrial enterprises; but from the meager earnings of the worker of every grade, mechanic, artisan, stenographer, clerk, shop girl, or errand boy, it withdraws ten cents each day. It levies upon each and every one of these an annual tax of some thirty or forty dollars, all devoted to the purpose of delivering over this aggregate of millions thus collected to the financiers who, in 1918, begged the Legislature to let them out of their fair bargain and pass the burden on to be borne chiefly, or at least in large part, by those of our people who could least afford it. It is a tax which falls not only upon the industry of the daily toiler, but it is, as well, a tax upon his pleasure; for the same tribute must be paid upon every street car ride for recreation.

But aside from the manifest unfairness of this hasty and ill-considered legislation, and the iniquity of the incidence of the burden, it has already appeared by legislative investigation that the means which the promoters of this legislation used to effect its enactment were contrary to sound public policy. It has been shown practically without contradiction that the law today stands vitiated by the fraud and corruption which induced its passage.

The revelations of the investigation of last year created a profound shock throughout the community. I have reason to believe that a more thorough investigation will reveal fraud even more shocking, not only in respect to legislative corruption, but in respect to corrupt influence in the expression of public opinion through newspapers and otherwise.

I venture to think, Your Excellency, that this situation must appeal to you, and that you will deem it your official duty to do whatever may fairly be done to relieve those who now bear it, of this burden, and place it where on good conscience it should belong.

I believe that you must think with me that it may be the duty of the present Legislature to enact laws to correct this iniquitous and fraudulent legislation and remove its blot from our statute book.

The nature of the legislation proper under the circumstances is, of course, for the Legislature to determine. Perhaps, however, I may be permitted to suggest whether the Elevated Bill of 1918 may not properly be repealed. I am not unaware that it is claimed in certain quarters this may not be done because the act constitutes a contract between the Commonwealth and the Elevated Company which may not be repudiated. But it is a familiar principle that contracts obtained by fraud are not binding upon the parties, and I know of no reason why this principle should not apply to this contract. It is inconceivable to me that in any case the law will permit those who have used improper means to secure a contract to enjoy the benefits of their fraudulent conduct. It would seem the height of absurdity to assert that those who have by fraud and corruption induced the Commonwealth to enter into a contract may benefit by their fraud, while a contract between individuals, secured by fraud, is vitiated thereby.

If it be true that by some incomprehensible technicality of the law the right to levy this tribute, though secured by fraud, cannot be released by repeal of the corrupt legislation, which I stoutly assert I do not believe, still it must certainly be true that the Legislature has the power to correct this wrong by a repeal of the original charter of the railway company; and in view of the conduct of those in the management of the railway, as revealed by last year's investigation, I think it too plain for argument that the Legislature would be justified in such an action if no other effective means can be devised to rid the people of this city, and our adjoining cities, of the burdens which have been imposed upon them by tricky cunning and flagrant fraud.

It is now too late in the session to introduce new legislation. A bill for such purpose as I have described can probably be introduced only by special message from your Excellency or by suspension of the rules requiring unanimous consent.

I therefore respectfully urge upon you to make this matter the subject of a special message to the Legislature, to the end that there may be a thorough and searching investigation of this public scandal, and that such legislation regarding it may be enacted as shall be just and fair, and reflect credit upon the Commonwealth.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Governor Cox declined to comply with Mayor Curley's request in a letter forwarded upon the 15th instant.

The communication of Governor Cox was as follows:—

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, MASS.
February 15, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor, Boston, Massachusetts:

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Permit me to acknowledge receipt of your communication of February 13, and to say that I have given consideration to your request that I send a special message to the Legislature requesting a further investigation of the circumstances connected with the passage in 1918 of an act providing for the public control of the Boston Elevated Street Railway Company. This matter was the subject of an extended investigation by the General Court during the session of 1921 and the report of its findings was transmitted by legislative order to the District Attorney of the County of Suffolk. The present General Court is composed of members elected for two years. The membership this year is the same as last year. I do not therefore feel justified in asking a further investigation of the same subject by the same men during the current session.

Very truly yours,

Channing H. Cox.

Mayor Curley indited the following supplementary letter to Governor Cox:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
February 16, 1922.

Hon. Channing H. Cox, Governor of the Commonwealth, State House, Boston, Mass.:

Your Excellency,—I acknowledge receipt of your letter of yesterday.

I regret that you overlooked my real request. Doubtless I did not state it with sufficient clearness, although I thought I did.

I asked you to address the Legislature in relation to the Elevated Railway Bill of 1918, to enable that body to proceed without delay to consider the matter and to enact remedial legislation. The matter of "further investigation" is purely incidental and of comparatively trivial importance. The real question is whether the Legislature shall be given opportunity, if it desires, to correct an intolerable situation.

The ten-cent fare which the citizens of Boston and vicinity are now compelled to pay is not required to meet the cost of transportation. It provides also for the accumulation of a sum variously estimated from five to fifteen million dollars to restore and completely equip this railway, not for the Commonwealth, or the city, or the public, but for its owners. The citizens of Boston are taxed to make a gift of this enormous amount to a set of financiers, who, under their original contract, brought the road to ruin by mismanagement and the payment of dividends when a surplus should have been accumulated.

This legislation was secured by corruption of the Legislature, and no further investigation is needed to show it.

The vital issue, therefore, presented to your Excellency was, and is, not whether there shall be further investigation, but whether you will assist to the end that the present Legislature may be enabled to repeal an act which makes exactions from the people of this city which are plainly unjust, and which were secured by corruption of public officials, or whether our citizens must submit to this injustice for another year until a new Legislature can be elected.

I deeply and sincerely regret that you do not see your way to render the aid of your great office in a matter so deeply and vitally important, not only to our people, but to public justice.

Respectfully,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

The following letters are self-explanatory:

February 13, 1922.

Messrs. James F. Jackson, Samuel L. Powers, Stanley R. Miller, John F. Stevens and Winthrop Coffin, Trustees, Boston Elevated Railway Company:

Gentlemen,—As a representative of the people of Boston, I am deeply interested in the question as to whether the burdens to which they are subjected by the Act of 1918, under which you are serving as trustees, may not be lightened through your administration of the affairs of the railway.

There are several things in my mind which I deem worthy of your consideration, but I feel that I have not at present sufficiently definite information as to the details of the situation to assure me of the value of my suggestions. I regard it my duty to inform myself fully and in detail.

I venture, therefore, to ask whether you are willing to grant permission to railway experts and accountants to examine the finances of the company and the details of your administration, and report to me. It is my purpose, if their reports warrant it, then to present and discuss suggestions which I hope may be of value.

Respectfully,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

February 15, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I appreciate your desire to get all the important facts and figures relating to our street railway service and there is no reason why the information should not be promptly furnished. Nor need there be any formality about it. As soon as you arrange for the inquiry you will find the officials of the company ready to aid you.

I write because I need not await the action of the trustees as a Board, knowing that they would be of the same mind.

Very truly yours,

James F. Jackson,
Chairman.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
February 15, 1922.

Messrs. Frank W. Remick, President, and George A. Rich, Secretary, Boston Stock Exchange, Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen,—In behalf of the people of the City of Boston, I am undertaking to investigate the method and means adopted by the promoters of the Boston Elevated Street Railway Act of 1918.

It appeared in a Legislative investigation last year that some of the members of the Legislature which passed the bill speculated in the stock of that railway, and that their votes either were or may have been affected by the prospective profits of this speculation.

It has been currently stated not only that others than those whose names were revealed in the legislative investigation were involved in this matter, but that similar means were taken by the promoters to influence corruptly expressions of public opinion through the newspapers and otherwise.

I deem it of great importance to the interests of the city that the names of those should be known who, during this critical period, were speculating in shares of the Elevated Road and participating in the stupendous profits which were to result from the enactment of the legislation.

To this end I request you to furnish me, at my expense, with a statement of the transactions in shares of the Boston Elevated Street Railway or West End Street Railway for a period of one year before and six months after the date of the enactment of the bill. I desire in connection with each transaction to know the names of the brokers, both for purchasers and sellers.

It would oblige me greatly in the discharge of my public duties if I might have this information promptly.

Awaiting your favor, I remain,

Respectfully yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

MAYOR ENCOURAGES NEW STEAMSHIP LINE.

Mayor Curley called a meeting of representative business men of Boston, at the Mayor's office, upon the 15th instant, to encourage the establishment of a permanent steamship line between Boston and the ports of Ireland.

Emmet J. McCormack of New York, said that the steamer "Eastern King" will sail from Boston for Ireland February 20, after loading 1,700 tons of freight, not one pound of which originated in New England. Ireland exports foodstuffs and fabrics to America but Boston cannot expect paying cargoes westbound and establishment of a Boston-Ireland service unless Western and New England interests ship their freight from New England ports, rather than from New York, as most of them do now.

One of the surprising facts elicited in the conference was that Mr. McCormack's steamship line now brings mackerel to Gloucester from Ireland!

In the course of the talk, Mayor Curley let it be known he means to economize in other directions to make it possible to engage at $5,000 salaries and pay the expenses of two publicity agents to travel over Eastern territory and try to interest business men in the "Ship from New England" movement.

The Mayor lamented the indifference of Boston's financial and commercial leaders in the upbuilding of the port of Boston.

ABATEMENT OF ASSESSMENTS.

The Board of Street Commissioners in the matter of the applications for revision of assessments, levied on account of the construction of sewerage works, have ordered the annual apportionments of assessments for the years to be abated:

	Amount.
Patrick Flynn, 1921 apportionment, plan 3, 1910, lot 2, Rossmore road, January 24, 1912	$1 92
Mary J. Gibbons, 1921 apportionment, plan 32, 1914, lot 2, Washington street, May 20, 1916	9 81
Margaret T. Geary, 1921 apportionments, plan 5, 1909:
Lot 109, Cornell street, March 22, 1911	7 08
Lot 110, Cornell street, March 22, 1911	7 08
Lot 152, James street, March 22, 1911	7 08

EXTENSION OF CONTRACT.

Upon February 13 the Mayor approved an extension of contract with the Beatty Construction Company, 66 Warren street, Brighton, for removing snow and ice in Snow Districts Nos. 2 and 7, dated December 24, 1921, from January 31, 1922, to May 1, 1922.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
February 10, 1922.

Mr. Thomas F. Sullivan, Commissioner of Public Works, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—I have this day approved bids received for the collection of ashes and garbage in the various contract districts of Boston, which indicate a saving of approximately $112,505 over the prices paid during the year 1921-22.

In my opinion, it would be advisable for you to send for the various contractors whose bids have been approved and notify them that they will be required to live up to every provision of their contract and unless they are prepared to do the same, it would be advisable for them to forfeit their check at once so that the work may be readvertised.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

CONSTRUCTION OF OLD COLONY BOULEVARD.

Mayor Curley, in hopes of relieving to some extent the present grave problem of unemployment in Boston, has addressed the following communication, relative to the earliest possible starting of the construction work upon the Old Colony Boulevard, to each of the following gentlemen: Hon. John N. Cole, Commissioner of Public Works, State House; George B. Wason, Associate Commissioner, Metropolitan District Commission, 18 Tremont street, Boston; William H. Squire, Associate Commissioner, Metropolitan District Commission, 18 Tremont street, Boston; Frank G. Hall, Associate Commissioner, Metropolitan District Commission, 18 Tremont street, Boston; Frank A. Bayrd, Associate Commissioner, Metropolitan District Commission, 18 Tremont street, Boston; James A. Bailey, Commissioner, Metropolitan District Commission, 18 Tremont street, Boston; George Lyman Rogers, secretary, Metropolitan District Commission, 18 Tremont street, Boston; and James B. Shea, chairman, Park Commission, 33 Beacon street, Boston.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
February 16, 1922.

Dear Sir,—The unemployment situation is sufficiently serious to warrant action at the earliest possible date relative to the construction of the Old Colony Boulevard.

You are respectfully invited to attend a conference at the Mayor's office on Friday, February 17, at 3 p. m., to consider the necessary agreements to be entered into, the advertising of the work and the carrying through of the project to completion, without delay.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

NOTICE.

Street Commissioners.

In the office of the Board at eleven o'clock a. m., February 23, a public hearing will be held to consider land-takings on Cherry street and Shawmut avenue for playground purposes.

ENDORSEMENT OF MAYOR'S PLANS.

Mayor Curley was pleased to receive assurances from Dr. Joel E. Goldthwait, President of the Robert B. Brigham Hospital Corporation, upon the 15th instant that every possible aid would be extended the Mayor for the care and treatment of the indigent poor of Boston.

The letter of Doctor Goldthwait to Mayor Curley was as follows:

372 Commonwealth Avenue,
Boston, February 15, 1922.

My dear Mayor Curley,—In your inaugural address you mentioned your desire to do something for the sick poor of Boston, especially the chronic type of case which is now being taken care of at Long Island. You mentioned there the possibility of using the Elks Hospital on Parker Hill for this purpose.

I am writing as the president of the Corporation of the Robert B. Brigham Hospital to let you know that in case such use of the Elks' property is undertaken, the Brigham Hospital stands ready to assist in any way that it can in providing heat, light, power, or in assisting in any of the services which may be desired. This, as you remember, was a part of the plan which we discussed in the conferences which you and I had together in the very beginning when the Elks Hospital plant was simply a vision.

It must be a great source of satisfaction to you to feel that the thing which we dreamed of at that time and which was put through so splendidly by you, has represented such a valuable service to so many of the ex-service men, and that the plant is adequate to meet this further need which, of course, is very obvious to anyone who understands this phase of our city's life.

Remember that if I can be of the least service to you in connection with this work or anything else which is involved during your term of duty, you have only to let me know.

Very truly yours,
Joel E. Goldthwait.

THE FAILURE TO SECURE S. S. "LEVIATHAN."

Mayor Curley issued a statement, upon the evening of the 14th instant, relative to the failure to secure the reconditioning of the S. S. "Leviathan" at the Boston Navy Yard.

The statement of Mayor Curley was as follows:

"The failure of the New England Congressional delegation to secure the assignment of the "Leviathan" to the Boston Navy Yard for reconditioning, and the existence for a long period of time of a system of differentials, which has operated in a most destructive manner, commercially and industrially, is greatly to be regretted.

"It is a sad commentary upon our Republican representatives in Congress that when they are most powerful they are most impotent.

"Certainly the array of political power and prestige, which Massachusetts presents nationally, namely, Vice President of the United States, Calvin Coolidge, President of the Senate; Frederick H. Gillett, Speaker of the House of Representatives; Henry Cabot Lodge, Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, and Honorable John W. Weeks, Secretary of War, should have greater influence when equity and logic, and efficiency and economy are on their side than the obscure political elements responsible for the action taken in the case of the "Leviathan."

INVESTIGATION AS TO DEATHS.

Mayor Curley has requested Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson, of the Building Department, to conduct a searching investigation as to the causes incident to the increase in deaths due to asphyxiation in the City of Boston.

The instruction issued by Mayor Curley to Building Commissioner Wilson was as follows:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
February 15, 1922.

Mr. Herbert A. Wilson, Building Commissioner, City Hall Annex,
Boston, Mass..

Dear Sir,—The deaths due to asphyxiation have become so great during the past year as to make it advisable, in my opinion, for your department to conduct an investigation with a view to ascertaining what percentage may be traced to the so-called quarter meter system, or to other possible causes, and I would greatly appreciate a report from your department on this subject at the earliest possible date.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

MORTUARY REPORT.

The total number of deaths reported to the Board of Health for the week ending February 11, 1922, is 219, against 201 during the corresponding week last year, showing an increase of 18 deaths, and making the death rate for the week 14.95. Of this number 95 were males and 124 were females; 211 were white and 8 colored; 135 were born in the United States, 83 in foreign countries, and 1 unknown; 56 were of American parentage, 145 of foreign parentage, and 18 unknown.

The number of cases and deaths from infectious diseases reported this week is as follows: Diphtheria, 65 cases and 2 deaths; scarlatina, 47 cases and 1 death; measles, 124 cases and no deaths; tuberculosis, 43 cases and 13 deaths. The deaths from pneumonia were 37; whooping cough, 1; heart disease, 45; bronchitis, 1. There were 13 deaths from violent causes.

The number of children who died under one year was 29; the number under five years 39. The number of persons who died over sixty years of age was 82. The deaths in hospitals and public institutions were 94.

Influenza, 367 cases and 1 death.

Lobar pneumonia, 68 cases and 19 deaths.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACT

The Mayor has approved an extension of the contract of Charles Capone, 18 Hemlock street, for removing snow and ice in Snow District No. 4, from January 31, 1922, to May 1, 1922.

EVACUATION DAY CEREMONIES.

Mayor Curley announces that he will allow an appropriation of $5,000 for the observance of the Evacuation Day ceremonies in South Boston.

INSTRUCTION FOR FIRE SERVICE.

General Order No. 14.

I. Lubrication of Tractorized Apparatus.

1. In view of the lengthy runs undertaken by tractorized apparatus, company commanders in charge of this type of apparatus will carry one gallon of Mobiloil BB on the apparatus. On arrival at the scene of fire they will see that the crank-case is replenished with this additional gallon of oil. Cans will be furnished by the Bureau of Supplies and Repairs.

II. Apparatus Covering and Returning from Fires.

1. The attention of company commanders is called to section 188 of the Rules and Regulations. A strict compliance with this section will hereafter be expected. Collisions with fire apparatus and other vehicles when returning from fires or responding and covering other quarters have been too frequent of late.

In returning from fires or responding to cover other quarters on multiple alarms the apparatus must not be driven, at any time, faster than fifteen miles an hour and in passing through congested sections, this limit must be reduced to conform to absolute safety.

3. Chauffeurs must always take into consideration the slippery condition of streets and regulate the speed of apparatus so as to prevent the possibility of accidents at street crossings.

4. On returning from fires, siren horns must not be used and the bells on apparatus are to be used only to a limited extent.

5. In passing through adjacent cities or towns on returning from fires, especial care must be taken not to make any unnecessary noise.

By order of the Acting Fire Commissioner,

Peter E. Walsh,
Chief of Department.

DISTRIBUTION OF MAYOR'S FUND.

Messrs. George S. Smith, chairman, Gen. Clarence R. Edwards and Francis E. Slattery, the committee chosen by Mayor Curley to make disposition of the $2,470 gift-check received by him at the business men's dinner at the Copley-Plaza, February 2, have with the approval of his Honor made distribution as follows:

To the American Legion disabled ex-service men and those out of employment, $1,235, one-half the amount; balance divided into three checks of $412 each, to the Salvation Army, the Catholic Charitable Bureau and the Federated Jewish Charities.

The total sum of $2,470 represents the official 2,470-vote majority of Mayor Curley over his opponent in the recent election and was made up to this amount by the Dinner Committee because of its significance.

HEALTH NOTICE.

The Boston Health Department has notified proprietors of hotels, restaurants, cafeterias, bakeshops and similar establishments of the necessity of precaution in serving food.

The notice is as follows:

With a view to limiting the spread of influenza and other respiratory diseases the law requires you to take precautions to protect those to whom you serve food.

Glasses, Cups, Spoons.—Glasses, cups, spoons, and similar articles that are handled by and go to the mouths of those who eat or drink in your establishment are recognized as means of spreading contagion, unless after having been used by one customer they are sterilized before being used by another. For that reason, the law requires you to sterilize them.

Pies, Cakes, Bread.—Pies, cakes, bread, and other similar articles that are exposed on counters so that they may be coughed upon or over by persons eating in your establishment or by your employees may convey disease. For that reason, the law requires you to keep them covered so that they cannot be thus contaminated and dangerous.

Sick Persons.—Persons may spread influenza and other diseases without showing evidence of being ill, and against these you can guard by such methods of cleanliness and of protection of foodstuffs as are referred to in the two preceding paragraphs, and by adequate light, ventilation, and cleaning of your premises. Against the spread of disease in your establishment by sick employees, however, you can further protect your patrons by excluding such employees from service during the period of their illness. It is particularly important at the present time that you do so. The Health Department will concentrate its efforts to the utmost possible extent for the present on the prevention of the spread of disease through contaminated foodstuffs, and the laws for the protection of the public against infection through that channel will be rigorously enforced. Your co-operation is solicited in order that prosecutions may not be necessary.

EXPORTS AND IMPORTS, MASSACHUSETTS CUSTOMS DISTRICT.

Dating from July 1, 1913, the district includes Boston and the eight minor ports of the State. Value of exports in calendar year 1920, $192,866,178 or $141,687,853 (i. e., 42.35 per cent) less than in 1919; of imports, $392,752,807 or $93,387,808 (i. e., 31.20 per cent) more than in 1919; total foreign trade $585,618,985, a decrease of $48,300,045 or 7.62 per cent from 1919. Boston's total foreign trade for year 1920, next to the largest on record (viz. that of 1919) ranks fifth among American ports, New York, New Orleans, Philadelphia and Galveston leading. In 1919 Boston ranked fourth and in 1918 fifth. As to imports alone, Boston ranked second, and as to exports alone, twelfth in 1920. Tonnage of vessels in foreign trade in year 1920, entered 2,249,870 (i. e., 479,431 more than in 1919); cleared 1,337,972 (i. e., 56,513 more); number of vessels entered, 1,181 (i. e., 176 more than in 1919); number cleared, 844 (i. e., 12 more).

MAYOR INTERCEDED FOR WORKMEN.

Mayor Curley was gratified upon the 14th instant to receive assurances from Washington that the proposal of Hon. Edwin Denby, Secretary of the Navy, that upon the expiration of a six months' probationary period, closing on March 16, 1922, second and third class mechanics in the Boston Navy Yard and all navy yards of the United States would be furloughed and those enjoying a first-class rating as mechanics alone, would be retained in the service of the Navy Department, had been held up in harmony with the Mayor's protest.

A committee of workmen from the Boston Navy Yard waited upon Mayor Curley, prior to his inauguration, and protested that the formal discharge of a vast number of men at the Boston Yard, supplementing hundreds who are now without employment, and who were formerly engaged there, would be a serious economic and humanitarian error.

Mayor Curley, prior to his inauguration, made careful study of the entire proposal, which not only would affect the Boston Navy Yard, but all other navy yards of the United States. Upon completing his study of the general subject matter of Secretary Denby's revolutionary order, he indicted the following letter to the United States Senators and members of the House from Massachusetts and the members of the Committee on Naval Affairs of both Senate and House at Washington.

Mayor Curley's letter was as follows:

"Dear Friend,—Upon request of the employees of the Boston Navy Yard, I have carefully reviewed the subject matter of the order issued by the Hon. Edwin Denby, Secretary of the Navy, under date of September 16, 1921, and advising that upon the expiration of a six months' probationary period, tentatively closing on March 16, 1922, second and third class mechanics in all navy yards of the United States will be furloughed, and those enjoying a first-class rating as mechanics, alone, will be retained in service.

"There can be no question but that the work incident to the administration of our navy yards requires the employment of a vast number of men of various trades, in order that the highest character of labor may be provided for the maintenance of our Navy Department.

"It is quite impossible that all mechanics should be rated as men of the first class as those who are associated in co-ordinate divisions are likewise necessary for the successful performance of their respective tasks.

"Searching inquiry reveals that many men who are rated as second-class machinists perform a most valued labor and to dismiss these men from employment appears to be a serious economic error and will have a deterrent effect upon the efficiency of the respective navy yards of our country.

"It seems incredible that alleged scientific analysis as to economy in labor, and which is not borne out apparently by any practical demonstration, can be substituted in such manner as to deprive vast numbers of men of an honest competence for performing a day's work, with a record of 100 per cent production in their various callings.

"I feel that from an economic and humanitarian standpoint this order of the Secretary of the Navy, removing from active employment a vast number of able and deserving men, in so far that certain methods of alleged economy may be exploited, is deplorable and an administrative procedure which is strongly to be condemned.

"I maintain that prior to the enforcement of such revolutionary practices by the Navy Department this special order should have the serious consideration of members of Congress.

Very truly yours,
James M. Curley,
Mayor-Elect."

The assurance from Washington that serious consideration was being given the matter resulted in a communication to Mayor Curley from Hon. Thomas Butler, chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs of the House of Representatives, advising that prior to the tentative proposal for the dismissal by Secretary Denby becoming operative, a Board would be appointed, to consider the entire matter before final action is taken in the premises.

United States Senator David I. Walsh in a communication to Mayor Curley stated that he is most anxious to cooperate with all who are interested in doing whatever may be possible to influence the action of the Navy Department in extending equal opportunity to all classes of workmen whose record of service is meritorious.

Congressman Robert S. Maloney, in a letter addressed to Mayor Curley, said:

"I want to assure you that I approve in every way the stand taken by you and shall co-operate with the members of the Massachusetts delegation who believe in opposing putting into effect the order recently issued by the Secretary of the Navy."

Congressman Charles L. Underhill stated, in a communication addressed to Mayor Curley, that he hoped a modification of the order can be brought about.

United States Senator Truman H. Newbury of Michigan, in endorsing Mayor Curley's standpoint, forwarded the following vigorous letter:

"My dear Mr. Curley,—I have read with much interest your letter of February 1 concerning the orders recently issued by the Secretary of the Navy, by which first-class mechanics will alone be retained in the service without any consideration being given to mechanics of the second and third class.

"I am somewhat familiar with industrial conditions in the naval establishment because of the years I spent as Assistant Secretary and Secretary of the Navy, and I am entirely in accord with your ideas that economic and humanitarian principles suggest that all classes of employees of the Navy Yard should be given equal consideration when a reduction becomes necessary because of lack of work or reduced appropriation."

Mayor Curley, in reviewing the entire situation, declared that if confidence is to be restored, commercially and industrially, in New England, the government should bear its full measure of responsibility in devising ways and means to overcome the present grave problem of unemployment, and that any method such as has at present been instanced by the order of the Secretary of the Navy, should, prior to its issue, have searching investigation by the members of the Senate and House Committee on Naval Affairs.

LAND-TAKING IN DORCHESTER.

Mayor Curley has approved the vote of the Schoolhouse Commissioners to request the Board of Street Commissioners to take, for a yard for the Trescott School, a certain piece or parcel of land in the Elihu Greenwood District, Dorchester, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point at the easterly corner of Tileston and Windsor streets, thence northeasterly by line of Windsor street 147 feet to land of Shepard; thence turning and running southeasterly by land of Shepard 160 feet to the line of Rosemont street; thence turning and running southwesterly by said line 258 feet to Tileston street; thence turning and running northwesterly by line of Tileston street; thence turning and running northwesterly by line of Tileston street 195 feet to the point of beginning; being lots numbered 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79 and 80, and containing 31,200 square feet of land.

SPECIAL SALARY PAYMENT.

John J. Hannon as Acting Teller in the Collecting Department during the period from January 4, 1922, to January 31, 1922, inclusive, rendered necessary to avoid long standing in lines on the part of the public for the payment of water bills in the quarterly meter rush and tax payments due to sale for unpaid taxes on the 1921 levy, has been compensated for 24 days' service at $3 a day, in the amount of $72. The budget for the department provides for such payments.

SALE OF PROPERTY.

Acting Fire Commissioner Joseph P. Manning has been granted permission to sell to the Public Works Department the following discarded property of the Fire Department: 1 second-hand horse-drawn hose wagon, $100; 1 set of double harness, without collars, $20; total valuation, $120.

CITY FINANCE INVESTIGATION.

An investigation of the financial system of the City under direction of Mayor Curley, is under way, and is being conducted by Lewis Murphy & Co., special accountants.

The investigation follows immediately the suggestion made by Mayor Curley in his inaugural address that an inquiry should be made, in view of the misunderstandings between former Mayor Peters and the Finance Commission, relative to the $2,000,000 surplus Mr. Peters spoke of in his valedictory address.

RESIGNATION OF COMMISSIONER DOANE.

Mayor Curley has accepted the resignation of Ralph Harrington Doane as Schoolhouse Commissioner.

BUILDING INVESTIGATION.

Mayor Curley has directed Building Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson to investigate the roofs of all buildings throughout the city which have been erected during the past five years. The garage roofs will be the first buildings investigated.

PROPOSAL TO REMOVE THE POST OFFICE.

Mr. E. H. McDermot, Secretary to the Joint Commission on Postal Service, and two postal experts, Mr. Peter McGurty, Assistant Superintendent of Delivery at New York, and Mr. Albert Firmin, Superintendent Division of Money Orders at New York, are now in Boston investigating the merits of the proposal that has been made to remove the Boston General Post Office from its present location at Post Office square, Milk and Water streets, to a site which has been suggested in the Back Bay district.

The committee investigating the proposed removal represents the Joint Commission on Postal Service, which is a joint commission of the Senate and House of Representatives authorized to make a survey of the entire postal service of the United States with a view to determining the additional facilities that are required, and whatever may be needed in respect to change in methods or otherwise to elevate the standard of efficiency. Of this commission Senator Charles E. Townsend is chairman, and Representative Halvor Steenerson is vice chairman. Among the members of this commission, and particularly interested in providing facilities and improving the service at the Boston office are three members from the New England states, namely Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts and Representative Calvin D. Paige of this state, and all of them have long been identified in Congress with the development of the postal service. The postal experts have been engaged in exhaustive studies of the postal system as in operation at New York, Chicago, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo, Pittsburgh and other large centers of mail distribution. In a recent survey of Boston they recommended the restoration of the pneumatic tube system, and numerous other changes for the betterment of the service here, including the utilization of part of the army base for postal purposal which is no longer used by the army.

The proposal under investigation is one made by Mr. W. J. McDonald, with offices in the John Hancock Building, submitted to the Joint Commission on Postal Service, which is that he and his associates will cede to the government a site in the Back Bay section bounded by Columbus avenue, Berkeley, Chandler and Clarendon streets, with an area of approximately 230,000 square feet, and erect thereon a five story building, of first class construction, containing 610,000 square feet of gross floor area, in exchange for the site and present post office building at Milk and Water streets and Post Office square.

It is represented in the proposal that the building to be erected will be large enough to accommodate not only the post office but the courts and other Federal activities scattered throughout the city. It is said that the present post office building is not large enough to accommodate all the various bureaus and departments of the Federal government which should be provided for there.

A feature of the plan under consideration is the operation of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad and the Boston & Albany line across the site, and the construction of the proposed edifice above and across the tracks, in such a way as not to interfere with the operation of the trains, and with adequate provision for the parking of six mail cars during the process of loading and unloading.

The experts will give no intimation of their views as to the merits of the plan, since it would be contrary to their policy to give any expression of opinion prior to submitting their formal report. They have communicated with many prominent persons, including the United States judges, the District Attorney, and representatives of various associations with a view to ascertaining public opinion on the subject, particularly in so far as the removal of the courts is concerned. Secretary McDermot is anxious to receive from the public full expression of opinion as to the proposal, and invites the submission of briefs by all civic and business organizations that are interested, and these should be addressed in care of Postmaster Baker. Also letters from citizens and firms are solicited. In this connection it is reported that while the plan would include the removal of all the courts, that it is intended to continue provision for that part of the post office which is essential to carrier delivery around the present site. Also provision is suggested for financial transactions.

Upon arrival at Boston, the committee making the survey called upon Mayor Curley, who extended to them a cordial welcome and placed at their disposal the different agencies of the municipal government which may be utilized in their work. An interview has also been held with Postmaster Baker and the various officials of the Boston office.

Mayor Curley assured the committee, which represents the Joint Commission on Postal Service, that the city wanted to co-operate with the Federal authorities. He referred them to the Street Commissioners, whom he instructed to render the committee whatever assistance it requested.

SALVAGE OR RETURN OF FIRE CRAFT.

Mayor Curley directed Acting Commissioner Joseph P. Manning of the Fire Department to either salvage or return to the Navy Department the submarine chaser purchased by former Fire Commissioner John R. Murphy, in a communication under date of the 10th instant.

The letter of Mayor Curley was as follows:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
February 10, 1922.

Mr. Joseph P. Manning, Acting Fire Commissioner, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—I have been informed that the submarine chaser No. 263, purchased by the former Fire Commissioner, John R. Murphy, from the Navy Department, has been tied up at Congress street since being towed to Boston, and that the cost of fitting out this much heralded fire-fighting craft would be in excess of the actual cost of a new fireboat.

If such is the case, I believe it would be advisable to return the craft to the Navy Department or salvage it at the earliest possible date.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

ARGUMENT ON TAX LIMIT.

Mayor Curley appeared before the Legislative Committee on Municipal Finance of the Legislature upon the 13th instant in favor of his bill to give the Mayor and City Council of Boston authority to fix the tax limit of the city.

The law now on the statute books provides that the Boston tax rate for municipal purposes, exclusive of school expenditures, which are handled independently, must not exceed $6.52 per $1,000 of property. The Legislature gave Mayor Peters authority to increase that rate to $9.52 in 1918 and 1919, $10.52 in 1920 and $11 last year. Mayor Curley's bill would relieve the Legislature of responsibility in the matter and place it with the Mayor and City Council.

The Mayor and his spokesmen before the committee said that if the Legislature proposes to retain the authority to fix the tax limit of the city, that limit must go this year to about $13.50.

The Mayor had with him John A. Sullivan, formerly Corporation Counsel and also ex-chairman of the Finance Commission, who refused appointment this year as Corporation Counsel, but offered his services when he could be of use to the new administration. Budget Commissioner Rupert S. Carven also assisted in presenting the case for the city.

Judge Michael H. Sullivan, the present chairman of the Boston Finance Commission, spoke at some length on the financial problems of the city. He opposed the bill to give the Mayor and City Council the right to fix the tax limit; he said the present system gave sufficient home rule and made the Legislature a kind of jury to sit on the case. He suggested also that it was impossible at the moment to tell just what the tax limit ought to be and that it should not be fixed until additional facts were at hand.

He made one interesting statement, namely, that the Boston Elevated Railway Company expects to pay back this year about $1,000,000 to the cities and towns which have been compelled to come to the assistance of that corporation, and that $700,000 of that sum will go into the Boston treasury.

After the hearing, which went on both morning and afternoon, the Mayor and Judge Sullivan promised to give the committee this week all the figures and estimates of the various departments, with the changes suggested by the chief executive and the Finance Commission. The committee, on its part, promised to report as speedily as possible. The House chairman wanted to continue the hearing until March 1, but the Mayor said that postponement would cause serious embarrassment to the city.

There was more or less joking during the hearing about reform administrations, and John A. Sullivan admitted that, although he usually favored such administrations, they often spent more money than the other kind. He offered the explanation that a reform administration believed it had the support of the taxpayers and therefore felt more freedom in expenditure than the other kind of administration, which was constantly anxious to make a good financial showing for the sake of pleasing the taxpayers.

In arguing for the bill Attorney Sullivan and Mayor Curley stated that there was no surplus in the city treasury when Mayor Curley took office last week and there probably will be a deficit, because unpaid bills are yet to be received at City Hall.

Attorney Sullivan stated that it is estimated $25,000,000 will be necessary for the expenses of the first year of the present administration, which is a slight increase over the expenses of Mayor Peters during his last year in office.

Mayor Curley said it was embarrassing to be compelled to appear before a legislative committee to determine the amount the city can expend. Boston should have the same privileges as other cities.

Mayor Curley stated libraries have increased 76 per cent in four years, soldiers' relief 169 per cent, public works 39 per cent, police 45 per cent, Fire Department 54 per cent, Park and Recreation Department 38 per cent, Hospital Department 46 per cent, Overseers of the Poor 75 per cent, institutions 40 per cent, and county expenses 33 per cent.

To begin the administration last year there was $3,817,000. The uncollected taxes up to January 31 are to be put aside in a fund to take care of outstanding bills of the previous administration, he said.

He said the estimated revenue this year is about $1,000,000 less than a year ago, with $4,000,000 less balance on hand, and it is necessary to establish a tax limit of $13.50 to take care of the city departments for the coming year.

The estimated appropriations last year were approximately $24,000,000, he said, with an estimate of $25,999,000 by the Budget Commissioner for the ensuing year.

Boston pays the principal income to the state, he said, and pays 62 per cent of the tax of the Metropolitan District Commission, yet it is one of the expenses forced on the city.

There has been no extravagance in the administration of the affairs of the city during the past four years, Attorney Sullivan argued, and on the whole the administration of Mayor Peters has been regarded as economical, yet there have been substantial increases in the cost of managing the city.

The books for the year ending 1921 showed a surplus of $7,000,000, but the Finance Commission showed that it had been reduced to $1,000,000, he said, and on February 6 the surplus had been reduced to $674,822. He said City Treasurer Deland has stated that the above amount will be greatly reduced until the bills of January and earlier are paid.

It is estimated that $25,000,000 will be necessary for expenses the coming year, which is only a slight increase over that of last year. The pay roll this year, because of the sliding scale, is $693,996 more than last year, he stated, $497,000 of the increase falling within the Hospital, Health, Fire, Police and Public Works Departments.

With the increase it is estimated that the income of the city will be $1,000,000 less than last year, because it is expected the corporation taxes will drop. The city officials in estimating the drop in corporation taxes have figured 40 per cent less, when state officials have announced that it will be 50 per cent less, he said.

At the afternoon session Judge Sullivan said that the balance of $896,281 left over from the Peters administration cannot be applied to old bills, but under the law may be used by the present administration after being appropriated.

He said all the money taken from the surplus since February 1 should be replaced as it has been unlawfully expended.

He said the Finance Commission is opposed to abolishing the fixing of the tax limit by the Legislature, not because it lacks faith in the present administration, but because it is a good thing to have city officials appear before a legislative committee and explain the financial affairs of the city and state what the tax limit should be.

The statements of the city treasurer are not borne out by the facts, Judge Sullivan said, when it is alleged that there is a large surplus in the treasury. He said the estimated income is usually Last year the city received $1,000,000 too low and has been for several years. more than was figured by the city officials, he said, and the added amount received in income would have made a difference of 67 cents in the tax rate.

Judge Sullivan argued that the City Council could hold up the appropriations until each had received a share of the money for his respective district.

Judge Sullivan said that in his opinion the segregated budget is in some particulars an extravagance rather than economy. He said he favored sticking to the fixed tax limit until the experiment of the segregated budget and accrued interest accounting system are given a fair trial.

James H. Devlin, secretary to Police Commissioner Curtis, opposed the section of the bill which would not compel the city to pay bills contracted in excess of an appropriation, and it was agreed with Attorney John A. Sullivan that a satisfactory amendment could be agreed upon.

REJECTED CLAIMS.

Joseph P. Lyons, Assistant Corporation Counsel, states the Law Department has disapproved eleven claims against the city, in three of which no amounts were specified, and the other eight amounted to $2,484.34, and are classified as follows:

Against the City Council, one, amounting to $22.21; against the Collecting Department, one, in which no amount was specified; against the Hospital Department, one, amounting to $40; against the Public Works Department, eight, in two of which no amounts were specified, and the other six amounted to $1,434.61.

All these claims have been disapproved for the reason that there appeared to be no legal liability on the part of the city.

MAYOR CARES FOR UNEMPLOYED.

The ranks of Boston's unemployed were reduced by at least 500 men by Mayor Curley when he ordered city contractors to engage men at shoveling snow, at rates ranging between 35 and 40 cents per hour.

Public Works Commissioner Sullivan directed nine contractors, with whom tentative agreements for snow clearance in as many sectors of the city have been pending since early winter, to start operations under the contract.

This is the first contract work on snow performed this winter; two seasons ago the city had laid out as much as $500,000 for contract work of this kind at a corresponding date.

MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

The Massachusetts Civil Service Commissioners announce examinations as follows:

Aurist and Otologist, Boston School Department, February 23, 1922.

The salary is $5 per day. There are approximately 180 to 185 days in an ordinary school year, so that the physician would receive from $900 to $925 annually. The entire duties have to do with the examination of the ears of school pupils, especially those attending the Horace Mann School for the Deaf. The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 1; special questions on the duties of the position, 1; total, 2. Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience, and at least 60 per cent in special questions. Applicants must be registered to practise medicine under the Division of Registration in Medicine, Department of Civil Service and Registration.

Clerk of Works, Boston Schoolhouse Department, February 23, 1922.

The salary is $1,900 per year. It is desirable that applicants have had experience on construction work, be familiar with the building laws of Boston, and be able to read plans and check the work of the contractor, as well as understand specifications. They will also be required to make weekly reports on the progress of the work and to see that all authorized instructions are carried out by the contractor. The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 5; arithmetic, 1; report, 1; special questions, 3; personality and fitness, as determined by an oral interview, 5; total, 15. Applicants will be required to obtain at least 50 per cent in special questions, 65 per cent in training and experience, and a general average of at least 65 per cent in the written examination before they can be given the oral examination.

Assistant Investigator, Boston Planning Board, February 24, 1922.

The salary is $30 a week. Applicants should have technical knowledge to the extent of being able to read, interpret, and draft topographic maps; should have a knowledge of engineering combined with an appreciation of æsthetic values; should have a knowledge of architecture sufficient to enable them to read housing plans and to comprehend the building law. It is desirable that applicants have a degree of M.L.A. or its equivalent, or experience which would be equivalent to such a degree. The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 6; special questions on the duties of the position, 4; total, 10. Applicants must obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience.

Nurses, March 3, 1922.

This examination will include school nurses (including Boston school nurses), health nurses, visiting nurses, etc., and will be held for the service of all the cities and of such towns in the state as are classified under civil service. At present there are several vacancies in various cities throughout the state. The examination for nurses who possess a certificate from the State Board of Registration of Nurses will consist of the filing of an experience sheet. The mark given in experience will be combined with the mark given them by the State Board and an average will be taken to determine their standing on the list. Nurses who are not registered by the State Board of Registration of Nurses will be required to take a written examination as follows: Training and experience, 7; the writing of a letter or report, 2; dietetics, food, and cooking, 3; anatomy and physiology, 2; principles and processes of nursing, 6; total, 20. Since registered nurses will go on the list ahead of any who are not registered, applicants should specify in their application, in answer to the first question, whether they are applying as registered nurses or non-registered nurses. Applicants who are not registered must be graduates of a hospital or similar institution giving a course of instruction in nursing at least two years in length or must have equivalent training.

Stationary Engineers, Stationary Firemen and Marine Engineers, March 3, 1922.

The examination for each kind of position will include a statement of training and experience, a physical examination, and the possession of a license, either (a) as first, second or third class engineer; (b) as first or second class stationary fireman; (c) as chief engineer for lake, bay and sound service, the license to qualify a man to operate a vessel of at least 200 gross tons. The date given above is not the actual examination date, but the date on which, as nearly as possible, applicants who have filed applications during the preceding three months will be given a physical examination.

Water Inspectors and Meter Readers, March 18, 1922.

This examination will be held for the service of the various cities of the Commonwealth and of such towns as are classified under civil service. At present there are several vacancies in various cities throughout the state. From the eligible list established as a result of this examination, names will be certified to fill present vacancies and such other vacancies as may arise from time to time. The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 5; report, 1; practical questions, 4; total, 10. The practical questions will include an example in arithmetic.

The names of veterans who pass the examinations will be placed upon the eligible list in the order of their respective standing, above the names of all other applicants, as provided for in chapter 150 of the General Acts of 1919.

Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year have a right to apply. Preference in certification will be given to applicants who, at the time of filing application, are residents of the city or town from which requisition is received.

RECEIPTS OF FLOUR IN BOSTON.

Total, 1,125,719 barrels, or 1,000,507 less than in 1919. Of said total, 275,659 barrels were exported and 850,060 retained for local consumption.

FINANCIAL STATISTICS OF CITIES.

Secretary Herbert Hoover of the Department of Commerce, through the Bureau of the Census, has issued a statement showing the total and per capita gross and net debt of cities having a population of 500,000 and over.

The gross debt is classified by character of obligation, as (1) funded and floating, which include all debts evidenced by formal instruments which have a number of years to run, short-term bonds to be redeemed from the proceeds of long-term bonds, judgments, and indebtedness to trust funds; (2) special assessment loans; -and (3) all other debt obligations, such as short-term revenue loans, outstanding warrants, and obligations on trust account. Under another classification are shown (1) the indebtedness on account of general departments and (2) of public service enterprises, such as water works, electric light works, or street railways operated by the city.

The net debt, as defined by the Bureau of the Census, is the funded and floating debt less the assets of sinking funds to provide for their payment.

For the cities in this class not coextensive in territory with the county a percentage of the county indebtedness is included based on the ratio of the assessed valuation of general property located within the city to that of the entire county. This is done in order to present comparable statistics with other cities exercising the ordinary county functions.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT OR "GREATER BOSTON."

Consists in the most inclusive sense of 40 municipalities, including Boston, or 14 cities and 26 towns, all within 15 miles of the State House. The 7 cities in the first zone, i. e., adjacent to Boston, are these, viz., Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Newton, Quincy, Revere and Somerville; the 6 cities in the second zone, not adjacent, are Lynn, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Waltham and Woburn. The 6 adjacent towns are Brookline, Dedham, Milton, Needham, Watertown and Winthrop; the 20 other towns are Arlington, Belmont, Braintree, Canton, Cohasset, Dover, Hingham, Hull, Lexington, Nahant, Reading, Saugus, Stoneham, Swampscott, Wakefield, Wellesley, Weston, Westwood, Weymouth and Winchester. North and northwest of Boston are situated 11 of the cities and 12 of the towns; south and southwest, 2 cities and 14 towns. Area of Northern Division, 150.8 sq. miles and population in 1920, 699,685, or a density of 4,619 per sq. m.; Southern Division, 214.8 sq. miles and 211,191 population, or density of only 983 per sq. m.; in the whole Metropolitan District, 4,051 per sq. m. In percentages Boston shows 10.5 p. c. of District's area and 45.09 p. c. of population; Northern Division, 36.2 of area and 42.18 of population; Southern Division, 53.3 of area and 12.73 of population. In the period 1915–1920, increase of population 34,798 larger in Northern than in Southern Division.

Total land area of District, 409.5 square miles; population by census of 1920, 1,658,936 or 4.08 per cent increase over that of 1915. Of the total population of the State, "Greater Boston" has 43.06 per cent; of total valuation, 51.23 per cent; of total value of manufactures, 32.21 per cent.

Total valuation of taxable property in District on April 1, 1920, $2,737,589,002, i. e., for realty and tangible personalty, including bank stock, intangible personalty being exempt from taxation (except income therefrom) in 1917 and thereafter. The said total exceeds the 1919 valuation by $130,698,130, a gain of 5.01 per cent. Of said total 57.57 per cent was in Boston and 42.43 per cent outside. The four organized Metropolitan Districts existing for the purpose of constructing and maintaining certain extensive systems of public works under State control are as follows: Metropolitan Park District, established by chapter 407, Acts of 1893, including all the cities and towns except Lexington, and managed by a State Board of five commissioners; Metropolitan Water District, established by chapter 488, Acts of 1895, including 10 cities and 9 towns, and covering an area of 175 square miles; Metropolitan Sewerage District, established by chapter 439, Acts of 1889, consisting of the North System and South System, including 17 cities and towns in the former system and 8 in the latter, and covering an area of 225 square miles; the last two districts managed by a single State board of three commissioners; Charles River Basin District, established by chapter 465, Acts of 1903, including all the cities and towns except Cohasset and Lexington, and in charge of the Metropolitan Park Commission. By Chap. 350, General Acts of 1919, the two Metropolitan boards were abolished and a single Metropolitan Commission of five members was established.

Another Metropolitan District, viz., the Fire Prevention District, was organized in 1914 by the enactment of chapter 795. In this district are the 14 cities of "Greater Boston," but only 10 of the towns, to which were added Reading and Rockland, a total of 26 municipalities. The District is in charge of a single commissioner, assisted by a deputy commissioner, both appointed for a term of three years. This office was also abolished by said Chap. 350, the work of same being transferred to Dept. of Public Safety.

Total gross Metropolitan debt for water, parks, sewers and Charles River Basin improvements on July 1, 1920, $77,292,543; sinking funds, $27,263,179; net debt, $50,029,364 or $1,796,817 less than in 1919. The division of this net debt was Water supply, $26,399,132; sewers, $12,301,741; parks, boulevards, etc., $8,044,420; Charles River Basin, $3,284,071. Of the latter, $1,106,345 is payable by Boston alone, i. e., $640,884 for Boston Embankment, and $465,461 for Charles River Bridge. Of 1920 tax rates, the highest of all the cities was Quincy's ($32.20) and the highest among the towns, Saugus's ($35.95); the lowest among the cities was Boston's ($24.10) and among the towns, Dover's ($9.00). Mean tax rate of the 13 cities in the District outside of Boston, $29.10 or $3.29 more than in 1919. Mean tax rate of the 26 towns, $24.61 or $3.87 more than in 1919. There were in the District in 1918, 4,319 manufacturing establishments, value of product, $1,240,496,193; capital invested, $672,377,072; value of stock and materials used, $737,506,555; total wages paid, $210,781,794; average number of wage earners, 212,629 (maximum number 251,867); increase over 1917 product, 30.87 per cent. Rank, 1 to 12, in value of product: Boston, $522,646,032; Lynn, $130,386,667; Cambridge, $130,022,595; Somerville, $107,572,650; Quincy, $85,248,312; Watertown, $53,131,801; Everett, $34,366,419; Chelsea, $31,492,524; Malden, $20,583,671; Woburn, $18,786,306; Waltham, $17,608,720; Newton, $14,817,126. Boston's total product value was 42.13 per cent of the Metropolitan District's.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Saturday, February 4, 1922.

Final meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at eleven o'clock a. m., President WATSON in the chair. Absent—Coun. Lane.

President WATSON—I desire to make a statement before we proceed. The Chair has been talking over the telephone with Mrs. Lane with respect to Coun. Lane, and I desire to inform the Council that, owing to a heavy cold, Coun. Lane cannot be down here in time to attend the meeting. He will, however, make an effort to join us later.

Placed on file.

VETO—ROONEY SQUARE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 30, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith returning without my signature the order passed by the City Council on January 23 giving the name of Owen Rooney square to the junction of Elm, Friend, North and Union streets. I am vetoing this order as this name was given on November 16 to the open space at the junction of Hancock street, Mt. Vernon street and the archway of the State House.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Placed on file.

VETO—REINSTATEMENT OF FIREMEN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 1, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith returning without my signature the order passed on January 16 by the City Council favoring legislation for the reinstatement in the Boston Fire Department of Francis L. Amann and Frank J. Hogan.

Upon the receipt of these orders I communicated with the Acting Fire Commissioner to determine the facts in connection with the case of each of the two men. A copy of the Acting Fire Commissioner's report I am herewith attaching for your information. In view of the records of these men in the Fire Department I believe it would not only be unwise but also undesirable to favor their reinstatement, and it is for this reason that I am vetoing the orders herewith returned.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

Fire Department, January 30, 1922.
Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Referring to the order of the City Council recommending the reinstatement of Francis L. Amann and Frank J. Hogan, former members of this department, I submit the following report:

Francis L. Amann was appointed to this department April 23, 1912, and was dishonorably discharged July 21, 1914. According to the records of this department Mr. Amann is now thirty-seven years of age. Mr. Amann was before the Fire Commissioner four times on charges during his period of two years of service in the department. The last charge was on July 21, 1914, for absence without leave. His failure to report at the hearing resulted in his dishonorable discharge.

Frank J. Horgan was appointed to this department October 16, 1909, and resigned March 3, 1911. According to the records of this department Mr. Horgan, is now thirty-five years of age. Mr. Horgan, during his period of seventeen months service, was before the Fire Commissioner on three serious charges. He resigned from the department March 3, 1911, no reason being given for his resignation.

While the records of these two men do not warrant their reinstatement there are several other reasons why I do not believe it would be a good policy to reinstate them.

At present there are no vacancies in the department. All reinstatements must have the approval of the Department of Civil Service One of these men has been out of the department for more than seven years, and the other has been out of the department for more than ten years. The Department of Civil Service, as I understand it, does not favor the reinstatement of former employees after an absence of one year.

Furthermore, it has been the policy of this department, and this administration, to reinstate no men "and to fill all vacancies from the civil service list." This policy was outlined in a statement from the former Fire Commissioner to the state adjutant of the American Legion in a letter dated October 24, 1919, and was established for the purpose of giving the veterans of the World War who were on the civil service list at the State House an opportunity of appointment in the Fire Department The American Legion felt at the time that the soldiers and sailors who were returning from service should be given all opportunity and not be obliged to wait. This policy has been strictly adhered to and no men have been reinstated in the fire-fighting force whose reinstatement had not been approved previous to the date of the above-mentioned letter.

Since the establishment of this policy several worthy requests for reinstatement have been refused. To begin to reinstate men now would open the door to a vast number who desire to return, with the result that an injustice would be done not only to those who have already been refused, but to the hundreds of veterans of the late war are patiently waiting to be called from the list.

Very truly yours,
JOSEPH P. MANNING,
Acting Fire Commissioner.

Placed on file.

VETO OF MUNICIPAL LIGHTING ORDER.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 4, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am herewith returning without my signature the order passed by the City Council on January 30 for the establishment of a municipal electric lighting plant.

Upon the receipt of your order I requested the Corporation Counsel to advise me on the legal aspects of the case. I am attaching a copy of the Corporation Counsel's opinion. In view of the state of the law, and particularly in view of that part of the opinion which pertains to the second question, I deem it for the best interests of the city to veto this order.

Very truly yours,
ANDREW J. PETERS, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Law Department, February 3, 1922.
Hon. Andrew J. Peters,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—You have asked my opinion on the legal questions raised by the passage by the City Council of a vote providing for the establishment of a municipal lighting plant. A copy of this vote is annexed. These questions are, first, whether this vote requires any action by you in order to give it legal effect, and second, if so, what action you should take. Taking these questions in their order.

The statute under which this vote is passed is General Laws, chapter 164, sections 34 and 35. These two sections are as follows:

Section 34. A town may, in accordance with this chapter, construct, purchase or lease, and maintain within its limits, one or more plants for the manufacture or distribution of gas or electricity for municipal use or for the use of its inhabitants. Such plants may include suitable land, structures and machinery and other apparatus and appliances for manufacturing, using and distributing gas or electricity for said purposes.

Section 35. A city shall not acquire such a plant until authorized by a two thirds vote of its city council, or of a majority of the commissioners if the city government consists of a commission, passed in each of two consecutive municipal years and thereafter ratified by a majority of the voters at an annual or special city election. If such a vote is not ratified, no similar vote shall be submitted for ratification within one year thereafter.

The vote now before you is the first such vote passed by the Boston City Council.

The statute above quoted does not in express terms require the approval of the mayor in order that the vote of the City Council may be legally effective. It must, however, be read in connection with the Boston City Charter (Statutes 1909, chapter 486, section 4), which provides that

"Every appropriation, ordinance, order, resolution and vote of the city council, except votes relating to its own internal affairs, shall be presented to the mayor, who shall make or cause to be made a written record of the time and place of presentation, and it shall be in force if he approves the same within fifteen days after it shall have been presented to him, or if the same is not returned by him with his objections thereto in writing within said period of fifteen days."

And with the principle repeatedly affirmed by the Supreme Court that,

"when special acts growing out of the peculiar wants, condition, and circumstances of the locality have been granted to a particular place, and afterwards a general law is passed having some of the same purposes in view, and extending them to places in which the special acts had no operation, whether the general act is an implied repeal of all repugnant special acts depends upon a careful comparison of the statutes and the objects intended to be accomplished, and, speaking generally, it requires 'pretty strong terms in the general act, showing that it was intended to supersede the special acts, in order to hold it to be such a repeal.' "

Boston & Albany Railroad Co. v. Public Service Commissioner, 232 Mass. 358, 359.
Brown v. Lowell, 8 Met. 358.
Copeland v. Mayor & Aldermen of Springfield, 166 Mass. 498, 504.

In my opinion the provision of the city charter above quoted applies to the vote in question. This conclusion is fortified by the history of the statutes by which cities are authorized to construct or purchase gas and electric plants. The first of these statutes in express terms required the approval of the Mayor—Statutes 1891, chapter 370, section 2. Such approval was also required by all subsequent statutes up to the General Laws of 1920.

See Statutes 1893, chapter 454, section 7.
Statutes 1894, chapter 432, section 1.
Revised Laws, chapter 34, section 2.
Statutes 1914, chapter 742, sections 93, 199.

While the requirement was omitted from the General Laws, there is no express statement nor necessary implication from the language used that either the commissioners who prepared the General Laws nor the General Court which enacted them intended to change the substantive law in regard to what was required. It is a fair assumption that the omission of the express requirement that the vote should be subject to the approval of the Mayor was because it was considered unnecessary in view of the existence of specific provisions concerning votes by the City Council in the charters of the various cities, including that of the City of Boston. The fact that a ratification by the voters is included in the law is not an indication to the contrary, for the reason that such ratification has been a part of the law since Statutes 1894, chapter 448, and has coincided with an express requirement of action by the Mayor up to the enactment of the General Laws.

It is further eminently appropriate that in a matter of such great importance as the construction or acquisition of a municipal lighting plant the chief executive of the city should have a part in the decision.

On the second branch of the question, namely, what action you should take, I assume that you do not desire my opinion on the question of the expediency of the municipal operation of public utilities in general or of the construction and operation of a municipal electric lighting plant in Boston in particular. These are matters of judgment and expediency and would require careful consideration and an investigation of facts which the time at my disposal would not permit. A decision on these questions is unnecessary for the reason that the existing state of the law would make it plainly unwise to attempt to construct and maintain a municipal electric lighting plant at the present time.

The existing statute, General Laws, chapter 164, section 49, provides in substance that if the city should decide to establish its own municipal electric plant it may be compelled, if the Edison Company so elects, to purchase all that portion of the Edison Company's plant and other properties which are situated within the city limits. The city is also compelled to pay whatever damages may be caused by the severance of the property within the limits of Boston owned by the Edison Company from the property owned by it outside these limits. Moreover, the city is not allowed to own or operate a municipal plant beyond its borders, so that the public are in effect forced to pay for injury to property outside the limits of the city from which they may derive no adequate benefit in return for such payment. There is no provision for a time limit within which the Edison Company must exercise its election to require the city to purchase. In several other particulars the statute does not adequately protect the public interests. Its provisions are complicated in their meaning and uncertain in their effect. With the law in this condition I cannot believe that it would be wise for the city to take action. What the exact financial consequences might be I have not the data necessary to attempt to estimate, and I doubt very much whether any accurate estimate could be made in view of the uncertainty of the law; but the dangers of any action under such a statute are apparent.

If it is decided that the city should acquire and maintain its own municipal electric plant, steps should be taken to so amend and clarify the statutes as to make its provisions clear and workable and to adequately protect the public interest. In my judgment any amendment ought authorize some form of public ownership which would allow the operation of a plant extending beyond the borders of the city itself, as well as other provisions to safeguard the city's interests. Such an amendment of the statute as is required is impossible in the short time remaining in your administration, but I believe the matter ought to be called by you to the attention of the incoming Mayor and the new City Council so that they may decide what policy they wish to pursue and take the necessary steps to pursue that policy effectively.

The questions involved are closely related to the need for some legislation leading to closer union between the present City of Boston as a legal entity and the cities and towns which together constitute the economic and social community making up Greater Boston.

It is, of course, true that if you approve the present vote it would be possible that the statute should be amended before the necessary steps which it requires for the completion of the city's decisions shall have been taken. There can be no assurance, however, that a proper amendment will be obtained. The securing of such an amendment, in my judgment, is less likely after your approval of the first vote, and it is always unwise to base legal action on the possibility of a future change in the law.

Within two days you will cease to be the Mayor, and your executive duties will devolve upon your successor, an additional reason why you should refrain from the course which, in any event, would be inexpedient.

If the city is to establish its own electric lighting plant, the proper thing to do, in my opinion, is to get the law in good shape, then go ahead and do it.

Very truly yours,
Arthur D. Hill,
Corporation Counsel.

COMMITTEE ON PRISONS.

Coun. BRICKLEY, for the Committee on Prisons, submitted the following:

Annual Report of the Committee of the City Council on Inspection of Prisons.

February 4, 1922.

This report is made in accordance with the provision of chapter 223 of the Revised Laws by the Committee on Prisons, which has attended to its duty and submits the following:

The institutions which the committee visited were the Suffolk County Jail and the House of Correction at Deer Island.

Suffolk County Jail.

The semiannual inspections of the jail were duly made. In the work of completing the addition which will furnish hospital facilities and other humane improvements it was evident that marked progress had been made. Flush toilets and running water now take the place in the cells of the filthy bucket system, bringing the jail up to a high standard in sanitary equipment. The system of permitting frequent visits to those held awaiting trial and serving sentences has resulted in about fifteen thousand visitors calling in the past year. This enlightened policy has a pronounced effect for good to the morale of the institution. Discipline is firmly maintained. The food is excellent and is prepared under clean and wholesome conditions, and is sufficiently varied. A program of entertainments comprising moving pictures and vocal and instrumental concerts proves to be highly beneficial and instructive. The population has steadily increased and now approaches the average maintained before the dry law went into effect. The cleanliness of the jail was very much in evidence, and its records do not show a single death during the past year. In view of the character and numbers that find their way into the institution this is a showing worthy of note.

House of Correction.

The Committee made the required number of visits to the House of Correction during the year and found conditions at the institution excellent. All of the cell blocks, with the exception of a portion of the old prison, are now in disuse. In December the inmates were transferred from the new women's prison back to the old prison, which had been thoroughly cleaned, painted and placed in a state of good repair. At the time of the committee's first visit in January there were 292 prisoners, more than double the number of inmates at the time of the committee's visit last year. In April the manufacture of shoes was begun, and an up-to-date shoe shop is now in operation, turning out an average of twenty-four pair of shoes each day for the Child Welfare Division of the House of Correction and Long Island institutions. The laundry has furnished employment for about twenty men during the past year in caring for the Long Island work. The committee was pleased with the clothing industry at the island as it is for the purpose of furnishing the Deer Island and the Long Island institutions with all the necessary male clothing, instead of manufacturing for outside contractors. A contract has been let for a new wharf which is badly needed. The committee reiterates its recommendation of last year that action be taken for the repair of the sea wall. The inmates appear well cared for and contented, and the committee is satisfied that the menu of the institution compares favorably with that of any institution the committee has knowledge of. An inspection of the buildings revealed that much in the way of repair work has been carried on during the past year. The stock, horses, pigs and cows are in excellent shape, and the city may well be proud of its milk prdoucing herd which furnishes the Long Island Hospital with 150 quarts of milk a day, beside caring for its own needs.

For the Committee,
David J. Brickley,
Chairman.

(Annexed were various tables connected with the prison reports.)

The report was accepted and ordered printed as a city document.

PLAYGROUND, EAST COTTAGE STREET.

Coun. COLLINS offered an order—That the Park Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to consider and report upon the advisability of converting the land on East Cottage street upon which the hothouses are located and which are no longer used, into a park or playground, and as to the cost of said park or playground.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

CLAIMS.

Coun. MORIARTY, for the Committee on Claims, submitted a report on all claims acted upon during the municipal year 1921, recommending that the same be printed as a city document (Document No. 107).

(The action on all claims was recommended by the Law Department).

Report accepted; said document ordered printed.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That all matters of an unfinished nature in the hands of the several committees of this City Council be referred to the City Council of 1922.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

GROUP PICTURE.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the City Messenger be directed to obtain a group picture of the members and officers of the City Council, and furnish a copy of same to each of such members and officers; the expense to be charged to the appropriation for City Council, B-37.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

CHAIRS FOR COUN. COLLINS AND McLAUGHLIN.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the Superintendent of Public Buildings be authorized to sell to the members and officials of the City Council for a nominal consideration the chair used by Coun. Walter L. Collins, and that used by Coun. Edward F. McLaughlin during their terms of service in the City Council.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

FAREWELL ADDRESS OF COUN. COLLINS.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, with unanimous consent I would like to make a brief statement.

Pres. WATSON—If there is no objection, you may proceed.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, I am serving my last day as a member of the City Council, having passed twelve years in this hall continuously in the service of my native city, and perhaps it would not be amiss for me at this time to point out the two great principles for which the Council has stood during that time. Under the charter our powers here have been limited, but I fear that in the general discussion of municipal affairs the importance which this legislative branch has played in the affairs of our city has been greatly underestimated. When I first became a member of the City Council, in 1910, that being the first year of the new charter, the Council at that time, as for many years thereafter, stood firmly on the principle that current expenses should be met from current revenue. This Council more than any other agency of the city—and I include the executive—has stood for that principle. The result is that today no mayor and no member of the Council would seriously consider asking that a loan be passed for purely current expenses. Mr. President, of what interest is that to us at this particular time. During those many years the members have had occasion to borrow money extensively for merited public improvvements, and yet we find this unusual situation, the interest on the city debt increasing in alarming proportion all over the country, to such an extent that some of our largest cities are on the verge of what might be called potential bankruptcy, while that situation does not apply here in the City of Boston. To be specific, in 1910 the interest on the city debt proper was $3,462,652.42, while in 1921, the year through which we have just passed, it is less by over one hundred thousand, $3,334,935.82. Mr. President, this would not have been possible in the old days. We then come to the second big principle for which this Council has stood. During the past twelve years there have been only nine men representing the entire city. Loan orders in the old days were log-rolled through the City Council—the old Board of Aldermen and the Common Council—without consideration for the real merit of the propositions so much as for the political expediency of passing them. But during the twelve years that have passed, and I except no year, sir, each loan order has been acted upon on its merits. In a large city like Boston money has to be borrowed, and is borrowed properly, for capital expenditures, but it should be wisely borrowed and wisely expended. This Council has voted liberal loan orders for permanent improvements, and I might say as a passing tribute to the Council that many districts in the City of Boston have fared more liberally at the hands of this Council by virtue of the fact oftentimes that no member of the Council happened to live within the particular district in which the improvement was sought. I could go on and enumerate many specific instances where that has been so, showing that the Council has not been selfish, but that the members of this body have looked at propositions coming before them from the standpoint of the merits of the particular cases, and particularly with reference to the best interests of the city. I realize, in this offhand talk, that one could expatiate for many hours on what we have tried to accomplish during those years; but, in a nutshell, the Council's duty and function has been in the main to check unwise appropriations and to pass meritorious loans and ordinances, to the end that we may have a better and more wholesome city in which to live. Before closing, may I suggest a few things which I consider of prime necessity to the Boston of the future. Boston, political Boston, is oftentimes confused with business Boston. The larger city exists in spirit, if not in fact. Proof of that is found in the hotel registers of New York, Chicago and other cities, where our business men are invariably registered as coming from Boston, though their place of residence and allegiance are outside. What we need, in my opinion, is an amalgamation of the metropolitan municipal interests in order that Boston may take its rightful place numerically among the other large cities of the world. This does not mean, Mr. President, that we should lose our political identity, but we should have a bigger business Boston. I trust that the legislators representing Boston, not only on Beacon Hill but in this branch, will try to work out in the years to come a solution of this problem: What does Boston need most of all from the standpoint of meritorious and most necessary public improvement. During the last four years we have had a street plan for the improvement and resurfacing of our radial highways. The Commissioner of Public Works informed me this morning that that plan had been consummated. What we need in the next four years, yes, and for the next twenty years, is to have that plan carried out to maturity, to the end that we shall have on all our radial highways and then on our side streets the best type of permanent pavements. But, Mr. President, we should not stop there. What we need in Boston is a comprehensive street development. Here again the everyday wants of what has been termed our "picturesque street system" are admirably administered, but from the larger viewpoint there is still much to be desired. A study of the situation with regard to congestion in our down-town district reveals the fact that main thoroughfares are needed, not only in and about the city itself, but also those main arteries of traffic with adjacent cities and towns. The construction of Stuart street is a definite step in the right direction. The extension of Stuart street, from the corner of Tremont and Eliot streets, possibly connecting up with a new thoroughfare paralleling Washington street on the east, would greatly facilitate the flow of traffic to and from the heart of the city. I submit, in my humble opinion, that that improvement will not be comprehensive until finally some day, some man or set of men, whether it be the Mayor or the members of the City Council, will go forward and arouse public opinion to the end that we shall have a new thoroughfare east of and paralleling Washington street. In the same way, a much less expensive but very necessary task should be undertaken. That is the widening of Cambridge and Court streets, and the extension of Causeway street, which would afford attractive possibilities as a convenient means of entrance to and exit from the down town section of the city. I make those two suggestions, Mr. President, by way of illustration, to the end that what we need is not only the taking care of our present highways by placing proper pavements thereon, but a comprehensive system of street development which will cost many millions of dollars but which in the end will not only solve the traffic of the public but will make for a better Boston. Automobile traffic from many of the outlying suburbs would make use of this widened thoroughfare, heavy teaming and trucking would be only too anxious to utilize its advantages, while its physical connections with subway, tunnel and elevated would portend a use of the street so extensive that the wisdom of its improvement would be settled beyond all question of doubt. In brief, sir, this means a major street plan, but it is something that ought to be started. It will take many years, but the results of the labor will be realized. No great improvement such as I have outlined, can be accomplished, however, without those with a vision first leading the way. An enlightened public will then rally to the standard of those who have blazed the path, and in the end we will have that which the community really needs. Then we come, Mr. President, to another very important subject. Recently, and a number of times during the last year or two, particularly with reference to the storage of many thousands of gallons of gasolene and the establishment of public garages, this Council has held many hearings. The result of those hearings, combined with our knowledge and experience of many years here in the Council, leads me to the conclusion that we need most positively for the Boston of the future a comprehensive zoning ordinance. Article LX. of the Constitutional Amendments, to the effect that the "General Court shall have power to limit buildings according to their use and construction to specified districts of cities or towns," was submitted to the voters on November 5, 1918, and, so far as the City of Boston was concerned, it was accepted by a vote of 34,953 to 8,673. The way has now been made clear by legislative enactment, chapter 601, Acts of 1920, for the adoption of a zoning ordinance by Boston and the other cities and towns throughout the Commonwealth. The adoption of a zoning plan would stabilize property values; it would protect residential districts from the encroachments of business and commercial interests; it would relieve industrial districts of hampering residential requirements; and in many other ways it would tend to promote and encourage the development of the city along orderly, progressive lines. It is a matter which cannot be too carefully studied, however. It should be based upon a block-by-block survey of the entire city in order that individual rights may be protected and community development encouraged. Another problem which has bothered the members of the Council as public servants has been the parking problem. Assuming that you had your major street problem carried out, the parking problem would be a corollary of the main proposition, but unless and until the city goes forward and puts through—and this must be supported by public sentiment—such a plan as the major street plan, you will still have your difficulties from the standpoint of parking automobiles and vehicles. Mr. President, I hesitate to talk upon the topic about which I am going to say a few words, because I realize that the matter has been so thoroughly exhausted by men who have really studied the problem, namely, the needs of the port of Boston, but I believe I am perhaps within my rights in submitting that we have one of the finest harbors in the world, and suggesting that we should take advantage of it in a practical manner. It is open practically 365 days in the year, and is a day's journey nearer the European ports than the harbor of any other city. The federal government has spent more than $12,000,000 in the development of Boston harbor, while the expenditures by the state of Massachusetts are more than $20,000,000. The federal government and the state government have done much, but in Boston, in contradistinction to New York, we are more or less restricted in what we may do from the standpoint of developing our wharves on account of the fact that those properties are owned by private individuals. What I believe is our most crying need in Boston today is to stimulate public spirit on the part of those who control those wharves. Those in Boston who have money to invest should do what they can to build new docks and to improve our facilities, because if here in Boston we have not adequate facilities as compared to New York it matters little whether we are a day or two days nearer Europe. Consequently, the suggestion I want to leave with you is this, that we need a substantial improvement in our dock facilities. This includes the betterment of the physical features of the equipment of the port, new wharves, new terminals, and the modernizing of the docks and pier equipment, and the task of doing everything that can be done to create new business in the way of traffic originating from or terminating at waterfront property. The Council during these past twelve years, and the three mayors who have presided over the destinies of this city during this time, have been liberal in the expenditure of public moneys for recreational facilities. What I think is most needed for the future of the city, however, is a more careful planning of the so-called public improvements, and I speak particularly with reference to the smaller playgrounds. You will remember, Mr. President, that three or four years ago we passed an appropriation for the North End district of Boston, called the Morton and Stillman street development, the result of which improvement was the tearing down of a number of houses in the congested district and the establishment of a small playground. That was done at the cost of a good deal of money, but the result of that type of improvement no one can estimate in dollars and cents. It has resulted in happiness to the children in that neighborhood, particularly the smaller children, who, through force of circumstances, are restricted for playgrounds to the sidewalks and the streets. Of course, it is more necessary to have those smaller community playgrounds in the thickly settled parts of the city, but a careful survey and planning would provide a plan for the taking of small community playgrounds throughout the entire City of Boston, including the suburbs. I remember that a few years ago, on Washington street, Dorchester, a small community playground was taken, called "Mother's Rest," at a cost of about $20,000. It overlooks Dorchester bay. I refer particularly to that as an illustration, because community playgrounds can be bought and obtained much more cheaply naturally in the suburbs than they can in the downtown sections of the city. So I hope that those who have the direction of the Boston of the future in their hands will see to it that a plan is evolved whereby each year such community playgrounds can be had all over the City of Boston. That sort of thing is not necessarily visionary, Mr. President. We ought first to have our plan and then proceed gradually in accordance with our means. When I first became a member of the city government, in 1910, I was led to believe by many who were sincere and who had followed the workings of municipal government, that the City of Boston could be run as a business corporation. I would not be frank and true to myself and true to the colleagues whom I am about to leave if I did not say that in the reduction of theory to practice I assert most positively that a big municipal public corporation like the City of Boston cannot be run as a business corporation, although it may be run on lines approaching those of a business corporation. A business corporation only obtains dividends in money for its stockholders. The big difference between a business and a public corporation is that it is the function of a public corporation to give dividends in happiness to the people. Therefore, we must bear that point in mind, that the function of the members of the Council and the Mayor is to spend money liberally but wisely, to the end that the community may receive a dollar's worth of value for every dollar expended, but also to the further end that in the spending of that money the community obtains real service and dividends in happiness. Mr. President, I have enjoyed my service in the Council. No man who has not had the pleasure of serving in a public body can appreciate the broadening influence that it has over a man who has had the opportunity to be in that service. I leave this service feeling confident that during my many years here I have been true to one man, myself—and that I have tried to do my duty as I saw it, honestly and fearlessly, without any regard to political consequences. In closing I will simply say, with a feeling of some satisfaction, that I believe I have done as well as I knew how. Leaving here with that feeling, I want to thank the members of the Council for their co-operation with me in the many things I have tried to do. We have had some differences of opinion, but no real legislative body is worth while without a difference of opinion, because the result is that the people whom we are serving are the better by such differences. As I leave here, I leave with the best of good feeling and good fellowship to those of my colleagues who will be here after I have gone, to the one who goes out with me, and to those who have preceded me.

CLOSING PROCEEDINGS.

Coun. COLLINS offered the following:

Resolved, That the thanks of the City Council be extended to James A. Watson for the impartiality and ability he has displayed as presiding officer of this City Council.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, it becomes my duty as well as my privilege to offer these resolutions. You, Mr. President, have served here longer than any member in this Council except myself. During these many years we have been together, we have had, in the words of the street, many a battle, or, in more polite language, many a difference. But I am pleased to say that, whatever those differences were, whatever our different points of view may have been, there was always a feeling and conviction on my part that the differences of opinion between us were honest. As I said a few moments ago, no legislative body is worth while unless it has its differences of opinion. It would be a singular legislative body if everything went through automatically and if there were no such differences. Our differences have sometimes been on the merits of propositions. Perhaps sometimes I have been right and sometimes you have been wrong, and at other times I have been wrong and you have been right. I dare say, whatever the result of those deliberations and discussions may have been, the public was benefited thereby. You have had a long experience in public service. I remember when I first started to run for the Legislature, being elected in 1905, you were at that time a candidate for public office. It was my pleasure to meet you then for the first time, although long before I had known of you by reputation, from my boyhood. You had served in the old Common Council, in the Legislature, and, if I am correct, you have just completed your eighth year in the City Council. Notwithstanding that long service, you seem to have discovered what Ponce de Leon called the fountain of youth. Youth is always bubbling from you; you are action personified. You have been a fighter and a leader in many matters that have concerned the body politic, not only in this Council, but in other representative capacities for the public good. I have always felt, no matter how we differed or how keenly we fought, that your point of view on a given proposition was that which, in your opinion, was for the best interests of the public. As a simple token of our appreciation, and in accordance with the time-honored tradition of this Council, I have the honor at this time, as one of the retiring members, to present to you a token of our esteem. I offer it on behalf of my colleague, Coun. McLaughlin, who goes out with me, as well as the other members and officers of the Council. It is a reminder, a token of our appreciation. May we hope that in the years to come—say perhaps thirty years from now, in 1952, when you will be about the age of your good father and mother, you will look at this timepiece and remember the year 1921, when we served the City of Boston together in this municipal council. In closing, I want to pay a personal tribute to you, Mr. President. I did not know until last night that your wife has been such an invalid the last two years. Not only, therefore, as our colleague, as our president, but as a devoted husband, we hand you this watch with our appreciation and good will, trusting that you will live long and prosper and remember in the days to come your colleagues of the City Council of the year 1921.

The resolution was passed by a unanimous rising vote.

President WATSON—Fellow members of the City Council, I am going to try to be as frank as I always try to be, and say that I had prepared a few notes that I was going to refer to in responding to the speech of Coun. Collins, acting for the rest of my colleagues, but the sincerity of Coun. Collins' expressions concerning me and the thoughts that have come into my mind while he was talking have wiped out much of what I might call my preparedness to respond to this anticipated gift. Four months ago I was made president of this body, and at that time I made a very brief speech. It is as clear in my mind now as it was the day I uttered it. I said, "I thank you for this belated but appreciated honor." As I was brief then, I will not be criticised if I am not quite as brief today, because there is much in my heart and mind that I must express somewhere, and there is no better place to express it than here. Nobody realizes better than I the sharp tongue that the Creator has given me. While I am rather high tempered and perhaps in the vernacular of the day sometimes "fly off the handle," I think I have one trait that I must have derived from my dear mother and father, because they both have it. That is sympathy and a heart that beats for the unfortunate, such as I once was. Whatever little success I have attained in public and business life and in social affairs I attribute to my Creator, my mother, my father, my wife, and now I will add another, my beautiful daughter. Never in my life, whether politically or otherwise, when they have advised me jointly or individually to pursue a certain course, have I gone wrong. I have not always followed their advice. I have at times placed my judgment, because of egotism, above theirs, but it was then that I fell down, to use the vernacular of the day. I am going to be as brief as I can, but in justice to myself, I would not be true to myself or my colleagues if I did not take a little more time on such an occasion as this. Mr. Collins, I believe that every word you have uttered here you meant from your heart, and I know that every word I am uttering is from my heart. Boston has never had in its service a more conscientious, more upright, forward-looking member of its legislative branch, nor has there been such in the mayor's chair, which you may yourself occupy some day, than yourself. I hear it on every side, not alone from those who are of the so-called better or higher class of our citizenship, but from the man who is my friend, the man with the calloused hands, who toils for his living. I have known it for years. I have talked with them and I have talked it in a political way with others. We have heard about Collins going down, but on at least one occasion instead of Collins going down Jerry Watson went down. If I should use more words today to express to you my regard and respect I might slop over, and my earnestness might be questioned. Therefore, I will conclude concerning you by saying, "Coun. Collins, more like you are needed in public life; more like you are needed in your profession; more citizens of Boston of your type are needed." Coun. McLaughlin also leaves us today, and I have a high regard for him as a public servant. We have been very friendly personally and politically during our term as members of this body. I have a high regard for him. I likewise regret his departure, because our association here has been that of a big old-fashioned family of sons, with the father above us, in the person of the executive. We quarrel here, but let some one outside of this branch say something about one of us, whether it is right or wrong, we are at him to make him take back the statement he has made. Coun. McLaughlin also is leaving us, and he like yourself will be missed. I consider that both of you will be called back into public service, provided you desire it, and whatever service you give will be for the benefit of this great city or state. I have been a member here for eight years, now entering my ninth year as a member of this body. I only hope that those who voted for me have not regretted it. I have, like Coun. Collins and Coun. McLaughlin, given the best in me to those who selected me as one of their representatives here. Coun. Moriarty, Brickley, Donoughue and Lane, who is absent because of illness, have been my friends. We have agreed and disagreed. Coun. Hagan and I have disagreed frequently. We are of different types of construction, mental and otherwise. He pursues his particular business, and I another. He has had to do with big affairs and I with small affairs. We have disagreed, but after our disagreements, so far as I have been concerned, no matter how bitter his attack might be on me or mine on him, I never harbored the disagreement in my heart for an hour afterwards, never had for him the slightest feeling other than friendship, although externally I might have seemed to show another kind of feeling. From my heart, however, any bitter feeling was always immediately blotted out after the discussion, no matter how bitter it was. I am friends of you all, and our friendship is going to continue, in spite of everything. I have been in public life twenty-four years. It has been a great education to me. It makes my heart ache, to use the vernacular of the day, makes me sick, to see great men, men high in public office, men who have gone on step by step to almost the highest office in the gift of the people of the country, reported in the press as saying, correctly or otherwise, that young men should not enter politics. Fellow members, I consider it almost a man's duty, the greatest duty next to his duty to his God, to take an active interest in public affairs, either getting behind some right-thinking man in public office, regardless of the party label, or himself, with the backing of his friends, serving in public office. There is being too much said by politicians, by men old in public service and holding high office, along this line, "If I had used my talents in other directions I would be better off." True, they might be, as far as this world's goods are concerned, in gold and silver, in financial wellbeing, but there is something else to be considered by a man in public life. There is a higher ideal to be looked up to, a higher point to be reached, and that is the appreciation of the work of a public servant. I trust that we will hear little more of that sort of statement, about men regretting entering public life. I think I have said all I should. I could say much more, but every tick of that watch, as heard by me, every second and every minute that passes, noted upon that dial, tells us that time is passing. But every second, every minute, every hour, every day, every week, every month and every year that goes by, I will remember my association of nine years here with many of you, my fellow members, under three mayors, with great, great pride; and every tick that vibrates from that case will, I hope, be in unison with my heart beats for my associates here, for all of them, but particularly for the two retiring from this body, Mr. Edward F. McLaughlin, and Mr. Walter L. Collins. I have expressed my thanks for this gift; I have spoken of those who are members, but I cannot forget to thank personally for his part in this token James Donovan, our City Clerk, the best man a friend could have; nor can I forget Edward J. Leary, my good friend politically and personally. I cannot forget, either, John E. Baldwin, our efficient Clerk of Committees; I cannot forget Fred Glynn, the Assistant City Messenger; I cannot forget Frank Chisholm, who is almost as old in service in politics, either on the pay roll or elected, as I, because in 1898, when I sat there in that corner, and seventy-four other members were here with me in the old Common Council, Frank Chisholm sat there taking down notes for the official stenographer and for the Clerk of Committees. I might go on. I cannot forget two others—Edward W. Harnden, our official stenographer, a fine type of man entirely apart from his excellent ability as a stenographer, as I understand second to none in the East. I also remember another who has been a stone wall at my back all the time that I have been in City Hall holding elective positions. His brains are wonderful and he has a remarkable knowledge of our rights under the charter. Without his aid and the aid of his superior we would go wrong almost all the time. He knows more about municipal law than any member of the Law Department, those high paid officials, because he has specialized in it; and I do not say this with any attempt to discredit them. I would be untrue to myself if I permitted my words to end here today without saying in conclusion that I attribute much of whatever success I have had in this body to the assistance that I have received in a material way from Wilfred Doyle, the Assistant City Clerk of the City of Boston. When I have gone right, he has been largely responsible for it. Now, my friends, I have talked long, and I have not referred to my notes at all. It is the old story, speak from your heart and you cannot go wrong, if you are truthful; attempt to speak from notes, reading statements verbatim and delivering what you have to say in an academic way, and you err. I made a few notes, but I have not touched them at all, because there were some things there that perhaps I would regret having said. There is much more that I would like to say, but I believe this afternoon I can say it in a far more open and frank way, and with a little of the old fashioned Jerry Watson in it. I thank you for the gift. I had almost overlooked my old friend Frank Ford, but he knows the feeling that I have for him, my respect for his sterling worth, ability and capacity for public service, and it is with a great deal of pleasure that I look forward to our continued co-operation in the city's work during the present year. The newspaper men also have my highest regard and my thanks for what they have done for me during my term of service here. If I have overlooked any attache, they know it is an oversight and that I have the highest regard for them personally and for their services in whatever position they may hold. If they have faults, "with all their faults I love them still."

THANKS TO PRESS AND OFFICIALS.

Coun. COLLINS offered the following:

Resolved, That the thanks of the City Council be hereby extended to the officials of the Council and the City Hall reporters for their fidelity, courtesy and attention.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. COLLINS—Mr. President, just a word or two before adjourning. Much of the good that I have accomplished or have tried to accomplish during my twelve years' service here in the Council has been due to the unfailing loyalty, fidelity and attention to duty of the officials connected with this Council, and may I suggest at this time that it is with sincere personal regard, as well as a sense of official obligation, that I offer that order? Mr. James Donovan, our City Clerk, has been with us now in an official capacity since 1912. It was toward the end of my first term in the Council that he came with us. I have never found in my long experience in public and private life a more devoted friend, a more consistent good fellow, than the present City Clerk. That his health may improve and that he may remain with the city of Boston in his official capacity as long as he desires, is my earnest wish. The president spoke of his assistant, Wilfred J. Doyle. I would like to second the remarks of the president with respect to Mr. Doyle. If there was ever a man who was a walking lexicon of municipal legislation, not only from the standpoint of municipal practice but from the more technical standpoint of procedure, not only in the City Clerk's department but in all other departments, that man is Wilfred J. Doyle. He is a man of great ability, and I have never met his superior, and but few equals, in the municipal service. It is with particularly personal feeling that I speak about Mr. Edward J. Leary, because when I was a small boy I first met Mr. Leary. He was an intimate friend of the man whom I consider the best man that ever lived, my father. Mr. Leary has always been genial, attentive and true. May he, too, stay with us as long as he lives. We come then to Mr. Harnden, Edward W. Harnden. I don't think I am talking too superlatively when I say that he is by common consent the best stenographer in Massachusetts. He has been here connected with our official branches since he was a boy; but he never grows old, and he is working on while we are talking. I am sure that he, too, will be with us as long as he desires. I next come to Mr. Glynn, the Assistant City Messenger, who came here as an assistant about eight or nine years ago. I have always found him attentive and loyal. Then there is John E. Baldwin, who has been Clerk of Committees but a little over a year, but who has made good as Clerk of Committees. I trust that he, too, will stay with this Council, not only for his own benefit, but particularly for the benefit of the community, because he has certainly rendered efficient, honorable and loyal service as Clerk of Committees. Then we come to Frank Chisholm. A man of greater natural ability and accomplishments I have not met since I have been a member of the Council. He is modest, unassuming and retiring, but a man of great natural ability. I am sure that he, like the good watch that was presented to you, Mr. President, will go on here forever, or as long as he endures. In conclusion, may I say that during the twelve years I have been here I have seen a great many changes in the press. Forrest Hull, of the Transcript, is the only one of the original reporters who were here in 1910. I have always found the reporters fair, impartial and anxious to give both sides of a controversy, anxious to give a square deal. I don't think there is a better tribute that can be paid the press. Mr. President, lest we forget some who have been with us in the past, let me repeat the words of the great poet, "All that live must die, passing through nature to eternity." Three of our officials since I have been a member here have gone to their reward, John T. Priest, formerly City Clerk, John F. Dever always referred to in the old days as "genial John F. Dever," and Charles Silloway. I think perhaps it is not out of place that in leaving here I should pay a tribute to their memory. We were better because of our associations with them, and I feel that the good fellowship and fair dealing which radiated from them will be with us forever.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I rise to a question of information. For the past hour I have listened to swan songs, a great deal of sob stuff, and I now find that I have just one handkerchief that is dry. If I must shed tears I prefer to shed them now, and, therefore, I want to know if it is true, as Mr. Collins intimated, that you, Mr. President, intend to remain a member of the City Council until 1952?

President WATSON—Well, that will be my earnest effort.

Coun. HAGAN—You have said it all.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. COLLINS moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail Lost.

Adjourned sine die, at one o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. COLLINS.

INAUGURAL EXERCISES.

Monday, February 6, 1922.

The first meeting of the City Council of 1922 was held in Mechanics Hall, Huntington avenue, Boston, at 10.30 a. m., all the members and members-elect for 1922 being present.

Senior member Coun. HAGAN took the chair and called the members to order at 10.20 a. m., as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen.—We are assembled here this morning for the purpose of inaugurating a Mayor for the ensuing four years and three newly elected members of the City Council for a period of three years. The Chair appoints Coun. Watson and Ford a committee to escort the Mayor and officials to the platform.

The said committee retired at 10.21 a. m. and presently returned, escorting Mayor-elect Hon. James M. Curley and suite, including ex-Mayors Thomas N. Hart and Daniel J. Whelton, and Chief Justice Arthur P. Rugg to the platform.

Mgr. John B. Peterson prayed:

In the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, Amen. Almighty and eternal God of our fathers, graciously hear our prayer. We ask Thy blessings on our beloved city, whose motto gratefully acknowledges Thy favoring governance in days past and reverently affirms the hope of its ever enduring "Sicut patribus, sit Deus nobis."

In this humble recognition of Thy Providence, we beseech Thee to bless again our city, to protect it, to prosper it, to unite in growing harmony its multiplying citizens, to preserve its peace. "Unless the Lord keep the city, they watch in vain who keep it."

We ask Thee this day particularly to bless our newly chosen rulers. Help them and us to cherish and exemplify every civic virtue. God of Justice, fortify them by Thy grace in their pledge of just and faithful stewardship; that they may rule in justice, and grant to all whom they serve the spirit of a fair and heartening fealty.

God of Truth, illumine by Thy light the way before them, and that they may steadfastly lead us aright; spare them the trial of beguilement by those who tolerantly would call evil good and of disheartenment by those who would call good evil.

God of Love, grant us all the grace to grow constantly in neighborly friendliness, good will and mutual understanding, and thus may we be able—our city, its rulers and its people—to grow in charity, fulfilling Thy law and thus deserving to have renewed in our day the blessings bestowed by Thee upon our fathers.

We beg these blessings in Thy Son's name and in the prayer by which He taught us how to tell our needs to Thee:

Our Father, Who art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy name: Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread; and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. Amen.

At the conclusion of the prayer City Clerk Donovan read a communication from the Election Commissioners certifying the election of Hon. James M. Curley to the office of Mayor of the City of Boston for four years. (Applause.)

The oath of office was administered to Mayor-elect Curley by Hon. Arthur P. Rugg, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, after which a little girl presented a bouquet of flowers to the Mayor. City Clerk Donovan then called the roll of the members-elect of the City Council — Messrs. William J. Walsh, John A. Donoghue and George F. Gilbody — and the oath of office was administered to said members-elect by the Mayor.

Chairman HAGAN—I now have the honor to introduce to the City Council and to this gathering of citizens his Honor Mayor James M. Curley, who will deliver his inaugural address. (Great applause and cheering.)

The members-elect took their seats with the other members of the council, and his Honor Mayor Curley read his message, as follows:

Gentlemen of the City Council:

The City of Boston is entering upon the second century of its existence as a municipality and it is for us to determine by our acts whether we shall measure up to the inspiring traditions of which we are custodians.

The misunderstandings between the retiring Mayor and the Finance Commission as to the financial condition of the City make it desirable that expert accountants be employed at once to determine the facts.

The report as to finances, when received, should be of value to the public from the standpoint of truth and to the City Council in determining their course of action.

We are jointly charged with the responsible duty of preserving and perpetuating humanitarian, patriotic, educational, commercial and industrial traditions greater than ever achieved in any other American municipality.

The success we attain will be determined, in large measure, by the co-operation which we receive from the entire citizenship rather than by our individual or collective efforts.

Boston has ever been pre-eminent for wise and courageous leadership in the fields of commerce and industry, and the courage and hardihood of her citizens in the early days made the American flag a familiar emblem in every harbor of the world. The same sturdy manhood and splendid leadership made possible not only the winning of the West but the development of its resources. We need men of that manhood and mentality, coupled with a confidence in our industrial and commercial possibilities, to regain the position and prestige formerly enjoyed.

Boston, unfortunately, has long been considered by the law-makers of the State purely as a political pawn whose commercial needs have been disregarded and whose industrial welfare was of little moment.

Great importance has been attached to the fact that Boston is one day nearer to Europe than any other port on the Atlantic coast, and yet, notwithstanding this knowledge, to the present time we have made but feeble attempt to capitalize this strategic commercial position which is ours.

The present high freight rate operating to the disadvantage of Massachusetts, and more particularly Boston, to which, in some measure, may be traced the present industrial depression, can only be overcome by commercial development through which the handling of raw material by water may be possible.

The evidences of readjustment and resumption of business activity throughout the world is increasing each day and should impel us to speedily adopt a constructive commercial program which should merit the support of the entire Commonwealth.

The policy of expending public funds for every conceivable purpose, other than the promotion of industry and commerce, must end.

The lack of continuity of administrative policy due to successive changes in administrations has a most important bearing on the industrial and commercial life of the city, which after all should be regarded as a going business institution.

I personally believe that the time has arrived for enlarging the personnel and powers of the Boston Planning Board as, in my opinion, this Board should be representative of the industrial, commercial, religious, financial, labor and educational organizations of our city.

It should be provided with sufficient funds to conduct a campaign for the purpose of promoting both industry and commerce and for a comprehensive investigation as to ways and means of increasing municipal revenues and reducing municipal expenditures, to the end that our present per capita cost of municipal administration in Boston shall no longer serve as a detriment to industry already located here, or a barrier to industries seeking a fruitful field for investment which are now located elsewhere.

The welfare of the people demands the immediate restoration of the five-cent street car fare in Boston, since the present system imposes a daily burden on those less able to assume the same, while permitting those who benefit most from adequate street railway transportation to almost wholly escape a just portion of the cost.

Street railway transportation, in my opinion, has ceased to be a non-essential and is today as necessary as public water, sewerage, lighting and education.

It accordingly is my purpose to instruct the Corporation Counsel to present to the Legislature such measures as may be necessary to provide, within the present year, a five-cent fare for that portion of the Boston Elevated system operating within the limits of Boston.

I want to say just one word in this connection. With a view to obtaining the services of a gentleman who is considered perhaps the most eminent attorney in Massachusetts, I tendered the position of Corporation Counsel to Sherman L. Whipple. (Applause.) Mr. Whipple was unable to accept, but agreed to serve without expense to the city in endeavoring to obtain, and he is confident that he can bring about, a restoration of the five-cent fare in Boston. (Great applause and cheers.)

The results achieved at the Health Unit in the West End of Boston have not only demonstrated the necessity for a continuance of this unit, but have furnished convincing proof of the imperative need of additional units throughout the city.

The experiment made at Morton street in the North End in the substitution of a health-giving park for disease-breeding, congested tenement property has, in the past five years, proven its value to such a degree as to make of the precedent a fixed policy, and it is my purpose to recommend to your honorable body the expenditure, annually, during my term as Mayor, of a substantial amount for the razing of unhealthful tenement property and the establishment in place thereof of playgrounds for women and children.

The completion, at an early date, of the Strandway development at South Boston is essential, as this work, if carried on now, will provide opportunities for a livelihood to a large number of unskilled workers and, in a measure, tend to relieve unemployment, in addition to making possible what should ultimately prove to be the best playground in New England.

That every opportunity may be afforded the public to enjoy to the fullest degree the benefits and beauties of our park system, I recommend additional motor roads through Franklin Park and the substitution of granolithic sidewalks for the present loam and gravel sidewalks which, due to weather conditions, are suitable for public travel less than fifty per cent of the time.

The widening of Chelsea street has been in progress for a period of more than five years and it is imperative that this work be completed at the earliest possible date.

I favor the creation of a municipal employment bureau as a means of aiding the service man to maintain his American independence and his family without aid from the municipality.

Through the agency of a municipal employment bureau it should be possible to reduce expenditures in the Soldiers' Relief Department by a large sum annually, and from the important standpoint of opportunity for a livelihood make American citizenship more desirable by aiding only those who are citizens.

The neglect of Federal authorities is reflected in an increased cost of the Soldiers' Relief Department that is alarming.

It is all very well to talk Americanism. but to the returned service man who finds his old position in private life pre-empted by a less patriotic man and at a loss for direction, it is tragic.

The question of justice for the soldier is vital and early action is essential, if patriotism is to be fostered and American institutions safeguarded.

The termination of the World War found America helpless so far as providing proper accommodations for those men maimed in the service, and criminally negligent in the matter of bonus payment.

In event of the Federal Government abandoning West Roxbury Hospital, I favor the transfer of the poor to this property so admirably located, where, in the twilight of their existence, they can see the happy boys and girls at play and live over against the joys of boyhood and girlhood as they pass into the shadows.

It is advisable that chronic cases be treated at Elks Hospital, Parker Hill, where every facility is available, rather than at Long Island, where physicians and surgeons find it impossible to attend except on rare occasions, and where visits must be of short duration, due to the time consumed going to and from the island.

The abandonment of Long Island should present an opportunity for the Commonwealth to seriously consider this property as an ideal site for a state prison, affording as it does abundant opportunity for useful outdoor labor.

I have long cherished the hope that a little more of human kindness might enter into our treatment of the unfortunate poor and those in the community afflicted with chronic ailments, both of whom are at present sent to Long Island, where, without the cheering visits of friends or the opportunity to see other than the bleak and dreary prospect that a harbor island three miles from the mainland has to offer, they patiently await what, to them, is the welcome coming of the "Angel of Death."

There is no city in America that boasts a larger number of intelligent and philanthropic women and men banded together in organizations for the good of humanity than in Boston.

It is imperative, both as a health measure and as a sound business proposition, that, at the earliest possible date, arrangements be made for the Health Commissioner to co-operate with and the Health Department act as a clearing house for all organizations now engaged in health activities.

The problems presented by the limited examination I have been able to make, supplemented by the data received relative to the needs of various city departments, present a situation that gives just cause for apprehension to every taxpayer anticipating relief from the present high tax rate.

School expenditures have increased 91 per cent during the past four years, or $6,729,765.99.

1917	$7,362,974 00
1921	$14,092,739 99

The Police Department, Fire Department, County departments, Soldiers' Relief, Public Welfare and interest on outstanding indebtedness have increased the cost of administration to such an extent as to make necessary immediate retrenchment wherever possible.

All persons in the employ of the city are entitled to just treatment and the city is entitled to an equitable return for the salaries paid.

Employment with the city is attractive not only because of the permanency but because of the guaranty in many departments of pension when the individual has become incapacitated either through injuries or advancing years; consequently it is but reasonable to demand that all persons in the employ of the city shall work the full number of hours required in the department where they may be employed.

It would be advisable for all persons in the employ of the city who cannot comply with the requirements as here outlined to tender their resignations at an early date, as my time will be sufficiently employed at more important work than hearkening to the pleas of well-intentioned, if not truthfully informed, political ambassadors.

Having taken the oath of office to serve faithfully and impartially the people of Boston, I desire at this time to serve notice upon all persons doing business with the city during the next four years that they will be required, so far as lies within my power to compel them, to live up to their contracts or agreements and give the city one hundred cents in value for every dollar paid out.

Any person, firm or corporation failing to comply with the above stipulation will be deprived of the privilege of doing business with the City of Boston, and any employee of the city found aiding or abetting any firm, individual or corporation in depriving the city of full value will be summarily removed.

I have no illusions relative to the task confronting me as Mayor and the present state of the city financially, commercially and industrially.

It is a situation which no man unaided can overcome.

The co-operation of the City Council, the press and the entire public is imperatively essential for the solving of our present problems, whose right solution mean so much not only to the present generation but to posterity.

Ours is indeed a tremendous responsibility and a prodigious task, and beneficial results are only possible provided the Legislature ceases undue, unwarranted and unwelcome interference with Boston in the conduct of its own business.

God grant us the wisdom and strength to honorably serve and to intelligently solve the problems that confront us at the dawn of the second century of the existence of Boston as a city

At the conclusion of the Mayor's address, which was applauded by the audience, Chairman HAGAN said:

Ladies and gentlemen, the purpose for which we assemble here this morning having been accomplished, the meeting is now dissolved. Members of the City Council will immediately assemble in the Council Chamber in City Hall.

The Mechanics Building meeting was concluded at 11.06 a. m.

MEETING OF THE CITY COUNCIL.

The members of the Council proceeded to the Council Chamber, City Hall, and were called together by Coun. HAGAN, senior member, at 11.50 a. m.

The roll was called, and all nine members — Councilors Brickley, Donoghue, Ford, Gilbody, Hagan, Lane, Moriarty, Walsh and Watson— were found to be present.

Coun. HAGAN.—A quorum being present, the Council will now proceed with the regular order of business.

APPROPRIATION FOR EAST BOSTON TUNNEL DEBT.

The following was received:

City of Boston
Office of the Mayor, February 6, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am submitting herewith an order for an appropriation of $6,843 to meet in part the expenses during the financial year beginning February 1, 1922, for interest and sinking fund requirements on the East Boston Tunnel debt.

I respectfully request the immediate passage of this order in order that the system adopted several years ago of discontinuing the collection of tolls in connection with the East Boston Tunnel be maintained.

Respectfully yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Ordered, That to meet in part the expenses during the financial year beginning February 1, 1922, for interest and sinking fund requirements on the East Boston Tunnel Debt, issued under authority of chapter 548, Acts of 1894; chapter 500, Acts of 1897; chapter 190, Acts of 1903, and Chapter 187, Acts of 1905, the sum of six thousand eight hundred forty-three (6,843) dollars be and hereby is appropriated, and that said amount be raised by taxation upon the polls and estates taxable in the City of Boston.

The order was given its first reading and passage, yeas 9, nays 0.

CLOSING OF PASSAGEWAY, CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BUILDING.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 6, 1922.

To the Honorable the City Council:

The Boston Chamber of Commerce, through a realty trust formed for the purpose, has acquired more than half of the land contained in the block bounded by Federal, Franklin and Congress streets and Matthews square, with the intention of erecting thereon a modern office building of the finest type, the upper stories of which will be occupied by the Chamber of Commerce.

In order to construct upon this land a building which, under the present relatively high cost of building construction, may be expected to yield a return upon the money invested in it — and the money to erect the building cannot, of course, be obtained on any other basis — it is necessary to discontinue the passageway through this property, which for many years has been used merely for the delivery of good to, and the taking of goods from, the properties abutting thereon, and thus make possible the construction of a continuous building; and this has been agreed to by all the other owners of property in this block.

In view of the desirability of doing everything which can reasonably be done to revive building construction, of the large number of men for whom erection of the proposed building, which will be one of the very largest in the city, will furnish employment, and the large increase in taxable property which will result, both from the construction of the building itself and from the increase in value of properties adjacent thereto, it has seemed to the Board of Street Commissioners to be in the public interest that the passageway through the property acquired as a site for the proposed building should be discontinued; and the Street Commissioners have passed an order for its discontinuance.

A portion of Leather square, over which the proposed building would extend, was conveyed to the City of Boston by deed for street purposes — for which purpose it is, in the opinion of the Street Commissioners, no longer of any value to the city. The Mayor and City Council, only, have authority to release the city's claim to this strip of land. For the reasons which actuated the Street Commissioners in passing the order of discontinuance — in which reasons I fully concur — I recommend the passage by the City Council of the inclosed preambles and order authorizing me, in the name and behalf of the city, to release and quitclaim all the right, title and interest, if any the city has, in the strip of land in question.

Respectfully submitted,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Whereas, William B. Spooner conveyed to the City of Boston a certain strip of land for the purpose of widening Sister street, now known as Leather square, by a deed recorded in Suffolk Deeds, Book 706, page 134; and

Whereas, The Board of Street Commissioners have passed an order for the discontinuance of the street over said strip of land; it is hereby Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and hereby is authorized and empowered, in the name and behalf of the City of Boston, upon the payment to the city of the amount ($4,095.68) paid by it for said strip of land, and by a deed in form satisfactory to the Law Department, to release and quit claim to the Trusetes of the Boston Chamber of Commerce Realty Trust, the owners of the adjacent land as successors in title to said Spooner, all the right, title and interest of the City of Boston in and to said strip of land.

The order was given its first reading and passage, yeas 9, nays 0.

APPOINTMENT BY THE MAYOR.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 6, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Subject to confirmation by your honorable body, I hereby appoint Michael B O'Donnell, 58 South Huntington avenue, Boston, to the position of Constable of the City of Boston for the term ending April 30, 1922.

Respectfully yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Laid over under the law.

VOTE FOR PRESIDENT.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the Council proceed to the election of a president for the ensuing year.

The order was passed, and the Clerk called the roll, with the following result.

For David J. Brickley—Coun. Brickley, Ford and Moriarty—3.

For John A. Donoghue—Coun. Donoghue, Walsh and Watson—3.

For Daniel W. Lane—Coun. Gilbody, Hagan and Lane—3.

And there was no choice.

PLAYGROUND, MATTAPAN DISTRICT.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the sum of $50,000 be and hereby is appropriated for a playground in the Mattapan district, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

The order was declared referred to the Committee on Finance, when appointed.

Coun. FORD—Mr. President, it may be a good idea, because of the promise that Coun. Watson made, to give that order its first reading and passage today, just as we did in the case of the order that would otherwise have been referred to the Committee on Public Lands, when appointed. I think we will make more progress by such action and, if agreeable, I would move a reconsideration of the reference so that the order may be put upon its passage at this time.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I appreciate the suggestion and ask that that be done.

The reference was reconsidered and the order was given its first reading and passage, yeas 9, nays 0.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP, LIGHTING PLANT.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the Executive Committee, or a committee with like power, be instructed to consider ways and means to provide for municipal ownership and operation of electric lighting plants, and to report thereon at its earliest convenience.

Passed.

SPECIAL ELECTION, WARD 10.

Coun. MORIARTY offered the following:

Ordered, That meetings of the citizens of Ward 10, qualified to vote for state officers, be held in the several polling places designated for the purpose by the Board of Election Commissioners on Tuesday, February 21, 1922, to give in their votes for one representative to the General Court, to fill a vacancy. The polls at said meetings will be opened at six o'clock a. m., and closed at 4 o'clock p. m.

Ordered, That the City Clerk be directed to give notice of said meetings by publishing the same as required by law.

Passed.

COMMITTEE ON RULES.

Coun. MORIARTY offered the following:

Ordered, That a special committee of three members be appointed to consider such matters relating to rules as may be referred to said committee from time to time.

Passed.

MUNICIPAL REGISTER.

Coun. MORIARTY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Statistics Department be authorized, under the direction of the Committee on Rules, to prepare and have printed the Municipal Register for 1922, and that the Clerk of Committees be authorized to prepare and have printed a pocket edition of the organization of the city government and heads of departments, the expense thus incurred to be charged to the appropriation for City Documents.

Passed.

MUNICIPAL EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to take immediate steps to establish a free municipal employment bureau.

Passed.

NEW CITY HALL.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to take such steps as may be necessary to provide a new building for City Hall and a municipal auditorium.

Passed.

SALE OF UNCLAIMED BAGGAGE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered the following:

Ordered, That a special committee be appointed, to consist of two members of the Council, to whom shall be referred all petitions for leave to sell unclaimed baggage, and said committee is hereby authorized to make in each case the examination required by law.

Passed.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING, BRIGHTON.

Coun. WALSH offered an order—That the Superintendent of Public Buildings be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to furnish the City Council with an estimate of the cost of providing a site and erecting a municipal building in the Brighton district.

Passed.

RULES ADOPTED.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered the following:

Ordered, That the rules of the City Council of 1921 be hereby adopted as the rules of the City Council of 1922.

Passed.

INCREASE IN SALARIES OF DOCTORS AND NURSES.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to consider the advisability of increasing the salaries of doctors and nurses in the employ of the city

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS TO COMMITTEES.

Coun. GILBODY offered the following:

Ordered, That all matters referred as unfinished business from the City Council of 1921 be referred to the appropriate committees of the City Council of 1922, when appointed.

Passed.

LICENSES FOR JITNEYS.

Coun. LANE offered the following:

Ordered, That a special committee, to consist of five members of the City Council, be appointed to consider and report on all applications for licenses to operate jitneys, so called.

Passed.

APPROVAL OF CONSTABLES' BONDS.

The constables' bonds of Lionel de Jersey Greene, Frederic J. Lundy and Joseph W. Bennett being received with the approval of the City Treasurer, were approved by the Council.

SECOND AND THIRD VOTES FOR PRESIDENT.

On motion of Coun. FORD the Council voted to take another ballot for president for the ensuing year.

The Clerk called the roll, with the following result:

For David J. Brickley — Coun. Brickley, Ford, Moriarty — 3.

For John A. Donoghue—Coun. Donoghue, Walsh, Watson—3.

For Daniel W. Lane—Coun. Gilbody, Hagan, Lane—3.

And there was no choice.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, in view of the fact that there appears to be a deadlock for the presidency at the present moment, I move, sir, that the temporary chairman be instructed to appoint an Executive Committee composed of the entire Council and that the chairman of that committee be designated by the chairman. I make that as a motion.

The motion was carried.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I move that we proceed to ballot for a president of the Council for the year 1922.

The motion was carried, and the Clerk called the roll with the following result.

For David J. Brickley—Coun. Brickley, Ford, Moriarty—3.

For John A. Donoghue—Coun Donoghue, Walsh, Watson—3.

For Daniel W. Lane—Coun. Gilbody, Hagan, Lane—3.

And there was no choice.

RECESS.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I move that the Council take a recess subject to the call of the Chair, in order that we may try to come to an understanding on the presidency.

The motion was carried, and the Council took a recess from 12.25 to 12.49 p. m., when Coun. HAGAN again called the body to order.

FOURTH VOTE FOR PRESIDENT.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I move that we proceed to the election of a president for the ensuing year.

The motion was carried, and the Clerk called the roll, with the following result.

For David J. Brickley—Coun. Brickley, Ford, Moriarty—3.

For John A. Donoghue—Coun. Donoghue, Walsh, Watson—3.

For Daniel W. Lane—Coun. Gilbody, Hagan Lane—3.

And there was no choice.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. FORD moved a general reconsideration of all action taken today, hoping the same would not prevail. Lost.

MAYORS OF BOSTON.

In its 99 years of existence as a city Boston has had 36 elected Mayors and five ex officio Acting Mayors. Of the 36 men who have held the office for one year or more, five were elected for other than consecutive terms and 25 were re-elected one or more times. Those born within the present limits of Boston numbered 21; in towns near Boston, 8; in neighboring New England States, 5; in Ireland, 2. The Mayor longest in office was Mayor Lincoln, who served 3 years ending 1860 and then 4 years ending 1866. Next in length of service were the first Mayor Quincy and Mayor Fitzgerald, who served 6 years each. Those who served 4 years were Mayors Prince, O'Brien, Matthews, (third) Quincy, Hart, Curley and Peters. Mayor Collins was in office nearly 4 years, his death occurring 3½ months before his second term expired. Those serving 3 years were Mayors Otis, Eliot, Chapman, (second) Quincy, Bigelow, Shurtleff and Cobb; 2 years, Mayors Wells, Lyman, Brimmer, Seaver, Smith, Rice, Wightman, Gaston, Pierce (22 months) and Hibbard; 1 year, Mayors Phillips, Armstrong, Davis, Norcross, Green, Palmer, Martin and Curtis. The five Acting Mayors were Chairmen (Board of Aldermen) Parker, Leavitt, Allen, Cutter and Whelton.

Mayor Otis was Speaker of Massachusetts House of Representatives, President of Senate, United States Representative and United States Senator before becoming Mayor. Mayor Armstrong was Lieutenant-Governor and at times Acting Governor before serving as Mayor. Mayors Rice and Gaston served 3 years and 1 year (respectively) as Governor, after their terms as Mayor. Mayors Collins, Curley, Fitzgerald, Peters, Pierce and Rice have represented Boston in the lower house of Congress, Mayor Peters having also served as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Ex-Mayor Curtis was appointed Police Commissioner in 1919 for term of five years. Ex-Mayor Quincy died in 1919, and Ex-Mayor Green in 1918. (See annual City Doc., Boston Municipal Register, for full list of Mayors from 1822 to 1921, with place and date of birth, years of service and date of death.)

BOSTON TRUST FUNDS AND BEQUESTS.

Number of permanent funds and bequests held by the City, February 1, 1921, for various purposes, 128, representing a total value of $10,025,490. The earliest dates back to 1674, viz., Gibson School Fund. The largest fund is the bequest of the late George F. Parkman, consisting of various parcels of real estate (now mostly sold) valued at $5,000,000 to $6,000,000, the income from which (about $195,000 annually) is used for the upkeep and improvement of the older parks. Total amount of Parkman Fund in custody of City Treasurer, $5,377,877; next in amount, $907,894, made up of 17 funds in charge of the Overseers of the Public Welfare; (3) the Franklin and Franklin Union, amounting to $766,808; (4) 41 Public Library funds, $674,533; (5) Public School Teachers' Retirement, $665,568; (6) 8 Cemetery funds, $609,839; (7) Permanent School Pension, $380,516; (8) Police Charitable, $207,550; (9) 19 School funds, $170,936; (10) 19 Hospital funds, $97,750; 18 others, $166,219. Average annual income from all invested funds, nearly 4 per cent.

Two other funds are held by incorporated members of the Fire Department and Police Department respectively, viz.: Firemen's Relief Fund, amounting to $240,000 and Police Relief Fund, $232,005.

The Thorndike Memorial Building Fund, viz., $200,000 (bequest of George L. Thorndike) received by City Treasurer in 1919, is to be used for a ward building for clinical research purposes by the City Hospital Trustees. A loan of $150,000 for this object has been authorized but not yet issued.

PUBLIC STREETS OF BOSTON.

Total length of the 2,447 paved (accepted) streets, February 1, 1921, 604.80 miles; total area, 11,410,829 square yards, or 8.46 per cent of the City's total land area. This is exclusive of the private streets (not accepted), numbering about 2,870. 375.28 miles, or 62.05 per cent, are paved with macadam (including 121.21 miles bituminous macadam); 105.23 miles with granite block; 43.88 miles with asphalt; 30.38 miles with gravel; 27.68 miles with asphalt concrete (17.32 m. being bitulithic and 10.28 m. Topeka); 11.06 miles with wood block; 5.39 miles with brick. Old macadam pavement is gradually being replaced with more satisfactory and durable kinds, such as bitulithic, concrete, granite block, etc., over $4,000,000 having been expended during the past three years in resurfacing about 300 streets and parts of streets or total area of 1,350,000 square yards. Granolithic sidewalks laid in 1920, 76,201 square yards or 16 miles, averaging about 8 feet wide, 50 per cent of cost assessed on estates benefited.

New highway construction completed in period 1917-1920 includes 6 streets in Boston Proper; 32 in Dorchester; 31 in West Roxbury; 13 in Roxbury; 19 in Brighton; 6 in East Boston; 2 in Hyde Park; 4 in South Boston, and 1 in Charlestown, roadway pavement bitulithic or asphalt surface on concrete, and bituminous macadam. Gross debt outstanding February 1, 1921, for all street construction, including damages, $21,341,441 or $267,080, less than in 1920.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals from citizens of the United States and corporations or other legal associations wherein the controlling interest to the extent of at least over one half thereof is owned by a citizen or citizens of the United States, for collecting and removing offal, between March 1, 1922, and January 31, 1923, in the following district: East Boston, and giving bond therefor of a surety company approved by the commissioner, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Forms of proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposal for Collecting and Removing Offal," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. on Thursday, February 23, 1922, with a certified check for five hundred dollars ($500), payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the proposals. If the price bid on any district appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal for said district. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to accept any proposal should he deem it to be for the best interests of the city so to do.

T. F. Sullivan,
Commissioner of Public Works.

MUNICIPAL SERVICE.

Complaints, inquiries or suggestions regarding the work of municipal departments should be made in writing to the officials directly in charge. The failure of such officials to make reply within a reasonable length of time should be brought to the attention of the Mayor. Communications should be directed as follows:

To the Board of Street Commissioners, Room 401, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the laying out, relocation, widening and the discontinuance of highways; the taking of real property for municipal purposes; the assessments of betterments for streets and sewers; the plotting of undeveloped areas for streets and the opening of private ways; the granting of licenses for the storage or sale of merchandise in public streets; the regulation of street traffic; the making of specific repairs in public streets, the naming of public streets, the planting and removal of trees in public ways, the issuing of licenses for the storage of gasolene, oil and other inflammable substances or explosive compounds, the use of the public ways for any permanent or temporary obstruction or projection in, under or over the same, including the location of conduits, poles and posts for telephone, telegraph, street railway or illuminating purposes, signs, marquises, bay windows, coal holes and vaults.

To the Commissioner of Public Works, Room 511, City Hall Annex, for information as to the watering, cleaning, lighting and repairing of streets, the construction and care of sewers and catch-basins, the operation of the ferries, the maintenance of bridges and drawbridges and the removal of ashes and offal.

To Room 604, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the supplying or metering of water and the water charges of the city.

To the Health Department, Room 1107, City Hall Annex, for information relative to the inspection of milk, vinegar, meat, fish and vegetables, the issuance of permits for stables, slaughter houses, etc., smoke nuisances, the existence of contagious diseases or public health nuisances.

To the Board of Park Commissioners, 33 Beacon street, for information as to the care of the Common, Public Garden, Franklin Park, Franklin Field, Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay Fens, Marine Park and the small parks and playgrounds in general throughout the city, and as to the extermination of gypsy moths and the charges made for such service. Application may be made to this department for information regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mount Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

To the School Committee, 26 Mason street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

To the Schoolhouse Commissioners, Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

To the Board of Examiners, Room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

To the Wire Division of the Fire Department, Room 905, City Hall Annex, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of wires and electrical apparatus. Also to the same office for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must invariably be paid in advance.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the construction of a sanitary sewer of 12-inch earthen pipe in Sever street, between Haverhill street and Kingston street in the Charlestown district, at an estimated cost of $885.

DEATH OF DR. HARTWELL.

Dr. Edward Mussey Hartwell, secretary of the Statistics Department of the City of Boston, died upon the 19th instant at his home, 24 Burroughs street, Jamaica Plain, after an illness of several weeks.

Dr. Hartwell was born in Exeter, N. H., May 29, 1850, the son of Shattuck and Catherine Stone (Mussey) Hartwell. His parents later removed to Littleton, Mass., and Dr. Hartwell attended Amherst College, from which he was graduated in 1873. He was given an A. M. degree in 1876, and in 1881 he was awarded a Ph.D. by Johns Hopkins. The following year he was given the degree of M.D. by Miami Medical College at Cincinnati. In 1898 Amherst gave him an LL. D.

Dr. Hartwell was married in London, Eng., on July 25, 1889, to Miss Mary Laetitia Brown of Baltimore.

Dr. Hartwell was vice principal of the high school at Orange, N. J., from 1874 to 1877, leaving to study medicine. He was a fellow at Johns Hopkins in 1879 and 1880, later being associate in physical training and director of the gymnasium at the university from 1883 to 1891. He became director of physical training in the public schools of Boston in 1891, remaining until 1897. Then a Department of Statistics was established in this city and he became secretary, holding the position up to the time of his death.

Dr. Hartwell was chairman of the Massachusetts Commission for the Blind from 1906 to 1908. In 1888 and 1889 he was special expert agent of the United States Department of Labor in Europe. Dr. Hartwell studied in Berlin, Vienna and Stockholm and made special investigations in hygiene, education and statistics in Great Britain, Germany, Russia and Scandinavia.

He was a member of the Boston Society for Medical Improvement, American Statistics Association, St. Botolph Club, Twentieth Century Club and Puddingstone Club. He was a member of the Medical and Chirurgical faculty of Maryland.

Dr. Hartwell was the author of numerous translations and articles on medicine and statistics.

He is survived by a wife, two daughters and one son.

The funeral occurred upon the 21st instant with services at St. John's Church, Jamaica Plain.

MAY BURN OIL.

Mayor Curley believes that heating plants in various city buildings can be operated upon an oil instead of a coal basis at large annual saving of municipal finances.

The Mayor summoned department heads to talk the matter over with them, and said that the initial experiment may be tried at the Calf Pasture pumping station.

The city uses about 112,000 tons of coal yearly in schools, hospitals, jails and other such establishments, at a cost, on present price levels, of about $1,500,000. The incidental labor cost is $225,000.

The Mayor figures that a saving of at least $350,000 on fuel alone could be made annually, after installation charges in the first year had been marked off, and that a 60 per cent saving would also ensue on the labor item.

CONSTRUCTION OF SEWER.

The Mayor has approved the construction by the Commissioner of Public Works of a sanitary sewer of 12-inch earthen pipe in Sever street, between Haverhill street and Kingston street, Charlestown, at an estimated cost of $885.

CITY HOLIDAY OBSERVANCE.

Plans for more constructive methods in the celebration of public holidays were contained in an address given by J. Philip O'Connell, director of public celebrations, to the executive committee of the Public Celebrations Association upon the 23d instant.

Mayor Curley notified the committee that he expects continued co-operation from the Association and that a committee from that body will assist the director in preparing plans for celebrations in the future.

Chairman Frank Leveroni, president of the Association, presided at the meeting, which was held at the director's office in City Hall. He pledged the aid of the Association to the director.

Mayor Curley expressed his conviction that the work of the Public Celebrations Association under his previous administration as well as since had amply justified him in extending its functions. He authorized the announcement that hereafter every holiday the city celebrates will have the advantage of the study and advice of the men of this organization, working in conjunction with the director.

Heretofore the Association's efforts have been mainly confined to Patriots' Day, Independence Day and Columbus Day. In line with the Mayor's wishes, the executive committee of the Association recently prepared recommendations for all holidays of the year, which have been approved and now form the policy of the city.

In response to a question at the conference it was explained that local holidays will have their local committees as usual, but all plans and proposals will pass through the hands of the director and the central committee.

APPOINTMENT OF PUBLICITY DIRECTORS.

Mayor Curley met with the City Council Monday afternoon to ask that $20,000 and $10,000 be appropriated respectively for a Boston Commercial and Industrial Bureau and a Free Employment Bureau.

The purpose of the Commercial and Industrial Bureau was the development and expansion of commercial and industrial New England, the growth and prosperity of which will be reflected in Boston. The Bureau will also serve as a pleasant irritant to the Chamber of Commerce and kindred bodies with which it will work for the common public good.

He said he had appointed Joseph Smith and William H. McMasters as directors of the Bureau, the former to look after the affairs of the office and the local field of its activities, the latter to act in conjunction with him and make its work tell beyond the city, in the capacity of field director. The Mayor felt it was imperatively necessary to begin the work of making the influence of Boston and New England felt more, and that it was wise to follow the example of other American and European communities who had found that expenditures of this nature had returned splendid dividends in expanded industry and commerce.

PATRIOTS' DAY AS CENTENARY.

Mayor Curley has designated Patriots' Day as the occasion upon which the centenary of the chartering of Boston as a city will be observed.

REPORT OF PLANNING BOARD.

Mayor Curley received a report of the City Planning Board relative to a comprehensive city plan upon February 22, 1922.

The report of the Board is as follows:

CITY PLANNING BOARD,
BOSTON, February 22, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—The City Planning Board begs leave to recommend herewith that Boston take its first step looking toward the preparation of a comprehensive city plan.

Emphasis is given to the recommendation at this time for several reasons. Among them:

(1.) Boston was the first town in Massachusetts to become a city, being incorporated February 23, 1822. No more fitting celebration of its 100th anniversary could be devised than to launch, at the beginning of its second century of municipal life, a movement for a comprehensive city plan which shall make provision for the development of the city along orderly, progressive lines.

(2.) The investigation by a committee from the federal government of postal facilities in the Boston district, particularly with reference to the possible relocation of the Post Office building, together with the order recently passed by the City Council with reference to the location of a new city hall, emphasizes the need of careful foresight in the location of future public buildings.

(3.) The City Planning Board is advised that the next annual meeting of the National Conference on City Planning will be held this year in Springfield, Mass. As noted in the accompanying communication, Springfield already has a comprehensive city plan under way, and holding the conference in that city means that the attention of the leading city planning minds all over the country will be focussed upon one of the cities of this Commonwealth.

For these, and many other reasons which the Board believes are obvious to your Honor, some of which are set forth in the accompanying communication, such as a major street plan, including the main arteries of traffic in and about the city, and to the adjacent cities and towns; zoning plan, providing protection for residential districts, and promoting the development of industrial and commercial areas, regulating the location of garages, etc.; development of port, harbor and railroad facilities; location of public buildings; and the development of recreational facilities; the recommendation is made that your Honor authorize an appropriation of $10,000 to be expended under the direction of the City Planning Board, for the employment of expert assistance in the preparation of a comprehensive city plan for the City of Boston.

Respectfully submitted,

THE CITY PLANNING BOARD,
FREDERIC H. FAY,
Acting Chairman.

BOSTON, February 22, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—The City Planning Board has now been in existence nearly eight years, during which time it has had opportunity to study in detail practically every phase of municipal development, existing and proposed. It has in that time had the privilege of making various recommendations, based upon comprehensive surveys, a gratifying number of which have been adopted, leaving others still open for future consideration.

In this work, while its appropriation has been and is exceedingly limited, it has been able to enlist from time to time the voluntary assistance of organizations and individuals whose services have constituted a very material contribution to the solution of the particular problem in hand.

During the slightly less than the decade of years which have elapsed since the creation of the City Planning Board, it has seen the population figures of Boston show a far from normal increase; it has seen the volume of foreign traffic clearing through New England ports decline steadily from year to year; it has seen the State of Massachusetts fall from fourth to fifth place among the states in the value of its manufactured products, in spite of the fact that the total for the nation was three times as great in 1920 as it was in 1910; and it has seen New England overlooked in a conference conducted in New York by the United States Shipping Board for the formulation of a "sound constructive policy upon martime subjects of great importance to which now much attention necessarily is given.

At the same time, it finds that in the last twenty-five years there have been more than an equal number of thoughtful, and in the main scientific, investigations of municipal problems. Some of the best minds in New England have given these matters serious consideration, their conclusions being embodied in printed reports. Formal investigations have been made by state and city departments, special commissions and committees have been appointed, and independent studies have been made by business and civic organizations and by individuals, all involving an expense of probably more than half a million dollars.

A study of this mass of accumulated material, much of it very valuable, together with the fact that Boston at the best is not living up to its potential opportunities, if it is indeed holding its own, has confirmed the City Planning Board in its belief that Boston has been, and is, suffering greatly from a lack of co-ordination of facilities and efforts. To offset this condition, the City Planning Board recommends the preparation of a comprehensive city plan, not with the idea that its adoption will prove a panacea for all existing troubles, but with the conviction that it will lend emphasis and direction to future efforts.

Such a city plan would include, among other features, a:

1. Major Street Plan.—The criticism has been made repeatedly that Boston has not yet had a really thorough, painstaking and far-sighted study of its street problems in the big way such as other cities have approached the vital part of traffic reform. It is generally conceded that conditions attendant upon vehicular and pedestrian traffic are almost intolerable and yet the fact remains that, aside from certain street widenings which have acted merely as palliatives and in no sense as correctives, the first fundamental step in the adoption of a comprehensive street plan, designed to encourage and stimulate the growth and development of the city, is to be found in the recently authorized widening and extension of Stuart street.

The joint report submitted to the City Council, on October 19, 1921, outlining the advantages of a broad highway paralleling Washington street on the east, between Adams square and Stuart street, together with the widening of Cambridge and Court streets, and the extension of Causeway street, as compared with the suggested arcading of Washington street, might also be considered as connecting links in a comprehensive street plan.

Among other plans suggested at different times are various extensions of the one-way street system, a bridge or traffic tunnel to East Boston, a tunnel or ferry between East Boston and South Boston, a tunnel under Boston Common, a highway over the Boston & Albany Railroad tracks from the South Station to Cottage Farm Bridge, and an extension of Dorchester rapid transit facilities. Millions of dollars are involved in these major improvements, irrespective of the requirements of local thoroughfares.

(a.) Parking Facilities.—Such a street plan would take into account the necessity for reasonable parking privileges in the down-town district. Automobiles, although their rapid increase in numbers is appalling under present conditions, are a legitimate means of conveyance, in many cases an actual business asset, and the owners of them are entitled to convenience and protection.

2. Zoning.—In its generally accepted sense, zoning means the adoption of height, area and use limitations as applied to certain districts. Boston has had in existence since 1904 comprehensive regulations governing the height of buildings. It also has regulations governing to a certain extent the area of occupancy; leaving the use or development of property entirely without regulation or control, outside the police power which is usually an unpleasant influence to invoke. To provide for this feature, the Massachusetts Legislature in 1920 passed an act, chapter 601, based upon Article LX. of the constitutional amendments, authorizing cities and towns to limit buildings according to their use or construction to specified districts.

Zoning plans are in effect today, or are in preparation, in more than one hundred cities throughout the United States. These include New York, Philadelphia, Detroit, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Washington, Los Angeles and Baltimore. Here in Massachusetts might be mentioned Brockton, Cambridge, Fall River, Newton, Brookline, Natick, Attleboro and Springfield.

Some of the arguments which might be advanced in favor of the adoption of a zoning plan are that it:

I. Stabilizes and protects property values and investments.

II. Affords a safe district in which industries may be located without fear of protest and with every facility to do business.

III. Insures permanence of character of districts when once established, permitting and encouraging orderly enlargement of business centers and industrial zones, while preventing the scattering and intrusion of any inappropriate and destructive uses of buildings which deteriorate and decrease property values.

IV. Renders possible great economies in installation of public improvements, such as streets, sidewalks, and fire, water and sewer facilities.

(a.) Residential, Commercial and Industrial Districts.—The adoption of a zoning plan for the City of Boston would mean the division of the city into residential, commercial and industrial districts, each district being protected by regulation from outside encroachments. It would necessitate a block by block survey of the entire city in order that its results might be permissive rather than restrictive.

(b.) Garages.—The adoption of a zoning plan makes possible the restriction of public garages to areas or zones where their erection will not interfere with the rights or safety of the residents of the immediate neighborhood. This is perhaps the most imperative phase of the zoning situation in Boston today. Garages constitute a component factor in an important industry, and their right to existence should be recognized and encouraged in the proper places. Zoning assures protection to property owner and garage builder alike.

(c.) Billboards.—Another feature which might be provided for in a zoning plan would be the regulation of billboards and other forms of outdoor advertising.

3. Development of Harbor, Port and Railroad Facilities.—The total expenditure for Boston Harbor, made by the federal government, have been more than $12,000,000, while the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in the sixty-year period ending in 1919, expended more than $18,000,000 in its development and improvement; yet the statement has been recently made that, while port facilities at New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore were crowded, Boston was using only about 30 or 40 per cent of what was available on its magnificent waterfront and harbor.

The railroads of the country are in a state of transition today and definite suggestions looking toward their relief have been made to the Interstate Commerce Commission. A city plan such as proposed would include a study of the effect of the consolidation outlined upon local business, as well as definite suggestions for co-operation. It should also include a study of the local railroad situation, so far as the location of terminals and the proper distribution of both passenger and freight are concerned.

4. Municipally Owned Buildings.—The comprehensive plan recently prepared by this Board at the request of your Honor, showing the location of municipally owned buildings throughout the city, demonstrates the necessity of a carefully thought out plan for future needs.

5. Recreational Facilities.—Boston's park and playground system doubtless compares favorably with that of any other city in the country, yet certain of its potentialities are far from fully developed, and provision for future growth should be made.

6. Regional Plan.—A city plan such as proposed would of necessity be studied in the light of Boston's relations with adjoining municipalities. This might mean that a solution could be found for many of the problems hitherto encountered in any attempt at a consolidation or federalization of metropolitan communities.

7. Topographic Survey.—In all probability a topographic survey of the city would be recognized as essential to a city plan. This is a feature which the City Planning Board has recommended on several occasions should be provided for.

The adoption of the city plan is by no means an innovation in municipal life.

The most striking illustration in this country today is found in the city of Washington, D. C., where at the request of George Washington in 1791, Maj Pierre Charles L'Enfant, a young French engineer, made a comprehensive plan for the development of the National Capitol. A zoning ordinance was accepted August 30, 1920.

Chicago's city plan, prepared in 1909, was introduced into the public schools as a part of the regularly accredited eight grade curriculum, and is being studied by over 30,000 school children Projects totalling nearly $250,000,000 in public and private improvements covered in this plan are either actually being constructed or are passing through the stages of legal formalities for early accomplishment. A zoning commission was appointed in July, 1921, and plans are now in preparation.

New York has a comprehensive city plan in accordance with which improvements under way or in contemplation are being developed. The zoning resolution adopted in 1916 has met with a very general popular approval and the opinion has been expressed that no one thing has done more to promote orderly city development.

Philadelphia has an unofficial city plan, prepared in 1911 in accordance with which streets, parks, bridges, railroad agreements, etc., are being carried out. In five years the city has voted $147,000,000 of public bonds for city plan improvements. A zoning ordinance has been prepared and is now under consideration.

Detroit has a comprehensive street and radial thoroughfare plan in conformity with which improvements are being carried out. In one year approximately eighty-six miles of street improvements were put through. A comprehensive zoning ordinance and maps have been prepared.

A comprehensive city plan for Cleveland is now in course of preparation and a tentative zoning ordinance and plans have been prepared.

A comprehensive plan for St. Louis is in preparation and many details in connection with it have already been worked out. A zoning plan was adopted in May, 1918.

Baltimore also has a comprehensive plan and a zoning ordinance.

The City Planning Board of Springfield, Mass., has recently been granted a special appropriation of $20,000 to provide for the services of experts in the preparation of a comprehensive city plan and a zoning ordinance.

The City Planning Board of Boston believes, therefore, that the time has come to take a definite step in the same direction, and to that end requests that a special appropriation be authorized, to be expended under its direction, for the employment of expert consultants who will bring to the work a wider knowledge, based upon actual experience, than has been available heretofore. It has no hesitancy in saying that, in its opinion, it is a work which merits the attention of the best city planning mind in the country.

It would be the duty of this expert consultant to correlate the information already assembled, and with the assistance and co-operation of local public bodies, private organizations and individuals, work out a general plan which shall be definite, comprehensive and progressive.

In making this recommendation the City Planning Board believes that it is merely voicing a sentiment which is practically general throughout the community and that once the work is under way, under competent and efficient leadership, a vast amount of voluntary assistance will be available from public spirited citizens. The City Planning Board firmly believes, however, that the initiative must, and very properly should, come from the municipality.

The total cost of such a plan would be difficult to estimate at this time. However, in order that the work may be gotten immediately under way, the Board recommends that an appropriation of $10,000 be authorized, to be expended under its direction for the employment of expert assistance in the preparation of a comprehensive city plan as outlined above.

Respectfully submitted,
THE CITY PLANNING BOARD,
FREDERIC H. FAY,
Acting Chairman.

The following statement was issued by Mayor Curley:

"CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
February 22, 1922.

"The 23d day of February, 1922, marking as it does the beginning of the second century of Boston's existence as a city, presents possibilities for usefulness to future generations of such tremendous value that I deemed it advisable to invite the co-operation of the City Planning Board in the formulation of a program, the adoption of which is vital.

"The City Planning Board, after a long study and fortified by the searching investigation conducted and data collated, has submitted a report which might well serve as a basis for consideration and action.

"The City Planning Board has, in the submission of its report, requested an appropriation of $10,000 for the preparation of a comprehensive city plan, the adoption of which request it is my purpose to recommend to the City Council to the end that waste and duplication may be minimized and that a constructive program worthy of the city may be adopted and pursued in the years that are to come.

"The tentative draft which the City Planning Board has submitted presents such a fruitful field for study that it is my purpose to organize at once a committee representative of every element, religious, industrial, commercial, financial, labor and educational, to not only study the program submitted, but to amend and strengthen wherever necessary.

"I have deemed it not only expedient but wise, because of the number of holidays, to designate Patriot's Day as the day on which Boston's centenary may be observed."

DEATHS BY ILLUMINATING GAS.

Mayor Curley received the following report from Building Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson relative to deaths in Boston caused by illuminating gas.

BOSTON, February 17, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—In answer to your request for this department to conduct an investigation with a view to ascertaining the cause of death from asphyxiation from illuminating gas, with especial reference to those caused by the so-called prepayment meter system, I present the following facts. I have also, as suggested by your later communication, conferred with Mr. Thomas Jordan of the Health Department.

The general use of gas for fuel under high pressure steam boilers, automatic and storage type of water heaters, melting pots, gas engines, furnaces and ranges, as well as for lighting purposes, is under the supervision of the department and the proper installation of gas for all of these is safeguarded by frequent inspection. The energy created from gas on these appliances is safeguarded by proper relief valves and safety devices. The increased use of hose-connected heating appliances in places of habitation resulted in an order from the department restricting the use of hose on many portable appliances, and changing such connections wherever found to iron pipe. The department has, at stated periods each year, examined the gas burners and gas appliances in all theaters, moving picture houses and public halls, causing the same to be maintained in good working order.

In an effort to further remove the causes of gas asphyxiations, the department successfully inaugurated a method which has brought good results. Every store where gas appliances for heating or lighting are sold was visited by a member of this department, together with a member of the Health Department, and they pointed out to these dealers the dangerous fixtures and appliances and explained wherein they were dangerous, accompanying this effort with a request that these fixtures and appliances be removed from their counters and sales thereof discontinued. The success attained was due, in a large measure, to the hearty co-operation of these merchants.

The prepayment meters are only installed in the private apartments of small families under direct control of the consumer. They are not placed in any public part of a building, and when set in the cellar are in the locked woodshed of the consumer, and they are never placed in lodging or boarding houses. Wherever a family is found using gas from a prepayment meter and renting out a room to a lodger, the meter is changed to the regular type or taken out. The only real advantage in this style of meter seems to be that its installation does not require the payment of $5 and also eliminates the rendering of monthly bills to consumers. There are at present in the City of Boston approximately 183,000 gas meters and out of this number approximately 39,000 are of the prepayment type. The early type of prepayment meter was a source of danger as they were equipped with a quick-closing valve that shut off the supply of gas immediately when the quarter's worth was used. The improved Tufts prepayment meter in use in this city for several years past is equipped with slow-closing valves which will pass about three cubic feet of gas per hour for ten or twelve hours after the consumer is warned it is time to put in a quarter by the light growing dimmer.

During the past six years and up to February 10, 1922, the records of the department show that there has been but six deaths by asphyxiation attributed to prepayment meters.. The percentage of fatalities during the period above noted, traceable to the prepayment meter installations, is only 1 per cent plus.

I am inclosing some data on accidents obtained from the Massachusetts Board of Gas and Electric Light Commission's report, covering a period of sixteen years, of all the gas companies operating in Massachusetts, namely fifty-eight, which also includes fatal and nonfatal accidents attributed to prepayment meters, together with a table from this department relative to asphyxiations from illuminating gas, showing the number and causes each year, from January 1, 1916, to February 10, 1922, inclusive, in the City of Boston.

Yours very truly,

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Building Commissioner.

BOSTON, February 22, 1922.

HERBERT A. WILSON, ESQ., Building Commissioner, Boston, Mass.:

DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your report with reference to deaths caused by illuminating gas.

The report shows that the average accidental deaths in Boston from illuminating gas was one a week, in addition to those who committed suicide and for which the average was one a week over a period of six years.

This average seems to me exceptionally high, and I would appreciate a further investigation by your department with recommendations as to how the lives of the people who use gas may be better protected.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

MAYOR REQUESTS PRESIDING OFFICERS TO AID.

In behalf of the required legislation which will provide a five cent rate of fare, upon the cars of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, within the city limits of Boston, Mayor Curley addressed a communication to Hon. Frank G. Allen, President of the Massachusetts Senate, and Hon. B. Loring Young, Speaker of the House of Representatives, requesting their mutual support, upon the 18th instant.

The communication of Mayor Curley to President Allen was as follows:

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
February 18, 1922.

HON. FRANK G. ALLEN, President of the Senate, State House, Boston, Mass.:

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT.—I have written to his Excellency, the Governor, soliciting his assistance in opening the way for legislation to relieve the situation caused by the Boston Elevated Railway bill of 1918. I inclose herewith a copy of the letter, which I trust you will regard as confidential until his Excellency has had opportunity to consider and reply to it.

From your public utterances, I am confident that I can rely upon your sympathetic co-operation in this matter of such vital public importance. I am sure you must have been impressed by the disclosures which were made last year as to the means which were used to pass the elevated bill. I am sure, also, that you could not have been satisfied that the investigation revealed all that ought to have been made public regarding the extent and ramifications of this unwholesome matter. I am confident that you will feel with me that the public will never be satisfied until all the details are known and this matter is finally settled aright, and that it is our duty as public officials to labor together to the end that justice may be done.

May I not count upon your co-operation?

Sincerely yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

The communication of Mayor Curley to Speaker Young was as follows:

From your public utterances, I am confident that I can rely upon your sympathetic co-operation in this matter of such vital importance. I am sure you must have been impressed by the disclosures which were made last year as to the means which were used to pass the elevated bill. I am sure, also, that you could not have been satisfied that the investigation revealed all that ought to have been made public regarding the extent and ramifications of this unwholesome matter. I am confident that you will feel with me that the public will never be satisfied until all the details are known and this matter is finally settled aright, and that it is our duty as public officials to labor together to the end that justice may be done.

May I not count upon your co-operation

Sincerely yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

TO INVESTIGATE HIGH RENTALS.

With a view to protecting the public from increased rentals, Mayor Curley conferred upon the 24th instant with the chairman of the Rent and Housing Committee, Edmund Billings, and Edward T. Kelly, chairman of the Board of Assessors, relative to the advisability of considering as an element in determining the valuation of property the rentals charged.

The assessors begin their work on the first day of April and any person who considers his rent unfair or whose rent has been increased during the past year is requested to send a full statement of the facts to Edward T. Kelly, chairman of the Assessing Department, City Hall.

Numerous protests have been received relative to the increase on leases of store and office properties and any person who feels that he has been treated unfairly in this respect is also requested to write the Assessing Department.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 15.

I. Boston Firemen's Relief Fund, Death Benefit.

At the last meeting of the Boston Firemen's Relief Fund it was voted to give the sum of two hundred dollars ($200) upon the death of a member, or a pensioned member, for funeral expenses.

II. Burrell Gas Mask, No. CO-10.

The Burrell Gas Mask, No. CO-10, which will shortly be issued to the several ladder companies of the department, is made for all service work and gives protection against carbon monoxide and illuminating gases, smoke and fumes.

Care must be taken not to enter places where there is indication of lack of oxygen in the air; in this case the oxygen breathing mask will be used.

Company commanders will have the members of their commands, wherein these masks are installed; study carefully the directions which are placed on inside cover of the box containing mask.

Masks will be placed with the following companies:

Ladders 2, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12, 13, 14, 16, 17, 18, 26, 28.
Rescue Company 1.
District Chiefs 3, 4, 5.

III. New Fire Alarm Box.

A fire alarm box numbered 124 will shortly be installed on the Lincoln Power House, Boston Elevated Railway Company, Battery street.

It will be connected into circuit No. 4.

General Order No. 16.

I. John J. Connorton.

The Acting Fire Commissioner regrets to announce the death of Hoseman John J. Connorton of Engine Company 22 on Thursday, February 16, 1922. Hoseman Connorton was appointed to this department April 11, 1919.

The funeral was held from his late residence, 562 East Second street, Monday, February 20, 1922, followed by services at the Gate of Heaven Church at 9 a. m.

The Fire Department was represented by a detail of sixteen men under command of District Chief James J. Caine. Engine Company 22 was relieved from duty in order to participate in the funeral.

II. Fire Alarm Box No. 124.

The assignments for fire alarm box No. 124, the installation of which was announced in General Order No. 15, will be the same as for Box 1242.

Company commanders will make proper note of the assignments for this box.

By order of the Acting Fire Commissioner:

Peter E. Walsh,
Chief of Department.
